In a letter from LT-Gov. Allen to Senator Phillips Tuesday, he stated: "The committees to which you have been assigned are important committees, and your membership on such committees will enable you to render a public service to the people in your senatorial district and the State of Alabama. DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS

In that next letter you write to your son in service be sure to include this tip from the Disabled American Veterans.

"Make certain when you are finally discharged from the service that all records of hospitalization and disability, injury, or illness are made a part of the official record."

That advice to parents was given today by Commander B. R. Culbertson, of the Tuscaloosa Chapter No. 1, DAV, who said the importance of being on record cannot be overemphasized.

He said thousands of veterans who came out of World War I and World War II are unable to prove their present disabilities are service-connected because of lack of evidence on service records that the disability was incurred in war service.

"Too many veterans," he said, "in their anxiety to get home overlook or neglect having proper information of hospitalization or disability placed on their service records."

"In later years when they find their amazement that when they are hospitalized or injured and illnesses become aggravated they are not allowed claims for government compensation because there is no record available."

The DAV Commander also pointed out to parents and relatives of servicemen that it is important to save all letters from servicemen because they may be important in later proving that disabilities are service-incurred.

SENATOR HILL CALLS FOR BOLD ACTION TO STRENGTHEN AMERICA

Senator Lister Hill called this week for "bold and determined action on a scale great enough to meet the real and present danger to our nation."

The Alabama Senator declared that government, businessmen, farmers, workers and all of the people must "unite their efforts to produce the tremendous flow of weapons and equipment, food and commodities of all kinds to make America again the arsenal for our defense."

"This means longer hours, harder work and sacrifice for each one of us on the home front to give our fighting forces the support they must have," Hill said.

"In the crisis that confronts us, we must act at once to expand military mobilization and convert the productive might of America's factories and America's farms for our defense and our security."

The paramount responsibility of United States military leaders is the defense of the United States and the saving of every possible American life, Hill asserted.

"We must build and maintain the military strength and preparedness of the United States," he said. "We cannot stoop to appeasement. We cannot sell out. But we must not be trapped into fighting the kind of war Russia wants us to fight—a land war against the Communist hordes of China that would bleed us white."

"Western Europe with its manpower and industrial capacity is today the crucial center of the struggle with Russia and her Communistic aggression. Western Europe must be armed rapidly, with the Western European nations expending every effort to make their full contribution to their own defense."

"Military preparations must be supported with measures to preserve the strength of the American economy," Hill declared.

"The cost of living is the highest on record. Wholesale and industrial prices indicate that unless something is done and done quickly to fight in-

NEW ENLISTEES SINCE NATIONAL GUARD ALERTED

Company B, 167th Infantry, Clanton, Ala., is now near full strength as a result of numerous enlistments since the unit was alerted to enter Federal Service on 16 January, 1950, for training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The members of the unit were recently assured by the Assistant Division Commander, Brig-Gen. Walter J. Hanna, of Birmingham, that they would remain together as a Chilton County unit and it is their desire to report for active duty with a full complement.

The men who have enlisted have selected a unit whose record is unparalleled in American military history. The 167th Infantry Regiment is a part of the famed Dixie Division which served with distinction in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater during World War II. The accomplishments of the 167th Infantry dates back much further to the time it was designated the 4th Alabama Infantry, one of the "finest" Regiments to serve under General Lee during the Confederate War for Independence. Every school boy has read of the 4th Alabama at the first Battle of Manassas.

The men whose names appear below have enlisted in the local National Guard Unit since it was alerted by Presidential order. This paper joins the citizens of this county in saluting these men and the other members of Company B, 167th Infantry:

The Untrodden Paths

"Ye have not passed this way before." These words are borrowed from Joshua 3:4. Israel had trodden many paths since they left Egypt. They had wandered around in the wilderness for forty years; and then they stood on the border of the new country which they had left Egypt to possess. The River of Jordan was the only thing that separated them from the land that flowed with milk and honey. The former paths had been those of chastening and defeat, but in spite of all that, they had shared the mercy of their God. The new and untrodden paths lay before them. They had to move in God's order, and by faith in His Will. This fits us today as we are entering upon the untrodden paths of the new year of 1951. This nation has come a long way, but there are new experiences, and new opportunities out ahead of us. The New Year holds for us new experiences to face; new problems to solve, new trials to endure, new temptations to overcome, new sorrows to bear, and new joys to share. May we have faith and courage to keep in the straight and narrow path, path of righteousness; path of honesty; path of obedience to God's Will; path of kindness to our fellowman; path which will lead us to the House of God to worship and adore His Great Name.

The untrodden paths will be the way of testing. It won't be as easy as we would like for it to be. We are bound to face difficulties, but by faith we can overcome them. We have done so before, and we can do it again. All along the paths of the New Year, we will know God as the One Who provides for His own. It is better to walk in the dark with God, than to walk in the light alone. May those paths we are to trod in 1951 be the way of certainty. Everything seems to be so uncertain today, but there are some things we can depend on. Jesus Christ is certain. He is the same yesterday, today and forever. The Church of Jesus Christ is certain; for the gates of hell cannot prevail against it.

Friends, don't trust in wealth, for riches make themselves wings and they fly away. Don't depend too much on your so-called friends, they too, may fail; but put your trust in the God of Heaven, and though we walk by faith, this faith will lead you across the paths of the future, and give you a safe landing.

Make Yourself Do What You Fear

R. B. SLATTERY, Portland, Oregon, says he grew up to young manhood with a dreadful inferiority complex—which was the result of lack of education—and realized that he was so afraid of meeting educated people that he couldn't enter a restaurant or even go to a soda fountain for a drink without suffering agony. When he saw someone approaching who he knew had had advantages that had not come his way, he would cross over to the other side of the street.

As he grew older, he knew this mental attitude would handicap him all his life. But how to overcome it? He realized that he had to go out among people, so he finally brought himself to accept an invitation to join a fraternal order. As he entered the door, the first time, he almost wished it would close on him before he could get inside.

After the first time, it came a little easier to mingle with the other members, but he didn't really enjoy it, and when a meeting was over, he made for home as fast as he could. It wasn't long before he was appointed to a minor position. But he dug in, did what was expected of him, and apparently what he did was thought to be good, for in what seemed to him an incredibly short time, he was next in line for head of the lodge. When he realized that would be expected of him as the head, he became panicky. What was he to do? He knew he couldn't speak on his feet. Working quietly was one thing, but talking in public—that would be torture.

There was but one thing to do if he was to conquer that awful complex: join a class in public speaking. But the class was too large for everyone to speak each time, so the members volunteered when they wanted to speak. The first time he volunteered to speak, he became almost petrified with fear. Finally, he managed to walk down the aisle and get held of a table. He said little and sat down as soon as possible. He repeated the performance several times before his feeling eased. When he was appointed as head of the lodge, he suffered every time he spoke. He got through it somehow, and before his term of one year as head expired, he had begun to enjoy it. He stuck to public speaking, and by and by he found a class where he had to speak at every meeting. Then he began to make headway.

He says the only way to conquer a fear is to do the thing you're afraid to do; force yourself to do it, if necessary, but do it! The time will come, and perhaps much sooner than you think, that you will no longer have that fear.

PLANT COTTON EARLY FOR GREATER YIELDS

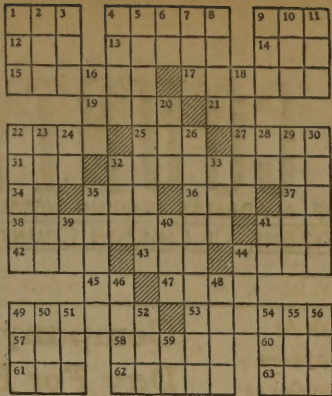

Many cotton farmers are already making plans for the 1951 cotton crop. "And," says O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, "extra yields of cotton are produced when cotton is planted early."

For example, cotton planted April 11 at the Tennessee Valley Sub-station made the highest yield over a period of eight years and produced 325 pounds more seed cotton per acre than cotton planted May 14.

Similar tests throughout the state have encouraged many farmers to plant cotton a week to 10 days earlier than they did several years ago.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

During the Christmas week end several boys and young men, we should say, entertained themselves one night going down one of our rural routes knocking down mail boxes. We were told that 29 mail boxes had been counted that were knocked down by the young men. The good Lord only knows the explanation to a thing like this, but they evidently thought they were celebrating or something. Whatever their explanation we are sure it won't satisfy the United States Postal authorities who were notified of the mischief done by the five boys. They are possible in more hot water than they know.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. (Tom) McKee were glad to see them home for the holidays. Mister Tom has to go West each winter for his health but he couldn't resist coming back for Christmas. Looks like he came back to a lot of sickness and bad colds but as of the present we haven't heard of him going down yet. We miss him a lot and will be glad to see spring come when Mr. Tom comes out with the jonquils and the violets. It's easy to tell which is him.

Coy Rucker, our City Policeman, who is resigning this month to take a place as Deputy Sheriff under Luther Kendrick who takes office as Sheriff on January 16th, asked us last week to write a piece for the paper and we forgot it. Coy told us he wants to thank all his many friends who have been so cooperative during his stay with the Police Department and to also thank the Mayor of Clanton and the Clanton Councilmen for their many favors to him and for their cooperation in law enforcement work. Coy leaves the Police Department with a clean record and we are sure Mr. Kendrick has chosen a capable and honest deputy to help him fulfill his duties as county sheriff.

You can follow your Company B, 167th Infantry, Alabama National Guard through the columns of Clanton County News. Arrangements have been made for a weekly column telling all the news about the local boys when they march off to camp January 16th. Follow Clanton County's own Co. B, 167th Inf., through the days ahead in your Clanton County News. It will be a weekly feature. Watch for it.

One of the family received a book from a friend as a Christmas present that contained a recipe for unburied living. One of the thoughts we would like to pass on to you for your scrap book. The author is unknown: Take time to live; it is one secret of success. Take time to think; it is the source of power. Take time to play; it is the secret of youth. Take time to read; it is the foundation of knowledge. Take time for friendship; it is a source of happiness. Take time to laugh; it helps lift life's load. Take time to dream; it hitches the soul to the stars. Take time to worship; it is the highway of reverence. Take time to pray; it helps bring Christ near, and washes the dust from our eyes.

Your Health

HEART DISEASE

Each year more deaths occur from heart disease than from any other single cause, although knowledge and care could reduce deaths from the many illnesses which stem from conditions affecting the heart.

Acting like a pump, the heart circulates the blood through the body. The heart itself is composed of a mass of muscles forming four chambers which receive the blood brought to it from all parts of the body through the veins. This blood is first pumped to the lungs, where it receives fresh oxygen, and goes back to the heart, from which it is again passed out to every part of the body through the arteries. After it has distributed its oxygen and other essential substances to the individual organs, it is collected into tiny vessels called capillaries, which feed it into the veins and thus back to the heart.

The six most important causes of heart disease are rheumatic fever, which may damage the valve system; high blood pressure, which may overload the heart; sclerosis or hardening of the coronary arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle itself; syphilis, which especially affects the first part of the great artery, the aorta; subacute bacterial endocarditis, due to inflammation of the inner lining membrane and valves of the heart by a germ, streptococcus viridans; and congenital defects, meaning those existing at birth. Other conditions may damage the pericardium or outer covering of the heart.

age, slight or great, to the heart. Among specific heart conditions are angina pectoris, a pain in the chest which sometimes extends down the arm and which is caused by interference with the blood supply to the heart muscle; coronary thrombosis or occlusion, caused by a clot of blood forming in a hardened artery to block off the flow of blood to the heart muscle; myocarditis or inflammation of the muscular walls of the heart; and chronic valvular disease of the heart. Various conditions can be responsible for so-called heart murmurs or irregular heart beat, which is an interruption of the blood to and from the heart.

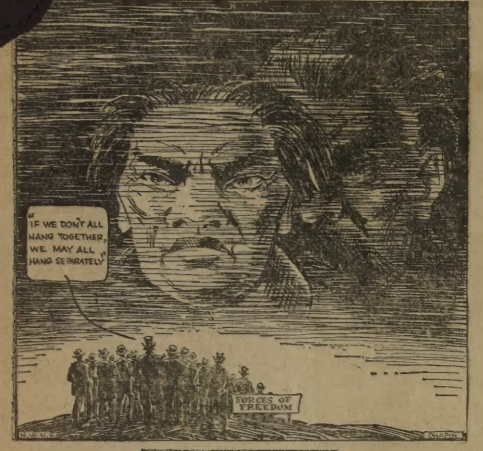

Thus there are many specific types of heart disease, each of which is influenced by different factors. Heart disease can be reduced. Let your physician check your heart so that it cannot check you.

It was on April 12, 1861, that Leroy Pope Walker, Confederate Secretary of War, sent his famous message to Gen. P.G.T. Beauregard, giving him authority to open fire upon Fort Sumter. The order was issued from Montgomery, then the capital city of the newly born nation. And it was exactly four years to the day later that Gen. James Wilson and his Federal raiders entered Montgomery and put the city to the torch.

SERVE WITH HOMEFOLKS

This plea from one of our readers urging local young men who are eligible for military service to go with the National Guard, will be of interest to many. Here's what he has to say:

"This unit (Co. B, 167th Inf.) has been alerted for induction into federal service on 16 January, 1951, and to report to Fort Jackson near Columbia, S. C., for training before 26 January, 1951.

"There are some vacancies in the unit and it is our desire to fill these vacancies with men from Chilton County since all of the personnel presently assigned are from this county. Certainly involuntary military service which all of us face today, will be more pleasant, if we serve with those we have known and who have been our friends at home.

"Many young men of this county have been classified 1-A and will be inducted into the armed forces through selective service in the very near future. It is our thought that this group, particularly since it's induction is eminent, should be desirous of enlisting in an army unit composed entirely of hometown people. We strongly urge all in this category to contact the Commanding Officer, Co. B, 167th Inf., Alabama National Guard, at the Armory, Clanton, Alabama, immediately for further information."

JOIN THE GUARD

The 31st Division of the Alabama National Guard—the famed Dixie Division has been ordered to recruit to full strength.

The security of our country depends a great deal on the efficiency and strength of this division and other units of the National Guard. The importance of this recruiting drive cannot be minimized.

It is doubtful that young men from this community will ever again find a better military opportunity. The Dixie Division is no fledgling outfit fumbling its way. Many of the officers and non-coms are combat seasoned which means that recruits will have the advantage of training under men who have passed the test.

The Dixie patch of the 31st Infantry Division was a symbol of terror to the Japanese armies in World War II. In the hottest spots the fighting men of this brave division gave the enemy more than they wanted. Their colors flew proudly when the chips were down and they came out on top!

The Dixie Division must expand to full strength. It has a spot for you. An important point for any young man to consider is that the men already in the division have been working as a team. And teamwork means a good outfit.

This newspaper is fully behind the recruiting efforts of Co. B, 167th Inf., and commends the men of the Dixie Division.

We salute every recruit for helping in this emergency and for the foresight in selecting a top outfit.

KEEP YOUR GUARD UP! JOIN THE DIXIE DIVISION TODAY!

WELL BEHAVED

We commend the Police Officials and the Highway Patrolmen, the Sheriff's forces and other law enforcement officers of the county in their untiring work to give Chilton County the clean accident and crime record we enjoyed during the holidays.

While records in death and destruction of ten years standing were broken over the country, our county stands out as an example of safe and sane holiday conduct.

We should be proud of this record and strive the harder to maintain it.

She has always been such a nice person to know and her friendship is highly treasured by her many, many friends.

Santa Claus was actually seen in this section during the holidays. One afternoon just before Christmas he walked down the highway late one afternoon and delivered packages from a Christmas tree to the children at the John McKinneys. Later in the afternoon he was seen walking back up the highway and was picked up by someone in a car. That wasn't the last of Santa, however, as later he visited all the children in this section and left them such nice, pretty, useful gifts.

Really Santa is a wonderful person and one that is very dear to all our hearts.

Celebrates Golden Anniversary—
Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cox entertained at an open house on Monday afternoon and evening, January 1st. The occasion being their golden wedding anniversary.

Artistic arrangements of gold mums, white gladioli and snapdragons with candles were used in the receiving rooms. A lovely colonial nosegay, centered with a gold orchid, marked the table where guests were registered.

In the dining room where gold roses were used, the "bride's" table was covered with an exquisite maderia linen cloth edged with lace. Centering the table was a large bowl filled with gold rosebuds, one for each of the happy years the bride and groom of fifty years have spent together. The centerpiece was surrounded with puffs of gold tulle, flanked on each side by five burning candles in gold. The tulle puffs were repeated around the candle holders.

The three-tiered white wedding cake, embossed in full bloom gold roses held an attractive gold floral design centered with the figure 50. Matching mairine bordered the mirrored plaque which held the cake. This was placed on the buffet.

The buffet table was covered with a white cloth banded with gold satin ribbon, caught at intervals with clusters of wedding bells of gold maline.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith, a granddaughter, and Mrs. Paul Cox presided at the coffee service. Assisting in serving were the granddaughters, Martha Ann Cox, Kathryn Cox, Jean Larimore, Beth Sanderson and Mardie Cox.

Mrs. William B. Eiland served in the gift room where many lovely gifts were displayed. Mrs. Frank Cox presided at the guest book. Guests were welcomed at the door by a daughter, Mrs. B. B. Larimore.

Receiving with the host and hostess were their daughters, Mrs. Earl C. Roberson, Mrs. Crit Jones, Mrs. Frank Sanderson, and Mrs. A. H. McKenzie. Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cox receiving were Mr. Wallace Cox, Mr. Frank Cox and Mr. Paul Cox.

The hostess was lovely in a gown of black crepe trimmed with rhinestone. Her corsage was a purple orchid with gold throat.

The wedding cake was cut by the "bride and groom" with a miniature sabre of gold, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis, and they requested that the cake be cut with their gift.

One hundred and forty guests registered during the party hours.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. Brooks Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mahan, Mr. Hurd Middleton, Miss Louise Flowers, Mrs. Eunice Little, Miss Sylvia Little, Miss Louise Little and Mr. Kenneth Little, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roper, all of Birmingham; Mr. W. Teenage Group Enjoys Yuletide—
The Yuletide was celebrated in Clanton with several gala parties among the younger set.

On Wednesday night of last week, Sue Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Davis, entertained a group of her friends in her home. The festive spirit was high among the girls and boys. Christmas decorations were used to adorn the Davis home. Games and dancing were enjoyed during the party hours. The Yuletide motif was repeated in the delicious cookies, sandwiches served with punch to the following guests:

Judith Williams, Sadie Higgins, Donna Klinger, Eleanor Warr, Elizabeth Sheppard, Jo Ann Scott, Martha Bell, Bobby Kenney, Jack McCain, Bill Smith, Raymond Calloway, Joe Grooms, and Joe Ellison.

Jean Thompson was hostess to some of the younger Clantonians on Thursday night in her home on second Avenue South. The beautifully lighted Christmas tree, poinsettias and red glads created a cheerful Yuletide atmosphere for this gala occasion. The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Gordon Thompson, served punch, cookies and sandwiches, which also carried out the Christmas motif. Included in this courtesy were: Judith Williams, Phillip Lawrence, Ruby Crew, Phil Simms, Nannette Nivens, Harry Ellison, Jo Ann Scott, James Paul Easterling, Lenore Oglesby, Bobby Kenney, Bobbie Gray, Sonny Gaylor, Annette Broadhead, Bobby Shaw, Alice DeRamus, Otis DeLoach, Eleanor and Lloyd Warr, Grace Lawrence, Fred Thompson and Joe Blair.

A wonderful time was reported from the large number of guests who attended the party at the city hall on Friday night, when the five cousins, Phillip Lawrence, Sadie Higgins, Phil Simms, Bill Smith and Betty Moliston were joint hosts and hostesses. Amusements for the occasion were dancing and games.

Traditional Yuletide decorations were used on the table from which dainty party sandwiches, cookies and punch were served.

Chaperons were Mrs. Joe Higgins and Mrs. Benson Sims. Thirty-five of Clanton's teenagers enjoyed this affair.

A Progressive Dinner For Baptist Young People—
Members of the Young Peoples Department of the First Baptist Church of Clanton enjoyed a progressive dinner on Friday night, December 29th. The party met at the church at 6:30 o'clock. From there they went by cars to five different homes for dinner. En route, the cars were to follow the leader who would always drive around several blocks before stopping. The Leo Thompson home was the stop for the first dinner course where the appetizer was served. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth with a centerpiece of greenery and silver Christmas balls.

Four tall burning red candles completed the arrangement. Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson returned thanks at the table. Festive decorations were used throughout the home.

The Christmas motif was carried out in the salad course which was next on the menu and was served in the new home of the Russell Suteleys on the Lay Dam Road. The home was bright with glowing red candles. Guests were served in the living and dining rooms. Games were enjoyed after the refreshments.

The Reddie Taylor home proved to be the stop for the main dinner course. Traditional decorations were used throughout the home. Mrs. Taylor served the dinner course in the recreation room. Guests were seated at the large table, which was centered with an attractive festive centerpiece. Small tables were also used to seat the guests. When the dinner course was finished the group joined in the games which were planned by the hostess.

The W. D. Hocuts and the J. H. Bookholdts, co-hosts and hostesses for the desert course in the Hocutt home. The home was bright with glowing candle light and Christmas decorations. The desert table was covered with an exquisite lace cloth with a centerpiece of white mums and orchid snapdragons. Crystal candelabra with burning white candles completed the table appointments.

Demitasse coffee was served at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Gilbert Hutchinson. The festive decorations were aglow in the lovely parlor.

The serving table was covered with a lovely white linen cloth (bought on their recent trip to Europe), bright Christmas balls with greenery and hand-molded burning red candles, formed a most attractive centerpiece. Mrs. Reddie Taylor presided at the coffee service. Dainty party sandwiches, cookies and candies were served.

Christmas carols were sung by the group and they ended this joyous affair by joining hands and singing,

"Bless Be The Tie That Binds," followed with prayer by Mr. J. H. Bookholdt. Forty-three young people and the officers and teachers of the department enjoyed this very unique entertainment.

The 155th Infantry Regiment of Mississippi can claim equal distinction since its predecessor units were first organized as the Adams County Militia in 1798 and carries battle streamers for participation in the Indian Wars, War of 1812 and the Mexican War. Both regiments fought with gallantry and courage as units of the CSA during the Civil War.

During World War I the 31st Division was made of units from Alabama, Mississippi, Florida and Louisiana, where the personnel of most of the units were withdrawn and sent to other organizations. In 1923 it was reorganized as a National Guard division and allotted to these same states. In World War II the division was a main stay of the United States' participation in the Southwest Pacific and earned battle credits in New Guinea and the Philippines. Following World War II the division was allotted to Alabama and Mississippi. Its first units were Federally recognized in November 1946. Organization of the 110 company-sized units was completed in November 1949.

Commanders—
Major General Alexander G. Paxton of Greenville, Mississippi, Commanding General of the 31st Infantry Division was commissioned as a field artillery officer during World War and served in France. After World War I he was assigned to the Organized Reserve Corps until he joined the Mississippi National Guard in 1926. He was promoted to colonel in 1933, and assigned as commanding officer of the 114th Field Artillery Regiment. In 1941 he entered on Federal duty and served as Commanding General, 33rd Division Artillery in the Southwest Pacific. He was relieved from active duty in 1945, and was assigned as a National Guard member of the War Department General Staff Committee on National Guard policy. He was Federally recognized as Commanding General of the 31st Division on 27 July, 1948. He returned to the United States and served on the War Department staff until relieved from active duty in November 1946. its operations in New Guinea and the reconquest of Morotai. He served as executive officer of the 31st Division Artillery while the division was in combat on Mindanao, the Philippines. (Too Late For Last Week) and Mrs. Alonza D. Eaves celebrated their 55th Wedding Anniversary at home December 23, 1950. This celebration was two-fold as they also celebrated the birthday of their grandnephew, Merritt Walker, Jr., who was 15 years of age on this day. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Walker, Sr., and family of Clanton Falls, Mon., came for this celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eaves, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walker and Mrs. Eaves were with their parents also.

Alonza D. Eaves was born and raised in Clanton County, Alabama. His father was among the first settlers of the Fellowship Community near Clanton.

Ellen Bell Eaves was born and raised in Dallas County, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. Eaves were married at the home of Mr. Isaac Eaves, uncle of Mrs. Eaves, in the small village of Moro, in the Panhandle Community. This wedding was witnessed by a large circle of friends and relatives. These good people have lived useful lives, have a wide circle of acquaintances and certainly they can't brag about their friends. They have always attended church and have been active in the community in which they live. They have five children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Eaves sincere well wishes and wish them many more happy anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Walker, Sr., family returned to their home in Clanton this week after a very happy visit with their parents, the A. D. Eaves and the George Walkers, in Dallas County near Selma.

Mrs. Ellen Eaves wishes to thank friends and relatives for the beautiful flowers, the many visits, the cards and well wishes and the prayers of all her friends during her recent stay in King's Memorial Hospital, Selma, Ala. She is so thankful for every act of kindness shown her and is happy to let her friends know that she is up and is able to do some of her household duties at this time.

Sympathy is extended Mr. and Mrs. Moody Chambers of the Maplesville Community in the loss of their grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Overton, of Brent, Ala., during the Xmas holidays. Her funeral was held at the Brent Presbyterian Church Christmas Day at 2:30 p.m. Collins of West Blocton directed.

Mrs. Joseph Dennis entertained her former teachers of the Maplesville High School and a few other friends at a seated tea Wednesday afternoon, December 20th. A Christmas tree and seasonal flowers decorated the rooms.

Mrs. Dennis was assisted by Mrs. Joe Edd Bearden. Mrs. Henry R. Schurter had her children and grandchildren on Sunday for Christmas dinner. During the afternoon music was enjoyed and gifts were distributed from the Christmas tree.

Frank Maness, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Maness (Ethlyn Reynolds) is in training at Camp Gordon, Augusta, Ga. Frank is in radio school and will be stationed there until March. Frank has been a frequent visitor to the Frank Reynolds' home through the years.

Ann McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McKee, has returned to her home from King's Memorial Hospital, Selma. Ann had Malaria and flu and was quite ill for several days.

Mr. Cecil McKee was rushed to King's Memorial Hospital, Selma, last Saturday. Reports from his bedside are encouraging. He had a cold and was on the verge of pneumonia, however, is much improved at this writing.

Ann McKee attended, together with her father, Cecil McKee, the Hadaool Show in Clanton last week. Ann had 53 Hadaool tops and won first prize—the $80.00 bicycle. This bicycle is a

These cemeteries are clean, well kept and it was a real joy to see the many, many who had remembered and placed memorials on the graves of their loved ones. Many and varied were the wreaths and the coloring extra pretty this season.

Your reporter can't pass up a chance to commend on the beauty of the Town of Maplesville during the hol-

LEARN BY DOING

Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. — Some 90 Explorer Scouts visited Maxwell Saturday during the one day encampment held for them. Highlight of the day was a flight made in C-47s when the scouts were flown over certain parts of Alabama.

The encampment got underway at 9:00 a.m. when the scouts met at the Weaver Theatre where they were briefed on the itinerary for the day.

The tour of the base included stops at the Base Aircraft Shops, Flight "C," Fifth Rescue Squadron, control tower, parachute shop, weather station and base operations.

During the flight all scouts were given the opportunity to go into the cockpit of the aircraft where they examined the flight instruments and questions answered.

This was the first encampment held for the explorer scouts, and was represented by units throughout central Alabama. The group was composed of Air Explorer Scouts, Sea Explorer Scouts and Explorer Scouts. Present plans call for another encampment in the near future.

Primary purpose of the Explorer Scouts, composed of Boy Scouts who have passed their 14th birthday, is to teach character and citizenship. The Air Force has recently published two regulations outlining the support and aid they will give the scouts.

VETS MUST REGISTER NOW FOR TRAINING

Veterans Administration today reminded World War II veterans who intend to continue G.I. Bill education or training after July 25 that they must enroll soon or they will lose their opportunity for education or training after the deadline.

July 25, 1951, is the deadline for beginning education or training under the G.I. Bill. Most veterans actually must be in training by the deadline if they want to continue.

In the case of veterans pursuing college work, Harley A. Smith, Alabama Regional Manager of the VA, explained that a veteran must be enrolled in the semester or term preceding the July 25 deadline or be enrolled on that date if he expects to continue beyond the deadline.

Once a veteran completes or discontinues his program of training after the deadline, he may not start another course.

The July 25 deadline does not apply to veterans discharged after July 25, 1947. They have four years from the date of discharge in which to begin G.I. Bill training. They must, however, finish training by July 25, 1956.

Those who enlisted or re-enlisted under the Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act (between Oct. 6, 1945, and Oct. 5, 1946) have four years from the end of their enlistment or re-enlistment period in which to start training, and nine years from that time in which to complete it.

In order to be certain of not losing any benefits, VA officials suggest that any veteran who is in doubt consult the nearest VA office as to his status.

COMPANY B LEADS DIXIE DIVISION IN STRENGTH AND IN RECRUITING

Company B, 16th Infantry Regiment, National Guard, Clanton, Ala., is now leading the famed Dixie Division in strength for a company sized unit, according to an announcement made by State Officials this week. This is not the only accomplishment of our local unit—it also leads the Division in recruiting, having enlisted 29 men since the Presidential Order to report to Fort Jackson, S. C., for training between the 16th and 26th of January.

Local National Guard Officials have pointed out that there are still a few vacancies in spite of heavy enlistments since the unit is now authorized to go to full strength. They also point out that enlistment in the Local Unit affords an opportunity for our young men to serve with their friends from home.

Our county should be proud of Company B and those men who have put it on top.

The men whose names appear below have enlisted in the National Guard since it was alerted for induction into the Federal Service on 15 December, 1950:

CHRISTMAS CHEST COMMITTEES HOLD ANNUAL MEETING BELL ELECTED NEW CHAIRMAN

The Chilton County Christmas Chest officers and committees held their annual dinner Wednesday noon at the Dixie Cafe. Seventeen workers were present for this 1951 organizational meeting.

Jimmie Bell was elected Chairman for the coming year and the new officials and attendants gave a rising vote of thanks to past Chairman Bob Taber for his untiring work in making the past year's work the best in the Christmas Chest's history.

Past-Chairman Taber gave all the credit to his committees and the people of Chilton County who helped in any way. "Without the cooperation of all the people, it would have been impossible to realize our accomplishments," stated Mr. Taber.

At the meeting Wednesday Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson was elected vice-chairman; R. M. Tucker, secretary; Louise Smith, treasurer; and F. Leo Thompson, publicity director.

The new chairman, J. D. (Jimmy) Bell in a short talk of acceptance stated that he desired, and would need, the cooperation of every officer, committee, and individual in the county to make the 1951 Christmas Chest the biggest and best yet.

CONCORD BAPTIST CHURCH

To all members and friends of Concord Baptist Church:

Next Sunday, January 14th, we are going to make our annual payment on our church debt. This payment will be made at the close of the eleven o'clock service. We have on hand enough money to meet the requirements of our mortgage, but we have a great desire to make the payment as large as possible in order to reduce the interest. Every time we pay a thousand dollars, we save the church forty dollars interest.

If any of our members plan to help in a special way, please get it to us by the eleven o'clock service next Sunday morning. We are glad that we do not have to use pressure of a high nature to take care of our obligations. We are glad we do not have to beg and plead to get our members to take care of this obligation. We only ask you to give willingly and cheerfully. If you can't give always remember you have a church that loves you and a pastor that will come to you when you need him, if he has to crawl.

Sincerely,
R. W. STUCKEY, Pastor.

A Hole In The Ceiling

Some years ago two brothers operating a general merchandising business in a small country town were troubled by the discovery that many small items on the shelves of their store were gone, though an inventory showed that they had not been sold. The two men decided to do something about goods being taken from their store without their knowledge of it. They climbed up into the attic above the store, and cut a hole in the ceiling. They then took turns watching through the hole while others waited on customers. What they found out on some of the townspeople was amazing. After they found out where their unsold merchandise was going, they made no open accusation, but instead, they told the people around that there was a hole in the ceiling. Almost immediately the pilfering ceased. But occasionally the brothers would notice with amusement some casual shopper going around in the store would suddenly shift his eyes toward the hole in the ceiling, and looking a little guilty, he would pass out quietly.

Likewise friends, God has a hole in the ceiling, as it were, and His All-Seeing Eyes behold the deeds of mankind. There is nothing hid from His vision. Every word, every action and even every thought, God knows and understands; it is all open to Him with Whom we have to do. The Eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good. A record of our deeds, words and works is being made, and some day every secret thing shall be brought into judgement, whether it be good or evil. The great day of judgement will reveal a lot of things that some people think are hidden forever. But just remember God has a hole in the ceiling. He can see through the darkest of night, and can hear the lowest of whispers. It will be well for that all through this year that we keep in mind that God sees all we do, and He hears all we say, and some day we will have to give an account to Him for what we do in this life.

Modern Views on Divorce

MRS. HAZEL M. THURSTON holds down a good job in New York City to support herself and her two children, each child by a different father.

Shocking? Well, she doesn't think so. Here is what she says:

My first marriage was dissolved after three years, after we found we had no common interests. When the first flush of "love" wore off, we had nothing. I, with my old-fashioned up-bringing, tried hard to adjust myself, but every day I was at cross-purposes. We parted in friendly fashion.

My second husband deceived me from the beginning. I found out that he had been married previously and that there was a wife and three children. When asked about it, he said, "My past has nothing to do with you." I knew that I never could trust him.

The past generation was afraid of divorce; afraid of a lonely future; afraid, most of all of what people would say. Our generation has decided that any mistake should be corrected. That young people are drawn together while too young to have good judgment; that divorce is meddling neighbors and relatives who rest of their lives for their bad judgment.

Asked about children of broken homes, she said, "If you had seen children suffer because parents had no understanding of each other's natures; because one took advantage of the other's generous attempts to make all the adjustments; if you had seen children grow to hate one, and sometimes both, parents, you would see that divorce often brings relief to children. The worst element of divorce is meddling neighbors and relatives who make children feel that their parents have disgraced them; that they are to be pitied."

There's a long way to go to educate the public to a different attitude on divorce. Birth control had a hard struggle; teaching children how to protect themselves through facts of birth had a desperately hard struggle. These are now commonsense.

I don't advocate divorce because they can't agree on every issue. That would be silly. Every marriage should, in effect, "have the banns cried" and the young couple wait, think, and think, and think, before they take the step.

As a friend said the other day, after three months of happy marriage, "I don't see how anybody can know whether the other is a desirable marriage partner until she—or he—has tried it." So-called "trial marriages," without the responsibilities incurred in the regular way, are too lax. The only thing left is divorce.

VARICOSE VEINS

Varicose veins occur in all ages, sexes and races, but more frequently in middle life. They are those veins whose walls lose their firmness and bulge out in irregular lumps that may be seen through the skin. The condition is likely to occur in any portion of the body, but the common site is the legs. Here the superficial veins, lying between skin and muscles, are most often affected. Deeper veins, supported by muscles are seldom seriously affected.

Arteries carry the blood from the heart to the tissues where the veins pick it up to return it to the heart. The veins, with their network of valves and chambers, work to keep the blood flowing in one direction—only to the ever, we must deal firmly with our allies and we should tell them they will have no future help from us unless they show absolute good faith and go all out to help themselves."

He condemned the shipments of strategic materials now being made by certain of our European allies to Russia or to her satellites. "They should be ordered to stop this or we should refuse to help them if they continue," he said. He said this government had finally, in its September 8th export license action, stopped all shipments to Red countries and that even so, our own action had been "too long delayed."

Representative deGraffenried is devoting almost full time work now to his Armed Services Committee assignments. He said it had been suggested that he serve on an additional committee in this Congress, but he had declined to do so in view of the heavy load the Armed Service group is now carrying.

His son, Edward deGraffenried, Jr., has been recalled to active Navy duty and the Congressman said he believed his son was now en route to Korea.

heart. If the veins fail for any reason, the blood does not move to the heart but accumulates in smaller veins. The tissue, instead of receiving proper nourishment, gradually deteriorates.

The cause or causes of varicose veins are not definitely known, although it has been established that heredity is a factor. The condition is frequently associated with pregnancy and with occupations requiring persons to stand for long periods. In fact, any condition that places undue pressure on the vessels of the legs, such as tight garters, may contribute to formation of varicose veins.

When developed, many things are apt to happen—discoloration of the lower limbs, eczemas of the skin and eventually ulcers. If inflammation occurs, serious illness may result. Even a slight bruise, which ordinarily might cause no discomfort, may develop into a varicose ulcer which, if not properly treated, may enlarge and involve all the layers of the leg structures, even to the bone.

In the treatment of varicose veins, the first essential step is a complete physical examination by a competent physician. This will establish or eliminate factors causing mechanical obstruction, such as pelvic tumor, chronic cough, even tight garters or girdles. Chronic pelvic inflammation, if present, must be cleared up.

Many persons have one or more conspicuous veins which are not varicose, but those who have many or badly swollen veins, tired and aching legs should see a physician. The complaint of tired legs is often associated with varicose veins, although other conditions, such as flatfoot, heart, kidney, bone, artery or nerve diseases, are also identified with this symptom.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

One thing for sure. We're tired of the Tennessee Waltz.

Got a kick out of some pictures Mildred Bridges had of the family at Christmas dinner. Pore ole Clarence was watching J. E. carve the turkey and drooling all in his plate. That's the hungriest look we ever saw on a man's face. All the Easterlings were there but all the others looked pretty well fed.

We're a little late but after fifty years just one week doesn't mean very much. We're speaking of wishing Mr. Charlie Cox and Mrs. Cox congratulations on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They had quite a to-do at their house, and we understand all the family was present. We can just say this: We hope the second half will be just as much fun as the first half, and may many, many more anniversaries bless their home.

We just refuse to say which butcher shop this was overheard in, but a lady customer was scolding the butcher for giving her a piece of bone. "Lady," returned the butcher, "I am not giving you a piece of bone, you are paying for it."

Christmas weather, or something, certainly has slowed down the work on our new bridge. We were expecting it to be finished before now, but they have a long way to go. However, we still say that bridge will be worth waiting for. Another bad traffic hazard goes with the old structure.

deGraffenried Named To Important Subcommittees

Representative Edward deGraffenried has been named to four important subcommittees of the House Armed Services Committee.

Because of the necessity for speedy action on defense legislation, the Armed Services Committee members were elected yesterday by the House and will not go through the channels of election by the Ways and Means Committee. Representative deGraffenried was named among other members whom the House, in a formal resolution, returned to the defense seats.

The four subcommittees on which he will serve in the 82nd Congress are Subcommittee Number One, concerned with general defense legislation; a subcommittee on the permanent stockpiling of strategic materials; a subcommittee on air procurement and a newly formed subcommittee to investigate reserve components of the armed services.

Tuesday, the Armed Services Committee will meet to consider legislation to authorize the construction of a large aircraft carrier and plans for possible reorganization of the Air Force.

Representative deGraffenried, who voted with the Alabama Delegation this week to restore the Rules Committee power to pass on all bills before they are considered by the House, said he did not anticipate any fight this year on civil rights matters. He said, "I think House Members this year will concentrate on preparing the country for defense and on a thorough Aren't these afternoon programs by our school Glee Clubs good? The Enterprise group last Sunday afternoon afternoon were especially good. The program is from 2 o'clock to 2:30 o'clock each Sunday. Oh yea, over WKLF.

Mr. Roy Roper each year watches his thermometer and makes note of the days when it drops below 40 degrees. Mr. Roy says that a certain number of hours of cold weather are required for a good peach crop. For the past two years we have been short enough cold days to keep the buds dormant, but our guess is that we are not short this year. We haven't got to see Mr. Roy to ask him how many cold hours we have had but we bet a hot he knows right down to the hour. Now the peach grower just has to worry about an early spring and then, if it comes a big frost and kills the little peach buds. Worry, worry, worry.

The inspector was extremely annoyed by the amount of noise coming from the adjoining room while he made his usual rounds of the school. Unable to stand it any longer, he opened the door. Seeing one boy taller than the others and talking a great deal, he grabbed him by the collar, dragged him to another room and stood him in the corner. "Now you stand there and be quiet until I tell you to get back to your room," the exasperated school inspector commanded. A quarter hour later a small head appeared around the door and a small quivering voice asked: "Please sir, may we have our teacher back now?"

analysis of our foreign policy." He said he thought the action taken in restoring the Rules Committee's power would prevent unnecessary legislation from being brought up and consuming time needed on important defense matters.

"We all realize what a very critical condition we're in and that while we realize the Administration may have made many mistakes in the past, Mr. Truman is still the President and in all probability will be the President during the next two critical years. Therefore, it is up to us to try to help him in every way possible to remedy those mistakes and to cooperate in the fullest for a sound defense program."

"At the same time, Representative deGraffenried continued, "We must urge him in every way possible to have full defense production, practically full mobilization and those controls which are necessary."

He said he did not agree with a "total isolationist policy" as that advocated by Mr. Hoover, but he did think the ex-President's speech "a good thing for the country."

"His speech will be a stimulus for debates on both sides of the question so that a proper conclusion can more probably be reached."

The Tuscaloosa Congressman said America cannot shut herself off from the rest of the world and that "we must have strength in order to keep our allies." "If we are strong, there is little chance that our allies would leave us for Russia," he said. "How-

OUR WHITE WAY

What has happened to Clanton's great White Way? Rumor has it that things are brewing and that those responsible for the good work already done will shortly start anew in their effort to complete the job.

Nothing could have improved the appearance on Second Avenue more than the white way. The same will go for Seventh Street and for Sixth Street when it is completed.

We'll be glad to see the work finished and you will be hearing more about it in the near future.

WE FIND NO HYDRANT

This is one of our old songs, but we are going to sing it again. Why don't we have water hydrants at the cemetery?

Daily that question is asked. We wish someone would answer it. To carry water with you to the cemetery for flowers is very inconvenient to say the least. It is also inconvenient to walk blocks for water to go into a flower vase.

The City Council and Mayor are doing fine work in laying sewerage disposal mains and in many other fields, but why can't we have a few water hydrants at the cemetery?

SOMEBODY'S GONNA GET HURT

Ralph Johnston tells us that some strangers came into the drug store the other night and asked him what in the world was going on. It was just after the fire whistle had sounded and automobiles were speeding towards the fire hall and the strangers had narrowly missed getting hit by one of the automobiles.

It seems that the interval between the time the whistle has stopped blowing and while the volunteer fire fighters are racing to the fire hall is a dangerous interval. Motorists coming through haven't heard the fire whistle and do not know to be on the alert.

Don't get us wrong. We're not censoring our fire fighters. Clanton has the best little Volunteer Fire Department anywhere. But some method should be worked out for the protection of motorists coming through our city and something done to prevent them from thinking our driving public has gone crazy.

It might save trouble for the city if the blowing of the whistle was prolonged until the volunteer fighters could get through traffic and to the fire hall or to the fire. Another method used in many cities is to have a control that turns the traffic lights on amber which is a universal "caution sign." This could remain amber until all fire trucks and fire fighters clear the business district.

Orchardist fires a cloud of pollen into a bee-shunned apple tree with 12-gauge shotgun. Even with bees at work, method will increase yield up to 50 per cent.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. Viola D. Gerwig of Franklons, W. Va.: I remember when we used to ride horse-back eight or ten miles to attend revival meetings. There were no roads and the mud was often so deep that the horses could hardly get through it. When the ground was frozen, they would break through and cut their legs up something awful. The service would continue 'til the after part of the night and when there was no moon, we had to depend on the horse's instinct to get us home. We usually didn't have horses enough to accommodate the whole family, so we took turns. When the ground was covered with snow we hitched the horses to a sled and filled the bottom with hay and the whole family went.

From Mary V. Komen of Defiance, O.: I remember when I was a girl, I got up at 4 a.m. Mondays to do a family washing for eight or ten, on a washboard. It took several days to iron all the clothes, for nearly all the women's and children's clothes and the men's bosom-shirts were starched in those days. Ironing was done with asbestos sadirons, you traced and retraced your steps between a hot kitchen stove and the ironing board all day. I also made all the beds, cleaned and dusted the house every morning, baked bread, cakes and pies, got all the meals, washed the dishes, scrubbed the kitchen floor and board sidewalks and outside toilet—and minded the kids! My pay was $1.50 a week, or a quarter a day, with only one afternoon off a week.

CENSUS REPORT MADE FOR CHILTON-PERRY AREA

Information on the number of different persons who worked at any time during 1950 will be obtained as a part of the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in January, it was announced today by District Supervisor Mary L. Griffin from her office at Clanton. The Current Population Survey interviews each month a representative cross-section of 25,000 households throughout the United States, including approximately 200 in the Chilton-Perry area, Miss Griffin said.

Three out of every five persons of working age reported some work for pay or profit in 1949, according to a similar survey conducted in December last year. In all, some 67 1/2 million persons either worked for wages or operated a business, profession or farm at some time during 1949. Many of these—housewives and students, in the main—worked only for a limited period, however, and the average number employed in any one week in 1949 was but 58 1/4 million.

This year, special questions will again be addressed to all persons of working age in order to determine the number who had work experience of any kind during 1950, how long they worked, and what their principal job was. With mounting labor shortages, it is important to know the amount and kinds of work that such persons as students, older people, and married women with young children are able to do and to what extent these persons can be expected to fill the gaps left by those who enter the armed forces or transfer to defense industries.

These special questions are in addition to the regular ones on employment and unemployment which are asked each month in the Current Population Survey. In November, employment was estimated at 61.3 million, the highest level ever reported for that time of year. Unemployment, which had been dropping steadily since the early part of the summer, rose slightly to 2.2 million in November as many students and housewives entered the labor market in search of Christmas jobs.

The survey will be conducted in the Chilton County area during the week of January 15-20. Supervisor Griffin emphasized that all information furnished the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence and only statistical summaries are ever published.

STATE BIRD

The Legislature in 1927 passed the bill that made the Yellowhammer the state bird. During the War Between the States, a company of Cavalry soldiers from Huntsville arrived at Hopkinsville, Ky., where Gen. Forrest troops were stationed. On the sleeves, collars, and coat tails of the new cavalry troops were bits of brilliant yellow cloth. A humorist cried out: "Yellowhammer, Yellowhammer, flicker, flicker." This quickly spread through the Confederate Army and from then on all Alabama troops were referred to unofficially as The Yellow Hammers.

For a delightful change in salad dressing flavors, try this idea: Blend one tablespoon of flour with one-fourth cup of lemon juice until lump-free. Then stir into this one-half cup of maple syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is thick like honey. Cool, and into the mixture fold one cup of whipped cream. Serve with any tart fruit salad mixture.

Celery leaves or even the ordinary outer leaves of cabbage, shredded fine, may be used as a successful garnish substitute when parsley is not available.

A subtle garlic flavor may be imparted to salads by placing a clove of garlic in the dressing and allowing it to stand for some time before serving. The garlic is, of course, removed before serving.

Troy could be called the "City of Many Names." In the early days while it was still an Indian hunting ground, it was Deer Stand to the Redmen. Then came the first white settlers, and the site became known as Zebulon. Later, Zebulon was changed to Centreville. Finally, it was named Troy in honor of Alexander Troy.

STANTON NEWS

Mr. Will Herrod, age 65, died at his home Sunday, January 7th, 1951, at 7:00 a.m. He suffered a stroke of his left side late Saturday afternoon. Mr. Herrod had been in declining health for quite some time, however, was up and had been visiting with friends and relatives and enjoying being with his daughter who was visiting him at the time from Maryland.

Funeral arrangements are not complete at this writing as they are awaiting relatives from Detroit, however, it is thought at this time that the funeral will be held Wednesday at his residence, Plantersville Route 2.

Mr. Will Herrod was born in Autauga County, Alabama, the son of Mr. John Herrod and Mrs. Pearl Davis Herrod.

Sympathy is extended the family; also Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mr. Walter Herrod and Mr. Grady Herrod and other relatives.

Miss Peggy O'Neal enjoyed a birthday party, honoring Carolyn Bogue's 11th birthday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bogue, Sunday, December 31st.

Mrs. Alton Wilder and daughter, Mary Charlotte, of Clanton, visited the Cole family last week. Mr. D. T. Cole returned home with them for a visit.

Dorothy Nell Cole was able to return to school Tuesday after an illness of several days.

Mr. Frank Reynolds has been quite ill with the flu at his home here. He is under the care of Dr. Josiah Smith of Selma, Ala. At this writing he seems a little improved.

Mr. John T. O'Neal is improving at his home here. He is able to be up and around.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pugh and family of Maplesville, Ala., have moved into our community.

Welcome to these newcomers. They are at home in the house just vacated by the Bodie Arnolds. Mr. and Mrs. Bodie Arnold moved into their new house near the water tank (Dixie).

A write-up appearing in the Selma Times-Journal Sunday, January 7th, holds much interest for relatives and friends in this section:

The many friends Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilson have made during a lifetime spent in north Dallas County joined with the couple's family in honoring the two on their Golden Wedding, the anniversary of Sunday, December 30, being highlighted by an Open House at which their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ford, entertained at their home on the Birmingham highway. Many guests called between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon to extend congratulations and best wishes.

Four generations were represented in the family gathering, with the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's two great-granddaughters, Alice Dale and Betty Joan, children of their grandson, Wilbur Wilson, of Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson greeted guests in the reception hall, Mrs. Wilson wearing an afternoon dress of blue crepe with corsage of Taisman roses. Mr. Wilson's boutonniere was a gold carnation.

The golden wedding motif was carried out in the floral arrangements throughout the reception rooms, which were adorned with gladioli, carnations and crotalaria blooms. In the dining-room a lace cloth over gold draped the table which was lighted by gold candles in crystal candelabra festooned with gold ribbons. The decorative centerpiece was a mirror reflector banked with fern and gold ribbons on which was placed the tiered cake, gold-embossed and topped by a miniature wedding bell and the numeral 50. On the buffet there also were gold flowers and gold tapes. Cake, punch and mints were served by Mrs. Emerson Thompson, Mrs. Tennis Garrison, Miss Alma Wilson and Mrs. H. W. Wilson.

Among members of the family present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's four children with their families. They are Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Bearden, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Hallett Wilson, Pfc. H. D. Wilson a grandson, was present from Fort the couple are Martha Wilson, Wil Beaggs, N. C.

Both members of pioneer Dallas County families who helped to settle and develop the old Section Valley Community, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were born in the same neighborhood and grew up together. Mrs. Wilson, who will be 78 this month, is the former Mattie Campbell. Her husband will be 85 in March. The marriage of the two took place only a few miles from where they now make their home, with their daughter, Mrs. Ford, and it was also at Section Valley the many years of their married life was spent together before Mr. Wilson's retirement from active farming. Of their six children, a daughter, Lizzie, died in her early years and a son, Curtis, passed away several years ago.

A very nice picture of this happy couple also appeared above this write-up which we regret we are unable to use in this column. We extend our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilson and wish for them many more happy years of married life together.

Mrs. William Gay and Martha Lynn are in Birmingham, Ala., visiting relatives.

Eddie Leon Ruddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ruddick, was among 39 cadets at A.P.I. appointed second lieutenants in the U. S. Army Reserve. Ruddick is in the Field Artillery. Appointment was announced by Colonel Geo. T. Privett, Professor of Military Science and Tactics and Lt.-Col. Geo. T. Taaffe, Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

Mrs. Mary Emma Ledbetter, 85, Rt. 2, Selma, Ala., died at her residence at 4:30 a.m. last Friday after a lengthy illness. She is survived by one son, W. R. Ledbetter; 10 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Friendship—Four Thousand Miles Apart

Never quite got the hang of how to play chess myself, but I'll say this for the game—it started one of the strongest friendships I know of: between Dad Wilson in our town and a fellow in Sudbury, England.

The two of them have never met or seen each other—but for eight or nine years they've been playing chess by mail together. Dad puzzles over the Englishman's latest letter, takes a couple of days to think it over, and then mails a chart of his next move.

Dad always thinks best with a mellow glass of beer beside his chessboard. And the fellow in England writes that he does the same. "Almost as if we were in the same room," says Dad contentedly.

From where I sit you can talk about diplomacy and foreign policy, but it's often little friendly things—like a game of chess or a glass of beer—that can make for tolerance and understanding . . . between people of different nations, between folks here at home!

Built in 5 Years in Alabama...

A 'Main Street' of Telephone Buildings

TELEPHONE facilities require lots of building space. If all the buildings built by Southern Bell in Alabama since 1945 were placed together they would form a "Main Street" for a good-sized town. There would be 18 completely new buildings and 17 additions to existing buildings.

And the number of new telephones made possible by these buildings and the millions of dollars of equipment put into them would be more than enough to serve another city the size of Birmingham.

In the last five years Southern Bell has more than doubled the number of telephones in Alabama . . . nearly quadrupled rural telephones . . . more than doubled long distance circuits . . . converted thousands of telephones to dial operation and improved the service in many other ways. And to do those things we had to build $62,000,000 of new facilities. That's more than we had invested in Alabama five years ago.

And we must go on building in order to meet the continuing heavy demand for telephone service. That makes it important to Alabama to have a financially healthy telephone company.

SHOULTS NEWS

Everyone remember to attend church services and to pray continually, pray for world conditions and that we may soon have peace.

When we see so much sin about us, men and women drinking, children growing up in sinful homes, it makes us shudder to think of what will happen if people do not change.

Here is hoping that our new law enforcement officers will get busy and stop so much of the selling of strong drink in our county—and we have it all around us.

Many homes were torn up and hearts broken during the Christmas holidays because of daddy's drinking—money thrown away that mother and children needed so badly. May God have mercy upon the ones who sell and drink beer and whiskey.

Tacky Party—

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAfee entertained a large number of friends last Thursday night at their home, honoring one of our home boys, Mr. Coleman Smith, who left Friday for the Army. Coleman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith. At this writing we haven't learned where he will be stationed for training, but we understand that he will be a paratrooper.

At the party everyone was dressed tacky. Mrs. Thelma Hathcock won first prize as the one dressed the tackiest. Games were enjoyed. Everyone had a lot of fun. After the social hour, songs were sung and prayer was said, in behalf of the honoree, that God would care for him while away and that he might return safely home again. God bless our boys.

Goings and Comings—

Mr. Roland Shoults of Selma, Ala., visited here last week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoults. Roland is the younger son of the late Mr. Brooks Shoults and Mrs. Ollie Shoults of Selma. He stated that his three older brothers, Tommy, Jack and Felton, were classed in A-1 in the Army and would probably be leaving soon for service.

Tech-Sgt. and Mrs. Phillip Hicks and son, Corky, of Forest Homes, Selma, Ala., visited here with relatives last Sunday. They had just returned from their trip to New Jersey.

We regret very much to report that Mrs. Robert Latham was carried to a Selma hospital last week. We are wishing for her a speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Latham reside in the home here of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Latham, who live in Portsmouth, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Snead of Centerville, Ala., spent last Friday here with relatives. They were en route Clanton to see their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Snead, and daughter, Karla.

Recent visitors here with relatives were S-Sgt. and Mrs. Harold Walker of Biloxi, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. Grady McGee of Lawley, Ala. S-Sgt. and Mrs. Walker also visited with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Walker, at Maplesville, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Mitchell, Mrs. Oma Walker and Miss Lucy Walker of Maplesville visited with relatives here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hathcock and children have moved into the home of Mrs. Ollie Shoults in this community.

Mr. R. C. Sewell, son of Mrs. Annie Sewell, who left recently for the Army, was placed in 4-F, and was unable to remain in service. He states that he regrets this as he wants to do his part toward his country. He does not like to see his buddies leaving and he can't go with them; only if every one was as patriotic as he.

Pfc. Allan Shoults, after spending the holidays with his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoults, left last week returning to an Army air base in Texas, where he is now stationed.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Layden Hicks, two children, Perry and Hilda, of Forest Homes, Selma, Ala., were here last week visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Latham and daughter of Uniontown, Ala., were recent visitors here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleye Latham.

Miss Ruby Lee Latham, who is with her sister, Mrs. Edwina Lane, at Clanton, was a visitor here last week. We are very glad that Mrs. Lane's little daughter, Peggy, is much improved after having been under treatment in a Selma hospital for several days.

West Chilton Roads Forgotten—

The people in this part of the county are wondering what has become of their tax money, as the road through Shoults Community to the Perry County Line is almost impassible in some places.

There are many tractor farmers on this road, all own cars or trucks and products they have for the market must be hauled over this road. However, it is in a very bad condition. Ask any farmer, school bus driver, mail carrier, who have to travel this road and they will tell you the road is in bad condition; best way to find out is drive over it. Sharp curves in this road have grown up in bushes and trees and is endangering the lives of all who are compelled to travel this road. A wreck happened on one of these curves recently, luckily no one was hurt.

These farmers and all who travel this road to and from their work are entitled to more consideration for a better road. They pay tax on the gasoline they use, also pay tax on their property as same as any other part of

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: I was in first grade when news came of the assassination of President McKinley. Tough-looking men with immense bundles of newspapers came down the streets shouting, "Extra! Extra! Get your extra here! President shot at Buffalo!" School was dismissed, flags went to half staff and little groups of teachers stood crying in the halls. President McKinley, from my childhood recollection of him, must have been a much-beloved president.

HAPPY NEW YEAR OLD TIMERS!

From Mrs. C. H. Vaughn of Tateville, Ky: I remember when I was a child and Mother would pen the sheep and take the wool from them and then we would wash the wool at the old pond, and Mother would give us children a box of wool to pick before we could go to bed.

From Mrs. F. Addy of Peru, La.: I remember when I was quite young, petticoats were made from grey bed blankets gathered real full on a waist band or put on a twist. Stripes were put at the bottom and the rest of the end was turned up as a hem. As we grew taller the hem was let down. We must have looked quaint, but we were warm and felt very proud of our petticoats.

BE ECONOMICAL, USE THE CASSEROLE DISH

Auburn, Ala. — Food cooked in the casserole can be a combination of vegetables, meats, meat substitutes, or a combination of all of these.

"Since this is true, there are many advantages in preparing and serving a casserole dish for family meals," says Mary Hulsey, A.P.I. Extension Service nutritionist. She points out that the homemaker's time is saved, as well as fuel and bits of food. In addition, it is a good way to use canned meats and vegetables.

Let the casserole dish serve as the main dish or the hub around which the rest of the meal is planned. The meal is completed with the addition of a salad, bread, beverage, and dessert.

FALL PIG CROP FOR STATE IS 877,000

Montgomery, Ala. — Pigs are fast becoming a major cash crop for Alabama farmers.

This week the Alabama Co-Op Crop Reporting service reported that the fall production for Alabama pigs has topped 877,000, a recent record.

This amount, added to the spring production of 888,000, gives Alabama a twelve month total of 1,765,000 pigs. This is a five percent gain over 1949, and the largest of any year since 1949.

The reporting service predicted that 1951 would see a five per cent increase in the number of sows to farrow.

The fact that great possibilities for expanding this crop as a ready source of income for Alabama farmers is full seen when it is realized that the national annual production of pigs tops the 100,000,000 mark. Alabama is not even raising one-fifth of the present pig production.

CORN RECOMMENDED FOR ALABAMA USE

The recommended corn varieties for use in Alabama this year include five first choice hybrids, 11 second choice hybrids, and one open-pollinated variety.

The varieties are recommended by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station on the basis of results obtained in tests at 15 different locations in the state:

Southern Alabama. White varieties: Dixie 11 and Louisiana 521. Yellow varieties: Dixie 18 and North Carolina 27.

Central Alabama. White varieties: Dixie 11 and Louisiana 521. Yellow varieties: Dixie 18 and North Carolina 27.

Northern Alabama. White varieties: A.G. 631-W and Dixie 11. Yellow varieties: Dixie 18 and North Carolina 27.

Other varieties that have not proved well adapted in some respects as those listed above are recommended second choice varieties:

Southern Alabama. White varieties: Dixie 17, McCurdy 1005W, and Wood's 360. Yellow varieties: North Carolina 1032 and Funk's G-717.

Central Alabama. White varieties: Dixie 17, Georgia 101, Tennessee 10, and Wood's S-360. Yellow varieties: North Carolina 1032 and Funk's G-717.

Northern Alabama. White varieties: Dixie 17, Tennessee 10, P.A.G. 630-W, and Paymaster. Yellow varieties: U. 13, Dixie 44, P.A.G. 170, and Funk's 717.

Four of the second choice corn varieties, Dixie 17, Tennessee 10, McCurdy 1005-W and Georgia 101, have a slight bronze color.

TIPS ON SELECTING A WASHING MACHINE

One of the important things to consider when buying a washing machine is the size of the tub.

Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist, advises that if washings are large, a larger tub will mean fewer loads. This will save time and electricity. Overloading a small tub places a strain on the motor and results in poor washing.

Washing mechanisms differ little when it comes to efficiency in washing. The real efficiency of any washing machine depends upon the user. Put in the right amount of clothes, use the right water temperature, and use the right amount of soap and water softener.

Make certain when selecting a machine that the wringer has an automatic safety release which will release and stop the rollers if anything, including the hand, gets caught between the rollers.

NEW RULING INCREASES CERTIFIED COTTONSEED

Auburn, Ala. — Recent action by directors of the Alabama Crop Improvement Association is expected to increase the supply of certified cottonseed for use in planting the 1951 crop by more than 50,000 bushels.

The increase was made possible by use of an emergency provision in certification regulations, permitting cottonseed having a germination of less than 80 per cent to be certified. Under the new emergency provision, seed having a germination of 60 to 80 per cent may be certified as sub-standard seed.

Ralph Jones, A.P.I. Extension Service seed marketing specialist, explains that the decision to use the sub-standard provision was made because of the critical situation in the total supply of seed to plant this year's increased cotton crop. The total supply of seed for the cotton belt has been reduced because of unfavorable weather conditions which existed during the past harvesting season. Heat and excessive rain during picking season destroyed the value of a large part of the crop for planting use and lowered the germination quality of much of the remaining portion.

STATE AGAIN TOPS UNITED STATES IN NUMBER TREE FARMS

Montgomery, Ala. — Alabama continued at the top of the list of states in the number of tree farms as 1950 drew to a close. Conservation Director Phillip J. Hamm has been advised by J. C. McClellan, Forester for the American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

As of November 1, 316 forest properties in the state had been certified as tree farms because their owners had effectively managed their woodlands.

Of about 18,000,000 acres of commercial and farm woodlands in Alabama, 2,348, 136 are in the tree farm system. This puts the state fourth nationally in certified tree farm acreage behind Arkansas, Texas and Washington.

During the past year, the state's tree farms were re-inspected by Division of Forestry personnel. Those reported as still eligible were issued new, emerald roadside tree farm signs.

The Alabama tree farm program is operated by the Department of Conservation's Division of Forestry under sponsorship of the State Chamber of Commerce.

ALABAMA CHICK PRODUCTION HAS BIG INCREASE

Montgomery, Ala. — Chick production for the month of November topped the same month of last year by 700,000 chicks.

The November production was 1,900,000 it was revealed this week by the Alabama Co-Op Crop Reporting service.

The five-year average for November production is only 523,000. The Alabama production for the first eleven months of 1950 totaled 18,240,000. The national figure for the same period was 1,445,993,000.

Chick prices on December 1 averaged $14.50 per hundred for straight run heavy breeds; $15.00 for light breeds and $14.50 for straight run cross breeds.

Chicken prices on November 15 averaged 22 1/2 cents a pound live weight, and egg prices per dozen in mid-November were 45 1/2 cents. The cost of farm poultry raised was $3.63 per 100 pounds, compared with $3.31 a year ago.

UNDULANT FEVER FROM SOWS A POSSIBILITY

"Farmers who assist sows at pigging time should guard themselves against infection which might lead to undulant fever," warns G. B. Phillips, A.P.I. Extension Service hog production specialist.

Swine brucellosis, formerly called Bang's disease, is easily transmitted to human beings. Long periods of sickness may result from undulant fever, the human form of swine brucellosis.

Remember that failure to wash and disinfect the hands properly after helping the sow to pig may be disastrous. Plenty of soap and water and an antiseptic are safeguards against contracting the swine type of undulant fever.

POND OWNERS CAN INCREASE INCOME

Auburn, Ala. — A farm pond owner can earn extra cash by selling fish and fishing rights.

Before selling fish, however, the owner must have his pond registered. He can do this by writing the State Department of Conservation, Montgomery, and stating that he intends to sell fish from his farm pond.

The reason for registering a pond is that game fish from private ponds may be sold for cash if ponds are registered, but game fish from public waters cannot be sold under any condition.

"Another source of cash," points out Earl P. Kennamer, A.P.I. Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist, "comes from trapping the water-inhabiting fur bearers that make their home in farm ponds."

ALABAMA SELECTIVE SERVICE
LOCAL BOARDS TO REGISTER
ADDITIONAL DOCTORS

The Selective Service Local Boards in Alabama will register additional male doctors, dentists and veterinarians in Special Registration Number 1 on January 15, 1951, according to a statement issued by Colonel Ernest W. B. ... State Director of Selective Service.

Those required to register on January 15, 1951, are all male doctors, dentists and veterinarians who have not reached their fiftieth birthday and who did not previously register in Special Registration Number 1 on October 16, 1950. Doctors, dentists and veterinarians who are members of the regular or reserve components are not required to register.

The place of registration in each of the 67 Alabama counties will be the office of the local county Selective Service Board. Colonel Howell said. However, in the event a doctor is absent from his home on January 15th, he may register at the local board most convenient to him on that date.

Optometrists, osteopaths, nurses and pharmacists are not required to register.

Men inducted into service under the law requiring doctors, dentists and veterinarians to register (Public Law 779) are liable for not more than twenty-one months of service in the armed forces.

Approximately 850 additional doctors will be registered on January 15th, Colonel Howell said.

LONGER LIFE FOR RUGS IF GIVEN PROPER CARE

Auburn, Ala. — "The life of a rug depends upon its quality and the care given it," declares Alice Peavy, A.P.I. Extension service home management specialist.

She points out that proper care of rugs in the home should begin when they are delivered. Almost all rugs will shed a little. Sweep the floor sparingly and gently for the first two or three weeks.

Remember to turn the rug around and move the furniture occasionally to distribute the wear more evenly. Do not beat or clean with stiff brushes or brooms. If possible, use carpet sweepers or electric cleaners on pile-surfaced rugs.

Frequent and systematic cleaning keeps the rug in good condition, prevents dirt from wearing fibers, and lessens the danger of moths.

ALLOW MORE TIME WHEN COOKING FROZEN MEATS

Unless plenty of time and moderate-low heat is allowed for frozen meat, the outside of the piece may be overdone while the inside is still frozen.

Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. Extension Service food preservation specialist, says that this may happen not only to large pieces like roasts but even to steaks which are broiled at high heat.

Remember that untawed meat needs considerably longer time to cook and always a moderately low temperature so that the meat can thaw in the first part of the cooking and cook to the desired tenderness during the last part.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express to my neighbors and friends my thanks and appreciation for the assistance, expressions of sympathy, floral offerings and many acts of kindness shown me at the time of my recent bereavement.

I also want to thank Rev. Lowery, Rev. Wilkins, Rev. Williams and Rev. Holdbrooks for their comforting words, their acts of kindness and thoughtfulness have helped to lighten the sorrow that is mine because of the death of my dear husband.

May God richly bless each of you in my prayer.—Mrs. John Gray.

USE STRIP CUP TO DETECT MASTITIS

If proper steps are taken when signs of mastitis first show up in the strip cup, a cow's affected quarter can be saved, clean cows will not be infected, and quality of milk will remain good.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. Extension Service dairyman, urges farmers to watch for any sign of infection at each milking. Avoid possibility of spreading infection to other quarters. Hot and cold applications may be helpful.

In recent years some of the sulfas have been found effective in mastitis control. More recently, injections of penicillin have cured a large percentage of mastitis cases. However, when these methods are used, treatment should be made by a skilled veterinarian.

COLD, FLU, PNEUMONIA
SEASON; TAKE CARE

This is the cold-flu-pneumonia season, the State Health Officer warned today.

Dr. D. G. Gill reminded Alabamians that these three diseases became more prevalent in cold weather and urged people all over the state to do what they can to protect themselves against infection.

He urged especially avoidance of close association with coughers and sneezers, keeping physical resistance high and getting plenty of rest. A well-balanced diet of good wholesome food was also recommended as a protection against the infecting virus.

LIEUT. WILLIAM C. RUDDICK

Lieut. (junior grade) William C. Ruddick, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ruddick of Stanton, Ala., has been called to active duty and is now aboard the radar picket destroyer, USS CHEVALIER as assistant gunnery officer.

Our pastor, Rev. L. D. Hughes, is teaching the book on "The Bible and Prayer," beginning at 6:15 o'clock each evening this week and we urge each one to attend with us. We are sure you will receive a great blessing at each service.

We still have prayer service each Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock. Help us pray for the sick in our community and everywhere. Those on our sick list are: Marlin Miller, Effie B. Cook, C. E. Blalock, Mrs. Ellis Mims, Inez Wilson and many others. We hope that Pvt. Wayne Dennis from Texas is better as he has been in the hospital there. There are more who have gone into service too, we wish them the best of luck and may we all back them up with our prayers as never before. We pray for peace for the whole world.

Come Sunday at 10 o'clock to Sunday School and preaching service to follow at 11 o'clock. Also Sunday night at 6 o'clock to B.T.U. and preaching service to follow. You will hear some great messages and I'm sure everyone will enjoy the good sermons by our pastor.

We invite everyone to worship with us.—Reporter.

ALABAMA HAS $309,000,000
CROP YEAR

Montgomery, Ala. — Income from all principal crops produced in Alabama during 1950 amounted to $309,000,000, a three percent hike over 1949. The increased dollar value was due to higher prices, because production was cut on many crops, particularly cotton, due to insects and bad weather.

The cotton and cottonseed products were valued at $131,000,000; peanuts grossed $35,000,000; and corn products $40,000,000. The corn production of 4,012,000 bushels was an all time high for the state. A hap crop of 616,000 tons was harvested from 717,000 acres, a slight decline from last year.

POWER COMPANY PLANTS
POST "NO VISITORS" SIGNS

Alabama Power Company today returned to a war-time footing with respect to visits to its power plants. As a defense precaution, power companies all over the country are closing their power plants and other strategic facilities to the general public.

J. M. Barry, president of Alabama Power Company, who made the announcement said, "It has been a pleasure to show thousands of Alabamians and others through our power plants. We regret that present world conditions now make it necessary to restrict such visits to persons having business at the plants. When circumstances permit, a cordial invitation again will be extended to the general public."

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING

Records show that definite progress is being made in herd improvement through artificial breeding of dairy cows in Alabama. Many farmers are finding that artificial breeding of dairy cows is beneficial in building up herd production over a long period of time.

WINTER JOBS ON EVERY FARM

GARDENS

After winter garden plants are up to a stand, a light application of nitrate of soda will help them grow. For quickest results, dissolve a heavy tablespoonful of soda in a gallon of water and pour it along the row. A teaspoonful of soda to 100 feet of row will be enough.

CONTOUR FARMING WILL SAVE SOIL AND WATER

Contour farming is the operation of farm machinery across a sloping field or around the hill rather than up and down the slope.

S. R. Doughty, A.P.I. Extension Service soil conservationist, says that by this method of farming, each crop row forms a small ridge across the slope which aids in checking the flow of water, reducing the movement of soil, and increasing the amount of water absorbed by the soil.

IN MEMORY

Of Mrs. W. J. (Annie) Watson
 Mother, dear, we miss you so,
 We will never know why you had to go.
 Although we know our Saviour knows best,
 So he carried you home to eternal rest.
 Oh, how we miss your sweet smiling face,
 No one on earth can fill your place.
 We know you are happy with the angels up there,
 Where there is no heartaches nor pain to bear.
 Bye and Bye we shall greet you on that bright and blissful shore,
 To be forever with Jesus and to part never more.
 —Husband, W. J. Watson and Children.

ALABAMA NURSES ARE NEEDED

Twenty nurses from Alabama are needed immediately for extended active duty in the U. S. Army Nurse Corps, according to an urgent call sent by the American Nurses' Association, New York to the Alabama State Nurses' Association headquarters at Montgomery.

The Alabama quota, to be composed of 13 general duty nurses, 4 nurse anesthetists, 2 operating room nurses and 1 psychiatric nurse, is based on the nurse population of the state as established by the American Nurses' Association in response to the Army's demand for 300 professional nurses at once to provide adequate nursing care for the casualties in army hospitals.

The ANA Committee on Nursing Resources to meet Civil and Military Nursing Needs, in an emergency meeting, December 19th urged State Nurses' Associations throughout the country to do everything possible to facilitate enrollment of professional nurses in accordance with the quotas given them. Miss Catherine Graf of the VA Hospital, Montgomery, Chairman of the Committee on Nursing Resources to meet Civil and Military Needs for the State of Alabama is effecting organizations in every section of the state to coordinate hospitals, public health agencies and private industries to ascertain the status and availability of nurses throughout the state.

In the meanwhile, Miss Graf is appealing to Alabama nurses not in essential civilian jobs to apply for a Reserve Commission and extended active duty by contacting Major Isa G. Pifer, Office of the Surgeon, Headquarters Third Army, Fort McPherson, Ga. Application blanks may be obtained from ASNA State Office, 334 Professional Center, Montgomery, Ala.

It was too close to the holidays, so we don't have any visits to report this week.

There is no serious illness in our Community at present.

Since the announcement of the excellent price support for the turkey crop, growers sold early in the season. This fact means that turkeys are expected to go into storage.

Only crumbled ruins mark the site of the once proud little settlement of Blakely, across the bay from Mobile. The village was incorporated in 1825 and the town had grown to 3,000 inhabitants a decade and a half later. In spite of being struck by a yellow fever epidemic in 1825. Two years later the epidemic, Blakely became a generous commercial rival of Mobile a time, but a financial depression eventually drove the town's inhabitants across the bay, and Blakely left a ghost town.

In 1839 Irwinton, Alabama, was one of the most important cotton shipping centers in the state. Each year 300 bales, bound for New York City, Liverpool, England, passed via flatboats down the Chattahoochee River. Four years later the name of the shipping center was changed to Eufaula when a banker became exceedingly angry because some important mail was mislabeled to Irwinton, Ga. Eufaula is corrupt Indian word for beech tree.

Conecuh County's name is definitely of Indian origin, but there has been some controversy as to the meaning. Some authorities hold that Conecuh means "land of cane," while others are of the opinion that it was Redman's word for "polecat's head."

SS On Maids Too, Reports SS Office

Do you have a maid?

If you have a maid or any other paid household worker, you will need a copy of a brief booklet bearing that question as a title, M. C. Folmar, Manager of the Birmingham Social Security office announced today.

"This leaflet," Mr. Folmar says, "sets out in a few sentences just how the law of the house, or any employer of domestic help in or around the home, may tell whether or not the worker is brought under the new Social Security law which was effective on January 1st.

Mr. Folmar emphasizes that the work of those regularly employed in private homes will be credited to Social Security and the employer will be responsible for reporting wages, along with Social Security taxes, to the Collector of Internal Revenue. The title of the pamphlet does not stop with "Do You Have A Maid?" but continues "or a laundress?—cook?—chauffeur?—gardener?" Any of these, or any other person employed regularly for work in or around a private household may come under the new law, and Mr. Folmar urges their employers to request a free copy of the booklet. Copies are available at all post offices, and also be secured at offices of the Collector of Internal Revenue.

"If you are unable to obtain one of these pamphlets locally," Mr. Folmar said, "drop us a post card, asking for booklet No. 21, 'Do You Have A Maid?' We'll send it by return mail. Our address is: Social Security Administration 1825 First Avenue, North, Birmingham.

TWINS ARE BORN

On Monday, January 8th, twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McLane (nee Floretta Edwards) in West End Hospital in Birmingham. They have named them Jerry Thomas McLane, weight 5 pounds and 12 ounces, and Terry Manning McLane, weight 5 pounds and three ounces.

This is the story of the twins' mother: Floretta Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry (Bud) Edwards, was born August 1, 1918, during the first World War, while her father was in Camp Hancock, Ga., who died with flu in October of the same year.

Floretta married J. W. McLane who was in the U. S. Army at the beginning of the second World War. While he was fighting overseas a son, Jimmie McLane, was born to them. A few years later Floretta became the mother of a daughter, Patsy McLane.

The twins were born just about one week before their father left again for service in this present war. Their mother plans to leave in the near future with the children to live with their father wherever he is stationed while he continues on duty for our country.

THE COURTHOUSE SERVICE

The service at the courthouse Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a large crowd. Even as bad as the weather was, there were around three hundred present. Bro. Morris brought a very forceful message. There were not very many of the soldier boys present, but there was a large crowd of people who were very much interested in them.

We thank God for the boys who were there and for the way they manifested their faith, also for every one that was present and helped to make the service the success that it was. We promised these boys that we would be praying for them while they were away and certainly we are going to keep that promise. We asked for a vote as to whether we should meet back here one month from Sunday (or the next second Sunday), and almost everyone present voted to come back to the courthouse on this date (second Sunday in February) and pray for our boys.

You know God said, "The fervent effectual prayer of a righteous man availeth much." So folks, let's not let them down.

Bro. Morris and probably some other preacher will be there to speak for us. Let's not wait until the second Sunday to pray, but pray daily and make that day a special day of prayer. Please keep this in mind and come.—Ernest Jones.

QUANDARY

RESPECT SIRENS

Automobile drivers should pay more attention to the sound of a siren. One should know that those responsible for its blowing aren't blowing it for the beauty of its sound.

Last Saturday Highway Patrolman Braswell was notified to meet a party at the County Line south and lead them through the county to the Shelby County Line north. A small child was dying. At the Shelby County Line the party was met by the Shelby County Patrolmen and escorted to the Jefferson County Line.

As stated before these officials, Highway Patrolmen, Firemen, Ambulance Drivers, etc., do not sound their sirens just to hear them blow. There is a crisis and the least that we who use the highways can do, is to respect the sound of the sirens and give them the right of way. If an emergency did not exist the siren would not be blowing.

Sad to say the small child that so many was trying to save Saturday died shortly after reaching a Birmingham hospital. All was done to save its life that was possible to do.

You can help in these matters if you will cooperate with the authorities and respect the siren when you hear it. Give them the road. Even though your business be urgent it cannot be as important as the emergency that exists.

You may save a life—and the life you save may be your own!

GOOD LUCK!

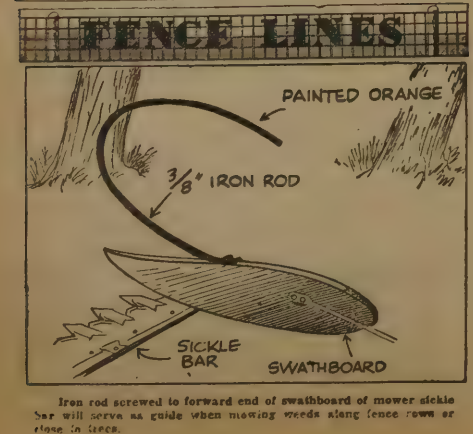

Wishes of "good luck" and smooth sailing are in order this week to the officials who assumed office Tuesday.

The Chilton County News extends best wishes and offers it's fullest cooperation to the new county and state officials during their respective terms of office.

J. D. (Jimmie) BELL

At the meeting of the Chilton County Christmas Chest last week one of Clanton's most outstanding business men was chosen to act as Chairman for the coming year. He was Mr. J. D. (Jimmie) Bell, owner and operator of the Bell Hardware Company.

Mr. Bell is a man of untiring energy and with the cooperation of the people of Chilton County he will make the 1951 Christmas Chest the best we have ever had, which means more and bigger Christmas baskets for all the needy people of our county.

Crossword Puzzle and PUZZLE NO. 117

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Howard Bookholdt says we are all wet... and all wet we are. Not that we always agree with Howard, but he was referring to our statement last week about the incoming officials of our county. We stated that the officials would take their oath of office on Tuesday of this week. That was right as far as it went, but we failed to say that Mr. Bookholdt didn't start his new term until about July 1st.

Another thing, our linotype operator worked all night long last Tuesday night and by the time he set the last line of type on Wednesday afternoon he was about "pooped." That accounts for the error in our story about the Christmas Chest. Where it read "R. M. Tucker, secretary" in the list of new officers, it should have read, "Mrs. R. M. Tucker, secretary." We are glad to make this correction; and we ain't just kidding.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. L. C. Waer and her sixth grade pupils went to the bus station to wish bon voyage to the family they have been assisting since their arrival here several weeks ago. The family was en route to Florida where the father hoped to get work in the citrus groves, but ran out of funds here and have been taken care of by the Red Cross and others who were willing to help. On the bus when it arrived were two ladies from "up north," and were enjoying their first trip South. As the bus pulled out and the school children were waving their good-byes the two ladies were heard to remark: "People in the South sure do turn out to meet the bus. I guess this is what they mean by Southern hospitality." And the two ladies left waving as big as anyone.

J. W. Culver brought us a paper this week dated May 3, 1900. The Masthead carries the line "Price One Cent." Other prices in the advertising throughout the interesting copy are in proportion. A cartoon on page 1, titled: "Must No Longer Appear Under False Colors," shows the Supreme Court Decision, pictured as a big policeman, tapping a keg of oleomargarine. Just shows we're still going around in circles. The newspaper is a copy of the Philadelphia Record and advertises the big Sunday Record only 2c. A big front page head says, "More Men Join The Strikers." Another: "Mine Horror Has Hundreds of Victims." And another: "Angry Words Mark Passage of Canal Bill." One headline says: "They Hissed Dewey's Name." Why they hissed the story failed to say. No sit, the headlines haven't changed any—but prices sure have.

Saw a traveler pull up at Clanton's main corner the other day. His automobile was pulling a trailer. He backed the trailer into a parking space, dropped a coin into the parking meter, unhooked the trailer from his automobile and drove off to see the town and attend to his business unburdened by the vehicle.

Post 206 American Legion at Thorsby certainly have something to be proud of. They have been sent a special certificate of Most Distinguished Service for their 100 percent membership completed before Armistice Day, November 11, last. This was also cause for a letter congratulating them from National Headquarters. One other Post in the Fifth District made a record to equal Thorsby's. E. R. Yeargan is Post Commander and reports the Post is in better condition both financially and every other way than ever before. The Thorsby Post is planning the erection of a Legion Building in the near future.

ALCOHOLISM

One of the greatest problems today confronting the home and community is the person addicted to the excessive use of alcohol. The alcoholic is a menace to himself and a burden to his family and friends. Aside from the social aspect, excessive use of alcohol is responsible for serious damage to the human body. Through research, evidence has been produced that alcohol taken in excess actually injures the germ plasma of the body. It has been said that children of chronic alcoholics are likely to be both physically and mentally affected.

Alcoholism is a symptom—not a disease—and it indicates mental and emotional disorder. Alcoholism is not simply a weakness of will power. Some cases are symptomatic of a condition in which the patient has a tendency toward alcohol not shared by the normal or controlled drinker. These are the "drug" addict type. The alcoholic is controlled by alcohol, and his drinking is not part of the social situation but rather a substitution for it.

To help cure the alcoholic, the reflex or aversion treatment is one which has been found successful in a minority of cases. The treatment consists essentially of establishing a reflex aversion to the sight, taste, smell and thought of alcoholic beverages by means of a drug which causes vomiting. It must be followed by psychiatric care.

Then good results have been obtained through a group called Alcoholics Anonymous. This "group therapy" appeals to the senses and will power of the patient and its members help one another in the fight. Doctors of medicine have been instrumental in working with this organization made up of "reformed" alcoholics in striving to inspire in the excessive user of alcohol the will not to drink. It is successful in some 50% to 60% of cases.

Understanding is essential in helping the alcoholic. Your doctor is the best counselor in aiding the person addicted to this stimulant. He should be consulted and his advice carefully followed out. Today alcoholism is looked upon as a problem that can be solved by the right treatment and proper understanding.

Our Boys Marching To War

Again our Alabama boys are marching to war. Every Alabamian is proud of the part that Alabama boys have taken in fighting for our freedom, and our way of life. In every war and conflict since there has been an Alabama, our boys have been right there showing the colors of our great state. We regret that there is a need and a cause for our boys to march again to war.

We regret to see our young men leave our homes, our churches, and our communities; but wherever they go, our prayers will follow them. Our hearts are with them for their brave and noble spirit. And we know that their part in this awful mess we are in will be well done to get us out of it, and that as soon as possible. It is a great sacrifice on their part, but may they be rewarded for such sacrifice. No greater reward could any one expect than to know that we can, by their going to war if need be, retain our liberty, our God-given freedom, and every other thing of life that every American holds dear. The sacrifice is also shared by fathers and mothers, wives, and sweethearts, and other members of family life. But may every one face the task with a firm faith in the Living God, Whom we can depend.

It was my privilege last Sunday morning to conduct a service of honor for the boys of Temple Church and community who are leaving this week to enter the service of their country. I spoke to them right out of my own heart. Answered some vital questions that I hope will remain with them. I then assured them and the congregation that the time will come that God will cause all wars to cease unto the end of the earth. That some day the rightful Ruler of this world will take over the kingdoms of the world. Then nations will beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. And righteousness and peace shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

After the sermon the boys present came forward toward the front of the church, and stood before the pastor for prayer. Prayers were offered in their behalf, and the whole church pledged their prayers always for their safety and their return. God bless our boys.

DALE CARNEGIE

Worry is the Greatest Enemy

DR. JOSE P. BADEL, Jersey City, N.J., says he will always be a better doctor because of a trying and disheartening experience he suffered some years ago when he was still a student.

He was making a culture of Eberthella Typhosa, to you and me, the microbe that produces Typhoid fever. He wasn't as careful of himself as he should have been and the result was that he contracted Typhoid himself.

Things took a bad turn; he had a complication of meningitis, which is an inflammation of the membrane that covers the brain and spinal cord. He, by chance, overheard his physician say to one of the other physicians that the case was very serious and would probably result in death.

Just then came the experimental stage with the sulfa drugs, so they experimented on him. He recovered from meningitis but he developed peripheral neuritis, lost 50 pounds, was practically skin and bones, and was so weak that he had to be taught to walk again. Worried? Of course.

But the disheartening word came when the doctor told him he was not to resume his studies for at least two years! During those two years his classmates would pass him by. Naturally this worried him. But it had to be faced, and he faced it. He went to the country and he made up his mind that worry would not go with him. He stayed a year before he went back to the doctor for a check-up.

Said the doctor, "You have recovered in a wonderful way; you are perfectly well, and you may now resume your studies."

Says Dr. Badel, "I know now that I would not have recovered in just half the time the doctor allotted me if I had continued to worry. And this is a lesson that will stand me in good stead all my life, and make me a better doctor than I ever could have hoped to be."

This Week In Washington

THE LAME-DUCK session of the 81st congress, which Sen. Robert A. Taft said should do nothing but adjourn, accomplished quite a task and passed some worthwhile legislation—a multi-billion dollar appropriation measure for defense, an excess profits tax law, extension of rent control, a civil defense law carrying a three-billion-dollar appropriation, emergency aid for Yugoslavia, ban on interstate shipment of slot machines, except in states where specifically permitted, and a bill authorizing a gigantic construction program by the department of defense authorizing $1,650,719,610 in security-essential construction.

And as the 82nd congress took office, sworn-in in the newly decorated senate and house chambers, described by some as Hollywood settings, there was an air of tenseness and urgency as the legislators went about the humdrum business of organization of the new committees and election of the new leaders.

Central figure in the promised battles over the nation's foreign policy was Senator Taft, chairman of the Republican policy committee, who only recently at Cincinnati said the "that no great confidence in the judgment of the top military" leaders of the country. The Ohio senator also was quoted here a short time ago as having expressed disgust in any bipartisanship on the theory apparently that the Republican leadership was taken into the confidence of the President and other leaders over what was to be done, it cramped Republican criticism of any action taken.

There was an immediate demand for price controls and wage controls from many quarters in the congress and apparently the government's controls agencies were bending every effort to get personal to place these controls into effect as soon as possible. An important meeting here January 18 with price and wage administrator Alan Valentine of ESA was to include representatives of all top labor and industrial organizations to develop a national wage stabilization policy, insofar as can be determined wage and price controls may go into effect some time in February or March.

General Lucius Clay, former American commander in Germany, chairman of Crusade for Freedom and only recently named assistant to Charles E. Wilson, administrator of the office of defense mobilization has filed a report showing that more than 15,000,000 Americans have signed the scroll in the Crusade for Freedom. The scrolls are placed in the huge freedom bell recently hung in Berlin. Also in sums of which most were under $1, a total of $1,288,000 has been mailed in to defray expenses of the crusade. Radio Free Europe expects to have its powerful radio transmitter working within a few weeks. It is now under construction in Munich and will penetrate behind the iron curtain.

Congressional Quarterly News service reports that investigation shows 324 lobbying organizations spent $5,272,738.35 in the first half of 1950 with the Committee for Constitutional Government, an anti-administration set-up leading the field with $517,580.19. In the closing days of the lame duck session, Senator James Kem, Republican of Missouri, sought to force President Truman, by resolution, to give Congress a detailed account of his meeting with British foreign minister Ailes. The Republicans, however, were defeated by a vote of 30 to 45 and then Senator Connolly buried the resolution in the foreign relations committee on a vote of 47 to 29. Three Republicans voted against the Kem resolution. They are Senators Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Leverett Saltonstall, Maine, and Chan Gurney, South Dakota. One interesting inter-party fight is the battle between Senators Wayne Morse of Oregon and Homer E. Capehart of Indiana for a place on the senate foreign relations committee. It has degenerated to all top labor and industrial organizations to develop a national wage stabilization policy, insofar as can be determined wage and price controls may go into effect some time in February or March.

AT YOUR DRUGGIST

JEB ALLEN was standing on the front porch, rolling his morning smoke while he waited for breakfast. Funny, he thought, but he didn't remember hearing Elizabeth get home from the dance. For that matter, he hadn't heard the twins either, but he was past being surprised at anything they took a notion to do.

If those boys had pulled another trick on Elizabeth and her fellow at the dance, he'd have to give them another lecture. Elizabeth seemed to be getting worried about being an old maid. Jeb shook his head, grinning to himself at the thought of the different fellows who had given up trying to court Elizabeth and keep an eye on the twins at the same time.

Jeb glanced down the road while he fished for a match. He stared for a moment at the group of figures that had just come into sight. Then he was in a long loping run toward them. The twins, tied together, with burlap sacks pulled over their heads, were staggering and stumbling along, trying to keep up with old Star's slow walk. "Whoa, Star!" Jeb yelled at the old mare.

At the sound of his voice, the twins stopped dead in their tracks, and Star turned her head to look reproachfully at the two boys on the other end of the piece of rawhide that was knotted into her tail.

Jeb cut the rawhide, then went to work on the rope and sacks the twins were wearing. When the boys were free, they sank to the ground and pulled gingerly at what was left of their boots.

While Jeb was helping to ease the boots off of swollen feet, the twins excitedly told him what had happened.

"A-couple of fellows held us up right after we left the dance." "And," Bob cut in on his brother, "they bundled us up and threw us across our horses after they took our money."

"We rode that way for an hour or more," said Bill, "zigzagging and circling till we didn't know where we were."

"Then they fed us together," Bob was rubbing his chafed wrists, "then tied us to Star's tail."

"They told us Star would lead us home." "And they said they would dump us in the river if they found us in their neighborhood after sunup."

"I don't know where we could have been," Bill said, looking puzzled. "Star took us across the river five times."

"There wasn't any moon so we couldn't see anything with those sacks over our heads."

"We thought Star was lost, she took us over some rough country, through a lot of brush, and got us in pretty deep water the last time we crossed the river."

"Hold on, boys," Jeb cut in, "you can tell me the rest of it after we get you to the house and get those feet into some hot water."

Elizabeth was helping her mother put breakfast on the table when the boys hobbled through the door. With a grin she said, "We found the buggy wheels, whoever took them off and hid them didn't get quite enough hay over them. It took you boys quite a while to cover the 10 miles home."

"We were robbed and tied up," the twins said together.

Elizabeth reached under her apron and pulled a couple of bills folds out of a dress pocket. "I thought these looked familiar, are they yours?"

Jeb frowned at the twinkle in his daughter's eyes. "Elizabeth, this is your doing," he stated. "We were the two fellows that helped you!"

"Maybe the boys know them. One of the fellows said he found a porcupine in his buggy seat when he left here one night after bringing me home, and the other fellow said that he was halfway home from here one night before he discovered there was a sack full of red ants tucked under the back edge of his saddle. They were more than eager to help."

"I'm surprised at you, Elizabeth," Jeb said slowly. "The boys could have been hurt or maybe drowned, they couldn't help themselves, tied up that way."

"When a girl passes her twenty-first birthday she begins to get desperate," Elizabeth said. "But maybe I won't have to do anything that drastic again," she added, saying the twins.

"We've just sworn off," they said in unison, "no more jokes on anybody."

"How come you were out so late?" Jeb asked Elizabeth. "Someone had to ride Star," laughed Elizabeth, "or she would have had the boys home by one o'clock."

PASTURE LAND

Farmers who plan to plant kudzu, sericea, or clover-grass permanent pastures should prepare the land now, if it is not subject to severe erosion. The success of these crops often depends on good seedbed preparation.

QUAIL ON THE FARM

Cattle farmers who have placed most of their land in pastures can bring back their quail by fencing in quail food and cover plantings with a couple of strands of barbed wire.

Some folks think that fine clothes and fine, big houses are the most important things in life. But these things really don't mean too much if a person doesn't feel well enough to enjoy them. Most folks don't realize this, but Mrs. Lucy Braswell, of Route 2, Stone Mountain, Ga., realizes it very well. Mrs. Braswell takes HADACOL, and by taking HADACOL she found she is helping her system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Braswell's own statement: "I have been sick for some time with stomach disturbances. I began taking HADACOL and I have been taking it about six weeks. I am so much better and much stronger. I will continue to take HADACOL. It sure has helped me. I tell my friends about HADACOL. I can't praise HADACOL too much. I am 55 years old."

NEW CONTROL FOR PEANUT LEAFSPOT

Auburn, Ala. — Since the government has cut the civilian use of copper, there probably will be a shortage for use in controlling peanut leafspot in 1951.

And because of this possible shortage, Crag 658, a relatively new fungicide, is recommended by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station as a substitute for copper in the sulfur-copper-DDT dust.

In tests at the Wiregrass Substation in 1950, five applications of sulfur-658-DDT dust increased peanut yields 500 pounds per acre over no treatment. Whereas, sulfur-copper-DDT and sulfur-658-DDT increased the yields 322 and 199 pounds per acre, respectively.

In announcing the results, Dr. Coyt Wilson, assistant director, pointed out that recommendation of the substitute, Crag 658, is based on one year's results and is made as a temporary measure to replace much needed copper. He added, however, that further work may show sulfur-658-DDT dust to be inferior to sulfur-copper-DDT dust.

Wilson explained that a mixture containing 658 is not expected to be as effective as copper for control of leafspot in periods of frequent rains and high humidities. However, in hot dry weather, such as prevailed during July and August of last year, copper is likely to cause stunting of peanuts. Under these conditions, 658 may be superior to copper.

SMALL FAMILIES

Meat roasts, which often come cheaper by the pound than chops and steaks, are sometimes overlooked by the woman who cooks for two or just for herself.

"For example," says Mary Hulsey, A.P.I. Extension Service nutritionist, "a small pork loin roast of two and one-half to three and one-half pounds can provide at least three different pork dishes." The butcher might be asked to cut off a chop or two from the end of the roast. The chops can be placed in the freezer tray of the refrigerator for longer keeping. And the roast itself provides savory roast pork in moderate amount plus scraps for pork chop suey, salad or some creamed dish, or gravy."

Miss Hulsey further states that a one-half rib roast suits very small family needs. Weighing three to five pounds with bone in, it will roast well when turned often and basted frequently.

CITY FAMILIES DO MUCH
CANNING TOO

What may be news to both farmers and people in town is the fact that 44 per cent of city families do some home canning.

A. W. Jones, A.P.I. Extension Service marketing specialist, says that this is an important food practice that many farmers might well consider more carefully.

"Family income has little effect on the amount of canning done," adds Jones. "A survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that about the same per cent of families with $1,000 or less income do home preserving as families with incomes of $4,000, $5,000, or even $7,500 or more. No regional differences in canning, North or South, shows up. City families who did some canning put up an average of 85 quarts in a year. Fifty per cent of the food canned was vegetables, 50 per cent fruit, and 10 per cent jellies, jams, and preserves."

START PLANTS NOW FOR EARLY GARDEN

Auburn, Ala. — Early January is a good time to start cabbage, lettuce and broccoli plants in seed boxes, according to J. C. Ford, A.P.I. Extension Service garden specialist.

He says that boxes should be kept in a warm room until seed sprout. However, when the first plants come through the soil or just before they come through, move boxes to a cooler place where the plants will come up in bright daylight. To produce stocky plants, they should be thinned to about two inches apart as soon as they are up.

"Three level tablespoons of fertilizer mixed into three inches of top soil for each box two feet square is a good rate," states the specialist.

FREQUENT RESTS ADD TO LIFE OF WOOLENS

Auburn, Ala. — Giving wool clothes a few days' rest now and then will add weeks to their life, according to Levice Ellis, A.P.I. Extension Service clothing specialist.

She explains that frequent or prolonged sitting in a garment may cause it to bulge or stretch out of shape. A rest allows the wool to spring back and wrinkles to fall out so that less pressing is needed. Wool clothes should also hang straight on hangers, and they should not be pressed tightly in a close closet. Woolens need air as well as space.

"Occasional brushing inside and out helps keep wool clothes in condition," adds Miss Ellis. "During the brushing, give attention to seams, turn down cuffs, open pockets and clean out dust and lint."

Maple Hill Cemetery in Huntsville, Alabama, is the burial place of five Alabama governors: Thomas Bibb, Clement Comer Clay, Samuel Moore, Reuben Chapman, and David P. Lewis.

"I REMEMBER"
BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. Rhoda Bell, Spencer, Ohio: I remember when I was a child about the time President McKinley was shot, my mother and grandmother made what they called linsey. They didn't have sheep, but they bought wool and cleaned it. I don't know just how, but my grandfather would card it into small rolls, and Mother would spin it into thread and Grandma would weave it into goods. They colored it an old rose, then they made dresses for my two sisters and myself. Boy! We thought we were really dressed up in our linsey dresses!

From Mrs. C. H. Vaughn, Tateville, Ky.: When I was a small girl I can remember when we would gather in the pumpkins in the fall of the year, and mother and us children would cut the pumpkins round in a ring and hang them on a long stick to dry. When they got dry, we would cook them with a fat piece of meat, and how good it was!

From Mrs. E. C. Bass, Central, Ala.: I remember when in Tallapoosa county at the Horse Shoe Bend, my father went to the tannery and bought leather to make shoes. He put them together with maple pegs. He went to the swamp, cut the trees down, and made the pegs himself. I remember when people wore brogan shoes and when they bought flour in barrels.

From Mrs. Mary Stewart, Chicago, Ala.: I remember when groceries had four or five grades of tub butter, designated as dairy, creamery, buttermine (oleo today), and best butter, at 25 cents per pound. A bowl of cold water with a wooden spatula rested on the counter. Weighing it out we got a few ounces over, and the clerk always put a silver of the best in his mouth.

On display in the Department of Archives and History is the Bible which has been used since 1853 to swear Alabama governors into office. It was this Bible that was used February 17, 1861, to inaugurate Jefferson Davis of Mississippi as president of the Confederacy.

CLANTON TRIPS
JEMISON HIGH 53 TO 51

In a tee-total thriller, all the way, Coach Bulger's C.C.H.S. basketballers downed the Jemison High Quint on Tuesday night, January 9th, by a 53 to 51 count.

Fulfilling your correspondent's predictions, these two teams of Chilton County sent home a large group of spectators with that thrill of having witnessed a fine game of high school basketball.

No apologies to anyone for anything. The C.C.H.S. simply dished out a brand of playing that hooted them into the win column. Both teams drove hard and fast, played up-to-the-minute style and endeavored to reward the audience with a mark of true sportsmanship. Clanton led 17 to 10 at the end of the first quarter. The half closed with them still clinging to the precarious 7-point lead, this time 31 to 24. The third quarter saw Coach Cobb's Panthers over-haul the Clanton team and forge into a 3-point lead. This quarter closed with J.H.S. hanging into a 1-point lead 42 to 41. From then on out it was a hair-raiser. The supporters for each team really went to work cutting-up. Enough noise (if we had it over there) to frighten the Reds back to the 38th Parallel. Johnson and Popwell led C.C.H.S. with 14 points each, while Sorrell with 15 and Jones 13 high-pointed for Jemison. Sorrell brought the crowd to its feet in the final 8 seconds of play, when he broke under the goal for a crisp shot. The ball spun around the rim and rolled off to the delight of the Clanton team and to the dismay of the Jemison boys. It was a whale of a game. Don't expect to see a better one this season, just look for one as good.

The Clanton B's upset the Jemison B's on the same night 42 to 33. This preliminary game rated good itself.

Other games of J.H.S. not reported are as follows:

January 2 at Billingsley — Billingsley 34, Jemison 24; B-game, Billingsley 40, Jemison 35.

January 5 at Plantersville — Plantersville 26, Jemison 68; B-game, Plantersville 19, Jemison 66.

January 12 at Calera — Calera 25, Jemison 50; B-game, Calera 25, Jemison 23.

Jemison High played Montevallo High last night (Wednesday), but the score will not be available until next week's issue. The next home game at Jemison will be next Tuesday night, January 23rd, when the locals will meet

DAIRYING

Alabama farmers selling milk for manufacturing purposes received an average of $3.45 per hundredweight the first 10 months in 1950, compared with the national average of $3.36.

BEEF CATTLE

A favorable beef cattle development is that Alabama is one of the leading states in holding back heifers and cows for increased breedings. This fact means even greater sales of beef cattle in the future.

QUALITY COTTON

It is estimated that 95 per cent of the Alabama cotton crop was grown by farmers who used the following recommended varieties: Stoneville 2-B, Coker 100, Wilt, Beltapine, Empire, Plains, Stonewall, and White Gold.

The ingredients for a salad bowl should be lightly but so thoroughly tossed that each leaf and each ingredient is coated with dressing before the salad is served.

STATUE OF EMMA SANSOM

Emma Sansom was poor and uneducated but she had no superior in courage, and patriotism. She is considered a true heroine of the Confederacy. Colonel Abel D. Straight of the Federal Army had been ordered to cut off all Confederate supply lines to Rome, Ga. The course led through Etowah County. Straight destroyed the bridge after crossing Black Creek, but Emma Sansom directed Gen. Forrest to a cattle crossing in the creek by riding behind him on his horse. Federal bullets pierced her skirts but she was not hurt. Gen. Forrest overtook and captured Straight, thus preventing the Federals' planned raid on Rome.

"Squiggle"

IN any electric power plant or power dispatching station there are numerous instruments, accurate as the finest watch, making "squiggles." These squiggles are being observed—some almost constantly, some at regular intervals—by the operators or dispatchers. To the practiced eye the squiggles say "everything's OK" or that something's about to be un-OK. Then something's done and you, far away from the power plant, haven't even a hint that except for the watchfulness of the instruments and the men attending them, there might have been a lessening in the quality of your electric service.

The squiggles also serve another purpose. Each day they are sent to operating headquarters, studied and serve as a basis for planning for improvements or additions to the power supply system.

An electric power system is never finished—new industries, new inventions, improved methods—constantly call for additions and improvements. Plans are being made now for still more expansion totaling additional millions of dollars.

THIS year, every dollar's worth of NATURAL CHILEAN NITRATE OF SODA PAYS BIG EXTRA PROFITS!

HERE'S WHY: Nitrogen content — all nitrate nitrogen . . . fast-acting . . . completely available . . . the only natural nitrate in the world.

Sodium content — contains 26% sodium (equivalent to 35% sodium aside) . . . sodium is essential to maximum yields . . . substitutes for potassium, where lacking, and makes soil phosphate more available . . . helps "sweeten" the soil.

Other plant foods— natural traces of iodine, manganese, potassium, magnesium, boron, calcium, iron, sulphur, copper and zinc.

Uncle Natheal says: "Look for the bulldog on the bag. It means natheal soda in free-flowing pellet form. Used now for over one hundred years."

300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of oats 35-40 bu. per acre. Dollar return: almost 4 to 1. Chilean Nitrate also improves the feeding quality and the protein content of forage crops.

200 to 300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate produced 150 to 200 pounds more lint cotton per acre. Dollar return: about 10 to 1. You can't afford not to invest in natural soda this year!

300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of corn about 20 bushels per acre. Dollar return: almost 4 to 1. Chilean Nitrate means maximum yields for maximum profits!

You are welcome to come any Sunday night at 6:30 p.m. to the Pilgrim Fellowship meetings. We will be glad to have you come and worship with us.

Baptist Notes—

There was a good representative group at the officers and teachers meeting Thursday night. The report showed less than 50% of all who are on roll attended Sunday School last Sunday. The efficiency was far below 50%. As a result of the officers and teachers meeting two objectives are anticipated: First, a simultaneous well organized visitation program—the time to be announced later; second, transportation committee whose opportunity will be arranging transportation for those who do not have ways to attend Sunday School.

There is a possibility of rearranging some of the weekly meetings of our church. It has been suggested that the weekly officers and teachers meeting be conducted on Wednesday evening, followed by prayer meeting and that Friday night be designated as the time for choir practice. The committee whose duty it is to contact choir members report that 30 or more people are ready to cooperate in the organization and building of a great choir. Please give this matter your prayerful consideration.

The Cajans of Washington County proudly claim today that some of their ancestors were sailors under the notorious buccaneer, Jean Lafitte. According to these people, their forebears eventually tired of pirate life on the high seas and sought out the seclusion of the great wooded areas of South Alabama. Here they married Indian girls and settled down to the less exciting life of becoming farmers.

On the northern tip of Baldwin County is located the ruins of old Fort Montpelier, a frontier barricade established by Andrew Jackson. Montpelier's most distinctive claim to fame comes from the fact that it was here in 1821 that General Jackson resigned from the U. S. Army and once again became a private citizen shortly before taking up political life.

Though Tusculum is one of the fairest of Alabama's cities today, its name was Indian in origin, Tashka Ambi which meant "Warrior Who Kills."

It has been estimated that Alabama is the home of more than 200 different species of grasses.

The only bird in existence which can fly backwards is a species of hummingbird which lives in Alabama.

The Choctaw Indian Chief Tuskalooosa was so tall that his feet dragged the ground when he sat astride the average sized horse.

It was Chief Tuskalooosa who led the Indians against DeSoto and his gold-hungry cavaliers during the Battle of Mauvilla.

The first azaleas in Alabama were brought over in 1754. They came from the personal gardens of the King of France.

Ruth Elder of Anniston, Alabama, was the first woman in history ever to attempt a trans-Atlantic airplane flight.

In the ante-bellum Hinds Home at Decatur is a table upon which General A. S. Johnston and his general staff planned their strategy for the great Battle of Shiloh.

As the intrepid officer pored over his mass of maps and statistics of troop movements, little did he know that it was in the battle he was plotting that he would receive the wound which was to take his life.

Jones Speaks At First Methodist On Alcoholism

Rev. Thomas G. Jones, of Montgomery, was in Clanton last Sunday, January 21st. He addressed a large group at the First Methodist Church at ten o'clock on the subject of Alcoholism.

The entire Adult Department of the church school assembled in the auditorium to hear the guest speaker, who was introduced by Judge J. O. Middleton.

Miss Pat Huddleston rendered a beautiful solo before the speaker was introduced.

Mr. Jones is an accepted authority on the subject of the problem of alcoholism and an expert in handling the subject before an audience. He has made special studies at Yale University and other Centers of learning in the East.

He recently organized and conducted an institute in Montgomery, which was attended by a large number of interested people. He has also participated in such institutes in some of the colleges in Alabama, and speaker at nearly all the colleges in the State. He is in demand as a speaker.

The speaker came to Clanton to deliver this address on the invitation of Judge J. O. Middleton, who is teacher of a large men's class at the Methodist Church here.

Mr. Jones and his wife who came up with him, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Malley White, after the close of the service. Judge Middleton was also a dinner guest.

During the afternoon the visiting couple called to see several old friends in Clanton. These friendships were formed many years ago while Mr. Jones was pastor of the Methodist Church here.

Note Comes From Lallie Bates In Korea

Hugh M. (Lallie) Bates writes that he has arrived but doesn't know where. He thinks it's about 50 miles West of Pusan. Says Lallie: "I don't know exactly where I am for I came by truck at night and the temperature is 22 degrees below zero. The snow is 18 inches deep."

Lallie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bates of Clanton.

New Snack Bar To Open Soon

Bob Windham, who operates City Grill, has leased the building next door, formerly occupied by the Eubanks Barber Shop, and will open a Snack Bar there soon. The new business will cater only to counter trade, and will serve short orders, hot dogs, hamburgers, etc.

Opening date will be announced at a later date Mr. Windham stated Tuesday.

MECHANICAL TREE-PLANTER DEMONSTRATION

On the 17th of January business men, civic organizations and land owners observed Chilton County's first mechanical tree planter in operation. This demonstration was held for the purpose of acquainting the public with the operation of the tree planter.

The local Lions Club sponsored the idea that the local banks purchase the tree planting machine and make this equipment available free of charge to the land owners. All the banks of the county participated in purchasing this machine with one idea in mind and that was that more of our idle acres might be devoted to the growing of trees.

Among the out-of-town guests attending this demonstration were: Mr. Jack Loper, Mr. Bill Byrd, Mr. Glover and Mr. South of the Gulf State Paper Co., Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Mr. Phil Kipp, Selma, Ala.; Mr. Charlie Stuckey, Columbiana, Ala., both of whom are with the State Division of Forestry.

Those land owners interested in securing the service of the tree planting equipment should contact Charlie Gay, your local Forest Ranger. Seedlings will also be available for the 1951 and 1952 planting season from this same source. Make your applications early to insure delivery.

Baptist Executive Committees To Meet

The Executive Committee of the Chilton Baptist Association will meet at the Liberty Hill Church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Jones, Chairman, urges all members to be present and others will be welcome.

Natural Gas Line Reaches Clanton

The long awaited natural gas line has reached town and the prospects of natural gas for the homes becomes nearer a reality. This week the big six-inch line from Verbena reaches the sub-station that was located between the Barth Lumber Company and the creek south of town.

After the construction of the sub-station building, or within five or six weeks mains throughout the town will be laid and where possible the mains will be run in the alleys. When this is impossible they will be put between the sidewalks and the gutters along the streets.

Mayor Jones has recommended the use of local men already employed by the city for the reading and maintenance of the meters and these men will work directly with the construction crew in installing these meters and mains. This will give them practical experience in this work and enable them to get first hand instruction on their upkeep.

Those residents who have already signed for natural gas and paid their fee will have the gas run to their house where the meter will be installed. There the city's obligation ends and it will be up to the house owner to have the type and number of gas appliances he needs installed at his convenience. The entire project will be completed five months from January 1st, it is reported.

CORRECTION

In last week's paper we stated that on January 14th a son was born of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, whom they named James Douglas Thompson, Jr. This should be corrected to read: "January 14th is the birthday of James Douglas Thompson, II. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, of Clanton."

MAPLESVILLE F.F.A.-F.H.A. BANQUET FRIDAY

Friday night, January 19th, the Maplesville F.F.A. and F.H.A. chapters honored their parents with a banquet supper. A welcoming address was given by the F.F.A. president, Willie Mae Boone. The F.F.A. had a meeting called to order by their president, Hillard Smith. Various parts were given by Walter Taylor, vice-president; Harvey Smith, Carter Davis, Bobby Middlebrooks and Leo Hamrick. Those on program were: Eva Jo Walker, Shirley Chambers, Beye Harris, Juanita McAfee, Ruth Pugh, Judy Cates, Muralen Pullen, and Opal Taylor. Harvey and Hillard Smith were recognized as State Farmers, the first two boys from Maplesville to accomplish this.

The meeting was adjourned by the F.F.A. president. The tables were decorated in the F.F.A. colors, red and white, with streamers of blue and gold. F.F.A. colors, over the table. The F.F.A. Emblem was at one end of the room and the F.H.A. at the other. Everyone reported having a grand time.

Company B, 167th Infantry Leaves

"Kiss The Boys Goodbye." That's what they were doing in large numbers Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when Company B, 167th Infantry, left for Fort Jackson, S. C., under the Command of Capt. Guy Higgins.

A large crowd was at the L. & N. Station to see the boys off to camp and wishing them a speedy return home. Mothers, fathers, wives, sweethearts and children lined the tracks as the troop train pulled into the station to speed them to Fort Jackson.

According to "old-timers" when the train pulled out, it was the largest single group of men ever to leave Chilton County at one time. Company B was not at full strength but there were evidently few vacancies.

Company B is a unit of the 31st or Dixie Division called into service recently.

"HIS LAST MESSAGE TO HIS SWEETHEART"

It was upon an Eastern Front one cold November day, in a muddy, icy fox hole, a dying soldier lay.

Beside him knelt his comrade with loving and devoted head listening to the last words the dying soldier said.

"Tell my sweetheart back in God's country

"That I caught an airplane, one that goes straight through.

"Tell her not to weep for me.

"For I've done my bit real well.

"I'm going straight to heaven.

"For I've put my hitch in hell.

"Hear, I hear a buzzing. I will catch it on the fly.

"Farewell, old pal, it's not so hard to die.

"When you've fought for a freedom that is worth living by."

Chamber Of Commerce Meeting For February 1

A meeting to organize a working Chamber of Commerce has been called for Thursday night, February 1, at the City Hall, at 7:45. All members and prospective members are urged to attend this meeting. Leaders in the business and professional life of Clanton are being asked to have a working Chamber of Commerce and with the enthusiasm that is being shown now among these groups, it looks like a Chamber will become a reality. Twice before attempts have been made toward this end but each attempt has failed. This time, say interested members, it will be a go of the new Chamber of Commerce by all citizens who would benefit by such an organization, the meeting at the City Hall next Thursday night was called. At this time an election of officers for the coming year will be held. The officers to be elected are: President, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and five directors.

IN THE CIRCUMSTANCES NO OTHER ANSWER

(Christian Science Monitor)

Price and wage controls are no longer on the way. They are around the next corner—pushed there by the facts of a fast-moving situation, not by enthusiasm on the part of mobilization officials or of economists.

Says Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson:

There is only one answer—controls. I hate the word—so do you. But there is no other way.

Said Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine only a short time ago:

I hope the inflationary trend can be checked by sound taxation and credit measures, coupled with voluntary cooperation. . . . We shall rely on these measures just as far as they can be made effective. But we must not and will not hesitate to use mandatory direct controls. . . . in such areas as voluntary measures have failed.

Have "taxation and credit measures" been tried?

Since the outbreak of fighting in Korea the Federal Reserve Board (sometimes acting with other agencies) has successively raised its discount rate (to tighten bank credit), increased down-payment requirements on new housing by 10-50 per cent, done the same for installment buying, substantially upped bank reserve requirements, and tightened up on margin buying in the stock market. The bank reserve move alone has been expected to freeze $2,000,000,000 directly and another $12,000,000,000 indirectly out of the loan market.

In taxation, as everybody knows, Congress enacted a stopgap measure four months ago expected to drain $2,745,000,000 out of consumer buying power. And all sorts of appeals, official and unofficial, have been made for voluntary efforts to hold the price line.

Yet the cost of living (as everybody knows, too) and prices generally have continued to climb with alarming speed. Why?

For one thing, neither the credit restrictions nor the taxation has been severe enough. Some of the reasons for this have stemmed from commendable caution about braking a nation's economy too abruptly; some have stemmed from decidedly uncommendable political timidity on the part of Congress and the administration.

Voluntary restraints have been insufficient because without a thoroughly aroused and determined public sentiment behind them they cannot save the public-spirited complier from being penalized by the chiseler for his self-denial.

Then, too, the mere possibility of mandatory controls has been driving everyone who benefits from wages or prices to seek a higher plateau before a freeze might arrive.

But there has been also a surge of consumer buying beyond anything expected. It is not "scare" buying like that of last July. It is, in general, the result of generally sober foresight on the part of millions of Americans who see ahead a long period of relative scarcities and lowered quality, and who have more confidence in the future of their earning power than of the dollar in their pockets.

So price and wage controls must come—and quickly now. Not to solve the problem of unrestricted demand for defense-restricted food, clothing, housing, and conveniences, but simply to halt the dizzy acceleration of the spiral until the main body of inflation-fighting measures can be brought up—and thereafter to guard the frontiers.

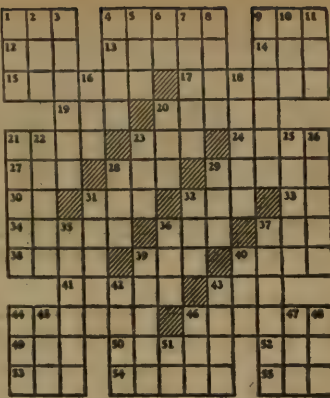

For controls deal only with the effects, not with the pressures which cause inflation. No price and wage line will hold long unless these pressures are further diverted by more and sharper credit restrictions and by much heavier taxation. And none of this can be brought to pass unless the American people remain continually

--By BEN

Since all this talk about the Legislature voting against raising their salary, we were just wondering how it ever got started paying itself for Saturday and Sunday? Why the pay for seven days a week when no one else draws pay for the days they rest over the week end? The money paid them for Saturday and Sunday multiplied by 106 members in the House and 35 members in the Senate runs into a lot of dough.

The craziest story was going the rounds Monday morning about the new Sheriff Luther Kendrick getting hurt bad Saturday night. The story was that he was hurt while trying to arrest a drunk, but on calling the Sheriff's office we found there was absolutely no foundation for the story whatsoever. How it originated, the Lord only knows.

You read where the lady asked the preacher which part of the chicken he wanted. He told her he preferred the leg. She wanted to know the upper or the lower leg. He says: "My dear madam, what nature has joined together, let no man put asunder."

Company B, 167th Infantry, pulled out Tuesday morning for Fort Jackson, S. C. Captain Guy Higgins, Commanding Officer, Monday afternoon promised to keep in touch and we will pass the good word along about the boys from Chilton County as it is received. We wish them the best and will be waiting for our first "Bulletin."

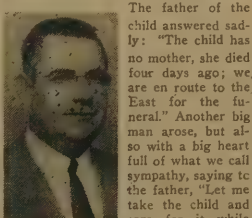

The Shell Station has a new plastic sign on the corner of Seventh Street and 3rd Avenue that can be seen for a country mile. Motorists have had trouble seeing the old sign as it sat too far back against the building. The new one looks like a full moon coming up over Clanton's main street.

The Dixie Cafe has started making their own doughnuts and thereby hangs a tale. The other morning when the industry at the Dixie was new, three wayfarers came in for coffee. However, they stayed to dunk. A beautiful display of the breakfast fruit was lined under the show case on the counter. The three who came for coffee, R. C. Williams, M. C. Barth and John Hollis decided to try the doughnuts, which they did. The verdict: R. C. said the hole was too big; Milton said they were too expensive and John said they were too sweet. J. E. Easterling said: Come in and try them. After all the doughnut is the only thing in the world that you can eat and still have the hole of it left.

They were driving slowly along the country lane; he with his arm around his sweetie, Miss Coyle she asked: "Don't you think it's dangerous driving with one arm?" After thinking a minute he pulled the arm back and put both hands on the wheel. "Aw, honey," she sulked, "I was only fooling." "Yeah," the boy replied, "But I just thought about all the poor fellows who have run into a church driving like that."

Sympathy

Some time ago on a pullman racing across the western part of this great country of ours, sleeping passengers were disturbed by the persistent crying of a small baby. Some of the passengers began to make audible complaints. One harsh talking man said to the father, "Will you tell that child's mother to keep that baby quiet?"

The father of the child answered sadly: "The child has no mother, she died four days ago; we are en route to the East for the funeral." Another big man arose, but also with a big heart full of what we call sympathy, saying to the father, "Let me take the child and care for it while A. T. HICKMAN you get some rest yourself." The friend being a father himself, was schooled in the art of nursing a child; soon the child was asleep in the arms of one who understood, and sympathized. The tired father of the child received a much needed rest; also the passengers who had complained.

"Put yourself in his place," is the best practical illustration for the word "sympathy." There is no greater example of sympathy than is to be found in the life of Jesus. He was human as well as divine. He was tempted in all points, like as we, yet without sin. Being one of all, a part of all, His loving heart went out to all. To the hungry, the sick, those who had sorrow too great to bear, was always near.

Beecher said, "Happy is the man who has that in his soul which acts upon the dejected as April airs upon violet roots. Gifts from the hand are silver and gold, but the heart gives that which silver nor gold can buy. To be full of goodness, full of cheerfulness, full of sympathy, full of helpful hope, enables a man to carry blessings of which he himself is as unconscious as a lamp is of its own shining. Such a person moves on the life of others like the shining of the stars on the dark sea to bewildered mariners."

Among the first lesson people should learn, is that of sympathy. It will be a hard going in life without it, if our emotions are but excited to rock back on our own hearts, and to be fostered in luxurious quietness. But let us learn to feel for things which offers us no personal interest that we may achieve something generous and noble. . . . "Show Sympathy" is what many people say, but I say unto you, "Have within you sympathy, and it will show itself."

aware that painful as are drastic taxes, irritating as may be the machinery of controls, disturbing as is the prospect of some black markets, all these come cheaper than the near-confiscation which runaway inflation brings.

LATEST TIME-TABLE for the imposition of price and wage controls, which at first may take the form of a temporary freeze, is about March 1. Prices may be rolled back to a November or December 1 figure.

In the meantime, a battle is under way in Congress for amendment of the national production act of 1950 to eliminate the provisions which prevent control of farm prices until they reach a parity figure, or a figure equal to prices in May of 1950. While this effects only about a dozen major crops which are under parity, the provision in the law works to prevent freeing of prices on all farm produce.

The Farm Bureau Federation, the only major farm organization to do so, is doing its utmost to price controls of any farm produce, or any other commodity, including wages. In a recent statement, Allan Kline, president of AFBF, declared if such ceilings were placed on farm produce, farmers would not give all-out production. Others question this premise, asserting that the farmers, if asked to do so by their government in the cause of national security would give the same all-out production that any other segment of the American people would give.

There is no question but that prices of farm commodities are rising. During the past few weeks such crops as wheat, corn, soybeans and hogs were crowding the parity figure, where they could be controlled under the law.

Here is the picture: if farmers are making money now on $21 hogs, they could continue to make money if prices on everything they bought was frozen at comparative prices. The only other out, is to permit the price of hogs to soar to $21 as happened during the last war, and pay the difference in subsidies, which is costly and must eventually be paid for in taxes. However, if prices can be pegged, and at least costly subsidies avoided, then the farmers and every other taxpayer would be better off. There is no question but that the farmer would rather not have subsidies. He has been traditionally opposed to such a plan, preferring to get his fair price in the market place. But if farm prices are not controlled and are permitted to rise under the law of demand, folks simply could not afford to buy pork over the counter from $31 hogs. Hence the subsidy system during the last war. President Truman has said he will seek amendment to the act to permit control of farm commodities at fair prices.

The battle over the nation's foreign policy was started in the first week of the new 82nd congress, even before the 82nd had delivered his state of the union message. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio made his pitch as an administration critic by questioning the President's constitutional right to send troops to Europe in support of the Atlantic Treaty while the nation is not in a state of declared war. It will be remembered Taft questioned this right even with respect to Korea. Taft's position is that we should wait until Russia strikes in Europe before sending American troops, while the position of the administration is that sufficient armed forces in Europe may prevent such a strike, and therefore may prevent war.

Some observers here say that Taft's position is hairsplitting, since the senate has approved the Atlantic treaty, it is now the law of the land, the President has more than 100 years of precedent behind him, and troops are no more an implementation of the treaty than the sending of tanks, guns, ships or planes. There is, however, no question but that this country will get tougher with our allies in Europe on the question of arming themselves.

It did not take long for the Republican-southern Democrat coalition to show its hand in control of this new congress. In the senate the election of Sen. Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona as Democratic leader was notice from the southern branch of the Democratic party that all future social security or civil rights measures would be thrown into the discard.

It Pays To Discover Your Faults

HERE IS A YOUNG WOMAN who could take it when a friend told her of a fault. More than that, she benefited by it. She is Mrs. Roberta Renner, Cincinnati, O.

She came from a large family, five boys and five girls. It was a hospitable family, and with so many boys and girls, each having individual friends, the house was filled with company most of the time.

That was all very well for the boys, and for the girls too little to bear the brunt of company. But Roberta was of the dishwashing age! And friends were made just as welcome at meal-time as at any other hour.

When Roberta saw friends arriving just before luncheon or dinner, resentment would swell within her. The dishes piled up high enough when only their family was present. And to have to wash dishes not only for her friends, but for the friends of all those brothers and sisters, was enough to wear down anyone's energy. She began to dislike people. Friends to her were just people to wash dishes for.

Naturally, her resentment began to show itself in even her greetings. She dropped her old friendly manner, and at best took on only a casual attitude. The hordes of people—hordes to her—who came there were not welcome so far as she was concerned—and she wouldn't pretend that they were. So she shunned them whenever she could.

Then one day a friend who was really a friend told her that no one liked her. That was a blow! She didn't like people, but she had not thought of people not liking her. There was a difference!

Her friend's remarks stuck in her mind. She was troubled, she didn't want to be disliked. She decided to see what she could do to change the situation. She made friendly remarks, and she smiled. Although some seemed a little surprised at her sudden change in her approach, they also seemed pleased. By and by, she was taking a real interest in the joys and sorrows of these erstwhile "enemies."

Then came the time when she was faced with a long period of inactivity, when she might have been very lonely except for the friendly attentions of her friends and neighbors.

Yes, Roberta Renner says she is grateful to the friend who told her of her fault, who informed her of a bitter truth.

SUTURES

Catgut, the absorbable material used in surgical stitching, does not come from the cat but from the intestines of sheep. It got its name from the fact that it was first made for the Kat, or Kit, a musical instrument like a small fiddle.

In surgical suturing, catgut is used where it is desired that the stitch disappear entirely after doing its work, as in operations of the stomach. A variety of materials are also valuable for surgical stitching—silk, linen thread, cotton, silkworm gut, nylon, stainless steel, and tantalum wire.

Aside from the fact that catgut is the only absorbable material now available, it has no advantage over other materials. It must be used in strands much thicker than those of any other substance to give it comparable strength. The strands break, and the knot slips; it is difficult to sterilize, and it produces considerable reaction in the tissues of the body as they absorb it. Manufacturers are endeavoring to produce a strong, nonirritating, absorbable thread of plastic to replace catgut, but so far without success.

The fibrous materials in common use, such as silk, linen thread and cotton, can be sterilized by boiling. Their strength is uniform and six to ten times that of catgut, and knots tied in them will not slip. Fine silk, impregnated with wax or plastic, is used by many surgeons, with especially delicate stitching is to be done, such as in operations of the arteries and eyes. Wire is stronger than either silkworm gut or nylon but it is stiffer and liable to kink, snarl or snap.

The surgeon's stitching may be very like that of the expert seamstress, but the material he is sewing is made of living tissue.

West End Baptist News—

The pastor, Rev. R. E. Wilkins, spoke at the 11 o'clock hour, bringing us a wonderful message. The Rev. Paul Oden spoke to us at the evening hour in the absence of our pastor who was ill.

We had a nice crowd for Sunday School and church Sunday. Especially were we proud of our visitors.

West End Baptist sponsored a rally for the Howard College Extension Center on Friday night of last week. We had with us Major H. G. Davis, president of Howard College, Dr. Ray F. Robbins, professor in religion at Howard, Dr. H. C. Hopkins and the Rev. J. W. Lester, also of Birmingham.

A bountiful dinner was served to about 125 visitors and members, after which Dr. Robbins brought a most inspiring message.

Circle One of the West End Baptist W.M.U. met in the home of Mrs. Tom Powell. A devotional on "To See and To Serve" was beautifully given by Mrs. J. D. Williams, "Ye Are My Witnesses," by Mrs. Winifred Fulford, was next on the program. Mrs. Jim Blair gave an article entitled, "A Challenge To Home Mission Crusade."

The chairman, Mrs. Jim Blair, presided at the business period.

Mrs. Powell served refreshments to those taking part on the program, Mrs. Jim Baker and Mrs. Ben Deason.

Mrs. Billy Dykes entertained Circle Two with eight members present.

Those taking part on the program were: Mrs. R. E. Wilkins, who read the watchword and the fundamentals.

A lovely devotional was given by Mrs. J. I. Spiller, after which Mrs. Wilkins offered prayer.

Taking part on the program were Mrs. Lewis McGee and Mrs. W. E. Owens.

Refreshments were served to those taking part on the program: Mesdames Claude Apperson, Honie Little and Chester Miller.

The Young Matrons Circle met on Wednesday afternoon, January 17th, with Mrs. C. B. Weldon.

The hostess brought a very inspiring devotional followed with prayer by Mrs. Jesse C. Jones. Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Luther Little and Mrs. Alex Arnold.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Harold Scott, Shelby Cargile, Claude Little, those taking part on the program and the W.M.U. President, Mrs. Jesse C. Jones, a visitor.

Canasta Club Organized—

On Thursday, January 11th, Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer entertained a few of her friends at a spaghetti luncheon with the idea of organizing a Canasta Club.

Those present were: Mrs. Tol Kunzel, Mrs. J. R. Hardy and Mrs. H. S. Brown. These ladies, with the hostess, made plans to play Canasta on Wednesday afternoons of each week.

So a Canasta Club of two tables was formed. The new members are: Mrs. Andy Jones, Mrs. G. T. Murphree, Mrs. T. L. Williams and Mrs. R. D. Woodson. Mrs. Brown was hostess to the club in her home on Wednesday of last week. Lovely house plants were used to adorn the home.

After several sets of Canasta the hostess served cookies, coffee and nuts to her guests.

Homemakers S. S. Class—

The Homemakers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church of Clanton met on Friday night, January 19th, in the home of Rose Farley, with Alma Crew, Bertie Baker and Jewel Thompson, co-hostesses.

Jewel Sutley, class president, called the meeting to order and presented the program chairman, Sara Jones, who with her co-worker, Maggie Kemp, had planned a most enjoyable program, which opened with the group singing the class song, "Help Somebody Today."

A lovely devotional was given by Evelyn Teel. The Scripture reading was taken from II Cor. 12th chapter; Hebrews 4:16, and II Peter 2:18. The class motto for January was read. Prayer was offered by Lou Hamilton. Several contests, which proved to be much fun for all, was next on the program.

The business session was presided over by the class president. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Nan Taylor, in the absence of Audell Miller, class secretary, for the past quarter.

After a lengthy business period the meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to the following members: Eunice Crew, Alma Wyatt, Gladys Teel, Mable Lewis, Bess Fiquette, Essie White, Jewel Sutley, Essie Walker, Mamie Higgins, Nan Taylor, Lenora Wilson, Bert Rockett, Lois Hocutt, Martha Wilson, Maggie Kemp, Evelyn Teel, Sara Jones, Mamie Reeves, Lou Hamilton and Jewel Thompson.

Guests were received at the door by the honoree, Mrs. Charles Wade, Jr., mother of the bride, Mrs. N. A. Powell, the groom's mother, and the hostess.

The receiving rooms were artistically decorated with arrangements of white and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums. The guests enjoyed a number of contests and games, after which delicious refreshments were served. The serving table was centered with a low crystal bowl of chrysanthemums. Burning white tapers in crystal candelabra illuminated the scene.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Clyde Mims, Miss Evelyn Jones and Miss Audrey Popwell.

A number of guests enjoyed the occasion and the bride received many lovely gifts.

They Have Eagle Eyes

If some day you should see a small plane flying a little above and along a power line and occasionally veering off and coming back for another "run," the men in the plane will be experienced observers looking for conditions in the wires or the insulators, poles, towers or cross arms which, if not corrected, could be the source of a future interruption to your electric service.

After these patrol flights, the observers make a report of all they see that seems to need attention. Line crews are then sent to the points noted as possible troublemakers. They make a close-up inspection and do whatever repair work is indicated.

Aerial patrol of main power lines is a standard practice with us — one of the many things done to keep your electric service dependable.

The W.M.U. meets Sunday evening at the church. Mrs. Bessie Garner, president of the W.M.U., is a very enthusiastic worker and a devout Christian woman. Winfield, Ala. — Corn hogged off returned twice as much as it would have brought had it been sold locally as grain.

That is the outcome of a three-year experiment at the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station's Upper Coastal Plain Substation near here in which corn was harvested with hogs that also had access to green grazing.

The yield of hogged corn in the three years averaged 61 bushels per acre per year. Hogging the grain resulted in an average gain of 743 pounds of pork per acre. In other words, there was a gain of 100 pounds of pork for each eight and one-fifth bushels of corn consumed. While on the corn, the hogs had access to alfalfa, W. W. Cooney, substation superintendent, pointed out in explaining the results.

The pigs used were from spring litters raised on alfalfa and crimson clover, getting some supplement until they reached a 60 to 70-pound weight. From then until the corn was ready for hogging, the shoats were grazed on alfalfa, self-fed grain, with minerals and water available at all times. The hogs averaged about 90 pounds each at the time they were turned into the corn. If it had been sold locally, the corn would have brought $65.68 per acre. As it was, the corn hogged off plus legume grazing brought an average of $141 per acre.

The alfalfa and crimson clover areas produced enough hay and seed to pay for the establishment and maintenance of stands during the period of the experiment, Cooney stated.

2,587 ALABAMA BAPTIST CHURCHES TO ENGAGE IN MAMMOTH REVIVAL

With 2,587 Alabama Baptist churches expected to engage this year in "the most colossal cooperative effort at soul winning" in the history of Baptists, 1000 leaders of the denomination will gather at Birmingham, January 29-31, for a mammoth revival rally.

LEGISLATURE ORGANIZES—ROBERTS BROWN IS SPEAKER OF HOUSE

Montgomery, Ala. — In a swift session which lasted only part of two days, the Alabama legislature organized last week and made ready for the four years ahead.

Top honor position went to Rep. Roberts Brown of Opelika who was elected speaker of the House.

The new speaker immediately announced the appointment of the many committees which will handle the legislation for the coming sessions.

Senate committees for the Senate were announced last week by Lt.-Gov. James Allen.

Morgan County's Rep. Noble Russell was made chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee which handles all appropriations and finance bills. Russell was senator from his district during the past legislature.

Rep. Pelham Merrill of Cleburne County was named to head the all-important Judiciary Committee.

Following custom, the speaker himself will serve as chairman of the Rules Committee which is perhaps the most strategic position on any committee.

The House membership voted some new rules to its agenda. It gives the speaker the power to declare any legislator present if he is in the chamber, in order to have a quorum present. (Without a quorum the body cannot transact official business.) This rule was promoted by Rep. Pelham Merrill as a means to end the sit-down strikes, as were used several times during the past legislature when members refused to vote either for or against certain bills. Any bill which did not get a quorum vote automatically died.

The Senate voted to limit debate to thirty minutes for each senator on any given subject, thereby cutting in half the time formerly allowed. Another significant rule the Senate changed was to require a majority vote to bring up

Howard D. Olive; Auburn. Special music will be furnished by a Judson College sextette, First Baptist Church (Birmingham) choir and others.

Theme of the meet is "Christ Is The Answer," with "White unto Harvest" (John 4:34) as the Bible keynote. Program begins Monday night, January 29, and closes the following Wednesday noon. Dr. Wyatt, state director of evangelism, is in charge.

STENOGRAPHERS AND TYPISTS NEEDED

Starting salaries for stenographers are from $2450 per year to $2875, for typists from $2450 to $2650. Yearly pay increases are given to employees whose work is satisfactory, until the highest salary for the grade of position is reached. Promotion opportunities are good for employees who show ability to assume responsibilities of higher grade jobs.

No experience is required. Applicants need only pass the written test. Age limits are minimum 18 years—maximum 62 years.

Government employees are given 26 days of vacation each year and sick leave credit is earned at the rate of 15 days per year.

the reading of the daily senate journal. In the past, one senator could jam up most of the day's legislative business simply by objecting to the reading to be dispensed with.

Expert Tax Advice—25¢

When I heard about Andy Boyd helping Whitey Fisher get a good-sized tax refund, naturally I asked him how he did it.

"It was all in this," Andy says. And he hands me a government booklet, Your Federal Income Tax.

Sure was an eye-opener. Did you know you can deduct the cost of repairing your farm machinery ... or expense and depreciation on your car when you use it for business? Write to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for your copy—it only costs 25¢.

From where I sit, we might have expected Andy Boyd to suggest this helpful booklet. He's an old hand at working with and helping people. As a restaurant owner and a good citizen, he takes an active part in the Self-Regulation Program the Brewing Industry sponsors whereby beer retailers cooperate in keeping their places clean and orderly. Andy gets a "refund" from this, too ... loyal friends and customers!

Remember church services at both churches here every Sunday and prayer meeting at Mulberry every Wednesday night.

The play presented by Beta Club at Isabella was enjoyed by a large crowd last Thursday night.

On Saturday, January 13th, Mr. Herbert L. Morgan, LaFayette, La., formerly of Isabella, and Miss Catherine Buckert of New Orleans, were married in a formal ceremony at our Lady of Lowndes Church, New Orleans.

Mr. Arnold Bryant flew down for the occasion and was best man in the wedding. The couple will make their home in LaFayette, La., where he is employed with the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Entomology.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ratliff and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Williams and Gloria, visited friends in Marion, Ala., Sunday. While there they visited Marion Institute.

Mr. W. T. Tucker, who underwent an operation last week at Veterans' Hospital in Montgomery, is improving.

Mrs. W. B. Williams's mother, Mrs. Sidney DeLoach, is in a Montgomery hospital. She had an appendix operation recently and has been seriously ill.

We all regret to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. R. W. Stuckey, who is in the Jefferson-Hillman Hospital in Birmingham. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Erby Dobbs have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells while Erby was drilling in the U. S. Army in Clanton. He left Tuesday for Fort Jackson, S. C. Mrs. Dobbs returned to her home in Montgomery where she will go to work as secretary of Emmanuel Baptist Church there.

MT. PISGAH

We had a wonderful day here all day last Sunday: Sunday School, a most wonderful message by our district superintendent, a bountiful lunch, and in the afternoon our Third Quarterly Conference was held. Everyone present enjoyed the day together. Sunday night our pastor preached a good message to a nice crowd. We had visitors from Pleasant Grove and Shady Grove for the day. We were so glad they came. We just wish more had been able to be with us.

Mr. Leo Headley, Jr., and Mr. Billy Yeargan were home for the week end. We were glad they could be with us for services Sunday.

The families of Mr. Walter Knight and Mr. Tom Holley have our deepest sympathy over their death. May God bless all the bereaved.

Please make every effort to be with us for Sunday School next Sunday.

Farmers interested in making a direct planting of kudzu seed instead of planting crowns or seedlings should place their order for the seed now. Three to five pounds of kudzu seed will plant an acre. Use some fertilizer and cultural practices as watermelons.

The banks of Chilton County have bought a mechanical tree planter for the farmers' benefit. There will be no charge for the machine when used to plant trees. There will be a small charge when used to plant other crops. This charge is enough to maintain the machine.

Attendance at church Sunday was fair. Bro. Thomas brought two wonderful messages. We feel that every one there received a blessing.

We were glad to have Mrs. Lou Langston back at church with us Sunday, and also we're glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hamilton and Mr. Edwin Culp with us.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chilton Parrish and family.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas want to thank everyone for their nice gifts and cards that they received doing Christmas.

9,500 TAX REPORT BLANKS MAILED

Almost 9,500 employers subject to the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Law have been mailed report forms on which to make their tax reports for the last calendar quarter of 1950. Joe L. Coleman, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, has announced.

Coleman cautioned the 9,500 employers of eight or more workers that their reports and tax payments covering the October 1-December 31 period must be made before the January 31 deadline to avoid penalty and interest charges required by law.

The quarterly tax report requires every employer subject to the law to list each of his employees by name, social security number, and total taxable wages. This report must be accompanied by the tax due for the quarter.

Wage records are used to figure the amount of weekly benefits to which an employee may be entitled when he becomes unemployed and files a claim for benefits.

Employers also must meet the January 31 deadline for all their 1950 state unemployment tax payments in order to receive full credit with the federal government on the federal unemployment tax.

NEW HARMONY

The attendance dropped this week end. We hope everyone will be back at Sunday School next Sunday with a well prepared Sunday School lesson. You have an invitation to attend our church worship at any time.

Next week end is our regular preaching date. Services Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Littleton and children attended the healing service at Shelby Saturday night and visited Balyton Church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coe, Mr. and Mrs. Mallard Langston and daughter, Mary Catherine, Charles Hayes and Mrs. Lon Langston spent a while Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Franklin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Littleton and children attended the healing service at Shelby Sunday night.

Miss Myra Smith spent Sunday with Miss Carolyn Dean Smitherman.

Mrs. Ella Smitherman is back spending a while here with her children. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Franklin and children have moved away. We miss them very much.

Remember prayer service each week end; preaching dates are the second and fourth Sundays. Come and be with us.—Reporter.

Teenager Gets Appetite Back; Thanks Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron Which Her System Lacked.

According to Sara Loraine Beck, Box 253, Coker, Alabama, when a person is only 15 years old and feels terrible, can't eat or sleep the way they should, it's mighty bad. That is the way Loraine says she used to feel, but that was, of course, before she started taking HADACOL. Loraine found that taking HADACOL helped her system overcome deficiencies in B₁, B₂, Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Loraine Beck's own statement: "I was run-down, sick and skinny, and weighed only 90 pounds before I used HADACOL. I would not eat because I had no appetite. Now I weigh 123 pounds and have an appetite. I feel a lot better. I have been taking HADACOL 10 months and am still taking it. I am 16 years old. HADACOL has done me lots of good."

AN HOUR'S TELEPHONE SERVICE

Before you decide bargains no longer exist, take a close look at your telephone service. The telephone in your home is on duty day and night at an average charge in Alabama of less than one-half cent an hour.

Regardless of the time, if somebody needs to get in touch with you—from across the street, across town or across the nation—your telephone can be ringing in a matter of seconds.

Then there are the calls you make—to the drug store, the doctor, the hairdresser, to relatives and friends across town—calls that save you tiresome and expensive errands, calls that bring joy and good times, that help keep family ties and friendships alive.

To these every-day calls you make and receive, add the constant protection of your telephone in the event of emergency—and we believe you will agree that telephone service is one of today's biggest bargains.

Growing Bargain

The price of telephone service has gone up far less than most things you buy. At the same time the number of telephones you can call at your local rate has nearly tripled in the past ten years.

THE UNITED NATIONS—OUR ONE HOPE FOR LASTING PEACE—SPARKMAN

In two major speeches in recent days, Senator Sparkman, Alabama, has stressed that the failure of the United Nations might plunge the world into the most destructive war since the Middle Ages.

To try to prevent such a catastrophe, he urged that the United States and other free countries continue to make every effort to build the United States into a successful and workable international organization.

Speaking to the American Political Science Association at its national meeting in Washington, D.C., Senator Sparkman stressed the long run importance of the member nations not only maintaining adequate military strength, but working together for the improvement of the living conditions of people in underdeveloped countries of the world.

"All the armies in the world," he said, "cannot alone kill the growth of Communism. Through armed might the non-Communist countries must defeat Communist military aggression. To win a lasting victory over Communism thrives, must be removed."

The Senator also stressed the value of land reform as a strong anti-Communist weapon. He said that family owned and operated farms in the countries of Asia, Africa, and elsewhere could help to build belief in Democracy just as it has so successfully done in the United States.

Senator Sparkman told the Mid-Century Convocation of the Methodist Church, Southeastern Jurisdiction, meeting in Savannah, Ga., last week that "without this country's lead in trying to build a peaceful world, I am convinced that Communism would already have swallowed Europe and Asia."

Sparkman said that the serious reverses in Korea should not cause us to lose faith and to become "defeatists." He stated that "if total war does come it is not to be taken as a sign of total failure of the United Nations. Rather, it means that the United Nations was succeeding so well that Communist leaders were determined to crush it before democratic countries could develop strong enough militarily to mete successfully their first armed onrushes." He also stated, "it is tragic that when the needs of the world are so

SECOND ANNUAL SHORT COURSE FOR AERIAL APPLICATORS

Montgomery, Ala. — Arrangements have been made for the Second Annual Short Course for Aerial Applicators to be held at Auburn on March 1 and 2, it is announced by Asa Rountree, Jr., State Director of Aeronautics. The first course last March had an attendance of over 100, with enrollees from Georgia, Florida and Mississippi, as well as from Alabama.

The course is sponsored by the Auburn Agricultural Experiment Station, the Alabama Department of Aeronautics, the State Department of Agriculture and the Alabama Flying Farmers Association. The program will be in charge of the staff of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Several national experts in spraying and dusting have been invited to speak.

The course is a practical one designed to instruct and inform the Aerial Applicators as to proper chemicals and methods of applications for pest controls, weed killing and other phases of their operations.

During the course it is expected that the Aerial Applicators will organize a state-wide association.

Miss Sarah Louise Bowles, who is attending Huntingdon College in Montgomery, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Bowles, in Bowles Community.

great the free world must in order to survive divert most of its energies and efforts toward building implements of war instead of having available all of its resources for use toward building a life free from hunger and poverty. It is tragic that we must again as God directed His people to do in the third chapter of Joel beat our "plowshares into swords" and our "pruning-hooks into spears."

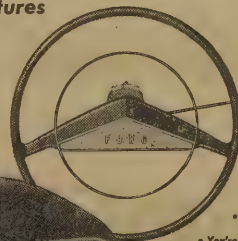

Our people have worked and prayed that this course not become necessary. Rather we had trusted that there might speedily come that day foretold by Isaiah of old when "they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore."

We shall continue to pray and work for the coming of that great day.

Sympathy is extended the family and loved ones of Sheriff J. A. Nivens.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. McClure, Jr., of Selma, Ala., have announced the arrival of a son, Ronald Elliott, January 9, 1951, Selma Baptist Hospital. Mrs. McClure will be pleasantly remembered as the former Miss Kathleen Weaver. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Weaver of this place.

Mrs. Brown Woolley underwent a minor operation at Vaughan Memorial Hospital last week. She is doing nicely and has returned to her home.

Mrs. Willie H. Stuart (Gertrude Woolley) entered the Selma Baptist Hospital last Thursday. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Mattie Woolley, greatly beloved in this and adjoining communities, is greatly missed by her many, many friends and relatives. Mrs. Woolley is visiting with her son, Maurice, and his wife at their home in Chattanooga, Tenn. Mrs. Woolley is a member of the Stanton Baptist Church and has been very active for a number of years in all church activities.

Mr. Cecil McKee has recently returned from the King Memorial Hospital where he has pneumonia. This is the second time "Cecil" has had pneumonia this season and it is hoped that he is going to be all right from now on. Cecil has been a "Leukemia Patient" for quite some time, but Dr. Riser, a blood specialist at the medical college in Birmingham, Ala., together with Dr. Marcus Skinner and Dr. J. P. Chapman, doctors at the King Memorial Hospital, Selma, Ala., have verified recently that at the present time the Leukemia germ or cell is inactive in his blood and also state that there isn't anything in the blood that even suggests Leukemia due to treatments found and broadened by Cancer Research. Treatments will not stop, however, and Mr. McKee will be under close observation by the above doctors. Mr. McKee has faithfully carried out doctors orders and his friends and loved ones are so glad that they have accomplished the seemingly almost impossible; that of arresting Leukemia.

This community was terribly upset when told that Mr. McKee was suffering with this dread disease.

Surely no person will turn down the call when contacted to help with the Cancer Drive that will soon start in our County. This one drive should go way over the amount asked for. Mrs. Hugh Jones is chairman of this drive.

Lieut. Phil H. Hand, grandson of Mrs. Mary Hicks, is among the Korean wounded. Lieut. Hand is hospitalized in Pusan.

Mrs. Jimmie Green underwent an operation last Friday at the Vaughan Memorial Hospital for Vericose Veins. Her physician, Dr. Josiah Smith. Mrs. Green returned to her home soon after the operation and is doing nicely at this writing.

Miss Willie Mae Gregg, daughter of Mrs. Stella Gregg, was confined to the Baptist Hospital, Selma, Ala., last week, however, was able to return home during the week end. Miss Gregg is suffering with a kidney ailment.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Burnett spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Kay Latham in Marion Junction. They reported a very enjoyable day.

Mrs. Mary Wallace is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Burnett and Mr. Burnett, while Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lovelady are in Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Lovelady are under the care of Birmingham doctors and are with their son, Thomas Lovelady, during their stay. We trust Mr. and Mrs. Lovelady will soon be well again.

Happy birthday to Mrs. I. A. Dennis (Dock). She celebrated her birthday last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Moore of Wetumpka visited their brother, Mr. Frank Reynolds, last Sunday.

We are glad to report Mr. Frank Reynolds and Mr. W.M.D. O'Neal improving. Both are up and around to the delight of their many friends.

Mr. Julius Sample has been suffering with a sprained muscle. We trust he will soon get over this condition.

Our well wishes go out to Mrs. R. W. Stuckey. We do hope for her a speedy and complete recovery.

A very special celebration at the home of Mrs. Hattie Jones, honoring her son-in-law, Mr. S. B. Rogers, last Tuesday night. This was a surprise birthday party. A beautiful cake, very delicious foods and such lovely flowers prevailed throughout the spacious home.

We'd like to add our belated "Happy birthday" and may you enjoy many, many more.

Our community was saddened all last week by the serious illness of our neighbor and friend, Mr. John Richard McKinney, Sr. Mr. McKinney is suffering with high blood pressure. He has been at his home until Sunday morning it was decided that he would be sent to the Selma Baptist Hospital by ambulance. He made the trip to the hospital all right. Mrs. McKinney and son, Archie, together with other members of his family are at his bedside.

His daughter, Mrs. Clarence Smith (Grace) of Clanton, Ala., has been nursing him.

All of his children are at his home here and have been since he became so ill. His brother and two sisters are here also.

The McKinney family is loved by all who know them. They have lived in this section many years and reared a large family of respected children. We wish for Mr. McKinney a complete recovery and trust he will soon be able to return home.

JEMISON HIGH WINS OVER MONTEVALLO AND COLUMBIANA

The Black and Gold Panthers from Jemison High added two more victories to their credit last week when they banged out a 44 to 34 win over Montevallo High on Tuesday night at Jemison, and then motored over to Columbiana Friday night and upset these boys by a 49 to 41 score.

Both games were well played—neither side committing a run-away score to indicate a vast difference in the ability of either team.

J.H.S. had a 9 to 8 lead the first quarter of the Montevallo game; a 20 to 16 lead at the half; a 32 to 30 lead at the third quarter; then the home team threw a fast-breaking offense at the visiting team that salted down the game for keeps. Jones (15) and Sorrell (8) paced the winners, while Rhodes (13) and Splawn (9) and Bunn (8) led the Montevallo scoring. Langston, a lanky new-comer to the Jemison team, Maddox and Giles turned in a nice floor performance. The J.H.S. boys were trying to establish some kind of record when they made good 8 points out of 9 free shots, while the Montevallo boys could find the basket for 2 points out of 12 free shots.

The Jemison Bees won when they squeaked by a 42 to 41 count. The visitors were leading Jemison 41 to 39 with 5 seconds to go. At this point Guin uncorked a looping spot shot that bottled up the game. The audience got quite a kick out of this one.

At Columbiana, Coach Cobb's team unloaded their big gun at the home team the first half, scoring 35 points, and then settled down to the business of coasting through the last half with just enough pressure to hold a safe lead. Cobb (15) P. Ellison (13) and Sorrell (11) indicates that the 'ole team-work was clicking with no outstanding high scoring individual. One very noticeable feature in the playing of these Jemison boys is that when the scoring is spread out down the lineup the opposition is in for some rough-tough sledding. It is then that the passing, breaking, dribbling and shooting reaches its best.

The Columbiana Bees won over the Jemison Bees in a hard-fought contest by a 44 to 42 margin. This game was a ringer too. It required an extra period to settle this issue. One of the largest and noisiest crowds turned out at Columbiana to see these A and B games.

The sportsmanship, interest and conduct by the teams, officials and supporters were fine.

Now, let's take a look at the forthcoming games of Jemison High. Tomorrow night, Friday, January 26th, the crack team from Tarrant City (Jefferson County) plays the J.H.S. A's and B's at Jemison. Be there.

Oh! My goodness, folks—look who's next. Here comes Isabella High, loaded for big game. Prof. White advised me recently that they were gonna' give us the works this time. Well, now folks, he may have something there, for the Isabella team is a crackersjak, good little team. They defeated Clanton, and Clanton in turn beat Jemison. Consequently I'm not hanging my neck out on the line for this one. Naturally, I hope we win, but with these two fine Chilton County teams I'll leave all predicting to others. This

PUBLIC SCHOOLS FACE SHORTAGE

The forty-eight states of the Union spent $48,935,-642.83 on their public schools last year. Leading states were New York, with $575,000,000 and California, with $460,000,000. Alabama spent $66,000,000.

Total operating expenditures went up about $300,-000,000 but educational experts point out that much of the income represents rising costs for materials and other school supplies. There still exists a shortage of buildings and a shortage of teachers, especially elementary school teachers.

According to a survey recently concluded by the New York Times, there are three million children who are receiving an impaired education. This total comes out of an enrollment of 25,666,337.

The increase in school population last year was the largest in the past twenty years, being nearly one million students. Moreover, indications are that school enrollments will grow for at least another ten years, with an estimated 3,000,000 pupils by 1960.

The teaching shortage compels schools to employ 75,000 teachers on emergency or sub-standard licenses. Every state reported an inability to get adequately trained teachers, which means that many children receive a second-rate education. This is accentuated by the serious building shortage, which means double sessions in some areas and part-time sessions in others.

We call attention to the report because of the importance of the public schools in the development of democratic people and the maintenance of free institutions. Certainly, if our form of political organization is to endure, the younger generation must be trained to appreciate its significance and to understand the principles upon which it operates.

PRACTICING PATRIOTISM

The question of national defense leads to some interesting results.

The industrial magnates talk about the obligations of labor not to strike and the labor professors, not to be outdone, return the compliment by remarking about war-profiteering while labor sacrifices.

The attitude of labor and capital, in this instance is equalled by that of other citizens who talk glibly about Americans making sacrifices for the national welfare without any idea that they should do likewise.

Frankly, no man knows where events will lead this nation or what fate is in store for the American people. The chances are, however, that we can avoid misfortune by practicing some of the patriotism we profess before it is too late.

The only trouble we can see with the human race is human beings.

Experts, like ordinary people, seldom agree. You can't reform the world alone in a few years nor in a hundred. Why get hot and bothered?

Most of our trouble is that most people think the laws of our land were made for other people.

Nothing is further from the truth than the statement that "what we don't know, don't hurt us."

Advertising is a good servant if wisely controlled; undoubtedly, advertising pays when properly used.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Mrs. W. W. Wingard, City Clerk, is the busiest lady in town. And also one of the nicest to do business with. While we were making a business call the other afternoon she was making water bills, selling 1951 licenses, giving receipts for the new gas line connection, passing out information, answering the telephone, and trying to answer our questions. Other than that she had absolutely nothing to do and was wasting the city's time. Believe us that job is about the best build-up for a nervous break-down you could find.

Our good friend Archie Ogburn has been made executive vice-president and cashier of the Bank of Thorsby. At a meeting of the stockholders in January Archie was promoted from cashier, a position he has held for the past eight years. The stockholders declared a nice dividend at this meeting and showed their confidence in the new executive vice-president and cashier by this promotion.

Members of Company B and their families and friends have S. E. Scott of Scott Studios, to thank for the pictures in Chilton County News last week of the boys marching to the train and the scene of the crowd at the depot. It was a rush against time for Mr. Scott and he surely did a wonderful job. The Guard left Tuesday just before noon, and twenty-four hours later we had the cuts back in the News office ready for publication. Mr. Scott is to be highly complimented for his cooperation and ability in getting this accomplished.

The City has installed new traffic lights. One is at the corner of Second Avenue and 8th street and the other at Fourth Avenue and Sixth Street. Both corners needed the traffic signal lights for the protection of pedestrian and motorist. It is another step forward in our Council's effort to give us better controlled traffic conditions in the business district.

Jim, Helen and Joe had a race on to see who could collect the most dimes for the March of Dimes. Just in case you are not following us we are speaking of Jim Popwell, Helen Parrish and Joe Klinger, all of Radio Station WKLF. Jim Popwell won but the point we want to bring out is the effort these young folks put into raising money for this cause. The result of them went after dimes with a vengeance and got results, too. They are to be congratulated for their fine work.

Things can be learned by just listening instead of talking and Saturday we learned that some of our local residents are afraid of gas fumes from our natural gas. When your gas appliances are installed there will be no fumes and it should not stop you from using the natural gas when it gets to town. True; we too, have sweaty walls from using gas but we have been informed that it was caused by not having it properly installed.

Received a letter from Bellingrath Gardens at Mobile this week telling us the azaleas would be in full bloom the latter part of February. That is a sight worth driving to Mobile to see and each year hundreds of Chilton County folks make the trip just to see the flowers

ANESTHESIOLOGY

Anesthesia has progressed far in recent years. The new definition of an anesthesiologist drafted by the American Society of Anesthesiologists indicates the importance of this specialty. An anesthesiologist is a doctor of medicine qualified to evaluate and manage the anesthesia requirements of a patient preoperatively, operatively, and postoperatively, and to administer and supervise diagnostic and therapeutic blocks, inhalation, fluid, shock and resuscitative therapy.

Duties in the preoperative period include an evaluation of the patient based on the history, physical condition, and laboratory findings as well as the selection of anesthetic agent and method and such recommendations for therapeutic procedures as will bring the patient to the operating room in his maximum physical state.

Management includes the administration of the anesthetic agent and obtaining or recording blood pressure, pulse, respiration, medications. The anesthesiologist, during the management period, is also responsible for the proper positioning and protection of the patient and communicating to the surgeon such information as is necessary for the well-being of the patient. He is responsible for the safe return of the patient to his bed and followup check on circulation and respiration.

Because of his training, interest and experience, the anesthesiologist is qualified to provide consultative service on many matters relating to the patient's condition. The anesthesiologist is a very important member of the surgical team in the operating room.

COUNTY WIDE PRAYER SERVICE AT COURT HOUSE

Last second, Sunday, a large crowd was present at the court house in Clanton for the service held there for our service men and with the consent of the audience we announced a service for the second Sunday afternoon in February, so accordingly we are planning for a great service and urge all who were there to come back Feb. 11. Service to begin at 1:30 o'clock. Bro. Leonard Culp will again be in charge of the singing and plans to have some special singers. Bro. Marvin Morris will speak following a devotional and prayer service, everyone has a cordial invitation to attend. This is not a denominational affair but an effort to get God's people to unite in prayer for operate in this effort regardless of their church affiliation, so we beg you as pastor of the church you serve to come and bring your congregation to this service and let's try to comply with God's plan as given in 2 Chronicles 7:14. Do we believe God's Word? Let's demonstrate it.

Centering of Thought Conquers Fear

EDGAR DARRELL, Albuquerque, New Mexico, tells us a story that proves if you have something, or someone, on which to center your thoughts you will be helped in conquering your fear. In his case it was an animal that he grew to love.

Carnegie

His father homesteaded some land near Cuba, N. M., up near the Continental Divide, and then went broke. He decided to go back to Albuquerque from whence he had come. He made arrangements to take his wife, his daughter and his younger son, but someone had to stay on the homesteaded land for a time to look after his interests until he could get settled in new surroundings. That someone was Edgar. Edgar was 11 years old!

As his father hitched up the horses the next morning, he said he would leave the dog with Edgar to keep him from getting lonesome. But when they started to drive away, the little sister began to cry for the dog which she considered hers. So Edgar turned the dog loose to follow the family. Now he was all alone!

It wasn't so bad in the daytime, though it was bad enough. But at night it was terrible. He would push the furniture up against the doors and crawl into bed shaking with fear. In the morning when he awoke his night garment was damp from cold perspiration. One morning he arose and went to the ranch of a neighbor, an old man, and told him how frightened he was to stay alone. The old man asked "How old are you?" When Edgar replied "Eleven years," his old friend said "Well, you're a man now and you need a horse and a Bible of your own; but they must be given to you for it would be bad luck to buy them." Then he gave him a little bay mare, which he said would be better than a watch dog.

Every night Edgar staked the little mare near his door, and left her grain to eat then he would go off to sleep listening to her munching. He found if she heard another horse or cattle she would nicker at them. Yes, she was better than a dog. And she was company. He had her with him all day, to think about, to pat and to curry. She liked him, and the days were not so lonely.

One night the little mare made an awful fuss. Edgar got out of his bed so quickly that he hardly touched the floor on his way to get his gun. The mare kept munching grass but looking toward the south constantly. Finally a figure emerged from that direction; Edgar pointed his gun at a man on the road coming toward him. Weep within 50 feet, the man called, "Anybody home?" Edgar kept the gun pointed and didn't reply. Then the man called again, "For God sake if anybody's home, answer me; I need help."

Still frightened, Edgar answered. He asked the man's name and his business, and he learned that the man had been hunting when his horse had thrown him and left. Edgar gave him aid and he spent the night.

Then, with his little filly to think about and care for, and to be grateful to as a watchdog, he was no longer frightened. He had a friend with him.

THE CONTINUED CONTROVERSY over the nation's foreign policy, and the apparent indecision in Washington over application of price and wage controls were the two outstanding factors which gripped attention of the people.

There is little doubt but that the American people by and large, are incensed over the recent action in the United Nations whereby the big powers are willing to sit down and bargain with Red China. In the background, however, there is another plan under discussion which is hoped will stave off all-out war, and that is a sort of Marshall Plan for Asia in which India would play the leading role under establishment of a Pacific council of nations to include India, Indo-China, Malaya, Siam, Indonesia, the Philippines, Japan and other lesser countries. The plan would be to let these nations work out their own salvation or economic programs with help and money from the large powers.

Aside from this, it is believed here that the debate in congress over the foreign policy will result in a final unified program and probably more important, a fully-informed citizenry.

On the question of wage and price controls, the administration had hoped to defer these mandatory controls until the newly-formed control agencies could muster sufficient personnel to operate efficiently and enforce their orders. For instance, the economic stabilization agency which has power over price and wage ceilings has approximately 325 employees after two months in being. It will need thousands of employees to enforce compliance with any price regulation covering more than one or two commodities. In addition, pressure from all segments of industry and business, from farm groups and from labor are definitely set against price controls, labor opposing wage controls until after price controls are fixed.

From congress, however, and the consuming public come pressures in favor of controls, forced by the steadily increasing rise in the living cost index.

Not only consumers, but the government itself is hurt in this up and down spiral of prices. The small business committee of the senate stated that since June 25, the start of Korean hostilities, the increase in prices of materials essential to the defense had added $3 billion to the cost of national defense.

Caught between these two pressures, the administration's hand is forced sooner than it anticipated and currently price controls either selective or all-out are expected to come soon. In the meantime, the control agencies, such as the office of defense mobilization, defense production administration, ESA and the national production authority are attempting to iron out opposition and to determine to what extent controls may be applied.

Out of the scores of industry representatives groups which have been called down to Washington by the various agencies, only one has asked for price controls—the women's dress industry. All others have consistently opposed controls. On the other hand the national production authority has met with little opposition from industry in allocation of materials and imposition of priorities.

Those who oppose price control and this includes all top business and industrial leaders, Allan Kline, of the farm bureau federation, the U.S. chamber of commerce and others, reason that, during the war, price control was for a given period, until the end of the war. Now, however, there is no end in sight to price controls, it may last for 10 years, or longer, while the nation faces continued mobilization of men and materials. Labor is not particularly worried, since if controls are not clamped down, wages will continue to rise with each price rise tied to the cost of living, and the law requires price controls and wage controls at the same time. The millions who are squeezed by lack of controls are the salaried folks and those with other fixed incomes.

Nothing Better Than Good Food, Says Ohio Man

If a man isn't able to eat the foods he likes he's in mighty sorry shape—imagine going through life without being able to enjoy a fine big platter of bacon and eggs. That is the way Joseph M. Damillott, 3414 E. 5th Street, Dayton, Ohio, used to be, but since he has been taking HADACOL, he says he feels just fine and is able to enjoy lots and lots of fine foods. Mr. Damillott found that taking HADACOL helped his system overcome a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron. Here is Mr. Damillott's statement: "My first bottle of HADACOL convinced me that HADACOL was what I needed for the gas on my stomach at nights. I could not keep food on my stomach, but after the first bottle I was going great. Now I eat bacon and eggs, and other foods that never would stay with me. I also can sleep well at nights. Thanks to HADACOL I will never be without it, and can recommend it to all who suffer with the above ailments that I had. I know because I have suffered for quite some time."

CARELESSNESS OF CITIZENS TOWARDS FORESTS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND

With wood playing such a vital role in the economy of Alabama and being our number two item, of our most needed items, in our past wars, it is hard to understand why citizens of Alabama deliberately or through carelessness set fire to any woodlands. The value of wood products to the business life of Alabama amounts to approximately $40,000,000 yearly. If we should take this income away from Alabama our economy would be shaken to its foundation. Yet every year in these United States forest fires destroy enough lumber to build 35,000 five room houses and enough pulpwood to furnish all the pulp mills for a year. Yet we could triple our State income from forest products if each of us would keep wild fires out of the woods and manage our timber tracts properly. During World War II food was the most needed item and wood ranked next. During World War II your Federal government made a law saying it was an act of sabotage to set a fire in the woods. The main reason our enemies are afraid of us and respect us is because we can out produce them; therefore, everytime you let wild fires get into a wooded area you are guilty of lowering our production and are actually aiding the enemy. Most of you have sons in the armed forces or soon will have, so don't be guilty of aiding their and your enemies by letting wild fires, either through carelessness or willfulness, get into the woodlands. Can we lick wildfires? Yes, if we will all work together. We of your State Division of Forestry seek your aid because we know without your cooperation we cannot do as good a job as we would like to do. It is apparent that more and more farmers and landowners throughout Alabama are recognizing the value of our great southern tree crop. More and more pulpwood and timber harvest are being made in conformance with good forestry practices, more and more farms are being established, more and more boys and girls and grown-ups are learning what proper management of our forests can mean to them, their communities and State, but we can't

NOW IS THE TIME TO PRUNE FRUIT TREES

January and February are suitable months to prune fruit trees, according to J. C. Ford, A.P.I. Extension Service orchard specialist.

He urges farmers to think well of a well pruned, bearing peach tree as being cup or vase shaped and an apple tree as being dome shaped. Both trees should be kept low and well spread.

"When peach and apple trees are first set," states Ford, "they need to be spread by cutting out the top. Peach trees should be cut back to 18 to 24 inches above the ground, and apple trees are cut at a height of 24 to 30 inches."

have proper management in our forests if we let wild fires go rampant in them. Let's all cooperate and make Alabama a better and more prosperous State. We can, it's up to each of us.

What is the TRUTH?
At various states in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees ... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused. ... the railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused. ... the railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused. Finally an Agreement was signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement. The railroads stand ready to put the terms of this Agreement into effect immediately, with back pay at the rates and date indicated. The Agreement is given in full below.

8. Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters.
9. Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 225 to 205 hours per month; no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours have been worked, the hours between 205 and 240 to be paid for at the pro rata rate.
Effective February 1, 1951, overtime at time and one-half shall accrue after 220 hours have been worked. The basic monthly salary to be paid for the 205-hour month shall be the same as that now paid for the 225-hour month. Except that four dollars and ten cents ($4.10) shall be added to the present monthly rate effective January 1, 1951.
10. In consideration of above; this agreement to be effective until October 1, 1953, and thereafter until changed or modified under provisions of Railway Labor Act. Moratorium on proposals for changes in wages or rules until October 1, 1953, as follows:
No proposals for changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions will be initiated or progressed by the employees against any carrier or by any carrier against its employees, parties hereto, within a period of three years from October 1, 1950, except such proposals for changes in rates or working conditions which may have been initiated prior to June 1, 1950. Provided, however, that if as the result of government wage stabilization policy, workers generally have been permitted to receive so-called annual improvement increases, the parties may meet with Doctor Steelman on or after July 1, 1952, to discuss whether or not further wage adjustments for employees covered by this agreement are justified, in addition to increases received under the cost of living formula. At the request of either party for such a meeting, Doctor Steelman shall fix the time and place for such meeting. Doctor Steelman and the parties may secure information from the wage stabilization authorities or other government agencies. If the parties are unable to agree at such conferences whether or not further wage adjustments are justified they shall ask the President of the United States to appoint a referee who shall sit with them and consider all pertinent information, and decide promptly whether further wage increases are justified and, if so, what such increases should be, and the effective date thereof. The carrier representatives shall have one vote, the employee representatives shall have one vote and the referee shall have one vote.  If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision.

The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous rates, special allowances, and existing money differentials above existing standard daily rates will be included in the formal agreement.
 The foregoing will not debar management and committees on individual railroads from mutually agreeing upon changes in rates, rules and working conditions of employees covered by this agreement.

DORMANT SPRAY CAN SAVE FRUIT TREES

Money, land, time, and trees are wasted when farmers fail to spray peach, plum and apple trees.

"Such neglected trees usually die within three or four years without ever producing any good fruit," asserts J. C. Ford, A.P.I. Extension Service orchard specialist.

He points out that San Jose scale on all three of these fruits and leaf curl on peaches kill thousands of trees every year. A good application of spray between the falling of the leaves and the beginning of growth in spring will control these troubles.

"A standard oil-emulsion spray will control scale," adds Ford. "Liquid lime-sulphur, winter strength, will control both scale and leaf curl. Local stores in most towns have both these products for sale in family-size cans with printed instructions for their use."

FREEZE COCONUT MEAT WHEN IT IS CHEAPEST

Auburn, Ala. —How would you like to have fresh coconut the year round? Its possible when coconut meat is frozen and stored in the home freezer.

Lavada Curtis, A. P. I. Extension Service food preservation specialist, reveals that within the next few months fresh coconuts, will be selling at greatly reduced prices.

Since it will be a good time to freeze coconuts, here's an easy way to remove the meat from the shell. First drain milk then place coconut in a hot oven and tap lightly with a hammer. Sometimes the meat comes out whole.

Next, remove skin from the coconut meat, mix with a small amount of milk, add one tablespoonful sugar to each coconut, then pack tightly into containers and freeze at 0° F.

To avoid waste, Miss Curtis recommends that coconut meat be frozen in. For example, freeze just the right amounts that will be used at one time, amount for one pie in one container

DAIRYMEN LEARN THAT HAY IN BARN COUNTS

"For the past few years," says J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. Extension Service dairy specialist, "dairymen have made an effort to provide enough winter grazing for all their cattle, and they have been very successful."

He adds, however, that the knowledge of knowing how to produce ample winter grazing led many dairymen to depend on grazing for a major part of their feed. Therefore, many dairymen did not harvest enough hay to feed their cattle in case an emergency arose. No one knew all the expensive grazing crops would be killed by a severe winter, but it will act as a reminder this coming summer for all dairymen to produce all the good quality hay they can for insurance against another unfavorable winter in 1951-52.

GET FULL BENEFIT FROM FERTILIZERS

Auburn, Ala. — Every farmer who keeps topsoil, including applied fertilizers, in place on sloping lands devoted to row crops uses a combination of practices.

S. R. Dougherty, A.P.I. Extension Service soil conservationist, explains that these practices include a good system of terraces with proper outlets; contour cultivation; crop rotations that include full use of cover crops to protect and improve the soil; and the application of fertilizers and lime to replace the plant foods removed to assure quick, heavy growth of soil conserving crops.

Present indications are that fertilizers will be relatively scarce and high in price this coming season," reveals Dougherty. "So, many farmers are planning to correct unfavorable soil conditions in order to get full benefits from fertilizers."

Senator Hill Introduces Bill Labeling Cotton

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama is preparing for introduction in the Senate a bill requiring the labeling and identification of cotton products advertised or offered for sale. The bill is sponsored by Walter Randolph, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

Hill said the bill will for the first time give cotton products the labeling protection already given wool and rayon products. The measure will benefit cotton farmers and processors, cotton garment manufacturers, and consumers. More than four fifths of the cotton articles now on the market are not identified, Hill said a survey showed, and cotton is losing each year the benefit of some $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 worth of national advertising.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan in a favorable report on a similar measure by Hill in the last Congress said it would "be advantageous to cotton producers, cotton manufacturers, and particularly to the ultimate consumers of textile products."

The bill falls within what is generally called "truth in fabric" legislation, the Federal Trade Commission declared in approving the measure last session.

"Proper identification of textiles has been recognized as desirable and essential in giving the public the information needed for intelligent buying and in establishing adequate safeguards against misunderstanding, confusion, and misconception," the report said.

"The Hill bill specifically prohibits false or deceptive advertising or invoicing of cotton products. Enactment of this legislation regulating the labeling, advertising and invoicing of cotton textiles would be constructive and in the public interest."

The cotton farmer has played a vital role in developing and building the reputation of many brands of apparel and household items and industrial cotton goods, Senator Hill pointed out. The cotton farmer is entitled to share in the value of the brand's reputation which he helped to create.

HERE'S WHY: Nitrogen content — all nitrate nitrogen . . . fast-acting . . . completely available . . . the only natural nitrate in the world.

Sodium content — contains 26% sodium (equivalent to 35% sodium oxide) . . . sodium is essential to maximum yields . . . substitutes for potassium, where lacking, and makes soil phosphate more available . . . helps "sweeten" the soil.

Other plant foods — natural traces of iodine, manganese, potassium, magnesium, boron, calcium, iron, sulphur, copper and zinc.

STATE CHAMBER ADDS RESEARCH DIVISION

A new Research Division will be established in the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce in Montgomery, Feb. 1, James L. Rankin, Decatur, president, said Saturday.

Charles R. Knight, former assistant director, Alabama Legislative Reference Service, will be director of the new division, Rankin added. "Research," Rankin added, "in various fields will enable the State Chamber to render a greater service to its members, to local chambers of commerce, and to general business in Alabama."

Rankin was careful to point out that this new Division would in no way duplicate or replace similar work done by other organizations or individuals. In the fields of Social Security and Unemployment Compensation, Rankin said the State Chamber would not attempt to provide individual service to companies, such as is being done by some private firms in the State, but would deal in broad, general lines of research and information useful to all employers in Alabama on the importance of these matters. "We will work with all agencies and individuals," Rankin said, "and make the findings of the Division available to all interested organizations and employer groups."

John M. Ward, executive vice president of the State Chamber, said he thought the addition of the new Division would aid in rounding out the activities of the State Chamber. He added, he thought the State Chamber was fortunate in getting Knight to head the new Division. The new director was graduated from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, majoring in political science and economics. Later he won an Alfred P. Sloan scholarship in government management and received an M. S. degree from the University of Denver.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. H. E. Chrisman, Scottsbluff, Neb.: I remember when anything good was "boss"—"Oh, we had a boss time!" we'd say, when asked if we enjoyed ourselves... when the city fellow was going to play with the violin accompaniment and couldn't get a sound out of the organ because he didn't know how to pull out the stops.

From Mrs. Nannie Smiley, Science Hill, Ky.: I remember when I was a little girl my mother used to dry apples and sell them at country stores for two and a half cents a pound. She also sold her hens for 25 cents apiece, and her eggs for five cents a dozen. She bought gingham and print for five cents a yard to make my six sisters and myself dresses. We thought we were fine if we could have a dress made of eight-and-one-third cents a yard goods.

From Mrs. Nettie Millan, Fairmont, W. Va.: I remember when the swain with the two-horse buggy sed all the rest; when the sofa was called the sparking bench; when the young man took his girl to church or the theater, she was expected to hold his hat in her lap; when a girl declined the escort of some young man, the gossip had it that she had given him the mitten.

From Mrs. Mary Stewart, Chicago: My mother used to tell about attending a mock funeral in Chicago for President Garfield. An immense black hearse, drawn by eight black horses, heavily draped in a black mesh blanket, with fringe touching the ground, immense black ostrich feathers standing up from their ears, slowly carried a black coffin through the Loop. Several bands played mournful dirges and marches and crowds of crying people watched from every vantage point.

(Mail your memories to The Old Timers, Box 340, Frankfort, Ky.)

Knight has spent five years with the Legislative Reference Service and is thoroughly familiar with Alabama's State government.

Clanton Kiwanis Club Sponsors "Johnny Holiday"

No film in recent months has inspired such high praise as R. W. Alcorn's "Johnny Holiday," which was presented recently in both Hollywood and New York with the most astonishing results. In New York, it was cited for special awards, as the picture of the month, by such distinguished periodicals of Cosmopolitan, Redbook and Parent's Magazine.

In the cinema capital it was acclaimed by Jimmy Fiddler, who called it "a five-bell picture," and Louella Parsons, whose column is the bible of film fans, urged all her readers to see it "The moment it hit their town."

The picture, directed by Willis Goldbeck, tells a dramatic story of underprivileged boys, and is all set for a gala premiere, Hollywood fashion, at the Clanton Drive-In Theater on Monday and Tuesday, February 12th and 13th, sponsored by the Clanton Kiwanis club, to raise funds for Youth Service Activities in this vicinity.

United Artists, is releasing "Johnny Holiday," which stars William Bendix, and introduces 12 year old Allen Martin in the title role.

Community Concerts Presents Loretta And Murray Dranoff

The newest two-piano team—and one of the youngest—to appear on the North American transcontinental concert route is Loretta and Murray Dranoff. Two personable young artists who have received the finest musical training and have proved their musicianship in a wide variety of professional appearances, they promise to become popular figures throughout the United States and Canada when they make their first extended concert tour during the 1950-51 season. The Dranoffs will make their debut appearance here on Tuesday evening, February 13th at eight o'clock in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Community Concerts Association.

Loretta Dranoff was born in New York City. The unusual talent for the keyboard that she displayed at an early age was developed rapidly under a series of eminent teachers. Even as a child she often performed in recital and played over the air. At New York's Hunter College she completed her academic education, while her musical training was perfected under Dr. Clarence Adler, well-known concert pianist and teacher.

Murray Dranoff is a native of Bridgeport, Connecticut. Private teachers there, recognizing a remarkable musical talent, urged him to go to New York to study after he had completed high school. Acting on their advice, he went to the metropolis to pursue his education in classical and romance languages at the College of the City of New York and his musical training under Dr. Adler.

Although they both studied under the same teacher, Loretta and Murray did not meet until each was preparing to participate in a series of Mozart concertos being broadcast over WQXR. This musical friendship developed into a stronger personal bond, and soon

Notes And News Of Company B, 167th Inf.

Fort Jackson, S. C., Feb. 3, 1951—Hello Folks. Another week has passed and here's more news from your own Co. B of Clanton.

First, I would like to extend my utmost appreciation to Mr. S. E. Scott, of Scott's Studio for the pictures taken on our departure from Clanton. Also I would like to thank Mr. Ben Tucker and Mr. Gene Wyatt, editors of your hometown newspapers, for relaying my letter to the people.

As a whole, the morale of the men seems to be high this week. Some of which are much higher than others. Reasons are that the following named officers and men were visited by their wives and children: Lt. Fred C. Blackmon, Lt. James Hosey, Sgt. Leon Williams, Sgt. J. C. Langston, Sgt. Marion D. Nelson, Sgt. Arthur Henley, Cpl. Clyde Henderson, Cpl. Charles Avery, Cpl. Odus Rhodes, Cpl. James Parrish, Cpl. William Sanders and Pvt. James Miller.

The other men have plenty of gripes, but as the saying goes, "A soldier is not happy unless he is griping."

We expect to begin our first cycle of training Monday morning, February 5, 1951.

Beginning Monday morning, we will

CALL TO PRAYER

THE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER.

Friday, February 9, 1951

Theme: "Perfect love casts out fear."

—John 4:18

Speak to Him, thou, for He hears And Spirit with spirit can meet— Closer is He than breathing, Nearer than hands and feet.

Alfred Tennyson.

Christians, in this turbulent world of today, let us come humbly and unitedly to the altar of God—to PRAY. Let us worship and bow down before the Lord our Maker, whose love alone can cast out the fear in our hearts and minds.

On February 9th unceasing prayer will span the earth, beginning as the sun rises on the Fiji Islands near the international date line and continuing westward until the amen is sung in the cold Arctic more than 24 hours later. Here in Clanton we will join in this universal prayer of self-searching. Attend the service in Clanton Methodist church at 10 o'clock Friday.

TO SPEAK HERE

WILLIAM J. BIRD

Mr. Bird, who is Program Adviser, Southeastern Division Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will speak to the officers of the Clanton Chamber and interested citizens at a luncheon at the Dixie Cafe next Thursday.

Clanton's Associated Producers have arranged for an appearance of The Troy Playmakers of Troy State Teachers' College in Clanton on Friday, February 16th. This program will mark the first time the Associated Producers have presented any show with a total cast of non-residents of Clanton.

In a State-wide search for talented groups worthy enough to be presented to a Clanton audience, The Troy Playmakers rated first place with all the groups contacted.

The program to be presented by the Troy Playmakers will consist of three one-act plays. They are "What Are You Going to Wear," "Think and Patches," and "The Valiant." This very notable combination of plays is representative of all types of drama. In addition to the three plays on this program there are special attractions between the plays.

The Associated Producers are sure that they have selected a program you will enjoy—a program of comedy and tragedy.

Admission price will be the same as all preceding Associated Producers' productions—75 and 50 cents. Advance tickets are on sale at Farley's Drug Store.

Remember! You have a date with enjoyment on Friday February 16th.

About Cancer Of The Breast

Cancer ranks second only to heart disease as the most common cause of death in the United States. Cancer of the breast, in particular, is the common type of cancer in women, being exceeded in incidence though not greatly, only by cancer of the female reproductive organs. Breast cancer is rare in men.

Yet there is no good reason for the large number of deaths—over 15,000 each year—caused by breast cancer. This kind of growth always begins as an accessible local tumor. It is easy to detect. No elaborate tests are needed to determine its existence. And it is curable in this early stage.

Then why are so many women needlessly sacrificed to this disease every year? This can be answered in two simple words: "Ignorance" and "delay." Too many people still think that cancer means death. They believe this because they know very little about it, or have been misled by the seeming hopelessness of the malady in friends or relatives who died of it. They do not realize that most of those who lost their lives could have been saved—if they had recognized the signs or symptoms soon enough, and if they have received prompt and proper treatment.

Women throughout the country will see for the first time the latter part of February a motion picture which shows how to examine their breasts. Widespread use of this simple technique is expected to prevent thousands of needless deaths from breast cancer annually.

The film is free. The American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute are co-producers. The film has been reviewed and approved by the chairman of the Cancer Committee, Medical Association of Alabama.

BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE SEA

HOW ARE YOUR RESOLUTIONS DOING?

Now that the new year is getting along, it might be a good idea for the Chilton County News readers to pause long enough to make a casual check-up on their New Year resolution.

Frankly, we doubt if one-tenth of one per cent of the noble resolutions have been kept this long. Even less than that number, however, might justify the custom and only one of them, if it is your own and has been observed, might make the difference between future success and failure for you.

We doubt if the mature adults of Chilton County think much of self-improvement but we hope and believe that hundreds of young people take life seriously as they prepare themselves for the years that lie before them.

To these young people we would send a word of encouragement. No truly great individual ever achieved anything of permanent good to the human race without some self-study, self-analysis and a conscious effort to improve.

The hewers of wood and drawers of water, so useful in life, use their muscles more than their brains but there was a day, in the life of each one, when some forward stride, once taken, might have led them to a much larger life.

APPRECIATE OUR INHERITANCE

Human beings, alive today in Chilton County, should appreciate the inheritance that has come to them from men and women who have lived in the years that are gone. This may seem like a commonplace declaration but it involves an understanding acceptance of the inheritance which have been bequeathed to us.

Those living today arrived in a world which had been developed by others. They enjoyed modern family life, churches, schools, governments and, be it added, an economic arrangement that makes for their comfortable living.

These things have not always been in the world. They have been slowly developed, often by the blood, as well as the sweat, of humanity. In casually accepting them, we exhibit a form of ignorance which is perilous to human progress.

As we comprehend in full the value of the gifts of our ancestors, we are apt to safeguard them. We would not willingly destroy in a day, or in a few years, the fruit of humanity's struggle through many centuries. Naturally, we benefit by what men have wrought before us and the only honorable course in life is to preserve these gifts for generations yet unborn.

Selfishness never built a town into a city. Let all the people in Clanton pull together unselfishly and we will be on the road to progress.

Some one might be able to tell us which is the biggest public nuisance: the people who take themselves too seriously or those who take themselves too lightly.

Advertising is praised by good business men who ought to know what they say is the truth. Those who say advertising doesn't pay have little experience with its power.

We believe that every citizen should, whenever possible, trade at home. When you can't buy what you want here, buy it as close home as possible.

Practically everybody that we have heard talk has at least half a dozen remedies for the present disorder of world conditions.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

We have a new neighbor up in our end of town. Vincent Ward has moved his Ward's Electric Service to the building across the street from the News office. Vincent and his helpers do all kinds of electric wiring and motor repairing besides commercial and domestic wiring. We are glad to have him in our neighborhood and wish him well.

The Chilton County Scout Committee held their annual meeting at the Dixie Cafe Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. A nice crowd attended. Scouts, Committeemen, wives, Den Mothers, Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, etc. Plans were made for the year's work and reports were given.

Dale Carnegie is starting another short course here next week. We can't tell you much about it yet but having signed to take the course this time we intend to find out what the last group or class found so interesting. We have talked to at least a dozen local men who attended the last school and every one of them are completely sold on the course and are encouraging all who will to attend this next one.

Received a letter this week that we sure would liked to have printed. It was complimenting Sheriff Luther Kendrick for bringing the Police Training School to the county which closed last week. We are heartily agreed with the letter but we absolutely refuse to publish letters that are unsigned. Whether we use your name or not, we must know from whom the letter comes. Please keep on writing us letters but please sign your name to it after you write it. If you do not want your name used we will gladly withhold it, but we must know the author of the letter.

Reward Others with Appreciation

ARTHUR E. ROBERTS, North Shaftesbury, Vermont, says that a remark was made to him one day that he will remember many years; that it will help him for many years. He has forgotten all the details but he is convinced that a certain associate of his named Bob is a very fine fellow. He says Bob can ask a favor of him any time and he will do his best to grant it.

Why all this excitement in the mental attitude of Arthur Roberts?

Just this:
There was a difficult situation to be handled with a customer of the firm, a certain Mr. Kane. He went to the above-lauded friend Bob and asked for some information to pass on to Mr. Kane. When he wrote the letter, he had a copy made and sent it to Bob.
Shortly Bob called him on the telephone and said:

"Art, I just read the copy of your letter to Mr. Kane, and I want to say that I think you handled that situation admirably; that was a very fine letter."

When Arthur thanked Bob and added that he had only passed on the information Bob had furnished him, Bob replied, "No, you did far more than that. You and I both know that the letter you answered contained a suggestion both ridiculous and preposterous. But you straightened out the matter without making the fellow feel like a darn fool."

Says Arthur Roberts: "I am for this reason stuff 100 per cent. Since a few words of praise can have such an effect upon me, I am resolved to give honest, sincere appreciation to others whenever opportunity arises."

Just for your information: All remarks in these paragraphs are about fictitious persons and are written merely to fill up space.

We will have better law enforcement in this country when citizens generally are more willing to obey the law themselves.

Have Faith In God

"Have faith in God," these words are

A. T. HICKMAN over night. It was Peter who called attention to the fig tree, saying, "Master, behold the fig tree which thou curdest is withered away." The answer was "Have faith in God, or have the faith of God."

And in the dark perilous days in which we live, I want to exhort every one to have faith in God. For without faith in Him, we cannot please Him. And remember that faith is no blind act of the soul, nor a leap in the dark. Faith has a foundation, and this foundation is none other than the Word of God itself. So let us have faith in His Word. Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every Word of God. The Word of God is able to make us wise unto salvation; and able to save our soul; and able to build us up; and able to keep us from falling.

Recently a Bible saved the life of a soldier in a Korea battle. The Bible was carried into battle by Corporal Douglas Cook. Cpl. Cook was wounded on the Mian from August 14th, 1950. A machine gun bullet tore through the soldier's legs, and penetrated half way through the Bible he carried in his pants pocket. Hospital authorities said that if the Bible had not been in the way, the bullet would have killed him. Many such stories have happened during war, where a Bible was carried on the person of the soldier. We do not doubt these stories, knowing full well that such is possible. But one thing for sure we know, and it is this, the Word of God carried within the heart of a soldier, or any one else, will save his soul from eternal destruction. "How can a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy Word."

May God increase our faith in Him, and in His Word. May our faith in the Church of God be increased. The church stands for, and proclaims the things of God; the principles of right living; a right relationship toward our fellowman. Faith in God is the cure. It comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God.

THE SENATE SMALL BUSINESS committees says that small business in the nation is fighting for its life, that legislation already has killed many small firms, and that government had better see to it that the survivors get a fair share of defense contracts.

As a result of several days of testimony, Senator John Sparkman of Alabama and Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, chairmen, respectively, of the senate and house small business committees, introduced identical bills calling for set-up of small defense plants corporation with a revolving loan fund of $500,000,000 and a five-member board with more positive authority than was given the similar smaller war plants corporation during World War II. The bill would give the corporation power to assure small business a fair share of business from prime government contractors and at the same time give the corporation power to make contracts with the government and sublet to small businesses.

After more than a year of investigation, the department of agriculture is expected to announce some major reorganization plans to more efficiently and effectively give service to the American farmers. Chief among the reorganization plans, which began when Albert Loveland was under-secretary, and which have been carried on since his resignation by Under-Secretary Clarence J. McCormick, is a merging of some of the technical services performed by Production and marketing administration in soil conservation, and the soil conservation service itself, with the aim of eliminating some of the overlapping functions at the county level between the two departments. The plan follows somewhat, but not wholly some of the recommendations of the Hoover report.

There is a move underway in connection with price controls, to revive some of the provisions of the Steagall law affecting prices farmers get for their commodities. The Steagall amendments guaranteed to the farmer, if he was called upon to increase his crops, a price protection for two years after the war ended.

Approximately 70 percent of President Truman's 71 billion dollar budget will be spent for purposes of military service and international security in 1951. This would leave spending for all other government projects, including need-of-the-year, home, permanent and indefinite appropriations, mostly interest on the national debt, public assistance grants, veterans service and other things amounting approved by the year, will amount to another $23,900,000,000 in new cash and obligation authority. Much of this sum will not be spent until 1953 and will therefore show up in the expenditures budget of that year.

In addition actual appropriations to be requested of congress, including programs for which spending will be approved by the year, will amount to another $23,900,000,000 in new cash and obligation authority. Much of this sum will not be spent until 1953 and will therefore show up in the expenditures budget of that year.

Despite this upswing in government spending, the bureau of the budget analysis shows that in 1930 different appropriation items there was a cut of $3.7 billion below amounts approved by the congress for the same purposes in fiscal year 1951. Some defense items were cut below the 1951 budget, including about $1.3 billion for veterans benefits.

Generally speaking, the congressmen generally approved the President's plan to enact a tax bill to raise some $16 billion more in new taxes on a pay-as-we-go basis.

There is a new battle underway on Capitol Hill on whether to retain the single-package omnibus appropriation bill or to return to the old multiple measure system for financing the government each year. Congressman Clarence Cannon, of Missouri, chairman of the house appropriations committee, who helped pioneer the omnibus bill, is staunchly committed to retain the present plan.

Your Health

WHY BE FAT?

Obesity is actually a disease characterized by an abnormal appetite. Seldom, if ever, is it due primarily to serious glandular disease. This is a popular misconception behind which many constitutional diseases may frequently obscure individuals seek refuge. Many be avoided by proper nutrition and care in the selection of foods, since the maintenance of good health is dependent in a large measure on the food we eat. One of the most common dietary disturbances is obesity.

Excessive intake of food leads to the accumulation of abnormal amounts of body fat. By far the majority of those who are overweight simply take in more food than is necessary to supply the daily energy required. The portion of food over and above the daily needs is stored in the fat depots. The sites of the greatest fat storage are in the shoulders, abdomen and hips.

Many diet fads make their appearance from time to time and gain undeserved popularity. Some of these are nutritionally inadequate and unbalanced and lead to acute deficiency states and lowering of general bodily resistance. Ideally a reduction diet should be a balanced diet and should be under a physician's supervision to safeguard one's health. A sane and sensible reduction diet consists of 1000 to 1200 calories properly balanced to contain a relatively high amount of protein, a moderate amount of carbohydrate and a low content of fat.

Obese individuals are much more prone to certain constitutional diseases, such as high blood pressure, accelerated hardening of the arteries and diabetes. Excessive weight may lead to an increased load on the heart as well as on all vital organs in the body. With these points in mind, everyone should guard against overweight. Active industrial workers require more food intake to keep their strength and energy at a normal level, and those engaged in sedentary or desk work require less.

So why be fat? Maintain your food requirements at a level to maintain good general health, thereby reducing your chances to develop the diseases associated with obesity.

Leftover fruit juices should be combined and stored in a jar in the refrigerator, then they can be substantial in place of water when making gelatin salads or desserts; and will add their own contribution of flavor to the dish in which they are used.

Give a candle a light coat of shellac and this treatment will prevent it from bending or becoming limp in a warm room.

Sometimes Good Intentions Aren't Enough

That fire at the Griffin place didn't do much damage last week, but Volunteer Chief Murphy was pretty angry about it. Spoke to some of us over dinner and a bottle of beer.

"Griffin's farm is a good mile from town," he said. "And by the time we'd dodged all the people on the highway who were going to watch, we hadn't a minute to waste."

"Then blamed if those sight-seers hadn't parked cars right in Griffin's driveway and there was a mob of people milling around the house—just gawking. Joe, tell folks a fire's no sideshow. Ask 'em to think of the other fellow!" From where I sit, some of us need to be reminded occasionally that even though our intentions are good we may be unfairly interfering. Whether it's blocking the right-of-way of fire equipment or criticizing a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer now and then—the American Way is to give way, and give the other fellow his fair "share of the road!"

Don't Destroy Forests Killing Boll Weevils

A large number of the farmers of Alabama have found where the boll weevil spends the winter. Formerly, without any real study of the situation, it was thought that this insect left the cotton fields and farm premises and journeyed out into the woods to undertake its winter sleep. Nowadays, however, no one takes much of anything for granted. First one man and then another became curious about the subject and went into the woods and started searching in the hollows of trees, under fallen leaves, under stones and, in fact, in every conceivable place where the insect might be hidden to the surprise of a great many people they returned empty handed. The boll weevil could NOT be found in the woods.

After thinking the matter over, the searchers came to the conclusion that there was on reason why the weevil should be in the woods. Upon studying the foods habits of the insect, they learned that there was no plant upon which he could feed except the cotton, and this does not grow in the woods. The boll weevil favors himself in every way. He stays close to his food and winters in the nearest suitable place. He does not require much room, and thousands of weevils can be hidden in a very small place. When the season is over the insect sees no need of making an extensive journey when there is a comfortable place close at hand in a cotton stalk, in the cracks of a fence post, in a rubbish pile, in the crevices of buildings, under the shingles of the roof, or nicely tucked away in the garments of the farm scarecrow. Turning their attention to these places, the searchers found plenty of boll weevils.

The error was not difficult to locate. No boll weevils could be found in the woods and many could be found in and about the cotton patch and farm premises. Furthermore, practically all woodland in the state had been burned over year after year and, if that was where the boll weevils were, certainly none would be left for the summer. Sometimes when a farmer omitted to burn his woods and observed an increase of boll weevils later, he felt that this was on account of not burning.

TELL ME....

HOW DID THE CUSTOM OF SHAKING HANDS ORIGINATE?

IT DATES BACK TO PRIMITIVE TIMES WHEN MEN CARRIED A CLUB FOR DEFENSE. UPON MEETING A FRIEND EARLY MAN WOULD DROP HIS WEAPON TO SHOW HE WAS UNARMED AND THEN SHAKE HANDS.

DURING GENERAL CUSTER'S LAST STAND HOW MANY OF HIS MEN ESCAPED DEATH?

NOT ONE! ALL WERE SLAIN, EXCEPT A HORSE RIDDEN BY ONE OF CUSTER'S MEN. IT FLED TO SAFETY AND WAS THE ONLY LIVING THING TO ESCAPE WITH ITS LIFE!

ARE THE SEQUOIAS... FAMOUS REDWOODS OF CALIFORNIA... THE TALLEST TREES IN THE WORLD?

NO! THAT DISTINCTION BELONGS TO THE EUCALYPTUS TREES OF AUSTRALIA WHICH ATTAIN A HEIGHT OF 500 FT! THE TALLEST CALIFORNIA TREES RARELY EXCEED A HEIGHT OF ABOUT 350 FT!

WHICH IS THE CLEANEST OF ALL ANIMALS?

THE RACCOON! IT WON'T EAT UNLESS IT HAS FIRST WASHED ITS FOOD THOROUGHLY!

However, farmers of other localities found that they had fewer weevils after protecting the woods against fire. The fact is, in both cases, that burning or not burning had nothing to do with the situation, weather conditions usually being the thing that made the difference, the boll weevil thriving during warm damp weather and dying off to a large extent during the hot dry weather, wholly independent of whether the woods were burned or not.

Under the old belief that the insects went to the woods, Alabama farmers did themselves a great deal of mischief by the fires they set to their forest land. After they found out their mistake their practice of burning the woods to destroy the boll weevil became less and less common, and chief dependence is being placed upon poisoning the weevil in the fields during its feeding stages.

Any one who has been told that the boll weevil is in the woods can easily ascertain whether this is true by personal investigation. The landowner or tenant need no longer inflict losses upon himself on account of misinformation that was given him years ago. The woodlands may now be allowed to grow naturally and produce an ever increasing amount of valuable timber for home use, for local consumption and for the general market. Instead of being regarded as a liability to be scorned and mistreated the timber tract has become a valuable asset.

The ever increasing demand on our woodlands for forest products is a challenge for us to produce. Most of our forest products come from the small landowners so don't think your small woodland acreage is of no value. There is money in your woodlands and you can sell whenever you need money. All you have to do is to keep fire out of your woodlands and cut your trees selectively to have a continuous cash crop.

Should you have an area to burn keep your fire confined to this area. Know your forest fire law before you do any burning.

Eliminate fire and save your tree crop; apply poison and save your cotton crop.

Instead of destroying trees by fire in an effort to control the boll weevil, the farmer should plant his idle and unproductive acres with pine seedlings. The forest industries of Alabama need the tree crop to continue their operation. The farmer needs the income that the trees will provide. This means prosperity to the individual and to the whole State of Alabama.

Phil H. Kipp, District Forester State of Alabama.

HAMPSHIRE HOGS

A Hampshire is recognized as a meat type or a "middle of the road" breed. The breed is noted for large litters, grazing ability, and gentle quality. Packers prefer Hampshires because they produce a high percentage of high-priced cuts. They are also known for their fast growing and quick developing qualities.

PHONY DISEASE FOUND IN WILD PLUMS

Growers Urged to Destroy Plum Thickets Near Peach Orchards

Wild plums are now known to contain the phony peach disease virus which can be spread to peach orchards by insects according to T. D. Persons, Assistant Project Leader, Phony Peach Control Project. Recent surveys by one of a newly developed chemical test show that a surprisingly high percentage of plum bushes in the central Alabama peach area as well as other areas are infected with this disease which has caused enormous losses to peach growers for many years.

Peach growers are urged to destroy all plum thickets at least within 300 yards of their orchards. Dr. Glenn KenKnight of the Fort Valley, Georgia, laboratory says that plum thickets may be effectively killed by cutting the plants during the winter followed by an early summer spraying of the resulting sprouts with the weed killer known as Ammate. The solution is made by dissolving three-fourth pound of chemical percentage of the roots. Follow-up sprays should be applied if additional sprouting occurs.

This discovery with the discovery of the insect carriers of the disease, announced two years ago by W. F. Turner of the Fort Valley Laboratory, gives renewed hope in the long battle against phony which causes the dwarfed, dark green trees with undersized fruit. Large scale experiments are now under way to develop an effective spray for the insect carriers. If this is successful a three-way attack on the phony disease will then be possible—destroying infected peach trees, spraying to kill the insect carriers, and wild plum eradication; and this must be done on a community-wide basis. Studies by H. L. Bruer and C. E. Shepard of the Control Project show that a high degree of control can be attained by removal of diseased trees at once if carried out on an area of community basis.

FARM ELECTRICITY

"A kilowatt hour of electricity costing a few pennies can produce the equivalent of 10 hours of manual labor on the farm," says J. T. Gaillard, A. P. I. Extension Service engineer.

He explains that as of June 30, 1950, more than $5,000,000 American farms had central station electric service—$1 per year on all U. S. farms. To take advantage of this low cost labor-saving power and to offset high priced and scarce farm labor, Gaillard recommends that wherever farmers use electricity to milk cows, pump water, and turn grindstones and other farm machinery in the barn or tool shed.

"The local farm equipment retailer, who knows the power requirements of various farm machines, will be glad to advise farmers on what size electric most efficient, economical job with electricity," says Gaillard.

NITROGEN FOR OATS

Growers who have good stands of oats should top-dress with 48 pounds of nitrogen per acre. This amount of nitrogen is contained in 300 pounds of nitrate of soda or 15 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

But, if several growers in a community leave phony trees standing year after year in their orchards it is difficult, if not impossible, for the remaining growers to control the disease in their orchards by any method known today.

Nearly three million peach trees have been destroyed by the phony disease since it first began to attack about thirty-five years ago.

For further information, growers should contact B. P. Turner, State Entomologist, Montgomery, Ala.; T. D. Persons at the Control Project Building, Macon, Ga.; or W. F. Turner at the Fort Valley Laboratory.

 9. 159 purebred brood sows were owned in 1950.
 10. 24 new homes were built by veterans in 1950.
- The most interesting phase of the survey revealed that the 224 veteran farmers had a gross income of $596,919 made directly on the farm.

HEAT FOR CHICKS

The wiring in a large broiler house should be checked before an attempt is made to heat the house with heat lamps. The number of lamps required to heat one of these large houses might put an excessive load on the wiring, creating a hazard.

ABOUT YOUR HOME BY FRANCES DELL

An attractive room is dependent on scale—the scale of the furniture in relation to the size of the room. This size must take into consideration, both the height and the floor area.

The type of room is an important factor, also. Cottage rooms have ceilings from seven to eight feet and are small to medium in size. A mansion house has large rooms and ceilings from ten to twelve feet. It follows that the type of furniture chosen must be in scale with the background in order to be attractive.

It is a good idea to make a scale drawing of any room to be decorated. Professional decorators do. This will tell whether there will be enough room to walk around, and if the pieces to be used will fit into the room attractively.

Individuality in decorating is often overlooked. Many women try to copy a picture in a book, or friend's home, when decorating their home. This takes the fun out of decorating and often gives a stereotype effect.

Most of us have things which we really love and want to have around—a collection of old prints of pressed glass, favorite picture, or some fine porcelain. Find a place for these things. They will help give your home individuality.

Rate of flow for the two wells was not announced.

Humble Oil and Refining Company was trying to brag in a producer in the South Carlton field in Clarke county. Drillers have put on pumps and are testing the No. 4 J. H. Wall estate operation, at a depth of 7,986 feet. The same firm was drilling its No. 5 J. H. Wall estate in sand and shale at 5,072 feet.

Pieces of fine, soft wool make excellent dusting clothes; while next in usefulness are soft cotton (especially knitted materials) and cheesecloth.

Alabamians Got THOUSANDS MORE TELEPHONES IN 1950

1950 was another big telephone year in Alabama. Southern Bell installed 78,916 telephones . . . enough to serve two cities the size of Montgomery.

The big job, however, was making telephones possible by constructing and enlarging buildings, installing central office equipment, building lines and stringing wire and cable. In all we spent more than $12,900,000 last year to expand and improve Alabama's telephone service.

Today Alabama has twice as many telephones as were in service at the end of World War II . . . twice as many long distance circuits . . . three times as many rural telephones. That's mighty important right now as the nation mobilizes for defense.

In the days ahead, Southern Bell can be counted on to do its full part in defense—in Alabama and throughout the South.

S. H. YOUNGBLOOD, Alabama Manager

Where Money to Expand and Improve Service Comes From

It doesn't come from the money you pay us for telephone service . . . that money goes to pay wages, taxes and other operating costs. The money to build new facilities must come from people with money to invest. That's why the future of telephone service depends on the Company's ability to pay for the use of money invested in telephone facilities.

Vets Hit Jackpot; Get Second NSLI Dividend

Washington, Feb. 1.—Payment of a second special dividend totalling $685,000,000 to the holders of some 8 million National Service Life Insurance policies was announced today by Carl R. Gray, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

Dividends will be calculated through the anniversary date of the policy in 1951 and payment will follow a general schedule over the period of one year. The first checks will be ready in April. VA emphasized that no deviation from calculations or advancement in the production line can be made.

Veterans were urged by VA not to write regarding the second dividend, since correspondence will cause removal of the file from the production lines and delay payment.

The payments will cover a 3-year period, from 1948 to 1951. Policies held in force from a total of three months or more during this period will be eligible for dividends. This applies both to term and permanent plant policies, including those which have lapsed or were terminated by death of the insured.

The amount of dividend earned by each policy varies according to the number of months it was in force, the plan of insurance, face value of the policy and the age of the insured at the time it became effective. Studies on rates still are being made, VA said.

The first special dividend of $2.8 billion, payment of which now is virtually completed, covered the period each policy was in force up to its anniversary date in 1948. The second dividend will force the number of months in force from that date to the corresponding date in 1951. Policies issued in 1948, 1950 and 1951 earn dividends up to their anniversary in 1951.

Of the more than 16 million policies involved in the first special dividend payment, only 40,000 for which application has been filed remain to be paid. These require special handling. VA said that the vast majority of the remaining policies required extensive search for development, many of them from records outside of the VA, to verify premium payments. This is a vast reduction from the approximately 400,000 of these cases requiring special handling that remained to be paid on June 1, 1950. Veterans who have applied and who are entitled to payment of the first special dividend and who have not yet received checks were assured by the Veterans Administration that every effort is being made to effect payment.

Unlike the first dividend, no application will be required for the second dividend. In any case where there may be a question as to the address of record, a special, two-part return card will be mailed for verification of the proper address before a check is sent.

Special dividends are payable only in cash and may not be left on deposit at interest. However, the check may be cashed and the proceeds used to prepay insurance premiums, which results in savings equal to 3 per cent annual interest on premiums paid more than three months in advance.

GENERAL IKE'S POPULARITY MAKES FOR ALLIED UNITY

By EDWARD H. SIMS
Chilton County News-Weekend Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 3.—General Dwight Eisenhower retains the confidence of both major political parties on Capitol Hill. That is apparent in the fight over troop commitments for Europe, and once again ability to get along with everybody. This ability, more than anything else, is responsible for Ike's position of leadership today.

Curiously, however, few people know General Eisenhower intimately. Even his associates do not know the man. They admire and like Ike, but he seems to keep his innermost thoughts to himself alone. Seldom has there been any sensational, or emotional, story printed about the General. As far as the public knows Ike is a cold turkey, a top organizer, and a man who gets things done.

In recent months it has become evident that Republicans would accept him as a presidential candidate, as would many Democrats, and that the Administration hopes Ike will stay on the job in Europe and out of politics in 1952—if we are not at war. His words are well received on Capitol Hill. As in his dealings with Frenchmen, English and other nationalities, he always seems to get what he wants, without friction, or with a minimum of it.

With Girard, Alexander, Churchill, Montgomery, Marshall and, but he seems to have his differences (Marshall least of all) in the last war, but, in each instance, generally got what he wanted. He failed with Roosevelt and Churchill, in insisting that Germany be left intact as a single country, or region, presided over by an Allied ruling body. But he succeeded in bringing the strategic air force under his command, in a touchy game of wits, and succeeded in getting several other executives of authority, which were to give him unprecedented powers as Allied C-in-C.

"Had Germany been preserved as a homogeneous country, Ike might have been chosen military commander of the country. Now he is Allied military commander for a much larger area. The assignment is in line with his views."

COLLEGE STUDENTS CAN CHOOSE SERVICE BRANCH

University, Ala.—College students ordered to report for induction under Selective Service now have the same right as volunteers to choose their branch of service.

Dr. John M. Gallalee, president of the University of Alabama, announced the change in basic Selective Service policy to his students this week.

Dr. Gallalee said a directive from national draft headquarters said classification of all such students will be reopened in the final months of the academic year. This order will automatically cancel any order to report which may have been sent to such students.

Under earlier Selective Service policy, the armed forces would not accept a voluntary enlistment once the man had been ordered to report for his pre-induction physical.

The directive emphasized, however, that the new policy entails no change in the obligation of the student to serve.

NO DIPHTHERIA HERE

Montgomery.—The 358 diphtheria cases reported in 1949 from the entire state included 0 reported from Chilton county, the State Department of Health announced today.

Only 10 counties reported as many as ten cases each during the year. Mobile reported 33, Jefferson 27, Cullman 21, Walker 16, St. Clair 15, Winston 14, Talledega 12, Marion 11 and Baldwin and Madison 10 each.

To make celery curls, cut the celery in three-inch pieces and then cut half-way up each piece so as to form spirals; place in ice water to curl.

of years back.

The big question about General Ike is—how good is he as a field general. Confronted with superior forces, including air and sea, could he still win battles by skill? Could he do what Rommel did, when outnumbered? Ike never fought under those adverse circumstances. But if the Russian army ever invades western Europe, the Allied army will be up against tremendous odds. And Ike will have a tougher job than in the last war.

Some of his admirers say it's a good thing someone with Ike's popularity, behind whom the Allies can unite, has the all-important job of defending western Europe.

FLOWER SHOW SETS NEW DATES FEB. 10-11

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 7.—Due to inclement weather, Birmingham's first annual Flower Show and Plant Clinic has been postponed to Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 10-11.

The hours will be from 2 to 9 p.m. each of these two days, in the Birmingham City Hall, with a special showing for Negroes from 10 to 1 p.m. Sunday.

"We regret the necessity for this postponement, but with such low temperatures prevailing, we could not bring certain South Alabama plants into the Birmingham area without great damage," explained Oliver W. Fraser, president of the Birmingham Association of Nurserymen, one of the sponsors.

Trucks loaded with rare camellias and sub-tropical plants, valued at thousands of dollars, were rerouted back to Baldwin and Mobile counties when mid-way of the State.

Other sponsors of this free, educational exhibit are the Federated Garden Clubs of Birmingham and Jefferson county and the Birmingham Park and Recreation Board.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD

Joe Pasternak, who has discovered quite a number of stars in his day, is all hepped up about Vic Damone. He says Vic is a "Valentino with a voice."

An interesting character on the Twentieth lot is James Robertson Justice, who currently is playing a role in "David and Bathsheba." Justice is British-born, first came to Hollywood 20 years ago as a truck driver. The next time he landed as a steward on a Dutch boat. He was running a bulldozer in Britain when he got the acting bug about four years ago. Gregory Peck became interested in him and called Director Henry King's attention to him. Justice is an authority on wild orchids.

In a world-wide poll, not yet completed, to determine the popularity of stars in 40 countries, Jane Wyman leads in the over-all poll, with Gregory Peck, Errol Flynn and Alan Ladd leading the men. The British like Loretta Young and Irene Dunne best, while the Scottish people prefer Greer Garson.

South Africa favors Esther Williams. Not one American or European star was listed by the people in India—they prefer their own native actors.

Mala Powers, who was discovered by Ida Lupino, did a little discovering on her own and brought a young girl, Connie Hilton, to Ida. The result: Ida gave Connie a featured part as Joan Evans' pal in "On the Loose."

Maria Montez is recently making a hit in Paris, where she is starring in a play.

Constance Bennett, who is making her home in Germany, where her husband, Col. John Coulter, is stationed with the Air Force, is back in Hollywood for her first film role in two years, in "Will You Love Me in December?"

While Bob Burns is being rushed with offers to appear on Television, he is taking his time about accepting Bob is financially well fixed and doesn't have to worry about such things as playing a bazooka.

Jimmy Stewart is realizing one of his life's ambitions in Cecil B. De Mille's circus picture—he's always wanted to play a clown. He's doing just that, although it's one of the smallest roles he's ever played in films.

Danny Kay's to make his debut as a hobo in the musical version of "Huckleberry Finn." He's to play the part of Dauphin, while Gene Kelly plays the duke. While no one has been set for the title role, everybody expects Mickey Rooney to get the job.

Everybody is trying to sign up Isabel Begley, from "Guys and Dolls." She still lives with her folks in the Bronx.

There's at least one actor in Hollywood who has no desire to be a star. He's Chill Wills, probably better known to most fans as the voice of "Francis, the mule." Wills has been in Hollywood for a long time and has performed roles in dozens of pictures but he still has no ambition to have the lead. "All I want is something to make people say, 'that dad-blamed guy was pretty good,'" he declares.

Familiar Sound

The Cry For Production

THE rigors of war have again clouded out the warm sunshine of peace. And with the chill winds of strife has come the familiar call for production. . . still more production. These demands for more food and fiber and gups and ammunition are not new to Alabama farmers—in fact the echoes are still e-sounding from the last great commotion. But the time has now come to act.

Most farmers are familiar with the need for expanded cotton production.

And most of them are now preparing to meet the challenge by producing more on the same acreage they have been planting. Some will plant more acres.

To get the most possible cotton from any given acre of land, producers must, first of all, use a recommended variety—one that has been tested and proved to be a good yielder. Then they must plant on time, use enough of the right kinds of fertilizer, and cultivate properly. To meet the possible threat of boll weevils, cotton growers should lay in a supply of poison and "let 'em have it" as often as necessary.

More corn and green grazing crops are also a must. It takes a heap of corn to fatten out a lot of cattle and hogs, and it takes many tons of grazing crops to supplement the grain. And beef and pork are in big demand. The farmer with a big garden full of green vegetables won't be losing any sleep over the uphill climb of many food prices.

Then there is labor—less of it in all probability. As more farm workers leave the land and go to war or to defense jobs, the load will be heavier for those who remain. But the big job's been done before—will be done again.

EACH month more and more farm boys and girls are beginning to "step down to the mailbox" and pick up a milk check.

It's a sign that these farm youngsters are right in the middle of Alabama's dairy industry expansion. And much of this enthusiasm for dairying has been brought on by the junior dairymen program which is now in full swing in many counties over the state.

Jerry Traylor, the 15-year-old junior dairymen shown here, is one of the many boys who have grabbed this program and gone to work. He got his start four years ago when he made a trip to the bank in Wedowee and borrowed $200 to buy his first registered Jersey cow. Since that day the boy has come a long way.

The first year the Randolph County boy paid his debt and had a little profit left over. And for the last three years he has been adding more cows to his herd. He has also been planting more grazing crops which furnish cheap but excellent feed.

Last year Jerry was named the top 4-H

Club junior dairymen in the state. He had built his herd up to 12 cows and was making plans to add some more to his herd. With a few more years of progress like the last four Jerry will probably be one of the top adult dairymen in the state.

The proud parents of this successful young dairymen are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Traylor of Woodland.

Recommended Cotton Varieties For Alabama

H. B. TISDALE, Plant Breeder
A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station

NINE varieties of cotton are recommended for use in Alabama this year by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station. These recommendations are based on 3-year results of tests conducted in all sections of the state. They are Plains, Coker 100 Wilt, Stoneville 2B, Empire, Smith 78, Miller 610, Deltapine, Stonewilt, and White Gold Wilt.

Plains and Coker 100 Wilt are recommended for planting in all areas because of satisfactory yields and staple lengths, high resistance to wilt, and other desirable qualities. In addition, Stoneville 2B, Empire, Smith 78, Miller 610, and Deltapine are recommended for wilt-free land.

Plains, Coker 100 Wilt, Stonewilt, and White Gold Wilt are satisfactory wilt-resistant varieties for planting in sections where cotton wilt generally prevails.

Empire, Smith 78, and Miller 610 are highly tolerant to wilt and may be planted on soils known to be lightly infested with the cotton wilt disease.

The above recommendations were determined from accurate yields, staple length, lint turnout, and number of bolls per pound from 20 varieties and strains of cotton in each test at 15 different locations.

In the areas of the state where any one of the recommended varieties has been commonly grown for the past several years, it is advisable to continue planting the same variety in 1951. With the need for increasing the cotton acreage in the state, good planting seed have become scarce. Therefore, a change from the most commonly grown recommended variety would in most cases cause a greater scarcity of seed.

FARMERS who don't already have a supply of cottonseed for planting should get theirs now. Those who wait until planting time to get their seed may find that they have waited too long. Be sure to buy seed of the recommended varieties.

"Old Folks" Took A Front Seat

When Jackson County passed out honors to its 124 farmers who made the 100-Bushel Corn Club, nine "old folks" took a front seat. Six of those over 60 years old who made the club were, left to right, T. O. Dawson, Fackler; J. W. Kuykendall, Henagar; S. E. Hastings, Scottsboro; J. A. Williams, Dutton; Robert L. Butler, Woodville, and J. B. Burkhalter, Flatrock. They are being congratulated by County Agent J. E. Carter, extreme right. The other three oldesters who reached the 100-bushel per acre mark were Sam Bishop, Pleasant View; B. F. Rogers, Stevenson, and Dorcas Carter, Pleasant View.

Three generations of Kuykendalls (picture at right) of Henagar, made far more than a hundred bushels per acre, and Nelson Kuykendall (left), 12-year-old 4-H Club boy, led the county with a whopping 167.62-bushel yield. With Nelson are J. W. Kuykendall and J. F. Kuykendall.

Working Together

Cooperation Is Trademark Of Chambers Community

A neighborly spirit of cooperation and brotherly love is the trademark of Mt. Olive community in Chambers County. Each one in the community enthusiastically pitches in on any project to improve the community.

Members of Mt. Olive get together twice each month for a planned program in their own community clubhouse. The 135 members of the community club have one meeting for recreation. Recreation is planned to interest all ages. Miss Velma Beaird takes charge of the younger boys and girls and leads them in games, contests, and singing.

The other meeting each month is planning time, and a session is held to talk over problems of the community and ways to improve the community as a whole. The club has a survey group to check into the community and see what people are doing, and a program committee works out plans for the future. This year each member has worked toward increasing the income on the farm.

Each farmer plants at least one acre of hybrid corn, and each has planted some acreage to Winter grazing this year.

During 1950 members of the community spent more than $17,000 in improving their homes, churches, and schools. Building up the soil to make farming more profitable is a project that goes over well in the community too. This year members of Mt. Olive increased their use of P. M. A. soil building funds by 50 per cent over last year.

President S. H. Dunn says, "We in Mt. Olive feel that the community club has been instrumental in creating a cooperative spirit throughout the community, and this cooperative spirit has continued into the homes of almost every resident of Mt. Olive community.

"I, like many other Mt. Olive citizens, am proud of our community, our community club, and the progress it has helped us to make."

He Believes In Them

ACCORDING to Levi Magnusson there's no prettier sight than a field of snowy white cotton and long rows of corn stalks leaning against their load of large yellow ears of grain.

Magnusson has been farming for a long time up near Ardmore in the Cedar Hill community, and just like his neighbors he does his best to grow a bumper crop every year.

Folks up that way say they depend on Magnusson to let them know when Fall is just around the corner because every year, for the past three anyway, he has greeted the harvest season with the bang of a hammer and the whir of a saw—building a new crib.

Each year Levi sets out to break his corn yield record, and last year he made a record that will be hard for anyone to beat. He made 162 bushels on one acre.

The whole community averaged over 50 bushels per acre, and they will probably raise the yield this year.

DIRECTOR, APL EXTENSION SERVICE

TRUTHS stated by two great Americans loom big in my thinking as I start writing these lines during a national emergency.

The first: "Wherever people work together, wealth is created." To this we add: They also do a good job of living.

The second: "Only the strong can be free, and only the productive can be strong."

These facts are now inviting application on farms, in industries, in schools, in churches, in homes, and elsewhere in this nation.

But creation of wealth is not all that we want this year, although it is absolutely essential. First and foremost, we want to preserve our freedom, our way of life, our American ideals.

In producing on farms and in factories we're thinking less now about our standard of living and more about maintaining our way of life.

It's certainly a time for all of us to work together. This calls for thinking together by families, by community groups, and on a bigger scale.

When everybody is challenged, as now, everybody needs to think, to work together, and fight together.

Freedom to talk about our public officials is one of our rights as a democracy. But, there is also the fact that most of these public officials were elected by the voters of the country. So, they're entitled to our support even though we may not think as they think.

An example of our need to produce this year is cotton. The call is for at least 16 million bales in 1951. This exceeds 1950 production by more than 60 per cent.

County agents are in daily contact with farmers about it. Most farmers who produce cotton expect to produce more. They'll begin with more acres in cotton, and they'll plant, fertilize, and cultivate to make more per acre.

They'll do this planting with the least possible disturbance of their grazing crops because we need more meat, milk and eggs, as well as cotton. If the war continues, the demand for these products will increase along with the demand for cotton.

I offer the suggestion: That all cotton be planted at the right time on a good seedbed fully fertilized.

Corn is another example. More corn is essential to more pounds of meat and milk. Our agronomists at Auburn say that we ought to seek 30 bushels per acre as the average for Alabama this year. In fact, it ought to be much more—50 bushels.

With corn, as with cotton, time of planting is very important. County agents are advising farmers on this. Kind of seed, fertilizer, spacing, and soil preparation are all vital.

The aim, of course, is a high yield per acre. Fifty bushels per acre is not too high. Hundreds of Alabama farmers exceeded 100 bushels per acre in 1950. If one can do it, so can another, another, and another. It's a matter of using available information about the production of corn.

Our biggest agricultural gains in recent years have been with livestock. We must continue these gains in 1951 and beyond. Yet we must accelerate them.

We have much land in Alabama that is well suited to grazing and feed crops but, at present, is producing nearly nothing.

Most of the land should be producing grazing or other feed crops for beef and dairy cattle, for hogs, sheep, chickens, and turkeys.

This country never has had too much meat. And our animal number, in relation to our

Farmers with sows farrowing in late Winter and early Spring will find it highly profitable to rig up a home-made electric pig brooder in one corner of the farrowing house. A 150-watt light bulb suspended a few inches above the floor and under some boards across one corner, with a discarded kitchen dishpan as a reflector, will furnish enough heat to help save little pigs on chilly days and nights.

Every farmer using machinery needs a farm shop. A bench grinder and drill press will save much time and labor when repairs are necessary.

These pictures tell the story of progress better than words. On almost every farm road throughout the state new homes are replacing old as Alabama farm families find balanced farming more profitable. Modern conveniences are no longer restricted to city homes, and running water, bathrooms, gas heat, and electric kitchens are becoming commonplace in farm homes.

The old John A. Bailey home in Chambers County, top left, has been replaced by the neat bungalow, center. The Baileys lived in the old house for five years. The new home was completed this year under the F.H.A. program. Mrs. John Bailey, at right, finds time to relax in the living room of her new home now, thanks to labor-saving modern conveniences in the new building.

More And Better Beef

Barbour Cattlemen Organize Association

BARBOUR County cattlemen have boasted for a long time that there is a big future in store for the beef business in their area. And they are backing their talk with action.

At a recent dinner some 120 cattlemen and business and farm leaders sat down to discuss the entire beef growing situation. And those who keep up with the county's agriculture said there had never been a more enthusiastic farm meeting held in Barbour.

Those present heard presiding officer, State Senator Preston Clayton, of Clayton, tell about this area's agricultural possibilities and then urge cattlemen to band together in a county-wide organization.

The group took Clayton's advice and promptly formed the Barbour County Cattlemen's Association and elected Osborn R. Spurlock, of Eufaula, president. Other officers named were Joe A. Grant, Comer, vice-president; Motier Cope, Eufaula, secretary-treasurer, and A. B. Roberts, Eufaula, representative to the Alabama Cattlemen's Association board of directors.

County Agent F. C. Clapp outlined the progress the beef producers have made, and he said there is more ahead. The agent revealed that in 1950 Barbour's beef cattle income of $1,750,000 doubled that of 1949. Acreages of grazing crops—the basis of beef production—continue to shoot up at an amazing rate, he said.

The farm agent said 41 quality bulls were placed in the county during the year, and there are now 18,000 brood beef cows. Cattlemen are keeping their best heifers.

Clapp related that 7,700 acres of pastures were fertilized and 2,700 acres were limed in 1950. A total of 4,000,000 pounds of lime and over 7,000,000 pounds of mixed fertilizer, basic slag, potash, and phosphate were used.

Farmers planted 7,700 acres of supplemental grazing, 3,500 acres of permanent pasture, 4,400 acres of sericea, and plenty of other grazing and soil building crops. With farm equipment and heavy machinery about 3,400 acres of land were cleared and broken for pastures.

Award Winners

FIVE Alabama county agents received distinguished service awards in late November at the annual convention of the National Association of County Agents. Shown at the Chicago meeting they are, left to right, J. E. Carter, Scottsboro; W. D. Thomason, Ozark; M. M. Woodham, Geneva; B. R. Holstun, Tuscaloosa, and J. W. Mathews, Hayneville.

All five of the agents are veteran A. P. I. Extension workers. Each is a native of Alabama and a graduate of A. P. I.

Fifty-Fifty Adds Up To Bumper Corn Crop For St. Clair Pair

MR. EDDIE INGRAM and his young son, Tommy, of Easonville made one of the outstanding corn production records in St. Clair County in 1950, and they did it on a large scale.

County Agent H. L. Eubanks points out that the Ingrams averaged over 50 bushels of corn per acre on 50 acres. They had planned to make this a whole-farm, highly fertilized-thickly spaced demonstration. But frequent and heavy rains during planting reduced their stand 10 to 20 per cent. So the Ingrams cut down on their fertilizer proportionately. Even then the 50 acres produced a 2,500 bushel corn crop, one of the largest production records for the acreage in the county.

Tommy, on his special 4-H Club one-acre demonstration, showed what he and his Dad had planned to do on the 50 acres. The yield was 88.5 bushels of corn for the one-acre plot. The total amount of fertilizer used was 800 pounds.

Mr. Ingram and Tommy are now making plans to grow more corn this year. This time they hope to make their crop a whole-farm demonstration.

New Officers

Elected to head the newly-formed Barbour County Cattlemen's Association during 1951 are A. B. Roberts, Eufaula, county representative on the Alabama Cattlemen's Association board of directors; Joe A. Grant, Comer, vice-president, and Osborn R. Spurlock, Eufaula, president. They are shown at left above. Motier Cope, Eufaula, (not shown) was named secretary-treasurer.

A 10-point cow and calf program was outlined to the Barbour cattlemen by W. H. Gregory, A. P. I. Extension livestockman, shown at extreme right. Examining the chart are, left to right, James S. Clark, Eufaula, Rt. 2; Alfred Grant, Comer, and Rob Broadway, Clayton.

Here's How To Produce More Cotton In 1951

J. T. WILLIAMSON, Agronomist, API Agricultural Experiment Station

BECAUSE of the increased demand for cotton and the shortage of farm labor in many areas, the Alabama farmer is faced with production problems as great as those of World War II.

The increased production of cotton in 1951, insofar as possible, should come from higher per acre yields rather than from increased cotton acreage. Only in rare instances should good long-time farm programs, which include livestock and good cropping and pasture systems, be changed.

Cotton yields on most farms can be materially increased by following good production practices. The API Agricultural Experiment Station has found that high yields are the result of carrying out the following practices: (1) planting treated seed of a variety that has proved to be a high yielder; (2) planting the crop at the right time; (3) applying the right kind of fertilizer and the right amount per acre; (4) getting a good stand and keeping it; (5) cultivating shallow to keep from cutting or damaging too many roots; and (6) poisoning insects when necessary.

Cotton Varieties

The Alabama cotton producer who has no wilt-infested land has a number of varieties to choose from. The varieties found best by the station during the last three years are Stoneville 2B, Empire, Smith 78, Coker 100 Wilt, Deltapine, Plains, and Miller 610. For wilt-infested land Coker 100 Wilt, Stonewilt, Smith 78, Plains and White Gold Wilt are best. All these varieties produce about one inch staple.

Highest yields are usually obtained from early planted cotton. Best results have been obtained by the station from planting on the following dates: Tennessee Valley, April 15; Sand Mountain, April 15; Alexandria (Coosa Valley), April 10; Aliceville, April 10; LaFayette, April 2; Monroeville, April 5; and Prattville, April 5.

Correct Fertilization

Application of the right kind and amount of fertilizer is especially important this year because of the possible shortage of some fertilizer materials. Cotton on most soils of Alabama has given best results when fertilized with 36 to 48 pounds of nitrogen (N), 50 to 60 pounds of phosphoric acid (P_2O_5) and 35 to 45 pounds of potash (K_2O) per acre. This may be supplied by using 500 to 600 pounds of 4-10-7 per acre at planting, followed by side dressing with 125 to 180 pounds of nitrate of soda, or equivalent nitrogen from other materials. Cotton on Sand Mountain soils will respond to more nitrogen than recommended above.

On the more productive red soils of the Limestone Valleys, 600 to 800 pounds of 6-8-4 fertilizer may be applied at planting time. On the poorer red soils 600 pounds of 6-8-4 at planting, plus 100 pounds of nitrate of soda or equivalent nitrogen as a side dressing are recommended. For the grey soils of this area 600 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer per acre at planting or 600 pounds of 6-8-8 at planting plus 100 pounds of nitrate of soda or other equivalent nitrogen as a side-dressing may be used.

Cotton following a good crop of legumes has given good results when fertilized with phosphoric acid and potash without commercial nitrogen. These materials may be supplied by using 300 to 400 pounds of 0-16-8 per acre. On soils where rust occurs 300 to 400 pounds of 0-14-14 per acre should give best results.

Planting And Cultivating

Good stands of cotton are obtained in the Experiment Station system by planting about a bushel of treated seed per acre. If reginned seed are used, three-fourths of a bushel is enough. Rows are three to three and one-half feet apart. Enough stalks are left so as to have two or three plants every 15 to 18 inches.

Cotton is cultivated shallow and often enough to keep down weeds and grass. Special care is taken not to reduce the stand and growth by deep or careless plowing.

Insect infestations are watched. They are kept under control by the use of proper insecticides. County agents and other agricultural leaders can supply the farmers with the latest information on insect control recommended by the Experiment Station.

Managing Hens In Single-Deck Laying Cages

A new wrinkle in the field of poultry management is the recent development of the system for keeping hens in single-deck laying cages. Experimental work is now being done on this system of management under the direction of Professor D. F. King, head, API Poultry Department.

King lists a number of advantages of this system of management. One of the most important advantages is that egg production of 60 per cent or better can be maintained throughout the year. The hens are kept on a wire floor continuously, and there is practically no broodiness. The eggs are laid on the wire floor which is sloped so that the eggs immediately roll into a wire gatherer or basket. This results in few dirty or broken eggs.

There is practically no laying house mortality since hens are removed as soon as they slow down in production. Poor layers are replaced by pullets, and thus a uniform supply of eggs is received throughout the year. Since each hen is in an individual cage, there is no cannibalism or pick outs, and a positive egg record is available on each hen.

There are several disadvantages to the single-deck laying cage system. Chief among these is that a heavier investment in buildings and equipment per hen is required since the cost of the cages must be added.

Results at the experiment station at Auburn indicate that a production of 220 to 240 eggs per year per cage is possible. At present feed, poultry, and egg prices this would amount to a labor income of four to five dollars per cage per year. Heavy culling is practiced under this system of management, and hens that fail to lay 7 eggs in 14 days are sent to market for meat and replaced by pullets.

In order to provide a continuous supply of pullets to keep the cages filled, a new flock of pullets is started each month. About 200 straight-run chicks are started each month to supply replacements for each 1,000 hens maintained in cages.

The method of feeding, with one exception, is the same for hens in cages as for hens on the floor. A smaller amount of grain in proportion to mash is fed to caged hens since they take very little exercise and require less energy feed. Most operators of the new system find a dressing plant desirable in connection with the laying cage plant in order to get more returns from the continuous supply of culled hens and cockerels.

Jersey Cattle Club Officers

These officers were elected at the annual Jersey meeting held in Birmingham in December.

Private Rooms For Laying Hens

SHOWN at right is a cross-section of the recently developed single-deck all-metal laying cage. This cage was developed by the API Agricultural Experiment Station and is now being used by several poultrymen in Alabama and adjoining states.

In these cages each hen has an individual pen eight to 12 inches wide, 18 inches long and 15 inches high. The cages are built in double rows, back to back, with each row facing an alleyway from which feeding and egg collecting are done. The floor of the cages is made from a continuous piece of welded wire fabric. Feed troughs and pipes for water run the full length of the row of cages.

FINISH Fall pigs for sale during March and April, and sell them as fast as they reach top weights. But don't waste corn on excess fat. The demand for pork will probably be high throughout 1951 so don't cut back on hog production.

DURING February watch cattle closely for signs of lice. Lousy cattle cannot get fat, and they will show signs of rubbing around the neck and shoulders. If cattle are lousy, pick a sunny day and spray them with one pound of 50 per cent wettable DDT in four gallons of water. This mixture should be enough to spray 10 cows.

THE Alabama Crop Improvement Association has lowered the germination requirements for certified cottonseed from a minimum requirement of 80 per cent down to 60 per cent germination. However, all seed below 80 per cent will be labeled with a sub-standard certification tag. Farmers who buy sub-standard cottonseed will find them no different from regular seed except for the lower germination.

IT will pay the market hog producer to grow cross-bred hogs. Cross-bred pigs are bigger at birth, weigh more at weaning, and reach top weights in fewer days and on less feed. A good purebred boar is necessary in any cross breeding program.

NEW fish ponds that have passed health department requirements and that are one-third full of water will be ready for stocking with hatchery fish this Spring. Pond owners who have fulfilled all obligations should write the conservation department as soon as possible for fish order blanks.

TERRACES should be plowed out and weak places repaired before preparing land for Spring planting. And all new terraces should be built so that the outlets drain on a meadow, woodland, or well-sodded pasture.

LAND should be prepared in February for planting to lespedeza sericea if it has not already been put in shape. Land prepared now should be well enough settled by planting time. However, sericea should not be planted until the danger of freezing is past. Old stands of sericea should be re-fertilized before growth starts in the Spring.

HOTBEDS for sweetpotatoes or other plants should be cleaned and made ready for the new crop well in advance of planting time. All old soil or sawdust should be removed, and the sides and bottom of the bed should be thoroughly disinfected with a solution of one ounce of mercuric chloride to eight gallons of water. Wood for firing the hotbed should be cut early and allowed to dry before using, and fresh soil or other material should be hauled in to fill the bed.

PASTURES should be inspected this month for poisonous plants. Most cases of livestock poisoning occur when there are no other green plants available for stock to eat. Most poisonous plants taste bad to cattle, and they will eat them only when they can't find other green feed.

It's All In Knowing How - -

At right above young Billy Horne is busy showing his mother some of the latest group of camellia cuttings he has rooted. Just as soon as the youngster was old enough to get about and talk a little, he had to have a rooting box, and he's been busy with his cuttings ever since.

Mr. J. A. Horne is shown at right below taking up a rooted bush from a bed containing 40 young Japanese hollies. Most of these shrubs were rooted from cuttings taken from a holly tree Mrs. Horne has in her landscaped yard. Some recent home builder will receive this bush to use in his yard landscaping. No doubt he will be proud of his gift from the "green thumb" lady.

No Trick To It

She's Got A Way Of Making Things Grow

"GIFTED with a green thumb"—That's the tag most folks down around Enterprise hang on Mrs. James A. Horne, of the Mt. Pleasant Home Demonstration Club.

And it's no wonder she has that name, for her home is surrounded by azaleas, camellias, young pine trees, roses, and a hundred other kinds of shrubs and trees.

Mrs. Horne has been dabbling with nursery stock for a number of years. But she really "got into the business" four years ago when she built some cutting rooting boxes. She has had excellent success with her cuttings and now has rooting beds scattered all around the yard.

This "green thumb" business sort of runs in the Horne family. Young Billy can hardly reach a cutting box with the aid of a chair, but he had his own private box last year and rooted 300 azaleas and camellias. Occasionally even Mr. Horne can be found digging around in the flower beds when he isn't too busy looking after his herd of registered Durocs.

Mrs. Horne sells some nursery plants, but a lot of her time and a good portion of her shrubs are used in encouraging others to beautify their homes. Many of the new homes around Enterprise bear the fruits of Mrs. Horne's work. She makes it a practice to give folks moving into a new home a few shrubs to help them get their yards started right.

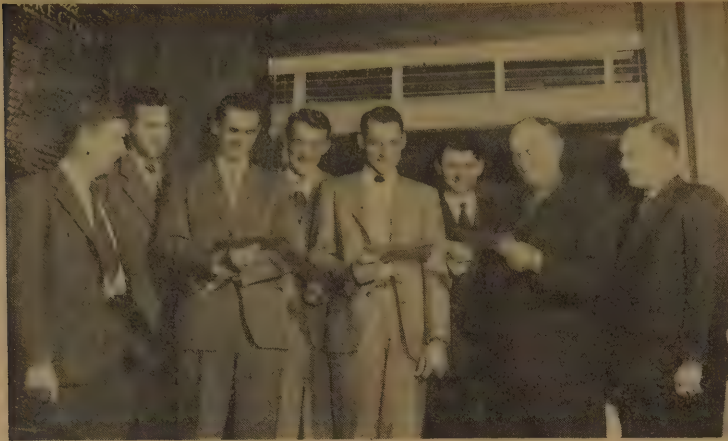

With all of her shrubbery work, Mrs. Horne still finds time to take an active part in home demonstration and garden club work. Home improvement on the inside as well as the outside receives much of her attention. If she is not digging in the yard, she is either painting shelves, covering chairs, or doing something else to make her farm home more attractive on the inside. Then, too, she spends some time every day looking after her chickens and turkeys. And whenever called upon, Mrs. Horne is ready to put on a demonstration on rooting and caring for flowers and shrubs.

All in all the Coffee County woman with the green thumb is a very busy person, but she likes her way of life and wouldn't swap with anyone.

Left to right are Pete B. Turnham, A.P.I. Extension assistant dairyman; Jimmy Sink, Southern Dairies, Inc., Birmingham; Ernest Richardson, Montgomery County DHIA test supervisor; Jack Neighbors, Central Alabama supervisor; Hiram Frazier, Marshall-DeKalb supervisor; J. S. Davis, Hale supervisor; Elfreth Johnson, Birmingham dairyman, and J. Everette Flora, Southern Dairies representative, Washington, D. C.

Winners not shown are R. W. Johnson, Perry County dairyman; J. A. Kyser, Greensboro dairyman, and G. V. Mitchell, Marshall dairyman.

J. S. Davis, of Hale County, was named the top supervisor for the year, and R. W. Johnson was selected as the outstanding dairyman. The Efficient Dairy Production contest is sponsored by the National Dairy Production Association.

Big Yield J. D. Cobb, left, Odenville, John Cobb, 6, and St. Clair County Agent H. L. Eubanks compare several ears of Funk's G-717 hybrid corn from the bumper crop on the Cobb farm. Cobb, who operates a 220-acre dairy farm, harvested 800 bushels of corn from 12 acres last year. Several acres on the farm averaged more than 100 bushels per acre.

population, is now at a low level because people have increased numerically faster than animals.

It's true that we're producing more pounds per animal, more milk per cow, and more eggs per hen; but still we're behind on our annual needs for the people.

As I view farming in Alabama this year, the following facts are outstanding:

- 1) Need for much more production.
 - 2) Assurance of good prices.
 - 3) Need for improving and using much more land per man and per family.
 - 4) Handicaps in the way of fewer workers and difficulties in obtaining all supplies.
- The individual who thinks and plans in the best way should be pleased with his returns this year. And he'll make a contribution to our nation in time of emergency, perhaps war.

Cow Testing Expands

Facts And Figures Show DHIA Program Pays

TWO years ago last month seven Shelby County dairymen banded together to form Alabama's first Dairy Herd Improvement Association. No doubt there were many who were skeptical of this new "cow testing" program, and probably some of the seven who pioneered the venture had their doubts at the start. But all misgivings have long since been dispelled.

There are now 144 dairymen in 18 counties who are members in 12 D.H.I. Associations located in all parts of the state. Accurate records are kept on each of the 7,021 cows in the 144 herds, and these records are pointing the way to more profitable dairying for all who participate.

Dairy herd improvement work is designed to help dairymen produce milk efficiently, feed cows according to production, and cull unprofitable animals from the herds.

Last year 1,173 cows were culled from the D.H.I.A. herds due to low production, mastitis, old age, bloat, Bangs and other reasons. And the average milk production per cow on test was 4,756 pounds, while the average Alabama cow produced only 3,700 pounds.

The average cow on test produced 219 pounds of butterfat and consumed only 2,055 pounds of grain and 1,094 pounds of hay. An average of 17 cows per month produced over 50 pounds of butterfat, and 12 cows in each association produced an average of 1,200 pounds of milk per month.

For Large Producers

Hog Hotels - - Modern Hog Housing System

HOG housing has gone modern with the development of a central type farrowing barn for Alabama hog producers. These units are designed and recommended for hog men carrying eight or more brood sows.

These units when used properly will save more pigs, cut down on labor, and help make market hog production more profitable.

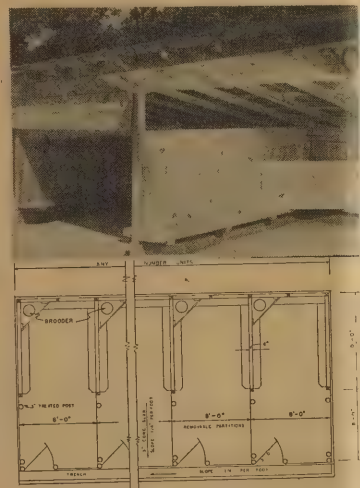

To make these "hog hotels" work, A.P.I. Extension hog man G. B. Phillips says they should be constructed near feeding headquarters in order to make feed, water, and electricity easily accessible. But he warns that they should not be located in connection with grazing areas. If this is done, over-used hog lots will result in an enormous parasite problem.

For best results producers should put sows in the pens about a week before farrowing, and they should be kept in the pens for 10 days after the pigs arrive. Then the sow and litter should be removed to clean green ground with temporary inexpensive shelter provided.

As each litter is farrowed, a small chunk of clean sod should be put on the concrete slab in the pen so the little pigs will obtain necessary amounts of iron. Pigs running on concrete without access to iron frequently become anemic.

When not being used for farrowing, Phillips says, the sheds may be profitably used for finishing pigs on full feed for market—especially when it is necessary to top out hogs in the dry lot. But to avoid parasite damage it is necessary to scrub the pens with hot lye water, followed by a good disinfectant, before bringing in another group of brood sows.

LaFoy Community Is One Of The Best

THERE'S a trail of local improvement and community development winding its way into every home and every part of the LaFoy community up in Tuscaloosa County. This large-scale improvement didn't just happen. It was brought about by hard-working LaFoy farmers and their families. Working through their community club, which meets one night each month, the group has kept at the task of improving their surroundings. In 1947 and again in 1948 the club was awarded certificates for outstanding work in community improvement. In 1951 they are out to win more honors.

Mrs. T. S. Black, chairman of the home improvement committee, has set a good example by improving her own farm home. Others have followed Mrs. Black, adding new clothes closets, additional rooms, bathrooms, running water, and many other modern conveniences. Still more homemakers plan to add deep freezers, refrigerators, and electric appliances this year.

At the regular monthly meeting both educational and recreational programs are planned and carried out by the members. County Agent B. R. Holston and his staff bring the latest information on farming and homemaking to an interested gathering of 75 members.

Other projects which will improve farm living are studied and followed by the LaFoy residents. Cotton production, corn production, and pasture improvement are only a few of the subjects that receive attention.

All members, old and young, join in the fun after the learning session. Three or four of the members may bring along fiddles and guitars and play for the group, some of the children may put on a short skit, or they may all join in an old-fashioned group singing. Whatever the attraction, everyone joins in.

Makes No Boasts--But Grows Good Hogs

M. H. CHILDERS, who is quite a hog producer up in Jefferson County near Warrior, makes no big boasts about his hog growing operations. But just the same he's got a system that pays off with thrifty hogs that top the market at an early age.

There is no secret to his production methods—he just follows recommendations. Childers feeds protein supplement free choice to all of his fattening hogs in self feeders like the one he is shown checking above. A protein supplement consisting of equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal along with dry salt and mineral mixture is also available to his swine herd. The producer points out that small pigs and shotes are fed in separate feeders with rails put up to keep out the larger hogs.

Large litters of vigorous pigs help make

Recipe For February

AN early American—the sweetpotato. Columbus found it here and carried it back as proof of the wonders of the New World. The first settlers in the South soon made it one of their favorite foods.

Today the sweetpotato is known as a prize package of food values. A rich source of vitamin A, it also provides worthwhile quantities of vitamin C and small amounts of the B vitamins and minerals. It furnishes plenty of food energy too—even more than the white, or Irish potato. A medium-sized sweetpotato gives about 150 calories to the white potato's 100.

Except for the vitamin A in sweetpotatoes, the two vegetables are too much alike in food value to be served at the same meal. For balance and variety, let sweetpotatoes alternate with white potatoes.

Try this old-fashioned grated sweetpotato custard while sweetpotatoes are still plentiful.

Sweetpotato Custard

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt	2 eggs, beaten
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg	2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups finely shredded
1 teaspoon grated	raw sweetpotato
orange rind	(shred just before
1 tablespoon melted	using)
table fat

Add sugar, salt, nutmeg, orange rind, and milk to the eggs. Mix thoroughly. Add sweetpotato and fat. Bake in greased custard cups in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes or until set. Makes six servings.

Members of the community believe they have close to a record on Farm Bureau membership. Almost every adult in the area is a member.

Last but not the least of the community projects is the interest residents take in their local churches. They have spent $150 for shrubbery to landscape their three churches. And they have several hundred dollars now in a building fund for a new church house.

The LaFoy Community Club has three guiding words in its quest for better living on the farm and a better farm community—Education to learn how to do the job, Cooperation to get the job done, and Recreation to make the task seem easier.

Control Cotton Diseases

A. L. SMITH, Pathologist, U.S.D.A. and A.P.I.
Agricultural Experiment Station

COTTON diseases can be controlled in most instances by planning in advance. Once cotton is planted, little can be done to control most diseases. The weather affects most cotton diseases, and losses are greatest during long periods of wet weather. But there are several practices that are helpful in partially or completely controlling most cotton diseases. These practices are as follows:

1. Rotate cotton regularly with other crops to control wet-weather blight, to reduce nematode populations and Fusarium wilt, and to reduce boll rots.
2. Treat seed to improve stands and reduce seed-borne diseases, such as wet-weather blight, bacterial blight and anthracnose.
3. Plant wilt-resistant varieties to control Fusarium wilt and nematodes.
4. Defoliate to reduce boll rots. Controlling boll weevils and boll worms and avoiding excessive growth of plants by regulating the nitrogen supply are also helpful practices in reducing boll rot losses.
5. Destroy stalks in early fall to reduce wet-weather blight, bacterial blight, and boll rots in the following crop.

hog production profitable on the Childers farm. Eight sows farrowed 15 pigs each last year, and five of the sows raised all of their pigs to weaning age. Mr. Childers gets two and sometimes three litters a year from his brood sows, but good feeding and management keep the sows looking fit all the time.

Potato Growing--Ancient Custom With Jochisch Family

CHARLES C. JOCHISCH, left, turns out some mighty slick 'taters to earn the title of Hale County Sweetpotato King. He explains to County Agent John Deavours, right, that his entire crop of 23 acres grades A. These certified improved Porto Rican Copperskin potatoes will be sold for seed.

Jochisch planted the crop with vine cuttings, following a Winter legume. The potatoes were fertilized with 500 pounds of 4-10-7 per acre. He is the only certified potato seed grower in the county. This is his fourth successive crop that has graded A. And that, adds Deavours, is quite a record.

It's Been Done Before

Follow These Steps--And Lose Money On Hogs

By G. B. PHILLIPS
API Extension Hog Specialist

1. Be certain to have more hogs than home-raised feed. The Iowa farmer will be glad to sell you the feed—as long as you last.
2. Get a good case of "pigpen-itis" to begin with. Keep the pigs shut up in a pen. They won't grow off and fatten so fast, and they will eat a lot more. Besides that, you can be doing something else instead of taking them to an early market.
3. Don't fall for this "planned parenthood" stuff in the hog business. Having little pigs come in early March and early September is too much trouble. Just let the sows and boar run together, and let nature take its course.
4. Be sure there are plenty of filthy mud hogs available, and always keep little pigs on ground that has had hogs on it for a long time. After all, there are no more than a million roundworm eggs on each square foot of such soil. And each little pig will gladly pick up his share.

Records Show

Cotton Demonstrators Made Outstanding Crops

MORE cotton per acre can be grown when recommended practices are followed. This fact was shown last year by the 826 farmers in 47 counties who carried out high-fertilizer cotton demonstrations.

According to recent figures gathered by O. N. Andrews, API Extension cotton specialist, demonstrations in 15 of the counties averaged over a bale per acre, and in 15 other counties the yields averaged between 400 and 500 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

These demonstrations are carried out each year to show dividends paid by cotton that is grown with good management and cultural practices. And for the five demonstrators in Walker County the returns were something to brag about. These five producers had a

5. Don't provide "clean green ground" grazing for sows and pigs. A little corn and slop was good enough for their ancestors, and its good enough for them.

6. Don't feed any protein supplement. It takes only about twice as much corn without supplement as it does with it. And the wear and tear on the shotes eating the extra corn is no bark off your skin.

7. When pigs are lousy and mangy, put off treatment. Itchy pigs rub off profits, but they ought to be tickled and be allowed to enjoy scratching.

8. Always use a knotty, straight-tailed, scrub boar. He'll freshen the sow and will get just as many pigs as a good purebred. And he won't mind if his offsprings eat more and gain less than good shotes do.

9. Don't bother to provide clean home-made quarters for the sow until after the little pigs come. If the pigs don't live, it's a waste of time. And anyway, those new little arrivals should learn early in the game that this is a tough world and they must be able to take it.

10. Don't follow a regular vaccination program against cholera. Course, if a pig is worth four bits, he's worth vaccinating.

11: Never keep fences and gates in good repair. Think of the fun you and the pigs can have playing hide-and-seek with each other.

total of 12 acres in their projects, and the average yield was 600 pounds of lint per acre.

In Randolph County the story was much the same. There 17 demonstrators averaged 585 pounds of lint per acre on a total of 119 acres. Forty-five Madison farmers had cotton demonstrations covering 900 acres, and their yield was 500 pounds per acre.

Reports show that 459 4-H Club boys had high-fertilization cotton demonstrations and 3,497 club members had cotton projects in 1950.

The 459 special demonstrations covered 547 acres. Each of the boys followed recommendations closely. One of the best records was in Colbert County where five demonstrators averaged 684 pounds of lint per acre. All of the cotton was fertilized with 600 to 800 pounds of recommended fertilizer.

Research Results

from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

PERCENTAGE OF INCOME from live-stock and livestock products on cheese milk-producing farms on Sand Mountain was 10 per cent higher than the state average, according to recent studies. Farmers producing cheese milk not only had more cows than other farmers in the area, but also had more hogs and more chickens per farm than did the other farmers.

CONTINUED FEEDING at the Black Belt Substation of some good quality hay to producing dairy cows after grass begins to grow in the late Winter and early Spring has helped to check the laxative effect of water-laden early clovers. Both dairy and beef cattle relish good quality hay at this season.

NATURAL REPRODUCTION of pines and hardwoods often comes in very thick as shown by experiments at Auburn. The stand can be easily thinned when the pine trees are small. Such a thinning has resulted in a good stand of desirable trees that are now putting on valuable growth. Unthinned stands grew slowly, and many trees of little value used up the space.

GROWTH OF COMMON LESPEDEZA was greatly stimulated at the lower Coastal Plain Substation in 1950 by thoroughly disking broomsedge land to prevent competition.

FESCUE planted in combination with ladino clover on heavy soil has increased the grazing capacity of pasture during the Winter months at the Gulf Coast Substation. The combination also supplied necessary grazing to carry animals through September, October and November, normally a critical grazing period for the area.

LESPEDEZA SERICEA has been a reliable grazing crop from April until November at the Main Station. Although it is not as palatable as some other crops, cattle will eat it if it is properly fertilized and managed. Over a period of five years, beef brood cows have maintained their weight and raised good calves while grazing sericea. Calf gains from this crop have ranged from 200 to 300 pounds per acre.

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE RURAL FAMILIES selling eggs in Alabama gather eggs only once each day, according to a recent study of poultry management practices. The quality of many eggs gathered only once a day is lowered by broody hens, exposure to excessive heat caused by several hens using the same nest, and, in some cases, by sudden and frequent changes in temperature.

CORN FOLLOWING WINTER COVER CROPS at the Lower Coastal Plains Substation in 1950 did not fire as badly from the extreme drought in June and early July as corn that did not follow a cover crop.

ESTABLISHED ALFALFA should be fertilized just before growth begins in the Spring with 1,000 to 1,200 pounds per acre of 0-12-20 fertilizer with borax added, according to tests conducted at the Main Station and several of the substations.

TB Ass'n Offers

Chest X-Rays

Free chest X-rays will be offered to the residents of Chilton County over 12 years of age on February 26, 27, and 28. It was announced today by the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association.

These chest X-rays are made possible with the mobile X-ray unit loaned by the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of Jefferson County and purchased with Christmas Seal Funds. The Christmas Seal Sale in Chilton County is making this X-ray survey possible.

Mr. J. B. Fort, Chairman of the Association in Chilton County emphasized today in his announcement the advisability of chest X-rays for high school students 15 years of age and over, since tuberculosis takes the lives of more young people between the ages of 15 and 35 than any other disease.

The bus will X-ray the people in the communities of Chilton County at the community school buildings on the 26th and 27th. It will be located at the Courthouse in Clanton on the 28th. "A complete schedule of the time and place of the mobile unit will be announced later," Mr. Fort concluded.

Troy Playmakers

At City Hall

Friday Night

Tomorrow night is the date for the first appearance in Central Alabama of the Troy Playmakers of Troy State Teachers College. Their appearance in Clanton is being made possible by the Associated Producers. Some twenty actors, sparked by a large size production staff, will display their talents in three completely different one-act plays.

Seldom do theatrical groups carry such a varied group of plays on tour as these Troy Playmakers will present here tomorrow night. The program is made up of three one-act plays—"The Valiant," a drama and two comedies, "Pink and Patches" and "What Are You Going to Wear?"

Following is the list of the plays' casts and their home towns.

"What Are You Going to Wear?"—By Ann Coulter Martens.

"What Are You Going to Wear?" is a light comedy. It tells of the natural confusion that occurs when a group of young ladies are going somewhere. Wrong conception of the place she is each young lady has a different, and going. Any similarity between their actions and those of your wife, daughter, or sister is purely exaggerated for hilarious reasons.

YOU AND CANCER OF THE BREAST

Free film, the new motion picture that teaches women self-examination of the breast, will be shown at the New Wadesonin Theater at 2:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m. on Friday, February 23. The public is cordially invited and urged to avail themselves of this great opportunity to avoid the tragedy of cancer.

Cancer of the breast is curable. Yet this year alone approximately twenty-thousand American women will die of Breast cancer! Eighty to ninety percent of all breast cancer is curable if caught in time.

The film teaches how to examine self monthly. A cancer might conceivably grow beyond control between check-up to your doctor. So, then, it is the responsibility of every woman to be alert to the symptoms of cancer. Consult your physician about breast self-examination. See your breast self-examination film in your county Friday, February 23rd.

There will be two shows to make it convenient for the rural women who are especially and urgently invited to be present. This is a great opportunity. Don't let it pass you by. You may be the next victim. See that every community in your county is represented at the Wadesonin.

Mr. Hefflin, being a native of Clanton, is well known here as a talented musician. He began studying piano when he was five years old with Mrs. Henry Jones. Later he studied with Mrs. Raymond P. Mims, Mrs. Erle Ellis, and John A. Light. When he was sixteen he began studying voice with Mrs. Erle Ellis. For the past three years he has been studying with Richard L. Collins at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. When he was a senior at the Chilton County High School, he was co-winner of the state-wide Beta Club Talent Contest. He sang two summers with the Starlight Opera of Birmingham. He has done dramatic work with the Auburn Players of A. P. I. and has sung with the A. P. I. Gleemen and Choir.

Miss Pledger, a native of Birmingham, now living in Trussville, is also a most talented musician. When she was only three years old, she began piano lessons at the Birmingham Conservatory of Music with Ethel Abbott. She studied with the late Frances Whittington and has been with Dr. Dorsey Whittington for the past six years. Now in her senior year at the conservatory and at Birmingham Southern College she is on the faculty of the Conservatory. In 1949 she won second place in the International Radio Contest in Miami and Havana. She is a scholarship winner of the Birmingham Music Club. She has given solo recitals in Birmingham, Leeds, and Anniston and in 1949, toured the Southern States with a Birmingham group of singers for the International Harvester Co.

This recital promises to be most delightful and the members of the Music Appreciation club extend an invitation to everyone to attend.

Temperance Rally

At Courthouse

February 24th

The Chilton-Union Baptist Pastors Conference will hold a Temperance Rally at the courthouse Saturday Feb. 24 at 2:00 p.m. Rev. J. R. Swendsburg, Executive Secretary of the Alabama Temperance Alliance will be the speaker. He is a very interesting speaker and he has the facts regarding the liquor traffic. We are expecting an over flow crowd and loud speakers are being arranged for those who fail to get into the courthouse. We haven't had one of these meetings in quite a while and we need to fight the evils of the day and liquor is one of them. Furthermore, we have recently installed a new sheriff and other officers and we need to back them in their effort to enforce the laws of our County, State and Nation. Everyone is invited to attend. Let the pastors of all the churches of every faith and order come and bring as many of their people as possible.

DIFFERENT TIMES TO ADD SALAD DRESSING

When to add the dressing depends upon the kind of salad that is being served.

Since French dressing tends to wilt salad greens, Mary Hulse, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist, recommends that dressing not be added until salad is ready to serve.

One exception to the rule is when meat or a cooked vegetable-mix makes up the salad. When this is the case many housewives prefer to marinate ingredients in French dressing an hour or two for added flavor.

A. I. A. Panel

JOHN M. HIGGINS

Selected as the new John M. Higgins, President, John M. Higgins Lumber Company, has been selected by Associated Industries of Alabama to participate in four conferences scheduled this month concerning problems confronting small industries.

Mr. Higgins, who is a director of A. I. A., was named as the Association's Small Business Committee this year and was instrumental in lining up the four conferences to be held in Mobile on February 20, Montgomery on February 21, Birmingham on February 22, and Decatur on February 23.

The four-conferences are being jointly sponsored by the Associated Industries of Alabama and the University of Alabama in cooperation with the local Chamber of Commerce in each of the cities where conferences will be held.

He served forty months in the Navy during World War II, and participated in several combat operations including Attu, the Philippines, Kerama Retto, Ie Shima, Okinawa, and the occupation of Yokohama.

In addition to serving as a director of Associated Industries, he is a past director of the Alabama Forest Products Association and State Chairman for Alabama on the Southern Pine Industry Committee Board.

Though Tusculum is one of the fairest of Alabama's cities today, its name was Indian in origin. Tachia Abi which meant "warrior who kills."

Last Call For Payment Of Gas

Installation

Within the next ten days or not later than the last of this month construction crews will start laying the gas mains through Clanton.

Before that time if you have not paid five ($5.00) dollars to the City of Clanton the crew that puts the mains down will not connect your premises to the gas main which will require additional expense when, and if, you do decide to use the natural gas. The crews will connect only that property that has paid the connecting fee to the city.

The construction crew will start immediately the building of two houses made necessary by the coming of the natural gas. One will be constructed just below the M. C. Barth Lumber Co. and will be known as the regular building and the other will be built on the city property north of town near the waterworks, and will be known as the impoundment building. This building is the first of a new line, necessary to the maintenance of the gas lines.

If you are interested in saving yourself some trouble and a wise investment, you should consult with the City at your earliest convenience as there will be no other opportunity to connect your premises to the gas main when the new mains are laid down. The gas and electric bills will be much more connected to the city and the city will not be determined until by attending to this today the cost will be only $5.00.

Local Scouts

The high point of Mr. Edwards' speech was: Let us as parents and interested people of the community, encourage our young boys to believe in our wonderful world. Encourage them and that at some time or another it will be their duty to carry the ball. One of his expressions that touched me deeply was, "It is not so much what we think but what we use to think with."

Benediction—Mr. McKinney.

Before Bro. McKinney dismissed us with prayer he left with us the following thought, "In Scouting, everyone can look to the stars."

GROW YOUR OWN SEED SWEETPOTATO PLANTS

To be sure of having plants to set at the right time and to know what kind of seed the plants came from, it is safest for farmers to buy seed sweetpotatoes and grow their own plants.

"When buying plants," warns John Ragby, A. P. I. Extension Service horticulturist, "there is no way of knowing whether they came from good, No. 1 size seed or from stringers. Those plants from stringers are likely to be weak and spindly, slow in growing off, and cause poor yields."

Davenport spent Sunday in Selma with Mr. Willis brother, who celebrated his 90th birthday.

INCREASE ORGANIC MATTER IN SOILS

Auburn, Ala.—Organic matter is essential to the profitable production of every crop. Among other things, it increases the soil's ability to absorb and hold water and improves the granular structure of the soil and its ability to more fully utilize plant foods, especially nitrogen.

S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist, further states that a shortage of organic matter in most soils, especially row-cropped lands, is due to a variety of causes, such as erosion, leaching, the scale of cash crops and the removal of vegetation from the land.

"The organic content of soils cannot be increased overnight," admits Doughty, "but it can be built up slowly and surely through the application of a combination of conservative practices. These practices include a good system of terraces with proper outlets, contour cultivation, crop rotations which include crops of cover crops to protect the soil against erosion and leaching and add organic matter, and the application of fertilizers and lime to replace plant food removed."

HOMEMAKERS SET OWN CLEANING STANDARDS

Auburn, Ala.—Every housekeeper has her own standards of cleanliness. When her home falls below these standards, she is upset.

Alice Peavy, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist, points out that the pressure of other jobs may make it impossible for her to keep her home as clean as she would like.

When this is the case, usually a definite but flexible plan will help. Remember that a thin layer of dirt is easily and quickly removed, but an accumulation is hard to remove because it takes and requires extra time and equipment for cleaning.

Enlist the cooperation of all family members. A cheerful attitude on the part of the housekeeper makes it easier to get other family members to help. Give children responsibilities suited to their age. Even a very small child can hang up his clothes if low hooks are provided.

HIGHER PRICES BEING PAID FOR ALL PELTS

Auburn, Ala.—Pelt prices for trappers' catches the past season have been higher than in the past five years.

According to Earl F. Kenamer, A. P. I. Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist, muskrat pelts are bringing from $2.50 to $3.50 for high quality skins; mink, $20 or more; and beaver is higher than last year.

"Minimum requirements of one auction company are 35 mink, or 200 muskrats, or 19 beaver, or 100 raccoons," points out the specialist. "Trappers who have less than the quota required should pool their catches in order to meet minimum requirements. Each trapper should tie his furs separately from the others in a shipment to an auction company so that he will receive the exact value of his own catch."

Kenamer adds that most auction companies do not buy the furs but sell them to top bidders. A five per cent commission of the market price for the furs is retained for services.

A PASTURE STATE IS IN THE MAKING

Many farmers find they are helping make Alabama a pasture state by establishing pastures on all land that should be used for that purpose.

However, J. C. Lowery, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist, states that most farms contain land that does not produce any cash at all which can be made to pay off if it is put into grazing crops. Therefore, some checking up on such land that will produce beef, pork, or milk may pay off.

"It is more important than ever before to use all land on the farm if the maximum effort is to be contributed to the defense program," says Lowery.

START PLANTING SPRING GARDEN NOW

If you want a spring garden, February is the time to start your planting. In most years, Chilton County gardens may be planted by mid-February with 80-90 per cent safety from cold. A good early garden is well worth the risk of a few seeds.

Land preparation and fertilization is very important if a good garden is to be made. For the average garden a good application of manure should be applied. In addition to manure, cotton fertilizer (6-8-4) should be applied at the rate of 1 1/2 gallons to each 100 feet of row one to two weeks before seed are planted or plants are set. Basic slag or lime will very often pay big dividends in the garden. Slag or lime should be applied at the rate of 1 1/2 tons per acre or, for the small garden plot, 100-150 pounds to an area 22 feet by 100 feet. Twenty to thirty days after plants are up, a quart of nitrate of soda per 100 ft of row space.

In the month of February, twelve different vegetables are never planted by the average gardener until April. Seed should always be planted on a firm seed bed. Small seed such as carrots and lettuce may be simply pressed into the soil and covered very lightly rather than be planted in a small shallow furrow. A good rule of thumb to follow in planting seeds to a depth of 1 1/2 times the diameter of the seed.

Below is a list of vegetables and the best varieties that may be planted in February.

English Peas, Thomas Laxton, Telephone, Little Marvel, Wanda Perfection.

Irish potatoes (do not mature or lime land, Bliss Triumph, Cobbler, Sebago.

Cabbage, Charleston Wakefield, Copenhagen Market.
Lettuce, Imperial 847 (will make good heads if plants are thinned).
Mustard, Southern Giant, Ostrich Plume.

Tendergreens, Tendergreens.
Turnips, Purpletop.
Broccoli, Green Sprouting (plants)
Beets, Detroit Dark Red.
Carrots, Red cored Chantenay.
Radishes, Scarlet Globe (sweet).
Onions, Bermuda (seeds). Nest onion (hot) Early Grana (sweet), Red Creole, (hot).

"FRAMING" A PEACH TREE

A new peach tree should be cut off 18 to 24 inches above the ground. Side branches will spring out all around the trunk. Three of them, well spaced, can be selected as the main frame branches. After a year's growth, each of the three main branches can be cut back one-third to one-half of its length. Leave three branches on each of these, spread out fan shape. Cut each of these to an "outer" bud. Next shape, repeat the process on each of the nine branches.

Farmers who use one of the approved dusts or slurry cottonseed treatments will help prevent seed decay and damping-off, get a better stand, avoid replanting in many cases, make scarce seed go further by making it possible to reduce seeding rate, permit earlier planting, and increase average yields.

CHILTON COUNTY

CORN YIELD

UP 70 PERCENT

In the past ten years the average corn yield in Chilton County has increased 70 per cent. There are several factors that are responsible for this increase (1) use of higher fertilization rates (2) closer spacing (3) later planting dates and (4) improved corn varieties and hybrids. It is also interesting to observe that higher yields are being made with less work which enables farmers to handle large corn acreages.

The agricultural Experiment Stations are continuing to test new varieties and hybrids. Experiment fields and stations are located in fifteen different locations in the state so that recommendations can be made for the various areas of the state. Varieties are tested for their yielding abilities, lodging resistance, weevil resistance, color, size of ear and maturity. All varieties are tested three years before they are definitely recommended.

Since the kind of seed planted has a great deal to do with determining the yield, only recommended hybrids should be planted. Planting new untested hybrids may be inviting trouble.

This year Chilton County farmers are being advised to plant Dixie II or Louisiana 521 if a white corn is desired. For those who plant yellow corn Dixie 18 is recommended. Not only will the above hybrids produce good yields but they stand up well in the field and are resistant to weevil.

The fact that good seeds is only one of the several factors that contribute to higher yields should be kept in mind. Good seed without proper fertilization, spacing and work can increase the yield very little if any.

The Junior G. A. A. Meet

Peggy Carroll was hostess to the Junior Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist church of Clanton on Friday afternoon Feb. 9th in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hughie Carroll. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Referee Lineberry, assistant counselor.

The program was planned by the program chairman, Emily Klinner, and was carried out in a most effective way in the form of a dialogue. Those taking part were: Minnie Wade, Caroline Dickinson, Priscilla Hubert, Virginia Brown, Janice Teel, Zane Hogue, Elizabeth Minis and Shirley Coker. The girls were seated at a imaginary round, discussing the cost of the sink they had just enjoyed. They were worried because they did not have enough money left from their allowance for the Annie Armstrong offering. What were they to do? Finally it was decided that each girl would be asked to deny herself of some soft drinks to have more money for missions. So they called this "The Self-denial offering."

Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated Valentine table in the dining room. The table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a large red heart of crepe paper which was surrounded by heart shaped cookies embossed in white and the names of each one present appeared on a cookie to be found by the owner.

Bridal pink was emphasized in the artistic arrangements of tulips, dutch iris, gladioli and stock, with greenery used in the reception rooms. The mantle was backed with the mixed flowers which were so beautifully reflected in the massive wall mirror above and on each side were placed brass candelabra holding burning pink candles. About the rooms were arrangements of the cut flowers. Luminous pink tapers in branched brass candelabra, tied with large bows of pink French maine completed the receiving room decorations.

In the dining room where the bridal tones of pink and green were repeated, the buffet table was lovely in its appointments. An exquisite white linen cloth covered the table, with a crystal epergne holding burning pink tapers. Colonial nose gays of valley lilies and lilacs with ruffles of French lilies artistically arranged with bridal bow knots of the maine interspersed with greenery completed the able appointments.

Twin compotes of silver contained embossed minis carrying out the pink color scheme.

On the buffet an arrangement of pink snapdragons with fern, flanked by tall burning tapers in crystal holders formed a most attractive background for this supper served by candlelight. Miss Helen Hayes and Mrs. Algert Agricola served the guests in the dining room.

A. A. U. W. Book Shower

The book shower sponsored by The American Association of University Women of Clanton was held in the small dining room of the Methodist church on Thursday, February 1st with Mrs. Morgan Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Patterson and Mrs. John DeRamus serving on the entertaining committee. They were assisted by Mrs. F. Haywood in the absence of Mrs. Joe Campbell.

After a book review of "The Great White Doctor" so interesting and charming given by Mrs. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, the guests were invited to have refreshments which were served from a buffet table covered with a lovely lace cloth and centered with a large silver bowl filled with pink carnations, snapdragons and fern. An exquisite silver coffee service was placed at one end of the table with Mrs. Haywood presiding.

Pink gladioli and fern were used in beautiful arrangement about the room. Thirty-two books and several checks were received toward a start for the public library which is one of the objectives of the A. A. U. W.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From A. M. Roberts, Long Beach, Calif.: I remember while living in the country five miles from where our family doctor lived, and many times I have seen him on horseback, and sometimes on foot, trying to make his calls, and often times he would be as much as two or three days late in getting to our place. I have gone to the swamp, cut some slippery elm bark, brought it in and put some in a glass of water. So when the doctor came he would sit by the sickbed, cut some pieces of paper in which he would roll some quinine. This would then be put in a spoon with some slippery elm and given to the patient.

From Thurman A. Smith, Taylor, Neb.: I remember when (1880) in the upper reaches of the North Loup river valley a frame house was rarely seen. Soddy, dugouts and log cabins were constructed and occupied almost exclusively by the pioneer homesteaders. Many were roofed with dirt and willow thatch, and the floors were of clay and the walls plastered with the same material.

From the Old Prospector, Cheyenne, Wyoming: I remember when harness shops had a large wooden horse in the front window to display the harness.

From Mrs. Estelle C. Laughlin, Gering, Neb.: I remember when magazines carried ads for "John Medina's Waves, Bangs, Frizzes and Switches for Fashionable Ladies." That was the "Hair Age."

From Mrs. Kate Harrison, Stanton, Ala.: I remember when we cooked on the fireplace in ovens and skillets and my stepmother spun thread and made cloth on the loom.

WHAT IS YOUR RED CROSS?

The American Red Cross is the instrument chosen by the United States government to aid in fulfilling certain obligations under international treaties. In granting its charter the federal Congress also imposed upon the organization responsibility for conducting a program of services in accord with the military authorities and other activities in behalf of the American people, at military installations and in hospitals in the United States and overseas.

Through a network of field directors and through 3,731 chapters in home communities the Red Cross, in serving the greatly expanded armed forces, treats the serviceman and his family as a unit by counseling in personal and family problems, providing emergency financial assistance to men or their dependents, assisting with communications in emergencies, and reporting on home and medical conditions for military authorities. It conducts recreational activities for patients in government hospitals and provides personal items for their comfort. Through the chapters it assists veterans and their dependents to obtain benefits to which they are entitled under federal legislation.

For seventy years and in more than five thousands disasters the Red Cross has served as the nation's relief agency. Disaster sufferers are provided food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care; assistance in the rebuilding or repairing of homes and replacement of household goods and occupational equipment and supplies on the basis of disaster created need. The experience and facilities of the Red Cross in this work are available to supplement the resources of the government in civil defense planning in times of national emergency.

On June 30, 1950, 35 regional blood centers located throughout the United States had been established and were serving more than 2,000 hospitals. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in the Far East the government asked the Red Cross to provide whole blood for the armed forces in Korea and to coordinate a nation-wide program of blood procurement for military and civil defense. The organization has accepted this responsibility, which will necessitate the opening of many additional regional blood centers throughout the country to meet the total requirements of whole blood and blood derivatives.

Acting on requests from the National Security Resources Board and the Civil Defense Administration the Red Cross has undertaken the training of 20 million persons in first aid, including treatment of atom bomb injuries; 250,000 nurse's aides and hundreds of thousands of women in home nursing as part of a national defense program.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Information on the number of part-time workers who are currently available for full-time jobs will be developed in the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in February, it was announced today by District Supervisor, Mary L. Griffin from her office here. In the Current Population Survey, the Census Bureau each month interviews a representative cross-section of 25,000 households throughout the country, including approximately 200 in the Clanton county area, in order to obtain up-to-date information on employment conditions in the nation, Miss Griffin said.

About one million people with jobs which normally provide full-time work were working only part time in November because of slack work and various economic factors, according to a similar study conducted at that time. In addition, there were about 5 1/2 million persons in the labor force in November working at regular part-time jobs—mostly housewives and school-age youngsters who were either working short hours from choice or were limited to part-time work because of home or school responsibilities.

The current survey, in addition to measuring the nation's part time labor, will provide the official government figures on employment and unemployment. In December, according to estimates developed from the Current Population Survey, employment dropped sharply as outdoor work was curtailed for the winter months. However, the December estimate was the highest ever recorded in that month of the year. Estimated at 6.5 million, employment was 1 3/4 million above the level of a year ago and about 1 million higher than in December 1948. Unemployment remained at the relatively low level of 2.2 million.

STEEP LAND CAN GROW GRAZING FOR CATTLE

Too many farmers are still trying to work steep, rough lands on their farms, observes S. R. Doughty, A. P. I. Extension Service soil conservationist.

He states that such lands are not adapted to growing row-crops. However, these lands can be used to grow sorghum, kudzu, and grass-legume mixtures. The forage can be harvested by cattle and sold in the form of beef and dairy products.

"Those farmers who persist in using steep land for row-crop production are staging an up-hill fight," declares Doughty. "Erosion will win sooner or later."

U. Of A. Awards Mid-Year Degrees

University, Ala.—The University of Alabama awarded degrees to 425 students in mid-year graduation exercises in Foster auditorium Saturday afternoon.

Masters degrees were awarded to 39 students, while 385 students received bachelor's degrees. The Capstone also awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree to Dr. Olin Kirkland, Montgomery dentist, for his outstanding leadership in his field.

Native Alabamians claimed 304 of the bachelor degrees. Neighboring Mississippi accounted for 23 of the candidates. Jefferson County had 84 graduates, the most from any one county.

Degrees were awarded by University President John M. Callahan before an auditorium filled with parents, friends, and in many cases wives and children.

Graduation exercises followed the traditional march of graduates into the auditorium, led by the faculty in cap and gown. The Rev. Charles W. Barnes, Baptist campus pastor, pronounced the invocation.

This was the first mid-year graduation exercise held at the University since before the war. Under the quarter system, degrees were awarded only at the end of the spring and summer quarters.

Graduates from Clanton county, and the degrees received are as follows: Weopuka: B. S. in Commerce and Business Administration: Robert Stewart Rayfield, Advertising and Selling.

TRY THE NEW IMPROVED VEGETABLES IN GARDEN

Auburn, Ala.—A number of new varieties of vegetables have been developed in recent years which show promise of improvement over old varieties.

John Bagby, A. P. I. Extension Service horticulturist, says that two especially promising varieties of bush snap beans are Top Crop and Contender. They are reported to give good yields of excellent quality beans, and they seem to be especially well adapted to canning and freezing. Other recent introductions include the Congo watermelon, a wilt resistant variety developed in Florida, Tennessee Supreme and Tennessee Shipper strawberries, and L-241 sweetpotatoes.

"All of these varieties have been tested by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station for at least one year," states the specialist, "however, further trials will be necessary before they can be included in the general recommendations. Alabama farmers may want to try some of them on a small scale to determine their adaptability to local conditions."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY By DR. SOPHIA BRUNSON

Reducing the Overweight

Owing to a misconception, stout people seldom get any sympathy when they complain of not feeling well. As a matter of fact, obesity is an evidence of disease. It is often due to a dysfunction of deficiency of the endocrine glands.

However, there are many overweight people who habitually over-eat. This practice adds to their avariciousness and shortens their lives. Overweight leads to many diseases, such as diabetes, high blood pressure, etc.

Fat is stored up fuel which is not used, but too much of it adds heavy burdens to the heart and other organs of the body.

Skinny people are not pleasing in appearance and readily fall victims of tuberculosis. This is especially true of the young. The body should be covered with a thin layer of fat, in order to maintain health and good looks.

The overweight can usually reduce by proper eating. Starches and sugars, if eaten to excess, are stored in the body as fats; for this reason they are cut to a minimum in the diet of a patient who is trying to get rid of excess weight.

Starchy foods create energy, which is not needed nor used by those taking but little exercise. They are converted into fatty tissue by those inclined to overweight and contribute to their discomfort. It also renders them very susceptible to chronic disease. For this reason, it is very necessary for the obese to reduce their weight to as near normal as practicable.

The fat person, having stored away too much starch in the body, should not continue to eat an oversupply of such food, but reduce the intake, and allow the body to consume energy in the over-supply already on hand. He does this by cutting down his intake of foods, especially fats and starches.

For example, an overweight person who has been eating 2,000 calories or more a day can get along on less. He has a great many stored away in his body that will be burnt up if he takes in less fuel as food. One who was eating two thousand calories should eat only 1,500, then he will lose some of his fat by calling on his reserve deposit. If this goes on from day to day, the pounds will melt away in a physiological and natural manner without causing any damage to the system.

Those who are reducing, should take a balanced ration. Breakfast should consist of fruit, whole wheat toast with a little butter, and coffee without cream. The following is enough for the average luncheon: Raw salads with lemon juice or mineral oil dressing, some soy bean or whole wheat bread and non-fattening vegetables.

At dinner or supper if no meat was eaten at the other two meals any kind of meat without fat may be partaken in moderation. Vegetable soup is wholesome and nutritious, but should be prepared without fats.

The overweight should eat sparingly, if at all. Foods that are bulky and filling, but not fattening, must be depended upon to help reduce weight.

It is important to watch your calories

ALABAMA LEADS NATION IN NUMBER OF CERTIFIED TREE FARMERS

Washington, D. C. (Special)—For the third consecutive year Alabama private timberland owners lead the nation in number of units certified under the American Tree Farm System. A total of 316 Tree Farms representing 2,348,136 acres are now dedicated to the continuous production of forest products for commercial use, according to James C. McClellan, chief forester for American Forest Products Industries.

Alabama's lead is being closely contested by neighboring Mississippi and Tennessee. While Alabama's total Tree Farm area showed a 95,233 acre increase, cancellations actually reduced the total number of certified properties.

Alabama entered the Tree Farm program in 1942. Encouraged nationally by AFPI, the Tree Farm System is sponsored on a state level by the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce and the Alabama Forestry Division, with cooperation from the Southern Pine Association.

With the fifth highest Tree Farm acreage in the Nation, Alabama's woodland owners contribute a major portion of the country's 29,933,130 certified acres. Now active in 29 states, the American Tree Farm System opens the new year with almost 3,000 individual woodland tracts dedicated to perpetual and productive tree growing.

Since the American Tree Farm program was started in 1941, sponsors in 10 states have cancelled the certificates and never overeat. Most overweights like to eat. Some of them seem to have very little control over their appetites and as long as they continue to indulge their propensity, they will remain fat.

of 131 owners whose holdings totalled 250,376 acres because of change of ownership or failure to maintain the high standard of protection and forest management required.

JEMISON HIGH TRIPS CLANTON, 53 TO 41

The Jemison High Panthers evened an earlier defeat at the hands of the C. C. H. S. team, on Tuesday night, Feb. 6, when they handed the County High a 53 to 41 lacing. The game played at Clanton drew a fairly nice sized crowd to witness two traditional rivals stage the annual battle royal of the court.

Pete Ellison, rangy forward, for the Jemison team, opened the game with a beautiful crisp-shot that set the J. H. S. boys off to a lead that was never relinquished during the entire game. Clanton trailed 8 to 13 at the first quarter. The second quarter saw them mount a rally that almost tied the game as the half ended, 27 to 28. Jemison came back however, at the beginning of the last half and unraveled some clear-cut pass-work that widened the margin to a degree that the home team could never overcome. Cobb (12); Langston and Sorrell (10) each did the big bombing for Jemison, while Johnson (18) monopolized the scoring for Clanton. Johnson scored 14 points the first half, but a bit of strategy in switching guards buckled him down to 4 points the last half. Little Jerry Ellison, younger brother of Pete, got into the game and really gave a good account of himself. Jemison High is looking forward to Jerry taking his big brother's place next season, as Pete closes out his high school days this spring. Cobb and Giles also graduate.

In the preliminary game, the Jemison Bees took an awful mauling by the C. C. H. S. Bees to the tune of 52 to 32. Our Jemison Bees started off confused, then got frightened, and finally wound up scared. Coach Cobb then yanked them, and put in the second-string Bees and they really gave the county high Bees a tussle, much to the delight of the spectators.

JEMISON PANTHERS DOWN VINCENT 45 TO 37

The J. H. S. Basketball team won their second game from Vincent High last Friday night by a 45 to 37 score. The game was played at Vincent. Jones (17); Langston (10) Sorrell (7); and Ellison (6) were the big gunners in this contest. For Vincent, Raley (9) and Gill (7) topped their scoring honors.

Jemison High Kayoes Columbiana Again 54 To 38

The Jemison High quint continued their winning ways when they turned Columbiana High last Saturday night 54 to 38. Plunging into a 24 to 15 lead at half time, the J. H. S. boys coasted on to victory, but not until the Shelby county boys threw a big rally at 'em the

JEMISON HIGH BOUNCES ISABELLA 61-36

Uncorking their most vicious attack of the current basketball season, the J. H. S. Panthers subdued a game little team from Isabella high on Tuesday night, Jan. 30 by the score of 61 to 36.

After taking an awful trimmings by the Verbena high, 51 to 40 and then a powerful wallowing by strong Tarrant City high 61 to 42, the Jemison boys took off after Isabella team and upset some popular predictions.

Isabella drew first blood after two minutes of play when Culp sliced the netting for a field goal. Carl Foshee came through for another soon afterwards. After four minutes of play they led J. H. S. 5 to 1.

This just about sounded the gong as far as Isabella chances of winning the game was concerned, for the J. H. S. team settled down to their best effort this season and bounced into a 11 to 9 lead at the end of the first quarter. From then on they widened the gap more and more; leading to 27 to 16 at the half; 47 to 24 at the third quarter, and 61 to 36 at the final bell.

Langston (18); Sorrell (13); and Ellison (12); captured scoring honors for Jemison, while Culp (14) and Carl Foshee (12), high-pointed for Isabella. The Jemison B's defeated the Isabella B's 55 to 39.

Jemison journeyed down to Clanton last Tuesday night, Feb. 6th to clash for the second time this season with the C. C. H. S. team. Which team tooted the horn the loudest in this fracas will be given in next week's issue of the two county papers.

last quarter that came within 2 points of tying it up. At this point the home team settled down and flashed a rally of their own that sealed up the thing for keeps.

No Jemison nor Columbiana player stood out in this contest. They all played right up to the hilt. Each player gave his best throughout, and this was the high-lighting feature of this game.

For Jemison, Jones fired 19 points thru the netting, followed by Langston (16); Cobb (8) and P. Ellison (9). Whittaker (17) led the visitors scoring. The Jemison Bee won their game over the Shelby County High 41 to 26.

Jemison High plays Maplesville High at Jemison tonight (Thursday), Feb. 15th. B game at 7:00 and A-game at 8:00 p.m.

JEMISON F. F. A. SPEAKING CONTEST HELD

The Jemison F. F. A. Chapter held the annual speaking contest Friday, January 26, in the Jemison High School auditorium. Elbert Hamic was the first place winner. His subject was "Will Our Soils Win Another War?" Second place winner was Tommy Martin who spoke on "Rats on the Farm." Third place went to Orval Moore and his topic was "Controlling Farm Accidents." The first place winner received a $5 award, second place $3, and third place $2. Hamic will compete with contestants from the other F. F. A. chapters in Chilton county. The contest will be held the last of February.

According to L. C. Shields, local F. F. A. advised, the above young men deserve a lot of credit for their efforts and progress in public speaking. Sixty-seven students entered the chapter contest and by various processes of elimination finally a chapter winner was determined.

ASKED TO AID IN PROGRAM

University, Ala.—The University of Alabama has been asked to help acquaint the public with the government's program of voluntary protection of technical information.

Industrialists, businessmen, scientists and officials are invited to seek advice wherever they are in doubt. Requests should be made to the Office of Technical Service, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, 25,

GIVE FROZEN GARDEN A "SHOT IN THE ARM"

Since the garden may be bare or food or nearly so after all the freezes, J. C. Ford, A. P. I. Extension Service garden specialist, lists some vegetables that will put food on the table in a short time. They include mustard, tendergreens, Shogoin turnips, radishes, and onions.

"Two quarts of cotton fertilizer to 100 feet of row, worked into the soil at planting time, will not endanger the seed," states Ford. "A pint of nitrate of soda should be applied when the seeds are up to a stand. The soda can be repeated 20 to 30 days later."

Dairymen are facing a brighter market prospect than they have in recent years.

Up until the last few months the consumption of fluid milk was on a downward trend, resulting in a troublesome surplus for many Grade A dairymen. Stocks of cheese, butter, evaporated milk and dry milk were building up, causing an uncertain market outlook and build up of supplies held under government price support. Now, this trend has reversed. Consumption of fluid milk is running a little larger than a year ago. Withdrawal of manufactured dairy products from storage, both private and government, increased rapidly last fall.

Other encouraging facts include an expected rise in consumer incomes. Milk production will not likely be higher than it was in 1940. The supply of milk for manufacturing purposes will probably be smaller than in recent months. Chilton County dairymen with developed pasture programs should be able to make their milk sales show attractive profits in 1951.

"How to Work with the Government in the Defense Production Program"—Mr. John Sparkman, U. S. senator from Alabama and chairman, Senate Committee on Small Business Administration. The panel will consist of James L. Kelly, acting director, Office of Small Business, National Production Authority, Washington; Comdr. Philip F. Aschler, chief, Small Business Office, Munitions Board, Department of Defense, Washington; Charles E. Shaver, general counsel, Committee on Small Business, U. S. Senate; Clayton Albert, sales manager, Southern Coach Manufacturing Co., Inc.; John M. Higgins, president, John M. Higgins Lumber Co.; and J. L. McPhillips, vice-president, King Pharr Canning Co.

The conferences are the first in the nation where an organization such as A. I. A. and a state university have combined to sponsor them.

All small business personnel are invited to attend any of the conferences in the four Alabama cities. The meetings are designed as "area" conferences, not just for small businesses in the city where they are being held, it was said.

CONTINUE PASTURE DEVELOPMENT IN CHILTON COUNTY

Make Chilton County a pasture county is the new pasture slogan—a slogan that will be a battle cry from here on to provide a better balanced agriculture for Chilton County.

Chilton County farmers started out a year ago to make 1950 a pasture year, and it was truly a pasture year. In all the history of Chilton, more pasture improvement was done in 1950 than in any previous year. With this record in mind, farmers are still talking pastures, planning pastures, and making pastures which, in turn, will make Chilton a great pasture county.

MILK PRODUCTION OFF 20 PER CENT

The recent cold wave caused a 20 per cent drop over last year in milk production.

This is indicated by D. H. I. A. records obtained from both small and large herds in different parts of Alabama. The survey showed that a much greater amount of roughage was indicated that an increase in feed cost cut down on returns from dairying.

In other words, returns for each dollar spent for feed took a sharp drop, and the feed cost per hundred pounds of milk increased greatly therefore, from the dollars and cents standpoint, dairymen have definitely been hurt by the cold wave that destroyed most grazing crops throughout the state. To avoid this situation next winter, dairymen should produce all the high-quality hay they can this summer to feed animals next winter.

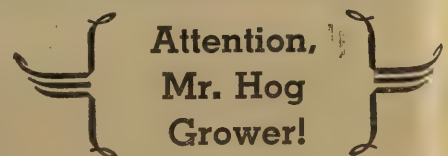

INNOVATION . . . Los Angeles mailmen may have started a way to tote the mail that will catch on—pushcarts.

Westinghouse

LAMP DIVISION

COMES TO ALABAMA

Westinghouse Lamp Division is pleased to announce the building of a new lamp plant at Reform, Alabama.

The new plant, located about 34 miles northwest of Tuscaloosa, will be the first Westinghouse plant in Alabama to manufacture consumer goods. Within a few weeks, work will begin on the L-shaped, 150,000-square-foot plant. It will be situated on a 50-acre plot facing Alabama Highway 17.

This will be the tenth plant of the Westinghouse Lamp Division, which makes over 10,000 types and sizes of lamps. It will employ 400 people, nearly all of them from Pickens County. These are the kind of people with whom Westinghouse likes to work.

Other important factors in the site choice were the availability of natural gas and electricity, and transportation. A prime factor was the nearness to, and central location in, a rapidly expanding and healthy marketing area.

Other Westinghouse operations in Alabama include company sales offices in Mobile and Birmingham. And soon a new Birmingham plant will manufacture and repair large electrical equipment.

We're happy to be coming to Alabama—Westinghouse Lamp Division, Bloomfield, N. J.

STANTON

Mrs. Jessie Smith (Julia Chism) was admitted to the Selma Baptist hospital early last week. We are very happy to report that Mrs. Smith was able to return to her home last Saturday and was able to attend services at the church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson Herrod (Doris Hughes) of Selma, Ala., have announced the arrival of a son, who has been named "Thomas Jackson, Jr." February 4th, 1951 at the Selma Baptist hospital, Selma, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Barnes and children, Joan and Billy Ivey, of Nashville, Tenn., have been here for several days with their relatives, the John O'Neals. Weather conditions in Nashville were such that this family didn't have heat, etc., and came here to stay until the weather moderated there.

Of wide interest throughout this section is the death of Hjalmar John Koski, age 56, February 5 a.m. in a Selma hospital. Mr. Koski was a building contractor and had been seriously ill for several weeks.

A native of Turku, Finland, Mr. Koski came to the United States as a youth, moving to Selma in 1920 from the Dakotas. From a small start as a builder and carpenter, he built an organization which handled important contracts throughout the Southern States. His most recent interests having been in Florida where he spent some time prior to his last illness. He was admitted to the Selma hospital after his return home for Christmas.

During World War II, Mr. Koski's identity with Selma caused his many friends here and in Selma to feel a special interest in Finland's stand against the invading Russian Army. He had visited his homeland several times since leaving there, his last trip having been since the war. Members of his family residing there are 3 sisters: Mrs. Elsa P. Aivio and Mrs. Hilma Nummin of Turku, Mrs. Saima Ihamak of Helsinki, and a brother, Wiljo Gronfors, of Turku. Immediate survivors are his wife, Mrs. Lydia Lehto Koski, 1 son, Hjalmar S. Koski of Selma, Ala., and 3 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Koski from the Breslin Chapel on Tuesday morning at 10 a.m., Mr. C. M. Rhodes, of the Church of Christ, and Rev. B. B. McCurley, of the Memorial Methodist church officiated. Interment in the New Liveoak Cemetery. Breslin Service directing.

Pallbearers for the service were: Claude Cobb, Frank Stevens, Harry Gamble, Chris Heinz, Ollie Patterson and Fred Anderson.

Mr. Koski has assisted several of our local boys get a start in life and excellently trained them in their life's profession. To this sorrowing family and friends we offer our deepest sympathy.

A limited number of people knew that something very unusual and beautiful was taking place in the sky early Wednesday night, but still fewer knew that it was a syzygy, rare astronomical phenomena when two or more planets appear to be close together.

It was a glorious show, as Venus stayed behind the moon for an hour then stayed for another hour at the lower left tip. Jupiter and Mars, which had been in conjunction earlier in the day, when they could not be seen, appeared close together above the moon.

The moon, as close as it ever gets to the earth, was brilliant and perfect in its crescent, etched against a dark blue sky with the brilliant planets close by. Jupiter and Venus were in conjunction right after sunset Sunday, in the western sky.

Your reporter riding toward Selma Wednesday afternoon marvelled at the beauty of this sight and remarked to others in the car of its beauty. During this thirty minutes or more of seeing this heavenly exhibit and not knowing that it was unusual it was indeed thrilling and beautiful to behold. Then Sunday afternoon returning from Birmingham and remembering the Wednesday afternoon sights glanced in the western sky and saw Jupiter and Venus in all their beauty.

It is regrettable that all of our people didn't know about this unusual sight. It was a beautiful picture and perfect in every respect.

Mrs. Jim W. Gay is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gay and family. She attended both services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Harris spent the week-end in Clanton, Ala., with their daughter, Mrs. Lucille Collins, and family.

February 2, 1951, Mrs. Minnie Roebuck came to be with her daughter, Mrs. Earl O'Neal and family for the day. This was a very special day as it was Mrs. Roebuck's birthday. Mrs. O'Neal prepared a lovely dinner and a beautiful birthday cake for her mother. A belated "Happy Birthday" Mrs. Roebuck and we're wishing you many, many more.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershal Connell of Nottulsa, Ala., come for a special visit with their friends Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Huff (Alma Schurter). They came especially to see "Emmett Schurter" Huff. "Emmett Schurter" was carried to Selma last Tuesday for his monthly check-up and whooping cough shot and Dr. Armstrong stated he had never seen a healthier, finer child. "Emmett Schurter" you will recall had a hard start in life. He is 5 months old now and weighs 19 lbs 7 ozs., and is a perfect picture of good health. Dr. Armstrong stated that after his next visit next month it will not be necessary to bring him back for his usual monthly check-up.

Mrs. Hicks Harrison had as her guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harrison and daughter of Clanton, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Crowe and family of Clanton, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Harrison's son Richard, has been ill at his home here for over two weeks. We trust this child will soon be completely well. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kynard of Selma, Ala., celebrated their son, William Richard's 3rd birthday Saturday afternoon at their home on Broad Street. Twenty-five of Richard's friends called from 3 to 5. Valentine Colors of Red and White were used in all the decorations. Ice cream and cake was served as the refreshments and Red and White Balloons were given as favors.

Included in this special celebration was Mrs. John McKinney of Stanton, Mrs. Grace Smith and daughter of Clanton, Ala. Misses Mary Lee Lawley of Birmingham, Ala., and Mr. Archie McKinney of Stanton. This was indeed a happy birthday party.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rasberry and Miss Lula Rasberry, of Clanton, and Mrs. Charlie Jones of Isabella community recently visited Dr. Charles Parnell of Mableville. Miss Lena Parnell and Mrs. Leighella Fluker of Stanton and other relatives.

Mr. Will Suttles has been very ill at his home in Bessemer, Ala. It is understood he is now living with his daughter, Nell since the death of Mrs. Suttles about a year ago.

MRS. LAURA ANN MADDOX

Mrs. Laura Ann Maddox, age 83, died at Rt. 1, Thorby, Saturday, February 10th. Funeral services were held at New Salem at 11:00 a.m. Sunday conducted by Rev. Hyman Atcheson and Rev. B. B. Burke.

She is survived by three sons, B. M. and C. V. of Rt. 1, Clanton and J. W. of Parkley, Va.; one daughter, Mrs. K. C. Collins of Rt. 1, Thorby; one brother, C. B. Foshee, of Billingsley and one sister, Mrs. J. T. Burnett of Elmore.

Enroute to Selma, but turned back at Washington by bad weather which grounded their air flight were Russell Brown, president of the American Distilling Co., and Mrs. Brown.

REDUCING THE HIGH DEATH TOLL of breast cancer is the subject under discussion here by two of the nation's leading cancer authorities, Dr. Austin V. Delbert, (left) of Bethesda, Md., chief of the cancer control branch of the National Cancer Institute, and Dr. Alton Ochaner, of New Orleans, president of the American Cancer Society and director of the Ochaner Clinic. They're talking about the new motion picture, "Breast Self-Examination," co-produced by the NCI and ACS. Now being shown to women's organizations, the film recommends a simple technique of monthly self-examination that can help women detect breast cancer in its early and curable stages. The experts point out that most of the 20,000 annual breast cancer deaths are needless.

Miss Melba Marie Studdard Wed To Oakley W. Melton, Jr.

A wedding of state-wide interest was marked with solemn beauty when Miss Melba Marie Studdard and Oakley Webster Melton, Jr., pledged their love at a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Clanton on Friday evening, February 9th with the Reverend J. M. McKinney officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brodick N. Studdard of Clanton. The bridegroom is the son of Judge and Mrs. Oakley Webster Melton of Wetumpka.

On this impressive occasion the awe-inspiring chancel arch of the church framed a mural composed of wedding greenery, soft candle glow and specimen bridal-white flowers. The mural, arched in light from burning white cathedral candles held in myriad branched candelabra, silhouetted an arched screen woven of gracefully entwined southern smilax accented with palms. In the center of this illuminated beauty, reflected in full glory, was a massive sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons, lilies and plumosis fern tied with handsome white satin streamers.

A pri-dieu of wrought iron covered with pillow of satin caught at the corners with showers of satin ribbons was placed beneath the curved altar railing which was entwined with graceful southern smilax. The pews were marked with white bridal flowers and satin ribbons.

A program of traditional nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Eric Ellis of Clanton, organist; and by Thomas R. McEniry of Bessemer, baritone. Among the organ solos rendered by Mrs. Ellis were, "O Promise Me," Liebestraum, "Claire de Lune," and "Love Never Fails." She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mr. McEniry sang, "Because," and "All For You." The double ring ceremony closed with a fervent benediction when Mr. McEniry sang Malotte's arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer." The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a portrait of loveliness in a magnolia duchess satin bridal gown, a Nauvoo original, fashioned with sweetheart neckline embroidered in seed pearls, a princess bodice and long fitted sleeves ended in calla lily points that fell over the hands. The circular skirt flowed into a cathedral train. A full length veil of imported illusion fell from a white satin tiara studded with orange blossoms designed of seed pearls.

The bride's fan shaped bouquet of French maline in bridal white edged in a double ruff of maline was adorned with a single white orchid. A cascade of white fleurs de lis interspersed with candy tuft dramatized the handle of the fan from which satin streamers showered.

The bride's attendants were Miss Helen Hayes of Clanton, maid of honor; Mrs. Albert S. Argicola of Gadsden, Mrs. James L. Forman of Springville, Miss Anne Coker of Birmingham, and Miss Peggy Ramsey of Clanton, brides matrons and bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaids were Carolyn Ann Harris of Tallapoosa, cousin of the groom and Julie Wade of Clanton.

The honor maid wore a gown fashioned of aqua slipper satin combined with nylon net of aqua. The off-shoulder decollete basque of shirred slipper satin extended into the skirt in smooth petal points. From these shimmering aqua petals a skirt of frothy layers of net, veiled to the floor. A brief satin jacket with Mandarin collar, a face-framing bandeau of bridal satin, and half mitts of aqua satin completed the ensemble.

Miss Hayes carried a fan shaped bouquet of French maline in misty pink with a handle of cascading fleurs de lis in matching hue tied with short ribbons of misty pink.

The brides maids and bridesmatrons were gowned in dresses styled like the honor maid's frock. Their fan shaped bouquets were also identical. The Junior bridesmaids wore gowns of misty pink net over crisp pink taffeta. Their three tiered skirts of billowed net swished to the floor from snug fitting bodices. Bandeau and half mitts of misty pink completed their ensembles.

Small fan shaped bouquets of aqua maline with handles of cascading fleurs de lis tied with aqua ribbons were carried by the Junior bridesmaids.

Master James Q. Wade, Jr., clad in a miniature dinner suit, carried the ring in the heart of a lily.

Judge Melton served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Studdard of Clanton, brother of the bride; James Melton of Wetumpka, brother of the groom; Kendall Smith of Wetumpka; and Dickie McKenzie of Selma.

Following the wedding ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in their home. Mrs. Studdard received in a crepe gown of cocoa brown with traces of hand beading in deeper tone outlining the neck and extending over the sleeves. Her corsage was a yellow orchid.

The groom's mother was attired in a gown of American beauty lace. Her corsage was a pale pink orchid.

The fan motif was emphasized in the living room. The bridal party received before a huge fan consisting of waxed magnolia leaves flaring from a brass floor urn. The fan of elegant magnolia loveliness was highlighted by a mirrored reflection of a half-bunburst arrangement of white lily sand stock, and burning white tapers held in fern entwined brass candelabra.

The graceful balustrade in the foyer was garlanded in Boston smilax gathered to the newest post with lilies and satin streamers.

The bride's fan shaped cake mounted on a mirrored plaque encircled in maline poufs was centered on a table covered with an imported banquet cloth of fine linen and cut work. Hand molded confectioner's flowers ornamented the cake. Candelabra of silver holding burning white tapers and silver compotes containing hand embossed bridal mints graced either end of the table.

A half-bunburst arrangement of candytuft and lilies in a low silver bowl was placed on the buffet with branched silver candelabra on either side holding burning white tapers.

Guests were served Neapolitan ice cream in green and white; and individual cakes hand embossed in lilies of the valley.

Assisting in the hostess courtesies were Misses Shelby Studdard, Margaret Q. Williamson, Dorothy Sheppard, Ada Bennett; and Mesdames Milton Mims, John C. Wade, Wyndol A. Murray, John Mullins, Percy Pitts, Burton S. Mullins, James Q. Wade, J. W. Hayes, Joseph J. Mullins and Omar L. Reynolds.

For going away the bride chose a suit of gold with a magnolia blouse and tangerine accessories. Her diminutive veiled cloche was covered in tiny flowers of tangerine hue. Her corsage was a white orchid.

After a short wedding trip the popular and accomplished bridal couple will be at home in Tuscaloosa until June. They will continue their studies at the University of Alabama. The bride is doing academic work toward a Master's degree in Home Economics. The groom, a graduate of the School of Commerce, will receive his law degree in June.

44,000,000 DOZEN EGGS SHIPPED INTO ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala., State egg producers have an excellent opportunity to expand their businesses according to John Weeks, A. P. I. Extension Service poultry specialist.

He reveals that that Alabama egg dealers brought in from other states last year about 44,000,000 dozen eggs. This fact means that Alabama farmers could sell all the eggs produced by 3,000,000 good hens.

"Poultrymen who wish to take advantage of this fine opportunity should start their pullets this month," advises the specialist. "Pullets started in February should be in production by July or August. In other words they will be in peak production through the last six months of the year when Alabama egg prices are highest."

Successful poultrymen find that hens should not be carried over for their second year's production since they decrease in production about 20 per

SHERIFF KENDRICK CAPTURES TWO ESCAPED CONVICTS

Calvin Roper and Earl Gandy, two escaped convicts were captured Sunday by Sheriff Luther Kendrick and his deputies. They had escaped from guards after a basketball game Thursday night at Billingsley High School Auditorium. They were captured in the home of a friend 10 miles southwest of Clanton.

Sheriff Kendrick said a burglary Saturday night in which $100 worth of clothing was taken from a home led to the arrest of the two missing men. He said the missing clothing made it obvious the escapees were trying to get civilian clothes to replace the prison garb.

With the Sheriff was Chief Deputy J. S. Thornton, Deputy Coy Rucker and ABC investigator Jack Benton.

He was a member of the Brotherhood Class at Trinity Methodist church, publicity in connection with the construction of the new church building, and patron of the Druid chapter, Order of the Eastern Star; he was a member of the Rising Virtue Masonic Lodge No. 4, and held a number of positions in the Masonic order. Clanton Berry

Growers Elect

1951 Officers

In annual association membership meetings, the Clanton Berry Growers' Association elected Leo M. Headley, President and Sales Manager; J. N. Dennis, Vice President and Treasurer; Ester Lee Cobb, Secretary; Marvin Kelley, Director; Houston L. Jones, Director; E. A. Shibley, Director.

In annual meetings the fact was brought out that we now have a demand for more berries than are being produced. The outlook for a favorable strawberry market for years to come is very bright. The crop, strawberries, has also been a reliable money maker for a period of years. All Chilton County farmers are encouraged to set a family-sized patch of strawberries this year.

In addition to the marketing of strawberries, the members moved in favor of the association's present facilities being used as a central market for concentrating and marketing other crops.

The Board of Directors is yet to act on the proposed market for additional crops. There is a strong possibility, however, that Clanton Berry Growers' Association will act as marketing agent for tomatoes, beans, and other crops as well as strawberries in 1951.

Ella Belle Stewart

Lodged In County Jail

Tragedy struck at Mt. Creek Wednesday morning when Mrs. Scenie Wylene Huett, 19, mother of a two year old daughter, was found slain at her home.

Ella Belle Stewart, a relative of the dead woman, was taken into custody Wednesday afternoon by Chief Deputy Sheriff Thornton and lodged in County jail here. She will be charged with murder.

According to witnesses Alfred Huett, husband of the slain woman, went into the woods early Wednesday morning to cut wood. When he returned later in the day he found his wife dead from a shotgun blast and a severe beating about the head. The baby girl was playing about her dead mother with a doll. Mrs. Huett was expecting another baby in April.

Chief Deputy Thornton brought the murder weapon to the county jail along with the murder suspect. Deputy Coy Kueker and Highway Patrolman Chapman assisted in the investigation and arrest. Cause of the trouble was not known.

CANCER FILM TO BE SHOWN HERE

A Cancer of the Breast Film will be shown Friday afternoon at 2:00 and 3:00 p.m. at the New Wadeson Theater.

Cancer of the breast begins as a tiny area of change of the breast tissue. It grows steadily, until within ten months to a year, it may be an inch or more in diameter. While this cancer is confined to the breast, it can be cured. But at some time the cancer will spread to parts of the body outside the breast. When this metastasis or spread occurs, the chance for a cure is lessened, and it may be made impossible. However, if the cancer is detected and treated early, the chances for cure are not only possible, they are highly favorable. Eighty to ninety percent of all breast cases can be cured if caught in time.

The American Society, Alabama Division, is conducting an all Media educational programme to show the women of Alabama how it is possible with early diagnosis and proper treatment to achieve cures of breast cancers in 8 or 9 out of every 10 cases.

Brotherhood Week

Whereas the Fathers of our country defined the purpose of its founding to be "to form a more perfect union," and

Whereas its first President declared that to achieve this and we must, "give to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance," and

Whereas our way of life, granted to us as a heritage which we must safeguard for future generations, is threatened by the forces of Communism which would destroy our liberties, now

Therefore, Fred Smith, mayor of Jemison, Ala., do call upon our citizens to join with other Americans in the observance of the week of Washington's Birthday, February 12-25, as Brotherhood Week, as a period to affirm anew, and to rededicate ourselves to the practice of the Brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of God.

WHY "BEST KNOWN" ADVERTISE

Every once in a while we run across the argument that Clanton business concerns do not need advertising in the local newspaper because "everybody knows about their businesses."

This is an idea that no argument can erase from the mind of a business man who has convinced himself that he is too well known to need advertising to remind people of what he has to sell. To business men with such ideas, we call attention to the fact that the Coca-Cola Company, for many years, expended an average of $2,000,000 a year on advertising. There are few things in the nation better known than this popular drink. If it is worth millions of dollars to advertise it, there must be something in advertising to produce sales.

As another example, let the business man look thru the advertising pages of our popular magazines. What he will see is a constant repetition of advertising appeals by firms selling products that are known in almost every household. The non-advertising merchant might ask himself why these people "threw their money away" on advertising.

THIS IS FFA WEEK

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA—The largest and finest organization of farm boys on earth. The FFA sets a splendid example for the world and offers a tremendous challenge for the future. Their primary aim is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

In the classroom and on the farm FFA members, with the help and guidance of their vocational agricultural teachers, complete practical projects which encourage better farming and better living standards for all.

Members and leaders of FFA are to be commended for their extensive achievements in this and many other worthwhile endeavors.

Many a thing, said in haste and forgotten by the speaker, remains in the heart of the listener for years.

With all our talk about charity and helping our fellow man, few of us ever hurt ourselves by generosity.

It rarely ever pays to buy things too cheaply. Such purchases usually prove to be anything but bargains.

Add foolish sights: A man trying to capture the empty honors of the world and overlooking his own family.

The man who borrows his neighbor's copy of Chilton County News knows a good thing when he can read it.

We got on the wrong side of the creek last week. That distribution building of the natural gas company will be across the branch next to Dent Williams', the Pontiac Man.

That article we saw in the newspaper where Red Glasscock stated the peach crop still had a chance for an average crop sounded mighty good. Red said twenty percent of the buds were still in good condition and that's all it takes to make a good peach crop. That is with the condition that we have no more hard freezes, or early frost, or hail storms, etc.

The Sunday preceding the Valentine Day the Gadsden Times ran a full page of Gadsden Valentines. Among the group was a huge likeness of Clanton's own Barbara Agricola, (nee Barbara Burnett) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burnett. (Rip and Mary to you). Anyway, it was a big compliment to the Agricolas and the Burnetts and we especially like the lines under Barbara's picture: "Mrs. Algert Swanson Agricola endears herself to the entire city with her charming manner and her sweet smile." Now we claim the fellow who wrote those lines knew Barbara.

Rubin Lowe our genial postmaster is worried because people don't take proper care in addressing letters. When a letter is not addressed properly, or the full address is not placed on the letter, then the postmen do not have to deliver that letter. Mr. Lowe explains that the post office department maintains no Directory Service anymore, and when the address and name is incomplete on mail, that mail is marked "unknown on route blank" and returned to the sender. He cautions the local businessmen to take pains in securing complete addresses of their customers so that mail will not be returned to them marked as stated above. Lowe stated the Director Service was discontinued last year.

Your Health CONGENITAL CLUB FEET

When a child is born with club feet parents are oftentimes the target of suspicious and unkind remarks. This is unfair and denotes ignorance and lack of knowledge.

A congenital deformity is one which is acquired by the individual before birth. While it is true that in some rare instances heredity may be a factor, congenital defects, of which club feet is one, are usually attributed to improper development during the prenatal period. This is a condition over which the parents have no control. Because of this, they should certainly not be censured.

A common congenital club foot is one where the foot is turned inward so that the sole is pointing backwards and the inner side is pointing upward. Generally, correction is started in the first year of life so that the child will have a straight foot and ankle to begin weight bearing.

While surgery is frequently indicated, it is not always necessary, since some cases respond to what is called over-correction. When this procedure is used, the foot is placed in an over-corrected position by application of a cast. Subsequent techniques to keep the foot in an over-protected position include the use of corrective shoes and boots, or even some form of splints.

One surgical procedure requires the cutting of the ligaments that hold the joints in the foot in a poor or clubbed condition. This permits the joints to open up so that they can be easily placed into the correct position and held there with a plaster cast. In healing, the defect which is made by the surgery is filled in by new fibrous tissue that eventually the tendons and other fibrous tissues of the joints are longer than they were before the surgery.

With present day accomplishments in correcting club feet, it is no longer necessary for a child born with this defect to hobble through life as a permanent cripple. There is, of course, the occasional congenital condition which will present a problem which cannot be solved, but the majority if recognized early and given adequate treatment can be rehabilitated to a point where the individual can lead almost if not entirely a full, normal, active and healthy life.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Dewey Collins, Thorsby; S. D. Posey Jewison, Ala., Rt. 1; C. C. Moore, Isabella Community; Joe Smith, Jewison, Ala., Rt. 1, plan to start digging kudzu as soon as weather will permit to plant on their own farm.

March is a good time to plant lespedeza sericea, bicolor lespedeza, coastal bermuda grass, Bahia grass and other soil conserving crops. A well prepared seed bed long enough before planting to allow soil to firm down always pays in a better stand and growth.

Water disposals are a must if draws or depressions are in your cultivated fields. Start this spring by sodding those areas this spring and retreating next fall and winter.

Satisfied With Long Life

"Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him; I will set him on high because he hath known my name. He shall call upon me, and I will deliver him; I will be with him in trouble . . . and honour him. With long life will I satisfy him, and show him my salvation." Psa. 91:14-16.

A. T. HICKMAN This is the experience of Uncle Riley Robinson who is now one hundred years old. There is no secret to his living to be this old a man. He has lived all these years in this one great community, now known as Chilton County. His life has been no secret to his friends; instead, it has been an open book. Of course, Uncle Riley sowed a few wild oats, like the rest of us, when he was growing up as a youngster. But he did not go far in life until he heard the call of the Master, telling him to "Awake out of his sleep, and rise from his spiritual death, and God would give him life." This message came direct from the Word of God to Uncle Riley's soul. So he gave heed, and surrendered his life to Jesus seventy one years ago, and joined the Providence Baptist church. His son, Moses, was a little baby at that time, and was held in the arms of a friend, Mrs. John Wells, while Daddy and Mother, Robinson were baptized. Baby Moses is still living, but he is 71 years of age. Had Uncle Riley chosen the wrong road in life he possibly would not have lived these many years. For in the hills of life there are two trails. One lies along the higher sunlit fields where those who journey see afar, and the light fingers even when the sun is down; and one road leads to the low ground, where those who travel, as they go, look always over their shoulders with eyes of dread, and gloomy shadows gather long before the day is done. He set his love upon the Lord long time ago. He has learned to call upon God in the time of trouble, and He has always delivered him. Now God is honouring him through his many friends; and he is being satisfied with long life, and God is showing to him His own salvation . . . Uncle Riley loves all of the Bible, but especially the "Sermon on the Mount." All of his children are following in the foot steps of their righteous father. All are Christians, and active in church work. One son is a minister; one is a deacon, and they all have been Sunday School teachers. Like Abraham, he has commanded his household after him. His family perhaps will be an unbroken circle around the Throne of God in "That Day" when the saints goes marching in.

If you haven't met Uncle Riley, go down to see him. He will testify to you that he has followed in the steps of his Master as much as he could, and will exhort you to do the same. And to be temperate in all things.

Show Interest in Others

DURING THE WINTER of 1937-38, Donald A. Dahlberg, Omaha, Nebraska, was working as a room clerk at the swank Nautilus Hotel, Miami Beach, Florida.

This could have been a monotonous job, even a boring one to some people, but not to Donald Dahlberg. He believed that whether a job was interesting was entirely the responsibility of the one who held it down. So he became interested in the guests of the hotel. What a lot of nice people there were in the world! And how many of them came right there to his hotel.

Carnegie

When they came to the desk to inquire for their mail or to get their room keys, he often exchanged conversation with them. Frequently he was able to give bits of information that were very welcome to those guests. If the guest displayed a desire to converse, he let him do the talking. And he got a lot of information he welcomed.

They had a good season that winter; made a lot of money. But since everything comes to an end, so did the good season.

Now Don must look around for another post. He had made some attempts at getting located but so far nothing had materialized. He wasn't worried — exactly — but he did want to get settled in his mind.

Then just two days before the season ended, the boss, Mr. Fred Abel, called him into his office. "Don," he began, "what are your plans for the spring and summer season? Have you made a connection with a northern hotel?"

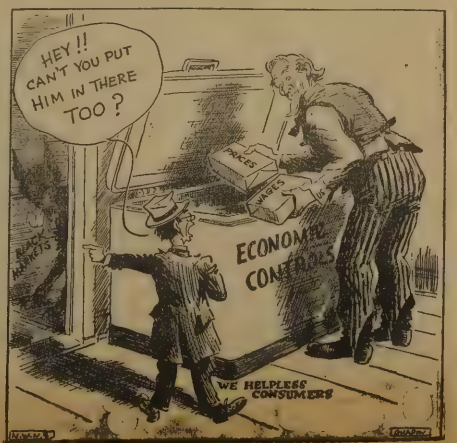

When Don told him that nothing had turned up as yet, Mr. Abel continued, "I've just had a call from a Mrs. Wright at Pirates Cove, Florida. She was a guest here earlier in the season. Remember her?"

Don said he did recall her. "She liked your manners," said Mr. Abel, "and she noticed that you took a genuine interest in all the guests, and that you didn't overdo it. She'd like to have you down at Pirates Cove to manage her fishing camp."

Well, Don lost no time in making contact with Mrs. Wright and he says that he never spent a more delightful season himself. He not only got in a lot of fishing but he met a lot of interesting people, among them Gene Tunney, Ernest Hemingway and the painter Lynn Boge Hunt.

He continues to show genuine interest in others. As who wouldn't?

Dr. J. E. Edgar is completing his planting of pine seedlings this week. He is using the new tree planter that was purchased by the bankers of Chilton County.

Incidentally, those of you who plan to plant coastal bermuda grass this spring might be interested in knowing that this tree planter can also be used very effectively in planting bermuda stolons or sprigs. The tree planter will be available for this use. A small upkeep fee will be charged.

The statement may be found in other columns of this paper.

"The words, 'Liberty National is Growing,' which appear on the sign adjacent to our building in Birmingham where a ten story addition is now being made to the present Home Office building, graphically depict a story of outstanding progress. We are proud of the fact that the Company continues to show rapid strides in all fields, which not only reflects the confidence and esteem in which the Company is held by the insurance buying public of its territory but also testifies to the efficiency and loyalty of the Company's more than 1,350 employees.

Not only in Alabama but in other states in which we operate, the Company has pioneered in the field of issuing an incontestable policy payable immediately at time of death without any questions being raised as to the condition of health of the insured prior to the issuance of the policy. This type policy has proven to be extremely popular and because of the large volume

NATURAL CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA

ONTS
300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of oats 35-40 bu. per acre.
Dollar return: almost 4 to 1.
Chilean Nitrate also improves the feeding quality and the protein content of forage crops.

COTTON
200 to 300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate produced 150 to 200 pounds more lint cotton per acre. Dollar return: about 10 to 1. You can't afford not to invest in natural soda this year!

CORN
800 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of corn about 20 bushels per acre. Dollar return: almost 4 to 1.
Chilean Nitrate means maximum yields for maximum profits!

HERE'S WHY: Nitrogen content - all nitrate nitrogen ... fast-acting ... completely available ... the only natural nitrate in the world.

Sodium content - contains 26% sodium (equivalent to 35% sodium oxide) ... sodium is essential to maximum yields ... substitutes for potassium, where lacking, and makes soil phosphate more available ... helps "sweeten" the soil.

Other plant foods - natural traces of iodine, manganese, potassium, magnesium, boron, calcium, iron, sulphur, copper and zinc.

THE COMMUNITY CONCERT ASSOCIATION

Loretta and Murray Dranoff Duo-Pianists Tuesday Evening.
Our community is to be congratulated to have had the opportunity of hearing two such capable, brilliant pianists, Loretta and Murray Dranoff in a Duo-Piano Concert.
Their program was very well balanced and thoughtfully arranged beginning with the early artists and continuing through the ages up to the best of our present day composers.
They were very gifted instrumentalists with highly developed technique. They played such flawless freedom and spontaneity, with a rapid feather-like touch and with remarkable sensitivity and refinement, that left many of us breathless and spell bound. Their ability to build to climaxes was stupendous and always with much artistry and beauty of melody. These artists put so much feeling into all their renditions with perfect timing making it sound as one instrument; all to the joy of a delighted large audience of musicians and laymen alike. All this was performed by memory, which was a wonderful feat. They were very generous with encores.
I am sorry for all of those who did not have the opportunity to hear them.

Thorsby American Legion Starts Membership Drive

An intensive membership drive for The American Legion as a means of aiding the country's preparedness effort was announced today by E. R. Yeargan, Commander of Thorsby Post of the American Legion.
This drive has been designated by George Huddleston, Jr., of Birmingham, State Legion Commander, as the "Department of Alabama Preparedness Drive."
Commander Yeargan said the drive was initiated now because of the "effort that must be made by every American to keep America strong."
Commander Yeargan pointed out that the Legion has sponsored Universal Military Training since 1933 and is renewing its efforts to obtain this legislation now. "The Legion," he said, "has gone all out in support of the following measures for defense; total mobilization; civilian defense; control of Communists in this country; and a firm foreign policy."
"Enrollment in the Legion will be support of these policies," Commander Yeargan said.
All honorably discharged veterans who have served with the U. S. armed forces during the period April 6, 1917 to Nov. 11, 1918-Dec. 7, 1941 to Sept. 2, 1945, and June 25, 1950 to date, are eligible for membership in the Legion.
The following are serving as a special membership committee in this section:
Amos Glass, Tom Maddox, Lamar Williams, Jim Collins, Leonard Bosworth, Paul Sorrell.

SUPERVISORS OF NORTH ALABAMA SOIL CONSERVATION

Five supervisors from the North Central Alabama Soil Conservation District will be among more than 2000 farmers and ranchers expected in Oklahoma City February 20 for a three-day conference devoted to the one interest common to all of them—conservation of the nation's soil and water resources. The local district supervisors going to Oklahoma City are J. W. Howard, chairman, representing Jefferson county; L. D. Bentley, secretary-treasurer, Blount county; R. O. Williams, Shelby county.
The convention will be presided over by Waters S. Davis, Jr., of League City, Texas. Davis is president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. During the three-day meeting addresses will be made by F. Brannon, Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service; Allen B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; and Dr. Jonathon Forman, vice-president, Friends of the Land.
The work of Soil Conservation Districts in developing a more dependable war-time agriculture, and speeding up the job of protecting and improving the nation's productive land, and water conservation and river basin development, these are the problems to be discussed by the convention delegates.

JEMISON AND MAPLESVILLE HIGH DIVIDE

The Jemison High Panthers and Maplesville High Red Devils staged two rough and tumble exhibitions in basketball last week. The first game was played at Maplesville on Wednesday night with the locals upsetting Jemison 4 straight game-winning streak by the count of 52 to 33. This was a bruising affair for basket ball, this late in the season. 36 fouls were called. Eighteen against each team. The Jemison team could never find its mark in the small, shallow auditorium court. They trailed 24 to 36 at half time. Jones (13) and Sorrell (8) were the chief scorers for the loser, while A. Davis and Smith with 10 each and C. Davis (22) passed the winner.

The following night the Maplesville team came to Jemison and were served up a tasty defeat 65 to 44. This game too, produced excessive fouling, 48 being the total. 24 against each team. The J. H. S. quint rolled up a 11-point lead the first half, 29-18. The second half saw them go into action and pour through 38 points to produce a thoroughly convincing victory.

With a large lead, the Jemison team relaxed its defense the final quarter and allowed Maplesville to score 19 points.

Both teams spread the scoring thru their line-up. For Jemison: Jones and P. Ellison (14); Sorrell (9); Cobb (10); Langston (8) and Lowery (6).

For Maplesville: Chambers (10); C. Davis (8); Hamrick (6); Giles, A. Davis, Smith and Taylor 4 points each.

The home team was sadly off form in foul shooting. They could only register 10 points out of 25 free shots. The visitors did little better. They netted 12 points out of 26 shots.

The Bee game at Maplesville produced the real thriller, requiring an over time to settle the matter. The home team edged by the J. H. S. Bees 49 to 46. The next night, however, the Jemison Bees pasted a 48 to 37 defeat on the Maplesville B-quint.

The Jemison High team has been booted up into the double-A bracket in the 3rd District, along with Prattville, and Greensboro Highs. Jemison was slated to play Prattville last Tuesday night. Report later.

By coincidence J. H. S. drew to play its first game in the District Tourney at Selma, against Prattville, on Friday night, March 1st, 7:15 p.m.

KUDZU, A "LIFE SAVER"

Kudzu was a "life-saver" on many farms last year. It furnished green grazing last summer when other pasture plants were not growing because of drought, and it provided frosted grazing in the fall and early winter.
D. R. Harbor, A. P. I. Extension Service agronomist, emphasizes the fact that kudzu makes good hay and is an especially good grazing crop for hogs. It is also a good grazing crop for dairy and beef cattle.
"In an experiment conducted by the A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station," reveals Harbor, "Shoots receiving a full feed of corn while grazing kudzu gained from 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 pounds per day.
Kudzu does well on most well-drained soils in Alabama, except some soils in the Limestone Valleys, Appalachian Mountains, and the lime soils of the Black Belt. Most farms in other sections of the state have some rough, gullied hillsides that need to be in kudzu to boost the feed output of the farm for livestock.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

Last week you read in the Union Banner a letter to you, the people of this county, from Mr. Stremming, giving his view-points concerning the situation in Maplesville. And as correctly stated by Mr. Stremming, he gave only one side - as seen by him. I would like to call your attention to some things Mr. Stremming said and some that he did not mention.

First, I would like to review his interest in the town politics. Though he states that he does not want to be involved in politics or 'run the town', he accepted an appointment by Judge Parrish on the original town council when the town was first organized. He served only about six months, giving as his reason for resigning 'pressing business demands.' One of the councilmen told me that during the time Mr. Stremming served there was no indication or dissatisfaction on Mr. Stremming's part with any of the business as conducted by the council. At the first town election, the people of the town elected one of the foremen from the mill as a councilman, feeling that the mill as one of the largest businesses should be represented on the council. Mr. Stremming did not mention the fact that he forced his foreman to resign from the council. Mayor McCain told me that this councilman worked with everyone to satisfaction, but that due to pressure from Mr. Stremming, he resigned. There has been another election due to a reorganization of the town caused by a technicality in its incorporation in 1947, and during that election Mr. Stremming was one of the five part in campaigning for himself and several candidates whom he supported. His actions in the campaign can best be explained as follows:

At that time I was employed by Stremming Veneer Co. and was living outside the city limits of Maplesville, and, therefore was not eligible to cast a vote as a citizen of the town. I was approached by Mr. Stremming one night as I was working and he asked me to help him out in the coming election. He said that he was determined to break up "that racket" down town. After I told Mr. Stremming that I lived outside the city limits and therefore could not vote in the town election he told me that if I would move back into the city limits and use my influence and my vote in his favor he would give me free house rent for a while. I did not do this. And then I wonder why Stremming never mentioned how he pressured one male employee to vote even though this man had moved from one of the Stremming Veneer Company's houses to one outside the city limits more than thirty days previously. When this man arrived at the polls, one officer of the election knew that he had been out of town too long to be a qualified voter and therefore would not let him vote. Whereupon, this man was whisked back to the plant and given a receipt which he had never paid for. The company house and had just paid his rent! He was then carried back to the place of voting and there cast his vote in the way he was instructed to do. This man I talked to personally and this is his story. The voter does not work for Stremming Veneer Company any more but he is available for verification of the above mentioned. And then there is the man and his wife whom Mr. Stremming fired because they refused to move back into one of the company houses and vote according to instructions.

After actively campaigning for his own election and his chosen candidates he refused the honor of serving on the council when the town elected him - giving as his reason 'pressing business demands.' Why would he have been actively campaigning for his election one day and then suddenly 'too busy' to serve - could it be that there were not sufficient members elected whom he could dictate to and therefore have control of the town?

I want to assure the people of Chilton County that the existing situation here began at a time much further back than two weeks ago as stated by Mr. Stremming. It is an established fact that Stremming had a personal dislike for Mayor McCain. I have heard him express this dislike. I believe that it was only through narrow-mindedness that Mr. Stremming referred to McCain as the "beloved mayor." I also believe that if Stremming would think soberly and calmly about many things, he would find that not as bad as he would like for them to be. Today I am unemployed only because I think the steps taken by Mr. Stremming are entirely wrong. When the boycott notice was first put up on the plant bulletin board, I read it. Then later that same night, Mr. Stremming pulled the "childish hero" act and took a negro from the night policeman. Do you think such action is becoming and befitting a president of a business concern? I certainly do not think so. I was working the night this happened and because I felt everything was wrong I told the foreman I was resigning. I walked out of the plant that night knowing that I could not uphold any man who did such a thing. The next morning Mr. Stremming sent for me to come and have a talk with him. I went out to his house and was asked by Mr. Stremming just why I quit my job. I told him that I did not think all these things were right and that I wanted no part in upholding anything I deemed wrong. And that I worked for him I felt that I would be backing him in his actions and attitudes. He told me that I would not be implicated in any way and that I was needed to work - for me to come back to the plant that night and resume my work. So I did. A few days later I was called into the plant office and again confronted by Mr. Stremming. He told me that I was still buying from the merchants downtown and that as long as I worked there he would have to ask me to discontinue patronizing the merchants of Maplesville. I was further told that his rules were "iron-clad" and that he meant business. He told me that if I felt I could not cooperate with him in this matter, I could quit any time I liked. I assured Mr. Stremming that I would not quit! He told me that he wanted me to think the matter over and that if I decided not to go along with him to let him know. As a result, later that night I told him I was not going to stop buying downtown and that if he wanted to fire me to go right ahead. After a few exchanged words between the two of us he told me I was fired for not cooperating. All the merchants and business people of Maplesville have always been very nice to me and I knew that if I let the threats of one man turn me against the people I have known all my life, that I could not hold my head up in their presence.

There is much dissention inside the plants among the employees as there is between Mr. Stremming and the officers of the town. Of course, there are a "handpicked" few of Stremming's employees who feel something known as job-security. But the majority of these workers are afraid to plan any steps toward buying homes, automobiles, or furniture. Many of them have expressed their feeling to me many times and time again. They never know from one day to the next whether they will have a job.

Mr. Stremming stated that he always wants to do what is right and I sincerely wish he had such a desire. I do not believe it is right when a man takes his employees for granted and posts sample ballots in various places of the plant with names marked as he would mark them and "request" in his way that all employees vote that way. Nor do I think it right for a man, who could be a blessing to everyone he meets, to deceive these people with his smooth manner of talking. For instance, when Mr. Walker, the night policeman, first began to perform the duties of an officer he approached Mr. Stremming and asked him if he could come to the plants and check up on the happenings in and around the plants. Stremming told him that he would appreciate his coming and that if he could help Walker in any way he would be more than glad to do so. On the night of Dec. 6, 1950, Mr. Walker tells me that he was in the plant when Mr. Stremming and two other men came in. Mr. Stremming called Mr. Walker and introduced him to the men with him in a very nice and gentlemanly manner. Then in unannounced fury Stremming turned the conversation and demanded that he leave the plant. Mr. Walker said he was told by Stremming that he need not try to take the police cap, because he had the distributor cap in his pocket. Mr. Stremming had gone to the police car and disconnected all the firing wires from the distributor. Mr. Walker, being new on the job and astounded by this sudden explosion of fury, knew nothing to do but leave on foot.

One very prominent and upright citizen of Maplesville owns the property on which one of the plywood plants is located. This man told me that Mr. Stremming wanted to buy this land and that he explained to Mr. Stremming that he did not want to sell the acreage, but that he would exchange the property to him for some that Stremming owned at a fair rate of exchange. Mr. Stremming, in reply, stated that he wanted to keep his own property, but that if the company could not get the property on which the plant was located, he was going to move the plant. I mention the above only to further prove that in Mr. Stremming can be found no reasoning at all.

There are some of Stremming's employees who are eager to tell anything they might hear about some other employee or about any of the Stremming and the ironic thing is that the tale is believed. Regardless of the true basic facts, whatever is told, Stremming makes an issue of it. Such is the foundation of many statements made by Stremming. I do not believe any merchant in Maplesville will automatically raise a grocery bill just because an incentive plan has been increasing the pay of Stremming's employees. I have done business with each and every merchant here and to my knowledge have never known of any attempt on their part to be dishonest. To further impress the people of Chilton County with true statements, here is an example of Mr. Stremming's selfishness. An eating establishment was built and furnished by Mr. Stremming known as the PLYWOOD GRILL. Some of the employees were taking their meals downtown and after the Grill was opened a few continued going to town for their meals. This irritated Stremming and he placed a notice on the plant bulletin board stating emphatically that employees could either "eat where they worked or work where they were eating." Of course, this was only a bluff and no one so far as I know, was discharged on that account. I am positive the above mentioned notice was posted for I read it.

All of the above mentioned is only a part of the many things which mark R. W. Stremming. I feel sorry for the man. I have seen him in church only once since he has been in Maplesville. Lots of time, I think of the latter verses in Matthew 16: "What shall it profit a man if he should gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" And I say to Mr. Stremming that people in Maplesville are praying for you and sincerely asking God's blessings upon your Soul and Life. Should you, Mr. Stremming, take a turn for the right and "put off the old man and take on the new, thereby becoming a new creature in Jesus Christ," we, the people of Maplesville are willing and anxious to help you in any way that would promote "peace on earth and good will toward all men."

CIVIL DEFENSE
Volunteer Army of Civilians Will Guard Us From Disaster

By Walter A. Shead
(This is the first of five articles on civil defense.)

A TALL, LEAN, SQUARE-JAWED, broad-shouldered man sits in a temporary office in one of the many converted government buildings, a short two blocks from the White House. His name is destined to become well known to millions of Americans. He is Millard F. Caldwell, former governor of Florida, who has been handed the tremendous responsibility of the nation's civil defense and who will head up a volunteer army of civilian Americans which will total some 20,000,000 men and women in every state of the union. His immediate job is to weld together a small force of approximately 3,000 paid employees, approximately 1,000 of whom will be administrative workers here in Washington, the rest field officers in various states and strategic areas.

At the same time, he must start from scratch to train these people who will in turn train his 20-million man army in an entirely new field of civilian defense warfare—a type warfare new to civilization in which the mode of defense is largely over pioneer and untrod paths, and in which men, women and children, untrained, without knowledge of possible defense—may be helplessly slaughtered by the thousands.

Governor Caldwell must come up with the answers to these questions: What can I do to protect myself and my neighbors if an atomic bomb is dropped in or near my home? What about a hydrogen bomb? What protection do I have in case a bacteriological bomb or balloon is loosed in my community? What defense is there against radiological warfare? Or the dropping of insect pests or plant disease to destroy crops and animals?

Governor Caldwell believes that it is entirely within the realm of possibility that the American people face one or all of these terrible methods of modern warfare if the nation should get into a full-scale war with Russia. The extent would depend only upon the enemy's ability to pierce our air defenses, our sea defenses and just how far the Russian's were determined to go.

So a well-trained civilian army is as essential to the nation's defense as a well-trained and equipped military force; is just as essential, and possibly more so in saving the lives of American civilians and, without civilian all-out production our military cannot move.

There are defenses to atomic bombs, to attacks against health and crops and animals. But every citizen must be as well educated in these defenses, as acutely aware of the danger, and as alertly conscious of just what action to take as he is of any chore of his daily life; for it is possible we shall be living with these dangers for many years to come if we live at all.

So the job of the civilian defense administration is to educate the people, to organize defenses, to set up this volunteer army, to see that state legislatures pass such enabling legislation and appropriations as are necessary, and to train men and women in scores of facets incidental to a catastrophe such as certainly will happen if a bomb is dropped in their midst.

These include, not only protection against the bomb itself to minimize loss of life and injury, but efficient first aid, fire fighting, evacuation, health facilities, water supply, medical attention, food supplies, social services, warning signals, and an efficient organization for any contingency, which spreads from the cities into the small towns and rural sections of every area in the nation.

The help of every organization in the nation and of every individual will be enlisted not only to join in the civil defense, but to help make the masses of the people bomb-conscious, to prevent fear and hysteria so that a major catastrophe may be averted.

The government has been for months making detailed studies of the bombing of European cities in World War II, of the effects of the atomic bombs at Nagasaki and Hiroshima. They have worked out pattern and effects and defenses. The public health service and the American Red Cross have worked out detailed plans for health protection. The bureau of animal husbandry and the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture have a plan of action for defense against release of gases, pests and plant disease aimed at animal and crop destruction.

HIGH-QUALITY PROTEIN FOR A GOOD BREAKFAST

Auburn, Ala.—Because of its high-quality protein content, the egg stands out more brightly than ever in the breakfast spotlight.

"The reason," says Mary Hulsey, A. P. I. Extension Service nutritionist, "is that a breakfast containing a good deal of protein, especially some in top-quality, can do more to stave off fatigue longer than a morning meal that is poor in protein."

She further states that besides eggs, other foods from animal sources, such as milk, meat and cheese, provide protein of top value. Additional protein comes from grain products and many other foods.

Wrong Powder For Hunting

Seldom see Jackson the forest ranger—or ex-forest ranger—around any more. He's retired now, on a pension.

Ran into him, though, over at the county seat yesterday. Still hale and hearty—doesn't look half his age. He makes extra money guiding campers and hunting parties. Told me about something that happened on his last trip.

"We lost our way, back of Ten Mile Creek," he says. "And when I reached for my compass to check up, I found I'd brought the wife's compact by mistake! I used the sun to find the creek, and we finally got out—no real danger—but I sure felt like a greenhorn..."

From where I sit, this points out the necessity of checking and double-checking. Like the precautions taken by the Self-Regulation Program the Brewing Industry sponsors. Retailers selling beer volunteer under this program to keep their places clean and trouble-free — so their business will always be "out in the clear."

WHICH IS MORE CONVINCING TO YOU
... PROMISES
OR PERFORMANCE?

MOTORS, being unable to read, are unimpressed by the claims being made for some gasolines these days. They can perform only on the quality that is actually in the gasoline.

The engines in most of the new model cars require higher anti-knock motor fuel than heretofore. To meet this need, Crown and Crown Extra Gasolines have additional anti-knock power. Along with higher octane, they also possess other essential qualities . . . They are made in seasonal grades, assuring thorough vaporization, and protecting against vapor-lock, and contain a special solvent to minimize gum deposits.

We have never found it necessary to make exaggerated claims for Crown and Crown Extra. We sell them for exactly what they are . . . dependable motor fuels possessing the all-round qualities which make them leaders in their respective fields.

This is "FFA Week"—when 11,848 Alabama members of the Future Farmers of America will observe the organization's 22nd anniversary. They will re-affirm their faith in a creed which states:

"I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds . . . in the promise of better days through better ways . . .

"I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging . . .

"I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others . . .

"I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself . . .

"I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task."

KNOW SWEET POTATO SEED

To be sure of having plants to set at the right time and to know what kind of seed the plants came from, it is safest for farmers to buy seed potatoes and grow their own plants.
When buying plants there is no way of knowing whether they came from good, No. 1 size seeds or from strings. Those plants from strings are likely to be weak and spindly, slow in growing off, and cause poor yields.

PORK ON THE HOOF
Next fall's pork crop is being made now, and the diet of the brood sow during the few weeks before the little pigs come is extremely important.
It's important because her ration influences the size and weight of the little pigs at birth. Recent research has shown that the bigger the baby pigs, the more of them live to be weaned, the faster they make gains when they go in the feed lot, and the earlier they get to market.

These are the reasons Alabama's pork crop next fall is so largely dependent on the feed and care the old brood sow gets during the next few weeks. Just enough grain should be fed to keep the sow in good condition but not too fat. About one-half pound of protein supplement should be fed daily, and a mineral mixture and dry sale should be kept before her at all times.

LOW PRODUCTION DAIRY COWS NOT PROFITABLE
In Alabama a dairy cow should be given her walking papers if her butterfat production was not more than 200 pounds last year.
In fact, analysis of D. H. I. A. records by the Bureau of Dairy Industry shows that in most areas, a cow should produce substantially more than 200 pounds of butterfat a year to make a profit for her owner. At higher levels of milk production, the cost of production per gallon is less. For instance, the average butterfat production for all cows enrolled in associations in 1949 was 359 pounds. These cows consumed $156 worth of feed and returned $234 over cost to their owners, a net income of $78 per cow. Two hundred pounds of butterfat produced is equivalent to 4000 pounds or 465 gallons of high test milk.

Cows which averaged 600 pounds of butterfat the same year consumed $208 worth of feed and returned $473 over feed cost, a net income of $265.

The high producers don't just happen; they are daughters of production bred bulls that are properly developed and handled.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Mary Garbarini, Cortland, N.Y.: I remember when the beds we had at home consisted of a straw tick and a feather bed. When we thrashed in the fall, mother would lay aside some of the straw and wash and fill with the new straw. The straw tick was placed on slats and the feather bed on that. One had to climb up to get in bed at night, but we would sink far down into the new fluffy beds. To make them up, we would turn the feather bed back, reach in and shake the straw from both sides. It was quite a trick in those days to have a nice smooth bed, believe me.

From Mrs. E. C. Phinney, Milwaukee, Wis.: I remember when I was a small girl in Mt. Horeb, Wis., my mother would send me up to Hoff's butcher shop for a quarter's worth of bologna. The butcher would come out of the back room with three rings hanging on his arm. Besides giving us three rings for a quarter, he would give me an additional big piece of bologna to eat on the way home.

From Mrs. Mary Stewart, Chicago: I remember when babies were weaned with bitter aloes. What a struggle! Tears, perseverance and the nasty dope did the trick.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: I remember when pound packages of Arbuckle's coffee contained cards with information about the various states and children traded with the hope of getting every state.

From Estelle C. Laughlin, Gering, Neb.: I remember when a girl who dared ride her horse astride was called "a bold hussy."

A peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

ALL BAND LEADERS are deluged with calls and mail from songwriters and composers who can imitate birds, animals, drink water while standing on their heads and perform similar feats. All band leaders ignore these calls and mail. . . . but not Spike Jones. Spike is always willing to answer his telephone calls personally and never turns a visitor away.

SPIKE JONES is a visitor at a weekly interview. . . . As he says, "with a band full of screwballs and characters I can't afford to let anyone get away who might possibly have good material for me." How Spike Jones hired Paulen (more familiar to Spike's fans as Dr. Horatio Q. Birdbath) is a case in point: One afternoon the phone rang in the Jones household and when Spike lifted the receiver the voice at the other end said, "I can do 175 bird calls, eight human voices and 65 animal sounds." Without further ado the phone began beeping, burping, cackling and screeching. . . . Helen Grayco, Spike's wife, picked him up again and he mumbled weakly into the phone, "You must be crazy; you're terrible—you're hired."

PLATTER CHATTER COLUMBIA's Mitch Miller continues on his successful road to stardom with his latest, "The Sea of the Moon" backed by "Smile, Smile, Smile." . . . Guy Mitchell, he of "My Heart Cries for You" popularity, teams up with Rosemary Clooney in two fine sides, "The Place Where I Worship" and "The House of Singing Bamboo." . . . The Three Flames do well by "Sky Full of Sunshine" with "Succolash Baby" on the flip. . . . Janette Davis comes up with a honey—"Long Before I Knew You!" . . . "The Lovin' You Continually Blues" is on the reverse.

For lovers of the art, Tallulah Bankhead has recorded "You Go to My Head" in that throaty, not-too-melodic, voice of hers. . . . The ever popular "I'll Be Seeing You" backs it.

HOPEWELL BAPTIST CHURCH

Report for Missionary work done during the Christmas holidays.

To the pastor, members and visitors of the Hopewell Baptist church: We, your committee, wish to make this report as follows:

On December 14, 1950 Circle No. 1 met at the home of Sister Maggie Dudley for the purpose of making plans to fill the Christmas spirit by giving food and money to the less fortunate people. On the day of December 20, 1950, pounds and money were taken to the home of Sister Edna Townsend.

The following Sisters were responsible for our being in a position to make a favorable donation:

Sisters Maggie Jackson, Mittie Golder, Sarah Hudson, Beatrice McGhee, son, Maggie Dudley, Annie Laura B. Hattie Bohannon, Camelia Baker, Bro. Arthur Wood, Sisters Louise Williams, Bernice Smithman.

Among those gifts were some clothes, shoes, fruits, candies.

On the night of December 23, 1950, Sister Beatrice McGhee and Sister Louise Williams met at the home of Sister Edna Townsend where the gifts were wrapped. On Christmas Eve Sister Edna Townsend and Sister Louise Williams, accompanied by Bro. Emmet Williams, a very fine young man, carried the gifts to the less fortunate ones. They were $27.82 from the Hopewell Baptist church added to the other packages to make Christmas happy for others.

We are your committee: Bro. L. A. Price, Sister Edna Dickerson, Sister Bernice Smithman, Sister Alice Davis, Sister Edna Townsend.

PROTECT NEW CLOTHES FOR BETTER SERVICE

To protect clothing against wear and perspiration stains, often difficult to remove from clothes which are not washable, put shields in both wool dresses and coats before wearing.

Also, advises Levice Ellis, A. P. I. Extension Service, clothing specialist, "give a new dress underarm shields and sew in a piece of thin washable fabric over the upper back to keep oily soil from the dress. For coats, make shields of fabric that matches the lining so that they can take stains and rubs and be replaced when necessary." Miss Ellis adds that it's far easier and cheaper to put in shields early than to entirely re-line the coat later.

Many women have found that it is a good idea to protect new trousers by sewing retreats inside, at seat and knees. A re-tread—that is an underneath stretch of firm but thin fabric—is used sometimes for the seat of a skirt. Long sitting is likely to cause a skirt to bulge or stretch out of shape unless it is reinforced underneath.

TRUCK CROPPING

As a general thing, truck crops do best on fairly fertile, well-drained sandy-loam soils which have a high organic content.

"The amount of fertilizer used may vary somewhat, depending on the soil type, general soil fertility, and past fertilizer treatment," states John Bagby, A. P. I. Extension Service Horticulturist.

He further states that it has been found that most truck crops respond well to heavy applications of complete fertilizer. When 1,000 pounds or more are used per acre, it is advisable to apply one-half before planting and one-half about four weeks after planting.

"Extra nitrogen is often needed to keep the plants growing in a vigorous condition to develop maturing fruits, adds Bagby. "This fact is especially true on light soils or following heavy rains. Stable manure and green cover crops have given good results on truck crops. The additional organic matter helps hold moisture and plant food in the soil and, by increasing bacterial activity, helps make plant food available to the crop.

This PETTY PACE By Brown Lee Yates

MARRIED PERSONS have fewer headaches than single ones. So claims a prof at Louisiana State University. He implies the marrieds are lucky in their paucity of cranial pains. We infer otherwise. A flock of transitory headaches can't be worse than one big, continual headache.

Sure, single persons have their share of headaches. But to the veteran of several years' marriage, a dimly recalling single existence, pains of that era seem vague, will-o'-the-wisp. A pang here because the cleaner shrunk your tux. A pang there because Wilbur forgot to phone you whose little sis-bits-hoo you are. And a withering romance calls for a couple of aspirin. Sure it hurts momentarily to have to attend some big blowout stag. But those stabs are fleeting compared with the permanence of bolthers about rent, food, utilities, employment, fire, baby colic and merciful death that can run amuck in a married mind.

The single person can stand a multitude of minor headaches roaming around his skull undisturbed without suffering trampled tranquility. He can turn his brain into open range for these gamboling little mavericks. But the herd of worries of the married person is meaner, apt to snort, paw the ground and stampee.

To restrain them, the married person must drive all his headaches into one large corral, labeled "the Great Permanent Headache," or, at the most, two corals, labeled "Bills" and "Minor Deaths." Letting each ache wander separately back and forth between his cerebrum and cerebellum would crack his cortex.

Yes, the married person has but one or two big headaches compared with the unmaried's myriad twinges over green coffee in restaurants and buttons fastened on with paper clips (which the married remembers as minor irritations), but the married person's head anguish comes from mortal terrors.

Yet, there is but one greater cause of the "Great Permanent Headache" than marriage—the loneliness that comes from single blessedness.

CAN THIS BE "THE THING?"

BOW WOW

People hereabout are mighty careless in leaving dead dogs on the highways and by ways.

We have seen dead dogs lay for days along the highways, sometimes right in front of dwellings and nothing done with the remains. We know not whether it is because the canine belonged to someone else, or what the cause of indifference, but for self preservation it seems to us that the carcass of dead things should be removed from our highways as quickly as possible.

FLOWER GARDENS

We hear the faint rumbling of need for a Clanton Garden Club. We hope the idea materializes into more than just idle gossip.

Clanton has many beautiful homes and many, many beautiful flowers, but a concerted effort in this direction could mean much to beautifying our little city.

When and if a Garden Club is organized we will be first to lend the support of this newspaper to its success. The ladies usually organize and take the lead in garden club work and what the ladies start they usually finish. Good luck to them.

CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP, FIX-UP

Clanton Kiwanis Club will sponsor a Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week in April. It will be county-wide, in its scope, and Club members are calling on the citizens of Maplesville, Thorsby, Jemison and Verbena to join them in this worthwhile effort.

During the present emergency, Clean-up-Paint-up, Fix-up Week is of even greater importance than ever before in encouraging a united effort for defense. These include fire prevention, proomtion of safety, conservation of property and equipment, safeguarding of health, sponsoring of salvage drives, increasing production and last, but in no means the least, creating better citizenship.

We cannot over emphasize the importance of Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week to the people of Chilton County. Get behind the movement and our county will be a better, more beautiful, more healthful, place in which to live.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Rev. A. T. Hickman visited Uncle Riley Robinson the other day to see how he was getting along after the big celebration of his 100th Birthday. Uncle Riley was delighted to see him and told him he knew of no one he would rather visit him than Brother Hickman. He also told him that he turned first each week, upon receiving his paper, to Rev. Hickman's weekly article. This was quite flattering to the Reverend we are sure and we want to assure him that a lot of people beside Uncle Riley Robinson turn to his weekly spiritual message first each week.

Hoyt Reynolds catches fox without even hunting them and we have seen Clark Hendley hunt them all night and half the next day, (half the next day he was hunting his dogs, we believe) without even seeing one. Hoyt and his Dad was coming to Clanton from Maplesville the other night when a grey beauty run in front of his automobile about six or seven miles from town. Hoyt got out of his car and went back to investigate and found he had killed the fox. He was showing same about town Friday. It would help towards some lady a beautiful fur coat. The fox ain't using it any more.

J. E. Easterling had a very serious and painful accident the other evening. He had just bought a new boat from Selma and placed it in one of his pens when it started fighting another boat through a fence. Thinking to stop the fight J. E. walked over to kick the boat and stop the fight. He stopped the hog fight all right but he started another--between him and the hog. He got the worst end of the fight that time and was carried to the hospital for treatment of his wounds. He is recovering alright but he sure did receive some nasty lacerations and bruises.

Judge W. L. Parrish is a mighty busy man. Drinking coffee with him the other morning he was in a big hurry. He had been at his office the

Personal Message

A. T. HICKMAN

This is a personal message to all my readers. I have had many Chilton County people to tell me that they read and enjoy, and appreciate my column in this paper each week. Some have told me that as soon as they get their county paper, the first thing they do is to open it, and read what I have written. It is gratifying. And it is statements, like this that keeps me on the ball. Some time we feel like stopping the whole works, but when we learn that people are reading what we write, and it is an inspiration to them, then we feel like keeping on. But I would like to have more than spoken words from you friends of mine. I will appreciate a letter or a card from you. In this way, we could get more acquainted. One day I received a letter from

Small Communities Will Care For Evacuees of Bombed City

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the second in a series of five articles on the all-important subject of civil defense.)

IF YOU WERE ONE of those directly beneath the explosion of an atomic bomb over your home town tonight, there would be practically no hope of your survival. Even if you lived anywhere within a half-mile of the center of the explosion, your chances of living to tell the tale would be about one in ten. From a half-mile to a mile away, you would have about a 50-50 chance, and farther away than that your chances would be pretty good that you would be able to help your less fortunate neighbors.

And of course within these areas your chances of injury would be even greater. But your chances of recovery from radioactivity or other injuries would be good.

And if you have a few minutes warning of an impending air raid, these chances are vastly improved. What should you do, even if you have only a few seconds warning? The first thing to remember is to fall flat on your face. If you have time to pick a spot to fall, choose first a flat spot, not against a cellar wall, or even an inside wall, or beneath a sturdy table or bench. Or if you are outside, drop beside the base of a building, or fall into a ditch or gutter. And when you fall, cover your face in the crook of your arm, and cover every exposed skin with whatever is handy and hold it for several seconds after the explosion to prevent flash burns.

You folks in the home towns of the nation and in the rural areas there is little danger of a direct atomic bomb overhead. The enemy would most certainly aim at one or more of some 16 strategic target areas in large cities and industrial areas. But your neighbors in your nearest large city might suffer as follows: A surprise daylight attack on an average city would produce about 120,000 casualties. Of this total, approximately 40,000 would be killed outright or die the first day. An additional 20,000 would die in the following five or six weeks. Of the 80,000 remainder, about 48,000 might be suffering from burns, 40,000 from mechanical injuries and 16,000 from radiation injuries. This total of over 100 per cent arises from the fact that a large number of casualties would be suffering from two or more types of injuries. To top this staggering total, there follows the complex and difficult job of evacuation, either after the bomb drop, or of course, if there is warning, preferably before the drop.

And here is where folks in strictly rural communities and the small towns of the country can play a tremendously important role in their state's civil defense set-up.

Make Lemonade from Lemons of Life

HERE'S HOW Mrs. Gregory Austin, who lives in Los Angeles, made lemonade from a lemon that was handed her.

When she was only 13 years old and just beginning to think of a career, an explosion occurred that took three fingers from her left hand. She had suffered a handicap previous to this in that her right arm had been scarred from a blood tumor. But this calamity seemed to be the last straw. She was terribly self-conscious over the loss of those fingers and hid her hand whenever she could. By and by she began to develop an inferiority complex, felt resentful toward life.

She had been reared in a family that had little of this world's goods and so had a feeling of insecurity in addition to the above.

But she had something else, too, something that stood her in good stead; pride. She was not going to let other people know how she felt. So during the day she appeared self-confident, poised, and friendly. Her nights were filled with bad dreams. She really cared nothing about living. That was a burden for a very young person to carry, a young person who had not yet developed a philosophy to live by.

Then one day she read something about capitalizing on one's best qualities. And that's where the lemon came in, the lemon that made good lemonade. She made friends easily; she certainly was not homesick of face. She capitalized on the former, and the latter was the most popular girl in an organization of 6,000 people. She came in second in a beauty contest. She was nominated for the presidency of one of her organizations and, although she lost to a boy who was considered to have special qualifications, she felt highly honored because she was the only girl ever nominated for the office. She was offered a movie screen test three times, but she preferred the role of wife and mother, is now happily married and has a beautiful child.

"After all," she says, "most people have some handicap, why should I worry about mine."

Your Health

BLOOD PRESSURE

Every person has a blood pressure. It may be low, high or normal, varying in different individuals. As the heart beats, its largest vessel, the aorta, sends blood to all parts of the body by means of a chain of smaller and smaller arteries. Thus the pressure is established through the action of the heart when it contracts for a moment and then relaxes.

The greatest pressure of the blood in the large arteries which occurs during the contraction of the heart muscles is known as the systolic blood pressure, and the lowest pressure which occurs in the large arteries during the relaxation or rest period of the heart is known as the diastolic pressure.

As one grows older, the pressures gradually increase; and in any given individual the blood pressure will vary from time to time, depending on the circumstances. During exercise when the heart pumps more rapidly and forcibly the blood pressure is increased. A similar rise will be noted during an emotional strain such as anger.

Deviations from the normal pressure are low and high blood pressure. While the fundamental cause or causes of these conditions are not known, there seem to be many factors involved. Age, heredity and even sex must be considered in high blood pressure, since women are somewhat more affected than men. But the real solution is yet to be solved by medical research.

In high blood pressure, the heart is working harder, which may account for its gradually becoming less efficient. Then too, the arteries are subjected to greater internal pressure which may result in a rupture, producing a cerebral or brain hemorrhage. In low blood pressure, the exact opposite is true.

While the cause of high blood pressure is not known, certain medical management and dietary control are beneficial to some individuals. In others, surgical treatment may be of help.

High blood pressure is second in importance for making heart disease the major cause of death in the United States, and yet with proper medical management the condition need not be as serious as many people seem to think. Properly controlled, a person with high blood pressure may lead a comparatively normal life for forty or more years.

The Christian Life Conference will not be held on March 30, 31 and April 1 as previously reported. We are not sure at this time what date it will start on as we will have to get an answer from Miss Davison. As soon as a new date is decided upon we shall let you know.

The annual Red Cross Drive comes to a start on March 5th, which is next Monday morning. Dr. Varnie Wyatt is your local chairman and not Miss Turnquist as was stated in the paper last week. Your chairman has a very able group of workers selected to assist him in this forthcoming drive, and they will meet at the Family Cafe on Monday morning for the kickoff breakfast and from there will start a house to house canvass for your Red Cross donations. Please be reminded that you will be called on to help in this drive and to help raise the quota for Thorsby, which is $500.00. Let's all get together and help our Chairman raise these funds quickly.

Mrs. Carl Turnquist, Mrs. Marie Reagan and Miss Naomi Turnquist spent Wednesday and Thursday in Opelika, Ala. visiting their niece and family, the T. J. Wingfords.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Keitzman and two young daughters arrived Monday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. J. O. Johnson. The Keitzmans are en route from their home in Gary, Indiana, to points in Florida for a vacation stay.

Special mention to those who sat with Bro. Franklin that night and those who so graciously provided food. Our deepest sympathy continues with this family.

This year, every dollar's worth of NATURAL CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA PAYS BIG EXTRA PROFITS!

HERE'S WHY: Nitrogen content — all nitrogen nitrogen... fast-acting... completely available... the only natural nitrate in the world.

Sodium content — contains 26% sodium (equivalent to 35% sodium oxide)... sodium is essential to maximum yields... substitute for potassium where lacking, and makes soil phosphate more available... helps "sweeten" the soil.

Other plant foods — natural traces of iodine, manganese, potassium, magnesium, boron, calcium, iron, sulphur, copper and zinc.

Uncle Nathe! says: "Look for the bulldog on the bag. It means nathe! soda in free-flowing pellet form. Used now for over one hundred years."

300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of oats 35-40 bu. per acre. Dollar return: almost 4 to 1. Chilean Nitrate also improves the feeding quality and the protein content of forage crops.

200 to 300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate produced 150 to 200 pounds more lint cotton per acre. Dollar return: about 10 to 1. You can't afford not to invest in natural soda this year!

300 lbs. of Chilean Nitrate increased yields of corn about 20 bushels per acre. Dollar return: almost 4 to 1. Chilean Nitrate means maximum yields for maximum profits!

SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS "OUR MISS BROOKS"

Do you enjoy hearing the hilarious comedy "Our Miss Brooks" over the radio? If you do, I'm sure you'll enjoy seeing our senior play of the same name with people you know portraying the comical characters of "Our Miss Brooks."

A few of the names are not the same as those on the radio but the characterizations are the same—cause who would want to miss Miss Brooks, played by Margaret Kemp, who is continuously fussing with the principal, played by John Deramus. Of course, she is still trying to "catch" the coach played by Otis De Loach and with the help of Ted (Ivan Smith) we hope she'll succeed. Janie Wade portrays Miss Finch, Miss Brooks' best friend and Faith Chancellor Miss Audubon, Miss Brooks' worst enemy.

Of course, in a classroom there must be students; so here is a list of the students and who will play them: Elsie—Mary Jo Morgan Sylvia—Barbara Lowery Martin—Ross Smith Doris—Jean Hocutt Marge—Evelyn Donaldson Stanley—Horace Smith Elaine—Mary Marcus. Miss Brooks has a lot of trouble with Jane (Elizabeth Patterson) and Rhonda (Ann Buckner) who both want Ted.

Dorothy Sheppard is Mrs. Allen, Rhonda's mother who thinks her "darling" is perfect and everyone else is wrong.

So here's hoping, we of the play cast, will see you at the City Hall, March 22 and 23 at 7:30—the admission is 35c for students (that's high school and grammar) and 50c for adults.

Nearly 2,366,000 veterans were on Veterans Administration disability compensation and pension rolls on December 31, 1950. Included were: Civil War, 12; Indian War, 432; Spanish-American War, 88,820; World War I, 542,372; Regular Establishment, 56,300; and World War II 1,673,441.

On December 31, 1950, more than 1,000,000 dependents of deceased veterans were drawing death compensation and pension payments from the Veterans Administration. Included were 406,626 widows; 306,371 children, and 297,125 dependent parents.

W. L. Friday, a nephew and his wife also of Selma, were present with the family for the birthday celebration.

Mrs. Minnie Sanders visits in this section right often and is dearly beloved by all who know her.

MT. PISGAH

Our Sunday School was well attended Sunday. We had some visitors worship with us any time they can. Let's all pray and do all we can to make our Sunday School grow in every way possible. That way we can do more work for our Master in a band together.

We are sorry if you were not able to be with us last Sunday for Mr. Luther Yeargan made a very inspiring talk on our week of dedication past. After the talk we worshipped with an offering to help our Christians in war torn Korea. May we all pray for lasting peace to soon come to the world.

We were sorry to learn Mrs. John Yeargan is not well again. We pray for her a speedy recovery.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Calvin Steller, Marcelus, Mich.: I remember our trip to Nebraska in a covered wagon, our "toddy," and the times mother would put our gloves on, hand us a basket and say, "Go gather cow chips and whoever brings in the most gets the brown potatoes." We played a game in which the one who found the largest cow chip was "it." I remember the assfolda bag, the Indian who came on broad basting day, the corn husk mattress on wooden slats on which I jumped and went through on to the winter water melons. Oh! That dill pickle barrel! Nothing was better. And I can remember when my beau refused to take me to a dance until I washed the rouge (from an old pink flower) from my face.

From Mrs. William Becker, Chicago: I remember when the farmer drove his load of vegetables and eggs to our part of Chicago. Housewives waited for him and bought their week's supply. He paid two cents for a small grape basket full of crumbled egg shells (used for chicken feed). Every week, the notions and dry goods man came with his wagon containing a counter. The grocer had pickles in a barrel and salt herring in another - herring, two for five cents. For Sunday afternoon recreation, mother took us kids for a long car ride, fare five cents. It took all afternoon, on an open street car, summer cars, we called them. We kids rode free.

From Mrs. Eva Vaughn, Tateville, Ky.: I remember, when I was a small girl, mother would raise cotton and we would pick it out of the bolls, and then we would run it through a little mill called a cotton gin. We would get the seed from the cotton by running it through the gin, and then mother would take the cotton and use cards to make bolls and we would pad our quilts with it.

Mrs. R. W. Lowe was hostess to the Cortic Club on Thursday evening of last week in her home in South Clanton.

The Washington motif was artistically carried out in the arrangements of beautifully red gladioli with greenery used to adorn the reception rooms. The Washington theme was repeated in the delicious salad plate served to the following members: Mrs. A. A. Bazzell, T. R. Burdette, A. L. Farley, J. E.

Gowan, Sibly McGowan, Percy M. Pitts, A. S. Prince, R. W. Williamson, B. F. Williams, C. W. Ballard.

Worthwhile Sewing Club

The members of the Worthwhile Sewing Club had a most enjoyable day with Mrs. Bell Jones on Thursday, February 22.

Each club member carried a covered dish, and a delicious meal was served at the luncheon hour. Members present were Mrs. Roberta Hardy, Oless DeLoach, Maggie Kemp, Ruby Kunkle, Louise Jones, Lucile Bean, Verna Bean and Jean Black. Invited guests were Miss Dixie Johnson and Mrs. Edith Minor.

Bride-Elect Feted

Miss Patty Jean Broadhead, who will be wed to Joseph R. Stroud at an afternoon ceremony on March 4th, at the West End Baptist Church, Clanton, was honored February 23 by Mr. Charles Klinner at a kitchen shower at her home on Lay Dam Road.

Floral arrangements and potted plants in spring shades were used in the reception room.

Guests were met informally at the door by the hostess and honoree.

Miss Jo Ann Baker presided in the gift room where many lovely gifts were on display. The guests enjoyed games of Bingo at the card tables. Prizes of novelty kitchen utensils were won by Misses Elizabeth Patterson, Jo Ann Baker and the honoree.

The buffet table was covered with a lovely imported lace cloth with pink and white bridal tone satin ribbons streaming from the spring flowers in a crystal bowl that formed the centerpiece. Burning pink tapers in crystal holders completed the centerpiece. The bridal tongs of pink and white were repeated with a pink heart shaped cake surrounded by green at one end of the table. At the other end a tray of pink heart shaped sandwiches were artistically arranged. Compotes of pink mints also carried out the color scheme.

Miss Elizabeth Patterson and Miss Betty Jo Williams assisted Mrs. Klinner in serving.

At 25 fixed locations, and on approximately 175 trouble cars and trucks, Alabama Power Company has sending and receiving radio equipment. Five more "fixed" and 76 more mobile units to be installed this year will give complete radio-telephone coverage over our entire service area. Installed at a cost of many thousands of dollars, this coverage makes possible quicker response and better service to trouble calls.

Two-way radio-telephone communication between central dispatching points and moving service vehicles is but another example of operating practices followed to maintain and improve an already high quality of electric service.

BETTER SPEECH CLUB PRESENTS PROGRAM

The Better Speech Club of Mrs. Curry Thomas's sixth grade presented a very delightful program on "Character and Patriotism" last Thursday, February 22nd.

Invitations made and printed by the pupils, had been sent to the parents. Some twenty parents and friends were very graciously met at the door by the class hostess, Carolyn Tucker, and hosts, Billie Todd.

The presented each guest with a program in the class colors, red and white, and pinned a club emblem made of an American Flag on the lapel of each guest.

Those who gave a special part of this interesting program included the club president, Linda Wade, Mavis Wyatt, Beth Parker, Charles Jones, Billy Young, Betty Sue Bolton, Jerry Teel, Billy Todd, Glenda Robinson, Marie Wesson, Maylane Butler, Bernell Henley, Jimmy Cox, (dressed very appropriately as Uncle Sam), Leon Glenn, Carolyn Tucker, Kenneth Messer, Myra Vines, Ralph Vines, Patsy Barrette, Blondell Henderson. Other members of the club took part in group singing and games.

After the program, members of the club served the guests delicious cheese rings, individual cakes with red cherries and carrying out the patriotic motive of the program. They also served coca-colas to each guest.

This reporter would like to say this for the Better Speech Club: "Each program they present gets better and better."

WHEN STRENGTH IS PRICELESS

$5,600,000 ice damage yielding to 9-state Telephone Teamwork

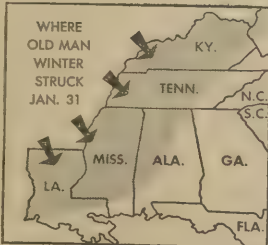

Wide areas of the South have learned first-hand what it means to have a strong Telephone Company when disaster strikes.

The recent ice storm dealt a giant blow to portions of five Southern states. For telephone facilities, it was the worst ice storm in history. Telephone poles and wires snapped under the weight of tons of glittering ice. Eighty-seven thousand telephones and 3,174 Long Distance circuits were knocked out, and 181 communities isolated.

While ice still sparkled on the magnolias, the Telephone team swung into action. From all nine Southern Bell states, repair crews, cable, wire and poles were swiftly assembled. By rail, truck and plane they came, as skilled Telephone repairmen worked around the clock.

That's the kind of resources and teamwork it takes when nature goes on the rampage. It cuts weeks off the time it takes to restore service. And that's mighty important as the Nation mobilizes for Defense.

It's good to know that whenever such disaster comes your way, an abundance of help—from other states if needed—won't be far behind. It's good, too, that regardless of where a Bell Telephone man comes from, the tools, the materials and methods he'll work with are the same as those he uses back home.

1700 Extra Men and Trainloads of Material
More than 1700 extra men from outside the affected areas were rushed in to help repair the damage. They took 225 trucks and other vehicles. Materials rushed in from Western Electric supply centers included 14,500 poles, 17,400 cross-arms and 48,700 miles of wire.

SPECIAL HOSPITAL TAX
FOUR MILLS

Whereas, at the meeting of the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Alabama, held on October 2, 1950, discussion was had of the proposed that an election be held in the county for the purpose of submitting to the electors the question of whether or not a four-mill tax should be levied for hospital purposes pursuant to the authorization contained in a constitutional amendment adopted at the general state-wide election held on November 2, 1948. After such discussion the following resolution and order, together with the preambles thereto, were introduced in writing by Commissioner Harrell:

Whereas, it appears from information submitted to the Court of County Commissioners (herein called "the court"), and it is a matter of common knowledge among the residents of Chilton County (herein called "the county") that the hospital facilities in the county are wholly inadequate to meet the needs of the citizens of the county, and in order to meet such needs it will be necessary that a county hospital be erected and equipped, and the county is without funds with which to pay the costs that will be incurred in that connection; and

Whereas, under the provisions of an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 (which was proposed by Act No. 357 adopted at the 1947 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama) adopted at the general election held on November 2, 1948, the governing body of Chilton County was authorized to levy and collect, in addition to all other taxes authorized by law, a special county tax not exceeding four mills on each dollar of taxable property in the county, to be used solely for acquiring, by purchase, lease or otherwise, constructing, operating, equipping, or maintaining county hospitals, or other public hospitals, non-profit hospitals, and public health facilities, provided that such tax shall have first been authorized by a majority of the qualified electors of the county who participate in an election called for that purpose; and

Whereas, a large number of citizens have requested that the court call an election as contemplated in said constitutional amendment for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the county the question of whether or not such additional tax shall be levied.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED BY THE COURT as follows:

(1) The facts set out in the foregoing preambles are hereby found and declared to be true and the said preambles are hereby adopted as a part of this resolution and order.

(2) A special election is hereby called to be held in the county on the 7th day of November, 1950, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the county the question of whether or not the county shall be authorized to levy annually, in addition to all other taxes authorized by law, a special county tax, not exceeding four mills on each dollar of taxable property in the county, to be used solely for acquiring, by purchase, lease or otherwise, constructing, operating, equipping, or maintaining county hospitals, or other public hospitals, non-profit hospitals, and public health facilities.

(3) The Sheriff is hereby directed to give notice of said election by publishing in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published and having general circulation in the county, once a week for three successive weeks, the first publication prior to the date fixed for said election, and said notice shall be in substantially the following form and may be signed with the printed signature of the sheriff:

WARM PRAISE ACCORDED HENRY HEFLIN AND DONNA PLEDGER

Great interest was manifested in the concert of Henry Grady Heflin, Jr., and Miss Donna Pledger by a large audience composed of music lovers from Clanton, Thorsby, Verbena and several sections of the State.

Mr. Heflin's opening numbers, a group of songs in Italian, demonstrated the melodic richness of his baritone voice. Whereas in the selections from Schubert sung in German, Mr. Heflin displayed keen interpretative ability with a mastery of the difficult. The fanciful little songs, "The Daisies," (Barber) and "To a Faded Violet," (anonymous) were completely disarming with their lyrical beauty.

Miss Pledger, as accompanist revealed profound understanding and complete rapport. An unusual refinement of style were shown in her rendition of several Chopin selections.

Our community is greatly indebted to these young artists who gave so generously of their time and talent to make this enjoyable occasion possible. Our best wishes are extended to them as they continue their musical endeavors.

I LIKE TO FEEL IMPORTANT. DO YOU?

ANY "AVOIDABLE" ACCIDENTS?

The people of the United States who liberally support drives against diseases of various types sit quietly and unconcerned, while thousands of citizens are killed every year on the highways of the land and, for some strange reason, take such casualties for granted.

Autos crash and the injured and dead are buried under the wreckage but the investigation nearly always says that it was an "unavoidable accident." We cannot recall an "avoidable accident" in this country for some time!

This is a condition which should be corrected but how is it to be done? Should parties in a car crash be expected to prosecute those in the other vehicle? Should prosecuting attorneys, highway patrolmen or police officers bestir themselves when accidents occur and diligently seek to assess guilt on the party who may be to blame?

We make the assertion, with some confidence, that if automobile accidents were rigidly investigated, with blame assigned to guilty parties and prompt revocation of driving licenses following, there would be fewer accidents and less lives lost.

Nevertheless, in a country that has a population of more than 150,000,000 people, with some million people being born every year, why should we worry about the loss of one hundred persons a day on the highways?

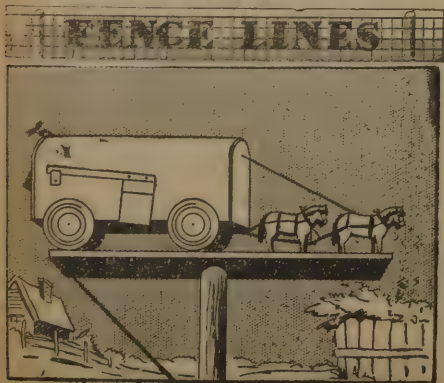

GOOD SEED FOR GOOD CROPS

The farmers of Chilton County are about to begin their new year. They will soon initiate the crops upon which they will depend for a living income. Into the uncertain lap of the weather and the market, they consign their fortune and the well-being of the families for which they labor.

It is not a very inviting prospect for farmers. What the future holds, in regard to yield, is hard to determine. What may be expected in the way of prices is also uncertain. There are risks that are inevitable but no unnecessary liability should be callously or wantonly added.

Too often a farmer plants his crop without considering the great importance of the seed. Heavy losses result every year, in every crop, from poor seed. Good seed is important. It is the good beginning which enables one farmer to outdo his neighbor. Good seed will mean good stands, healthy plants, with ability to live and grow and to withstand temporary setbacks.

We urge every farmer who reads this article to determine to plant only the best seed in the spring. This is one expenditure which will pay big dividends.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Saw Jarrell Burdette gassing-up three automobiles at the same time the other morning. And inbetween time he was brushing the floor of the car, polishing the window glass and windshield, making change, and issuing a few orders. That, of course, besides carrying on a conversation with the customer to make him feel welcome and at home. Jarrell is a walking dynamo.

Speaking of Jarrell Burdette reminds us of an interesting situation that occurred several weeks ago. A woman walked into the Burdette Service Station and asked Jarrell if he would go up town and get her automobile and service it. She described the car and just how he was to be sure it was the right one. He went uptown and sure enough he found it parked at the Upchurch Drug Store curb, just where she had said it would be. When he got into the car and made ready to drive off, another party came from across the street and asked him where he was going with that automobile. Having already smelled a little bitty mouse, Jarrell stepped out of the car and said: "I'm not going anywhere." An exchange of words convinced him that he wanted no part of the new business so he left. Of course that was after the other party said: "I would advise you not to move that automobile." Now if this paragraph leaves you right up in the air it's no worse than the incident did us. We don't know yet what happened and we were there. Just goes to show you what odd things happen around a Service Station. Drive in and ask Jarrell what ever happened about that pair.

Mrs. Hazel Cox, whose bright smile has decorated the Chilton County News office for the past two and a half years has moved to Montgomery. She has accepted a position there with Selective Service. We don't think she was drafted, she joined voluntarily. And her title isn't "Pfc." but "File Clerk." We wish her well in her new work.

Herman LeCroy tells us that wife Thomazine is doing fine at Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital after an operation. She will be home the latter part of this week. Mrs. Houston Nivens is taking her place at the Clanton Grammar School during her absence. We sincerely hope that no complications arise and she will be back in her schoolroom soon.

These lines were taken from the Major Squirm column in Alabama Magazine.

In the Cow Town I run across Jim Plot, the new legislator from Chilton, all spick and span in a purty new suit and redy ter take time out on a street corner ter tell his newest yarn. Jim has the finest collection of funny stories since Tom Heelin. Before this summer is over I perdick he will win statewide fame as the No. 1 wit uv the House. Quite a feller, Jim.

James Duke (Dude) Heflin, and his pretty wife have moved into their own home. They have been staying with their parents since returning to Clanton. James Duke is going around inviting friends to come to see them but adds: "She teaches and I'm at the Bank all day." Well, we say: Well come at night, say about suppertime. Then he refuses to say where they live. We asked him twice--but dead silence. Oh well, bankers aren't the only ones who can eat steak. Wait, what on earth are we saying? They are so, too.

Jerry Bodden at the J. C. Page Insurance Company called our attention to a bad misunderstanding in their advertisement appearing in last week's Chilton County News. Jerry called us to tell us to pick our copy from a past edition and return it. Turned out that we had run two ads in that past edition and naturally we choose the wrong ad. Who ever heard of anybody picking the right thing when there are two to choose from? Not us, anyway. But here's the beef. Three of the agents listed under the ad don't work there anymore: Grady Bates, W. B. Taylor and W. G. Easterling. So we apologize to Mr. Page, Mr. Bodden, Mr. Easterling, Mr. Bates, Mr. Taylor and any others who might have been embarrassed or inconvenienced by the choosing of the wrong ad, which we maintain is a natural mistake and always happens when there are two of a thing to, but this could go on, and on, and on.

Traitors

Paul wrote to Timothy that in the last days there would be perilous times to come. For men would be lovers of their own selves, and would be covetous, boastful, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholly. With out natural affection. And would be false accusers, incontinent.

A. T. HICKMAN fierce, despisers of those that are good. Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power of God. (2 Tim. 3:1-5. The one sin that I would call your attention to is that of "Traitor." A traitor is one who is guilty of treason, or the betrayal of his country; one who betrays the confidence of another; a deceiver. . . . We have examples of traitors in the Bible. The outstanding one is Judas Iscariot. He betrayed Jesus into the hands of his enemies. For near three and a half years Judas Iscariot had received blessings at the hands of Jesus. Jesus had given him the honor of being numbered with the rest of the apostles; he had every chance to make good of his life. But for some reason he chose to be a traitor. Even though he was warned of his sin before hand, he gave no heed to the warning, but went as though he was destined to commit treason against his friend, Lord and Saviour, and betrayed him. But in so doing, he betrayed innocent blood, and brought destruction to his own life and soul.

There are still traitors in the world today. They delight in deceiving others, and betraying the confidence of their best friend. It troubled the soul of Jesus to know that he had a traitor among his disciples, one who would betray him. But nothing could be done about it, before or afterward, except suffer the consequences. Only those who have been betrayed by some one they had utmost confidence in know the feeling of the inside of the soul. Personally I do not like for my confidence to be betrayed, no one does. But some times the traitor strikes near home, and the mean work has been done. . . . Friend, be careful. Keep in mind the Golden Rule. Also remember the law of sowing and reaping. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." It is a mighty mean dog that would bite the hands that feed him.

Disraeli Knew How To Catch Flies

AS A BOY I used to be told that you could catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar. I saw no reason whatever for wanting to catch flies, but these words stuck, and I thought of them as I read "Further Letters of Queen Victoria" who during her years on the British throne revealed herself as being as human as the rest of us.

Carnegie

Her husband said in the early days of their marriage, "I am the husband but not the master of the house." But he proved himself adept at handling people, for later on most matters he wrote "I only wish you to be as happy as we are; more I could not wish you," and Victoria avowed over and over again, publicly and privately, during the 21 years before death claimed her prince consort, that she adored her husband, the father of her children.

But what impressed me even more was the art of handling people achieved by her prime minister, Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield. He knew that she was an imperious woman; knew that she had had many dissensions with those preceding him. In his first letter, which was the letter of a genius, he wrote to his queen, whom he wanted to guide but knew he must obey, "Your Majesty's life has been passed in constant communication with great men. . . . This rare and choice experience must give you a mastery an advantage in judgment which few living persons, and no living Princes, can rival."

One wonders if he had reference to the then heir to the throne, the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, when he referred to "no living Princes" for as all knew, the queen and her son were not in agreement on most matters of state, nor in personal affairs. Naturally she would be glad that England's prime minister saw her point of view.

You can judge for yourself whether Disraeli adopted the right tactics as you read what the queen wrote about him later. "Mr. Disraeli has achieved his high position entirely by his ability. . . . I have nothing but praise for him. One thing that predisposed me in his favor is his great admiration for my beloved Albert and his recognition of, and his great respect for, Albert's great character. And Disraeli continued to enjoy her trust and confidence to his dying day."

You can see that Disraeli believed in that maxim about the flies.

Your Health

PRENATAL CARE

The birth of a baby is the very important end result of good prenatal care, and yet many mothers, and fathers too, overlook the need for adequate management during the nine months' period of pregnancy.

Your physician should be consulted early in the pregnancy. A complete and thorough physical examination is necessary, so that he can be familiar with all normal and abnormal changes in the mother. The examination will determine the stage of the pregnancy and such related factors as the condition of the mother's blood, type of blood, whether there is anemia or any other disease which shows up in the blood, the condition of the teeth, weight, blood pressure, kidney function, pelvic measurements and the condition of the heart and lungs.

The prospective mother will be given advice on the care of the breasts and the nipples to prevent cracking and abscess formation; she will be told what type of clothing to wear for comfort, and what type of diet to follow to minimize weight gain. Some expectant mothers are inclined to the old and incorrect axiom that it is necessary to eat for two.

Remember your physician never forgets that you are an individual with your own variations and peculiarities, and he will guide you accordingly. He will also counsel you on coping with the many emotional changes that frequently occur, and he will assist you in living a tranquil life.

The father is also an important unit in planning this new life, but he must not forget he is a husband. He should be helpful, understanding and interested. With this attitude he may be a strong factor in creating imaginary illusions and emotional disturbances on the part of his wife.

Bringing a baby into the world is an exciting event. Probably the first child provokes the greatest wonder, but the strange and magnificent workings of the Creator and nature are never lost as subsequent children make their appearance. Picture the delight of the grandparents when the first grandchild appears, and the delight is always there as they count them on their fingers.

Yes, a baby is a wonderful achievement, and a prospective mother should be ever heedful of the importance of good prenatal care in fostering the development of a strong, healthy baby.

SHOULTS NEWS

Church News

Pleasant Grove church members with the pastor, Rev. Joe Davis, are preparing for the revival that will begin on the third Sunday of this month. Prayer meeting at the church each Sat urday night.

Home Demonstration club

The February meeting of the Shoults Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. Thelma Hathcock with a good attendance. The devotional was given by Mrs. Annie Sewell after which the president gave an interesting talk. The subject for discussion and demonstration was "Repairing inner-spring cushions," was given by Miss Mattie Jo Barber, of Clanton. After the meeting was dismissed, Miss Artie Hixson, daughter of the hostess, served delicious hot coca and home made doughnuts. Artie is a 4-H club member and is showing much interest in the club work.

We are happy that the men of this community are making plans to repair the Shoults club house. It is conveniently located for the clubs to meet and for the votings to be held, by doing a lot of work on it, can become an attractive club house.

Goings and Comings

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shoults and baby of Birmingham, were here last week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shoults.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mr. Charlie Smith who has been under treatment of a physician in Selma. At this time he is much improved. His friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Bill Evans (Novegar) and daughter of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Willie Jeanette Craig and daughter of Pensacola, Fla., were recent visitors here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun Garner.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Shoults and two children, Vicky and Randy of Selma, Ala., spent a few days last week with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoults. Mrs. Georgia Houston and Miss Lucy Walker of Calera, Ala. spent last week end here and Maplesville with relatives. Mrs. Houston has recently sold her home in Calera and will move to Clanton, Ala., soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Smith and baby of Piper, Ala., were visitors here last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith.

Mr. M. C. Moore and Mr. George Shoults have accepted a position with the county in road construction. The people of Shoults community are hoping that the highway will soon begin from Marion to the University highway. There is only 6 miles of this highway to be in Chilton County and it seems that Chilton could easily build that.

Mr. Claud Hathcock, employed by Streamling Veneer Corp., at Maplesville has been seriously ill with flu, and underwent the care of Dr. Kincaid, is much improved but not able to return to his work.

After spending several days here with relatives M-Sgt. and Mrs. Lamon Hicks and son, Richard, have returned to their home in New Iberia, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Sneed of Centerville, Ala., were recent visitors to relatives in this community. Mrs. Sneed plans to see a nerve specialist in Birmingham soon. We wish for her a quick recovery.

S-Sgt. Harold Walker, of Keesler Air Base, Miss., and Mrs. Wheeler Walker of Maplesville visited with relatives here last Saturday. Wheeler is recuperating from a recent operation that he underwent in St. Louis, Mo., hospital recently. At this time he is doing nicely.

Do we read, "Famous Words, by Famous People?" We should, such as "Search Thy Own Heart; What Paineth Thee in Others, in thyself May Be."

"One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning."

"A soft tongue is generally the one that strikes hardest."

A shutin in this community for many years, Mrs. Lillie Nichols would be made very happy if all who can would write her. She is a devout Christian woman, and very lonely in bed for so long. We can each brighten her life by writing or sending flowers. Her address, Mrs. Lillie Nichols, Lawley, Ala., Rt. 1.

Christ said, "As ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me."

AMERICAN PEOPLE HOLD NO CONCEPTION OF KOREA OR HER PEOPLE

UNIVERSITY, Ala.—Most Americans have little or no true conceptions of Korea as to its natural history and people, according to J. L. Couch, instructor in the University of Alabama Math Department. Couch spent a year in the beleaguered country as Educational Welfare Officer of an American military government team.

Many Americans consider the Koreans as Chinese or Mongolians, but this is not the case, he says. According to anthropologists, they are a mixture of the Mongolian and Caucasian races.

The Korean civilization and social system are highly specialized and very peaceful, according to Couch. It does not tend to produce a high standard of living such as that Americans enjoy.

"There the family unit is stressed rather than the individual," he said. "Human relations are usually good under this society, where the individual subordinates himself to the group."

In Couch's opinion, one must have a knowledge of Korean history to understand how the present situation came about. He traced Korea's history briefly:

The Koreans have been notably poor in governing themselves, making it easy for foreign invaders to come in. Japanese influence began with the establishment of a trading post near Pusan in the 14th Century.

The Chinese have been sporadic invaders for centuries. Toward the end of the 19th Century, Japan attempted to expand in Korea, inducing the Russians to move in from the north.

The Chinese objected to Japanese expansion, resulting in the Sino-Japanese war of 1895, in which China was driven out. In 1904, Japan drove Russia out of Korea and was given a trusteeship. This was done in a treaty made at Monmouth, N. H. and the Koreans still resent American meddling in the affair. In 1910, Japan took over the country entirely.

4-H COUNTY COUNCIL HELD MEETING

The second meeting for the 1951

A rebellion against the Japanese broke out in 1919, which was hastily put down. The resistance leaders were expelled and virtually all of them requested permission to come to the U. S. They were denied this under the terms of the Oriental Exclusion Act, and most of them went to Russia instead. These leaders, thoroughly indoctrinated in Communist tactics, formed the nucleus for the strong North Korean government and army when the country was divided between U. S. and Russian zones in 1945.

The South Koreans, unaccustomed to democracy, could not agree on governmental matters and finally allowed the United Nations to set up a government in 1948. Under this, the South Koreans were not given time to prepare to fight North Korea on equal terms.

Club year was held by the Chilton County 4-H County Council in Clanton at the City Hall on Saturday morning, February 24th. The meeting was called to order by Geraldine Wyatt, first vice president of the Council. The 4-H Club Pledge was led by Lucretia Davis, president of the Enterprise Sr. Club. The "Friendship" and "Grasshopper" songs were led by Wayne Burkhalter of Enterprise and Dorothy Connell of Thomas Club. The minutes of the previous Council meeting were read by Bobby Sue Crowe and approved by the group. The group was led in a game "Human Bingo" and a small gift was awarded to Frances Brown of Verbena Club for having first Bingo.

Mr. J. D. Sellers, Assistant county agent, and Miss Mattie Jo Barber, Home Demonstration agent, led a discussion on plans for the 4-H Club rally to be held in Clanton, Wednesday, March 14. The Council decided to have the following events as part of the program for the day.

1. Beauty contest (one boy and one girl entered per school—no age division).

2. Boys one-hundred yard dash.
3. Girls Fifty yard dash.
3. Running Broad Jump (Best five to compete in run-off)
4. Greased Pig (Boys only—one per club from Junior and Senior groups.)
5. Relay Race (Girls only—one per club from Junior and Senior groups.)
6. Three-leg Race (Boys and Girls)
7. Parade through business district of town.
8. Lunch
9. Entertainment—Each club to furnish one number for the program to be either a talent number, a stunt, or some amusing presentation.

The following were appointed chairmen of the committee from their respective schools: Juanita Patterson, Verbena; Jimmy Knight, Cooper; Geraldine Wyatt, Concord; Bobby Sue Crowe, Mt. Pleasant; Ronald Smith, Thomas Jr.

What makes a Gasoline Better?

THE word "gasoline" is a broad word, as broad as the word "clothes," because gasolines, like clothes, vary in quality and make-up.

A suit of clothes, regardless of its tailoring, is no better than the cloth it is made of; so also is gasoline no better than the base-stock of which it is made, regardless of how it is trimmed . . . verbally or otherwise.

A really better gasoline—a balanced motor fuel that will give the best all-round performance in your car—must possess ALL of five important qualities:

- 1 Good distillation range, to assure easy starting, proper acceleration, ample power.
- 2 Freedom from the unstable fractions which cause vapor-lock and loss of mileage.
- 3 Low gum-content, to prevent sticking valves
- 4 Correct seasonal grade, to give best performance in summer or winter.
- 5 Proper octane-number, for prevention of knock.

Selection of proper crudes and the most advanced refining techniques result in outstanding performance and the unquestioned leadership of Crown and Crown Extra. The quality cloth is cut to fit the pattern—tailored to measurements.

75 Years of Service to the Nation

"Mr. Watson, come here. I want you."

"Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

...and the Telephone was born!

On March 10, 1876, in a boarding house in Boston, the telephone carried its first intelligible sentence. Alexander Graham Bell was about to try to send his voice over a new transmitter he had devised. His assistant, Thomas Watson, was in another room, holding a receiver to his ear. Suddenly, Mr. Bell upset the acid of a battery over his clothes. He called out, "Mr. Watson, come here; I want you!" An instant later Watson burst into the room, shouting, "Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

IN THE 75 YEARS since then, the Telephone industry has grown up to transform our everyday pattern of living. For millions, the telephone has become an indispensable aid—in business, government, the home, the farm, and in maintaining family and community ties.

These 75 years have brought an amazing parade of advancements in communication—switchboards, cables carrying hundreds of wires on poles or underground, the vacuum tube, the dial system, coaxial cable and microwave radio relay for transmitting hundreds of simultaneous calls or television programs, telephone service to ships and vehicles.

Today America has 62% of the world's telephones and enjoys the most and the best telephone service in the world . . . another great achievement of American ingenuity under a system of free enterprise and individual incentive and reward.

Each year the telephone becomes more useful, and more essential to the prosperity and security of the nation. Today it unites the country, playing a vital role in mobilization and production for defense.

Here in the South, more than 52,000 skilled employees and nearly 3½ million Southern Bell telephones are on the job—more than twice as many as we had when World War II began. And there are four times as many Long Distance circuits. In all, we have built more than $670 million worth of new facilities in a little over five years, and we're still busy at the job.

All this growth—and maintaining the financial strength to keep on expanding—will be increasingly important to the South and the Nation in the days ahead.—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

CIVIL DEFENSE

A-Bomb Not Only Home Danger
We Must Be on Guard Against

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the third in a series of five articles on the Civil Defense Program.)

WITH AN ENEMY which places no value whatever upon the lives of individuals, which has no moral scruples as we know them, an atomic bomb is not the only peril faced by the American people in an all-out war with Russia.

Biological warfare against people and against animals is one of these perils. This sort of warfare which can spread a wide variety of diseases including a number of viruses, rickettsiae, bacteria, fungi, protozoa and soluble toxins, may be waged from within by sabotage, or from without by enemy planes and can be disseminated through a variety of media, chief of which are food, air and water. These infectious diseases taken in by humans through inhalation, absorption through the skin or by food, could be disseminated by aerial bombs and other munitions, by release of infective aerosols from planes or from ground devices, taking advantage of favorable winds, or by release in ventilating systems of large auditoriums. Particularly effective is contamination of water sources.

In addition to humans, biological warfare against animals can be effective since meat, dairy and poultry products are an important source of diet for both military and civilian personnel. Production of wool and leather, might be curtailed and important biologicals and pharmaceuticals such as adrenalin, liver extract and insulin, entirely dependent upon animal glands and organs, could be cut off.

Such animal diseases as foot-and-mouth disease, rinderpest, fowl pest and foreign types of Newcastle disease appear to have greater possibilities for damage in this country. Then there is biological warfare against crops in the spread of insect pests and plant diseases which constitute a threat to our food supply. It would be comparatively easy for low flying planes to spread such crop and animal diseases across the vast stretches of the country's great plains where wheat, oats and the great animals are raised and where population is comparatively meager. The department of agriculture knows about many of these foreign pests such as Japanese beetle, European corn borer, Mediterranean fruit fly, citrus canker and other pests, and our most successful method of keeping down losses is development of strains resistant to specific diseases, which takes time. But it is likely that new organisms which present crop varieties cannot resist, may be introduced, even in peace time, and herbicidal chemicals might be disseminated openly over these vast crop areas where hostile planes might gain access.

Probably one of the most insidious and dangerous methods of chemical warfare is the dissemination of so-called nerve gases, developed in Germany during World War II. These nerve gases are more toxic than any previously known war gases and are nearly colorless and odorless. They are liquids which yield toxic vapors when they evaporate and are laid down near the ground. These gases cut off breathing and blood circulation. Action is prompt and lethal, and inhalation for a few seconds may cause death. Exposure to mild traces of the vapor causes bronchial restriction with difficulty in breathing, coughing and a water discharge of the nose. A slightly greater exposure induces painful constriction of eye muscles, terrific pain back of the eye-balls. Larger doses cause rapid and severe broncho-spasms, preventing both inhalation and exhalation. The victim becomes confused and cyanotic, may have nausea and vomiting and falls unconscious. The blood pressure falls, heart beat is slowed and may or may not start again.

The U. S. public health service has worked out treatments for all these inhuman forms of modern warfare in the biological and chemical field. The point is in learning how to combat it; what treatments to give in emergencies and in the long pull for recovery; to pile up stocks of the right kind of medicines, particularly atropine and Tridione, plenty of gas masks, protective clothing, how to prevent contamination, hospitalization and a dozen other necessities in case of such an attack.

Doctors and veterinarians must take special courses in how to combat the effects and this professional knowledge must come from the private ranks therefore full cooperation of the various state, county and local medical and related professional groups is essential. Be ready to volunteer.

put his finger to his nose with the deposit of the larvae. Once removed they should not return; however, I have instructed Mr. Littleton that if there should be any more, I wish him to return as we can get rid of them by means of an application, but at the present time I can see no indication of any further larvae.

Thank you again for referring this patient.

Best regards,

Sincerely yours,

Mercer C. Lynch, M. D.

DONATIONS TO WILTON
LITTLETON ACKNOWLEDGED

Because of the interest being shown in the sickness of Wilton Littleton and to help prevent anyone else having the misfortune we are publishing a letter from a physician who attended him at New Orleans.

Since Wilton has been returned to the hospital at New Orleans it will require more money than was first thought so if anyone interested wishes to contribute to this fund please send your contribution to the American Legion Post at Thorsby. It will be greatly appreciated by the Post and the family.—The Editor.

Thank you very much for referring Mr. Herman Littleton to us. Mr. Littleton tion was seen in the office on 19 February and at that time he brought in the specimen bottle containing several worms. On examining these grossly I did not know what they were. In washing his ear I obtained several small larvae from his ear. The nose, however, at this time was clear.

X-rays of his sinuses also were clear. Not knowing what the worms were I sent these down to Tulane to the Department of Tropical Medicine. Their report was that these are Hermetia illucina. I do not know what you think, but the name meant nothing to me. Actually, the larvae or fly eggs were deposited either in the nose or on matter that was transferred to the nose. I understand from talking to the Department that these flies and larvae are found mostly around manure piles, stables and places of that sort. In questioning Mr. Littleton I find that he has been working quite a bit in the field, plowing and distributing fertilizer. He also has been working quite a lot in the hen house in cleaning out the chicken coops and taking care of the chickens as well as work around the farm, and it is very likely that during that period he either scratched his ear or

Following In Her Mother's Footsteps

HOMEMAKING is a special art of both mother and daughter in the George Wilson family, of Guin, Rt. 2.

Mrs. Wilson was carrying 4-H Club projects in homemaking a few years ago in Lawrence County and when she grew up, married, and moved over to Marion County, she kept right on working with 4-H Clubs. She is the local leader for the Wilson School Club and is also an active member of the local home demonstration club.

Anne Wilson is following in her mother's footsteps. She has been a 4-H Club member for five years and has carried projects in cooking, food preparation and preservation, and poultry.

Anne, shown at left with her mother, is a member of the Guin 4-H Club and has just started another project—baking. She is shown cutting her first cake as her mother stands proudly by. The neatly attractive kitchen is the result of one of Mrs. Wilson's home demonstration projects. She is the kitchen result demonstrator for her club.

Bumper Crop

This bulging crib of corn was gathered from an eight-acre field grown by Clarence Hughes, of Belgreen, Rt. 1. The Franklin County farmer produced 149.79 bushels on one acre last year, and his whole farm production was over 800 bushels on eight acres. His corn yield was the best in the county.

Hughes is feeding his corn to hogs and a small herd of beef cattle.

Examining several long white ears of the record corn crop are County Agent H. A. Ponder, left, and Mr. Hughes.

Coastal Plains Top Community In State Cotton Improvement

LAST month the Coastal Plains community in Tallapoosa County was named winner of the annual state-wide cotton improvement contest.

This farm community led Alabama cotton growers in producing high yields of uniform cotton last season. In recognition of their excellent work, the community will receive a $2,000 cash award.

Communities that won district awards were Cedar Hill, Limestone County; Fleahop, Elmore County; Sardis, Dallas County, and Aliceville, Pickens County. These winners will each get $500. The prize money can be used only for improvements that will benefit all of the people in the community.

Other county winners that competed in the state contest include Grandview, Cullman County; Romine, Lauderdale; Loachapoka, Lee; Five Points, Chambers; Shorter, Macon; York, Sumter; Sweet Water, Marengo; Moundville, Hale, and Bluff, Fayette County.

The prize money is donated jointly by the Alabama-Florida Cottonseed Products Association and the Alabama Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

The cotton improvement contest is held annually to encourage growers in a community to plant a single variety of cotton and use all recommended practices for high yields of quality cotton.

For Women

A Place In Defense

THERE is more to the business of war than operating guns, tanks, and ships—or working in defense plants that build these weapons of destruction.

Part of that "other effort" that it always takes to win a war comes from the homes—farm homes—and the hard work and managing by the housewife.

With this task in mind, Alabama's Council of Home Demonstration Clubs went to work at its recent directors' meeting to outline a plan to bolster and coordinate the efforts of the state's 43,000 home demonstration club members with the big job of defense that lies ahead.

Food is a big item in times of peace, but it takes on gigantic proportions in times of war or defensive preparation. The women who attended the council meeting in Auburn went on record as supporting the production and preservation of more food. They condemned safe buying and hoarding, and they urged the club women of the state along with all housewives to practice economy and intelligence in buying.

First-aid and home-nursing training were other big planks in the women's platform for preparedness. They are making plans to learn more about these two vital functions. Support of blood donor stations and the enlistment of blood donors were also recommended.

And then there were steps taken to cooperate with the reorganized USO—to furnish chaperones, assist with recreation, and furnish mending services for local united service clubs.

All of these far reaching plans seem to be part of a pattern—one that faded out some five or six years ago when the usefulness of such a program was supposed to be at an end. These intervening years appear merely to have been a recess. The time has come to go back to work—and the state's 43,000 home demonstration club women are ready to take on their part of the job again.

4-H'ers Boost Pasture Program

ALMOST every farmer in Calhoun County was called on last month by a 4-H Club boy. The boys had a questionnaire aimed at finding out how many acres of pasture are located on each farm in the county.

These boys know that there can't be much expansion of the cattle industry in their area until there is a good supply of winter and summer grazing crops located on every farm. When the survey is completed, the boys are planning to put on a campaign to get more grazing and feed crops produced in the county.

Tom Bass, assistant county agent in Calhoun, originated the idea and is handling the project through all of the clubs in the county.

Photo 3. Scenes like this are growing more and more common in the Wiregrass county of Geneva. Drought and cold weather throughout the fall and winter have kept grazing crops from growing very rapidly, but these fine Herefords on the Johnson farm still have plenty to eat. More than 500 pounds per acre of Bahia grass and crimson clover seed were harvested from this pasture last year.

Photo 5. Through this barn passed more than a million and half dollars' worth of cattle and hogs last year. Talking about the sales record of the Geneva stockyard are J. C. Clements, left, owner of the yard, and County Agent Woodham.

Livestock In Geneva

Three And One Half Million Dollar Business

FIRST it was cotton, then peanuts, that brought home most of the cash to Geneva County farmers. And now these Wiregrass lovers have found a new leader to handle the task of lining their pockets.

The new money-making leader is livestock—an industry destined to double and triple before it reaches its peak as a source of cash.

In 1950 income from livestock sales totaled well over three and one-half million dollars.

Cattle and hogs sold at the weekly livestock auction in Geneva alone came to one and a half million dollars last year. Commercial sales at daily markets in Geneva, Samson, Slocumb, and Hartford added another million and a half, and County Agent M. M. Woodham estimates more than half a million dollars' worth of livestock was sold at neighboring yards outside the county.

About 60 per cent of the total income came from hog sales and the other 40 per cent from the sale of commercial cattle, Woodham figures. This does not include dairy cows and products from eight Grade A dairies now in operation.

"The thing that makes this livestock business hum is the fact that it fits all farmers," Mr. Woodham explains. "For little farmers, big farmers, and middle sized farmers it's the same—they're using livestock either as a leading source of cash or to supplement farm income from other sources."

Woodham points to several examples in emphasizing his statement. And among them is the Cecil Johnson Farms where 2,500 acres are in cultivation. Cecil has a herd of 175 Hereford brood cows. He is also using a share cropper system that allows every tenant on the place to have a herd of hogs. Yet these livestock projects don't keep the farm from growing 300 acres of cotton and plenty of peanuts.

Another example the agent cites is the Frank Brewer farm near Samson. Made up of just 100 acres, this farm produced over 100 market hogs last year and supported a herd of 20 Angus brood cows. The Brewers still had time and space to make 1½ bales of cotton on 11 acres.

Still another example is Ed Brannon, of Lytle community. Depending entirely on livestock on his small farm, Ed has a 20 cow beef herd and this year will have about eight or 10 brood sows.

They all do the job with improved pasture land plus field crops of corn and peanuts. Many acres of the corn and peanuts are harvested by hogs. Hay from dug peanuts goes to the cattle. And temporary and permanent pasture is used by all livestock. Leading grazing crops are crimson, white Dutch and other clovers, oats, lespedeza sericea, Bahia grass, and fescue.

Buyers who handle most of the livestock produced in Geneva County are the Geneva Stockyards, where the weekly auction is held; Hyde Stockyards and Carl Register, Slocumb; J. C. Brannon and Sons, Spargion Bullington, and A. D. Brown, Hartford; and Tank Early, Samson.

Along the Way

DIRECTOR, APL EXTENSION SERVICE

If you're satisfied to make 12 or 15 bushels of corn per acre, you'll not be interested in reading this. If, on the other hand, you want to make 30 or 60 or more bushels on each acre, you'll find this article worth reading.

For a long time the feeling prevailed that Alabama could not make big yields of corn. No one said exactly that, but the feeling was prevalent.

But we know now that a farmer can make a lot of corn on each acre. Many have exceeded 100 bushels and many more have made well above 50 bushels.

This is the way to make 100-bushel per acre yields:

1. Plant corn on land suited to corn.
2. Plant good seed of the best varieties available.
3. Plant corn thick enough. Those who make 100 bushels or more plant in rows about 42 inches apart, with stalks 12 to 18 inches apart in the row.
4. Plant at the right time for summer rains. For most of Alabama this means around the first of May or about two months before summer rains are due to begin.
5. Fertilize liberally at planting and apply nitrogen later.
6. Cultivate just enough to control weeds and grass. Usually two or three light cultivations will be enough.

For more information on this, see your county agent. He'll tell you about the variety to use, the kind and amount of fertilizer per acre, date to plant, and other facts.

At least 16 million bales of cotton are needed in 1951. This exceeds the 1950 crop by more than 60 per cent.

Cotton is needed for all kinds of uses, both lint and seed. The American people need more cotton, and the same is true of our customers abroad.

To produce at least 16 million bales, the man who made 10 bales last year should make at least 16 bales this year, and the man who made five bales should make at least eight bales this year. All that each farmer can make is needed.

A farmer can make more by planting more acres and making more cotton on each acre. This calls for more fertilizer, good seed of the best varieties, good cultural practices, and effective insect control.

More acres can be planted without disturbing pasture. In Alabama there is enough good land for cotton for farmers to make a substantial increase in their cotton acreage without disturbing good farming or misusing land.

In planning and in farming this year, please consider the following facts:

1. That much higher production of foods and fibers is needed.
2. That labor will be scarce because of more men in the armed services and in war industries.
3. That production costs will be high, calling for thorough planning and high efficiency.
4. That, for best results, everything needed should be done in the right way at the right time.

Farming, now as never before, calls for the application of scientific information about soil, crops, animals. It calls also for economic information about marketing and financing as well as production.

Zinc May Be Good Investment For Corn Growers In State

By JOHN WEAR, Associate Soil Chemist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

A dollar's worth of zinc may be worth five to 10 bushels of corn!

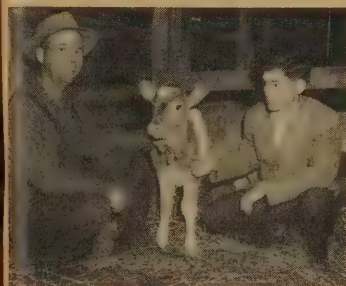

If your corn appears yellow or white in the bud soon after coming up, it may need zinc. If the zinc content of the soil is very low, zinc is just as necessary in the fertilizer for high yields as nitrogen, potash, and phosphate. Most Alabama soils contain enough zinc for high yields, but many are too low in available zinc for maximum growth of corn when high rates of fertilizer are used.

If corn needs zinc, the young plant has a yellow top and may have white or yellow stripes in the leaves. As the plant grows larger, the roots become more extensive and are able to get more zinc. As a result the plant becomes greener, and the stripes may disappear about laying-by-time. Although the corn seems to outgrow the early symptoms of zinc deficiency, the harm done is enough to decrease the yield five to 10 bushels per acre. This condition may be prevented by adding 10 to 15 pounds of zinc sulfate per acre to the soils.

Based on the results of tests conducted at the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station and 138 Extension cooperative farm demonstrations, zinc deficiency may be expected in the southern part of the state south of the Black Belt; deficiency symptoms also occur in scattered areas in other sections of the state.

It was found that although zinc deficiency may exist, symptoms usually occur more readily under conditions of heavy fertilization. In areas where corn has shown zinc deficiency symptoms, and if high rates of fertilizer (400 to 500 pounds of mixed goods under and a side-dressing of 48 pounds of nitrogen or more) are used, it is good insurance to use zinc in the fertilizer.

To supply the amount of zinc needed under the foregoing conditions, the mixer should add about 50 pounds of zinc sulfate per ton of fertilizer. Side-dressing corn with zinc has not been satisfactory because the plant needs it before a side-dress application of nitrogen is made.

Well Pleased Dairyman

The expression on the face of Coy Sparkman, of Hartselle, Rt. 1, shows plainly that he is well pleased with his latest artificially bred heifer calf. With Sparkman, at right, is Billy Page, technician for the Morgan County Breeding Association.

Sparkman began artificially breeding his family cows several years ago and now has several first and second calf heifers and several young calves that were artificially bred. The calf shown above was sired by "Cooper" H. Davey, and her dam was sired by Klondike Hollinbaker. Both bulls are in the A.P.I. artificial breeding stud at Auburn.

At left, Woodrow Rains, of Centre, Rt. 2, discusses with County Agent J. J. Young, left, the agreement Rains and his landlord have for growing hogs. Rains, the tenant, and Mrs. Tevis Smith Burke, the landlord, have an agreement whereby both parties profit from their landlord-tenant hog program.

One reason that the partnership hog business is clicking for Rains and his landlord is that they are growing meat type hogs—the kind in biggest demand. And they grow them cheap. Green grazing and corn, both self service crops, form the main diet for the hog herd.

Rains and County Agent Young are shown at right looking over some of the hogs on the farm.

This Plan Works

Cherokee Tenant-Owner Hog Farming Thrives

LIVESTOCK farming is no longer just a plan for the future—it's already big business. And like any new and expanding enterprise it has its problems. Chief among these are the tenant-landlord arrangements.

These problems must be answered before a successful livestock enterprise can be started. What are the tenant's responsibilities? The landlord's? Who should pay for fertilizer, seeds, breeding stock, necessary equipment? How should the profits be divided?

One simple answer is for the tenant to buy a farm of his own. But this is sometimes out of the question. In many cases the tenant cannot buy the kind of land he needs. Owners may not want to sell, or if they will sell, the price may be too high for the buyer.

In several cases, however, tenants and landlords have worked out agreements whereby a tenant can grow livestock on a share-cropping basis. One of these agreements is working fine in Cherokee County for Mrs. Tevis Smith Burke, the landlord, and three of her tenants.

Woodrow Rains, Centre, Rt. 2, was the first to begin growing hogs under the agreement with Mrs. Burke, but Willie Chandler and Walter Williams soon followed.

The agreement is a very simple variation of the common thirds and fourths system used for row-cropping. The tenant owns two-thirds of the breeding stock and receives two-thirds of the profits. Expenses are split the same way.

The landlord pays for one-third of the seed, fertilizer, and other operating expenses. In building fences or necessary buildings, the landlord furnishes the material, posts, wire, etc., and the tenant furnishes the labor.

Feed crops are never divided; they are fed to the hogs. When hogs are marketed, receipts are split one-third for the landlord and two-thirds for the tenant. In expanding operations, animals to be kept are selected from the jointly owned herd.

Mrs. Rains sold 54 top hogs during 1950 for $1,950. Mrs. Burke received $650, or one-

When producers select a variety of hybrid corn to grow, the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station recommends that they keep in mind the following things: (1) adaptability of the hybrid to growing conditions (yield), (2) resistance to lodging, (3) resistance to insects and diseases, and (4) adaptability to manual or mechanized cultural practices.

third of the selling price. Rains also grew 30 acres of cotton which yielded 25 bales. The landlord paid for one-fourth of the cotton. The agreement for livestock production does not affect the row-cropping agreement.

Both landlord and tenant believe that the arrangement is successful because it is simple. They point out that there is little chance of disagreement, and each party knows just how he stands at all times.

THAT age-old housewife's problem of "company coming for Sunday dinner" doesn't bother Mrs. W. C. Murphy, of Brantley, a bit. On a moment's notice she is fully prepared to cook a summer-time meal in the dead of winter.

Mrs. Murphy, who is a member of the Brantley Rural Home Demonstration Club, has a regular storehouse of food in her frozen food locker. It's running over with 375 pounds of everything from catfish to corn, squash, and squirrels. There are more than a dozen different varieties of vegetables and nearly as many different fruits in the locker. The Crenshaw homemaker also has a good supply of home-canned foods to fill out her menus.

BUILDERS—A little ingenuity, a lot of work, and the necessary materials can do wonders for an old house. It doesn't cost too much either, according to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Loyd, Jr., of Stevenson.

The Jackson County family started with a box type four-room tenant house and made it into an attractive farm home. A combination porch and driveway was added to the outside, and new hardwood flooring and ceiling were added to the inside. The house was re-wired, and they gave the interior a new look with a wall paper job. Next a bathroom was built and kitchen cabinets added. Best of all though, all of the job was done with no experienced labor. Mrs. Loyd, right, and Mrs. Clyde D. Peck, home agent, are shown by the completed house. Here (inset) Mrs. Loyd whips up a cake in her new kitchen.

Mr. Loyd works with his Dad on their 1,000-acre dairy and general farm in Jackson County.

Snap Beans For Alabama Truckers And Gardeners

By JOHN BAGBY
A.P.I. Extension Horticulturist

SNAP beans, both bush and pole type, are one of the most popular and widely grown of all vegetables.

Raised in practically every section of the country, they are excellent as a fresh vegetable and make a good canned or frozen product.

The bush type is more popular in the northern markets, and thus more of it is grown for commercial shipping to those markets. It is somewhat earlier and reaches the market stage in a shorter time than pole beans. Bush beans require less labor and are somewhat less expensive to grow than pole beans.

Pole beans are more popular on the southern markets and are thought by many people to be of better quality. While they require more labor, especially for staking, than the bush type, pole beans produce considerably larger yields and greater returns per acre.

Varieties. The most popular varieties of bush beans have been Black Valentine and Tendergreen, which are round, and Plentiful, which is flat. Two varieties developed in recent years, Contender and Top Crop, show great promise and may possibly replace some of the older varieties. They seem to rate very well in yields, quality, and disease resistance and are well adapted to canning and freezing.

Among the pole beans Kentucky Wonder is the leading variety in the South. Alabama No. 1, developed at the A.P.I. Experiment Station, is a bean of excellent quality but is not favored in some markets because of a purple pigment on the pods. This color completely disappears when the beans are cooked. Another development at A.P.I. is the Mild White Giant, an excellent producer of very mild flavor. This year is the first time that seed of this variety have been offered for sale by seedsmen.

Market Facts. The markets generally prefer a bean which is fresh, of reasonable size, young and tender, stringless, and free from tough shucky pods. Many people like a few, nearly grown beans to shell out while others prefer only the young, tender snaps. The best practice is to pick beans at the stage which will sell best on the markets being served.

Planting. Snap beans are a warm weather plant and to make the best yields should be planted so that they come up soon after the last spring frost. Very often plants that reach fruiting age during very hot, dry weather may fail to set beans. The earliest plantings do best on light sandy soils which warm up quickly in the spring. For mid-summer plantings, select low, moist spots which will not dry out excessively in droughty seasons.

It's a known fact that eggs will keep longer if collected in a wire basket and cooled quickly. And they should be stored in a cool place. Eggs that are collected and stored in a bucket cool more slowly because of the lack of circulating air, and they lose quality rapidly.

This Month on the Farm

by A.P.I. EXTENSION SPECIALISTS

LAYING flocks should be culled very close by this month. Removing the non-layers will keep the flock at a high rate of production throughout the spring. This is especially important during the period of low priced eggs.

JANUARY hatched pullets will be ready to go to the range this month. Give these pullets an opportunity to make you a profit by providing them with a clean range—that mature chickens have not been on for two years. This practice helps reduce the death losses from leucosis and heavy worm infestations.

A laying flock is one of the best markets for home-grown grains. Plant enough corn to have one bushel for each pullet you plan to put in the laying house next fall. If you plan a large corn crop this year, increase the size of the laying flock proportionately so that the corn can be sold at top prices through the hens.

MARCH is the time to plan and in some places plant special crops for emergency grazing during the summer. Annual lespedeza seeded alone, especially in the northern part of the state, will help out in the summer. The dairyman and the hog grower should also consider planting some Sudan grass, cattail millet, and oxtotán soybeans to help out in tight periods in the summer.

SOYBEANS for oil were profitable for a lot of farmers in 1950. The Ogden is the outstanding oil variety. It is best to plant beans for oil after winter legumes harvested for seed or after winter grazing crops. But do not try growing soybeans for oil unless you have a combine or can get the use of one at the time the beans will be ready to harvest.

EACH year late in March farmers begin to hear of cattle being lost from bloat. Usually this loss is caused by not observing the cattle often enough. All cattle on succulent leguminous grazing should be observed each afternoon between 3:00 and dark as that is the time of day when most bloat occurs. Cattle that are bloating should be removed from the pasture immediately, placed in a dry lot, and given additional treatment if necessary.

DON'T overfeed sows just before or immediately after farrowing. Full feeding before the little pigs are a week old may result in caked udders or mastitis, with heavy losses of young pigs from scouring. Give the sow nothing but water a day before and after farrowing, and take about one week to get her on full feed again.

ALL dairy cattle under one year of age should be treated now for stomach worms. Use phenothiazine as a drench or powder in feed at the rate of 20 grams per hundred pounds of liveweight. The maximum dose for any animal is 60 grams. Weak or heavily-infested animals should be kept in a dark stall on day of treatment. This treatment should be repeated if necessary in the spring and again in the fall.

To many folks, one of the main drawbacks of dairying is the regularity with which milking time rolls around. But that's one part of the job that doesn't bother L. C. Causey one bit—in fact he likes his cows and likes to be around them, and he has named some of them.

The cow Causey is shown milking at left above is named Dolphas, and the one next to her is Randy. The big Holstein down on the end of the line is Dot.

Dolphas and Randy are the two cows Causey started with when he first began growing out a bunch of calves.

The dairyman keeps a close watch on all of his cows, and he notices the slightest bit of trouble that comes along. Things like a cut leg or a cow going off feed are quickly noticed and the trouble is soon straightened out—all of which means that the producer gets more milk from his cows and in turn more profit.

At right, Causey strains up a pail full of milk from one of his cows. The dairyman has a well planned and well built barn and milk room. These conveniences help him keep his milk clean and sanitary.

It Took Two And A Half Years

Town Man Grows Into The Dairy Business

TO some people two and a half years is a long time to spend just trying to get started with a new business—but for L. C. Causey the time fairly flew by.

Causey is a new dairyman out on Fayette, Rt. 5, and it took him a good two years and a half to get prepared to start selling milk. But he already figures the time was well spent.

Some of the people around the neighborhood wondered why this "town man" had left the city and gone on a farm. And they wondered why he was taking such a long time getting ready—just to sell milk. They know the answer now. Causey took his time because he decided to go into dairying the practical way.

Starting with a couple of grade Jersey cows, the future dairyman began growing out heifers that he picked as four-day-old calves from larger dairies around the area. While he was growing these cows, he was also spending a lot of time planting good pastures. He now has 35 acres of fescue and Ladino clover, 40 acres of crimson clover, and five acres of alfalfa. And he is going to keep planting several acres of alfalfa each year until he has all of the green grazing and legume hay crops that 15 or 20 cows can handle.

With the exception of a little protein supplement, Causey grows all the feed he needs. He had 50 acres of corn last year and averaged around 35 bushels per acre. The producer is planning to raise his corn yield by using more fertilizer and by growing his corn in a rotation with legumes.

The first day of last September was M day for the new dairyman. That day he began selling wholesale grade A milk. The first few weeks he was milking only three cows—the two he has used to raise his calves and one other cow which he bought.

By early January his milking herd had grown to eight cows—five of these were among the four-day-old calves Causey had raised at home. Four more home-grown heifers will soon be producing milk.

It's been a long time since Mr. Causey brought the first group of bellowing calves home and started nursing his future herd. But the dairyman seems to like the work because he still has a barnyard full of calves and a barn full of cows—home-grown.

The more common pests which attack snap beans are wilt, mosaic, bean rust, nematodes, and the Mexican bean beetle. The most effective means of controlling these pests are crop rotation, seed treatment, and crop dusting. A one per cent rotenone dust gives good results in controlling bean beetles, and sulphur dust is effective against rust.

Reclaimed Land Brings In New Income

FIVE thousand acres of land that have not brought a dime to Sumter County farmers in the last 50 years or more are back at work now.

These acres—until just recently covered with worthless bushes, ditches, and poorly drained areas—are now in permanent pastures and grazing crops.

County Agent W. B. Story points out that this land will furnish grazing for 1,500 head of cattle and gross for the owners better than $100,000 annually. Before the land was reclaimed, it was not earning enough to pay taxes.

Story says 17 heavy-duty tractors were used throughout last year to reclaim the land. Bushes were cleaned off, gullies filled, land prepared and fertilized, and seed planted on the areas. Five miles of ditches were constructed to drain low lands and 11 tons of dynamite were used in the job, in addition to the heavy equipment.

The land reclamation was done on 140 farms in the county.

From Bushes To Beef

The rough and run-down farm shown in these pictures won't look the same five years from now when Dr. D. J. Wilson of Athens gets his operation "beef cattle" in full swing.

Doc Wilson has come a long way already with his project, and he has his sights on making the old family farm a profitable enterprise. He is going after his project systematically. Wilson has a map of the fields he will have and he's already decided what grazing crops will be put on most of the land.

The farm contains 200 acres, most of which were either grown up in scrub trees and bushes or had washed badly. But much of the forested area has now been cleared, and the washed-off land has been put in shape to grow grass. When the job is finished, Wilson will have 175 acres in cleared land and practically every acre will be in sod crops.

Below, Wilson and Morrow take a long look across one of the cleared fields. This field, like most of the rest of the farm, will soon be planted to grazing crops.

Elected at the recent annual meeting in Montgomery, they are, left to right, Mack Maples, Elkmont, first vice-president; J. Planting Date--Seeding Rates For Lespedeza Sericea

By CLARENCE WILSON, Associate Soil Chemist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

SERICEA seeded at the rate of 30 pounds of scarified seed per acre from April 15 to June 15 in 1942 produced the best hay yields over a period of four years, 1943-46, at the Aliceville Experiment Field.

Seeding rates tried ranged from 10 to 50 pounds of seed per acre. Average hay yields for the four-year period showed an annual yield of 6,000 pounds for the 30-pound seeding rate as compared with 5,465 pounds for the 20 pound seeding rate and 6,178 pounds where 50 pounds of seed were planted per acre. These yields indicate that 30 pounds of scarified seed per acre is the most satisfactory rate of seeding, provided a good seedbed is prepared.

At Aliceville another test was in progress at the same time to determine the best time to plant sericea. Beginning April 15, sericea was seeded on the 15th of each month through July, 1942. Based on four-year averages, the best hay yields were obtained from those seedings made in April, May and June, which were approximately 6,000 pounds per acre. The yields from the July planting were about 5,500 pounds per acre.

Other work on dates of seeding sericea was done at Auburn where seedings were made in 1934, 1935, and 1936. In this test the yields were highest from the April seedings and decreased as the date of planting became later.

Farmers often find it necessary to plant sericea earlier than April, (as early as Feb. 15 in south Alabama), in order to make it fit into the Spring seeding program. Very often such early seedings are quite successful, but it is necessary to keep in mind the date of the last killing frost when planting early. Also if sericea is seeded in the summer, sufficient time should be allowed for the crop to make several inches of growth and establish a fairly good root system before frost occurs in the fall.

A variety of hybrid corn, like varieties of other crops, may or may not be adapted to a certain area. The A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station conducts tests annually to determine the adaptability of the various hybrids that are offered for sale. Your county agent has the results of these tests. He can give you the names of hybrids suited to your area.

House-Building Homemaker

THIS isn't the "House that Jack Built" because the lady who drew the plans and supervised the building of this six room house is Mrs. J. H. Lambert of Heflin.

Mrs. Lambert is a charter member of the Heflin Home Demonstration Club, and she really went after her home improvement project in a big way. The house builder was her club's first president and served in that office for three terms.

The Heflin homemaker had never drawn up plans for a house before—much less built one. But she is satisfied with the home she now has and wouldn't swap places with anyone.

The Best Corn Meal Is Enriched

IN the past few years much has been done to improve the quality of many foods by the simple process of adding small amounts of vitamins to the products.

The average housewife pays little attention to the label on a sack of flour or meal, but a close inspection of the label will reveal that minerals and vitamins have been added. The same is true for milk and other foods. Many dairymen now add units of certain vitamins to their products.

In line with the program to make good foods better, many millers-in the state have placed enrichment hoppers on their corn mills. These hoppers add very small quantities of needed vitamins to the meal. This is done at no expense to the farmer who brings his corn to be ground. And the added vitamins are not easily detected in the meal or bread made from the product.

by M. L. Barber of Belgreen. Watching the mill in operation are, left to right, Mrs. I. B. Carroll, Russellville, Rt. 3; Mr. Barber, Mrs. Leon Nelson, Mrs. Clinton Davis, and Mrs. Pete Bragwell of Belgreen. Mrs. Carroll has her hand on the hopper which contains the enrichment mixture. These women are all members of the Belgreen Home Demonstration Club. They take an active part in any plan for the betterment of their community.

Alabama Cattlemen Plan Sound Program

THE 1951 convention of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association was held in Montgomery. By resolution the organization declared itself on many important subjects. Their program of action is both realistic and sound. It's based upon what can be done and should be done, not only for the good of cattlemen, but for agriculture as a whole.

They elected Ernest Lambert of Darlington as president, succeeding O. J. Henley of Geiger and Tuscaloosa, who had served well and faithfully as president.

Much emphasis was placed upon grass and grazing, which includes clovers and grasses. Speakers made crystal clear the fact that good grazing is essential to success in cattle production. They made clear also the fact that Alabama soil, climate, and rainfall are conducive to good grass most of the year.

They are exceptionally good.

To this is added the fact that there are millions of acres of "loafing land" in Alabama. It's producing little or nothing because it isn't being treated right.

There isn't a better way to use it than to put it to making grass. This will take work and the use of money for fertilizer, seed, and other things.

But it'll pay off. In fact, it will pay well if properly done. One man said that a dollar properly spent in making grazing will return five to nine dollars. In addition, it'll enrich land.

Therefore, more grazing for more livestock means more income and richer land. This is a combination that will win any day anywhere in Alabama.

Tasty Dish For March

DURING the windy month of March eggs supplies usually go up and the price goes down.

Housewives may capitalize on this period of low egg prices by featuring eggs in the daily menu. Eggs add flavor and color to any dish, and they are power packed with proteins, vitamins, and minerals.

When used in casseroles or other baked dishes, eggs go well with small quantities of expensive meats—they make the meat dollar go further, and through the skilled hands of the housewife, eggs and meat are combined to make tantalizing dishes.

One such recipe, combining eggs and ham, is listed below. Other meats may easily be substituted for the ham.

SCALLOPED EGGS AND HAM

6 hard cooked eggs	1 cup chopped, cooked ham
2 cups white sauce	1 cup bread crumbs
4 tablespoons melted butter

Make white sauce with two cups milk, four tablespoons fat, and four tablespoons flour. Into greased baking dish put layers of crumbs, white sauce, chopped ham, and sliced eggs. Repeat. Cover top with crumbs and brown in moderate oven (350°F.).

Dusting Cotton Paid 10 For 1

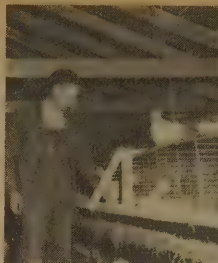

WHETHER or not it pays to poison cotton in order to control weevils is a question that has been argued from one end of the state to the other. But there's no question about the matter insofar as Cecil Whatley over in Lee County is concerned.

Mr. Whatley planted nine acres of Coker 100 Wilt cotton and fertilized it according to recommendations. A tenant on the Whatley farm also planted nine acres and used the same amount of fertilizer. Both fields were planted on the same day and by the same operator—but that's where the similarity between the two crops stopped.

Whatley began dusting his cotton on July 10 and during the following two months he put on seven applications of poison. The tenant did not poison his cotton.

When all of the picking was completed last fall, Whatley had made eight bales of cotton on his nine acres. The tenant made four bales. Mr. Whatley figures his extra four bales were worth around $900. His poison cost only $90.

If you don't believe that dusting pays, just don't get in a discussion with Cecil Whatley about it. He can show you right quick where every dollar he took out of his pocket to buy cotton poison put 10 dollars back in his pocket at the end of the season. Where can you find a better proposition?

White Gold In Blount

Rosa Farmers Make Poultry Business Pay

FOLKS around the small rural community of Rosa in Blount County have struck white gold in their own backyards.

This white gold, in the form of top quality eggs for the market, may not be glamorous, but it's helping to make a good farm living for residents of Rosa.

Back in 1940 the first prospectors, Jim Foust and Coy Murray, started out in a small way with one 250 hen capacity house each. By 1944 Jim had added two more houses and had built up his flock to 750 hens. Then he went into the Navy and had to drop his poultry program for a while.

This was just about the way things stood in 1947, but all at once something happened.

Poultry houses started going up on almost every farm, and many farmers built several houses. Rosa community was on its way to becoming the egg center of North Alabama.

Finding a market for their eggs was no problem at all. The Birmingham area, only a half hour drive from Rosa, uses 550,000 eggs per day. And in addition thousands of dozens of eggs are packed in Birmingham to supply surrounding areas. Ninety per cent of these eggs are imported from other states.

With this in mind Rosa farmers went ahead with their expansion plans. Now there are 23 poultry houses within one mile of the Rosa General Store. There are all kinds—two-story houses, small houses, and large houses—ranging in capacity from 250 hens to 2,000. Almost every farm in the community is now growing poultry.

Jim Foust is back in business with 1,700 hens. But he has switched to the Auburn Strain White Leghorns, a strain developed at the A.P.I. Experiment Station.

He compared his Auburn strain hens with another house of 700 popular strain White Leghorns. The Auburn Strain is way ahead. He started 1,050 Auburn White Leghorns almost a year ago; 1,029 of the original 1,050 day-old chicks are still in the laying flock. The house of popular strain White Leghorns didn't do so well. Mortality in this flock has been about 20 per cent, Foust reports.

The Auburn strain produces well too. Records show that the Foust flock has averaged 75 to 80 per cent production.

E. F. Murray likes the Auburn White Leghorns too. He has a flock of 2,000 layers and 1,100 six-week-old pullets.

All of the poultrymen are using every trick to cut corners and save labor.

All of the producers have made their mark in the community. From A. H. Cornelius, who has been buying and selling eggs for 25 years, to R. M. Ellis, the latest member of the closely knit poultry growing community.

The most striking example of progress in the past three years can be seen in the farm homes. Neat farm houses with running water, electric kitchens, and modern conveniences prove that poultry is profitable for the residents.

"Old Timer" Has Cotton Know-How

Everybody is familiar with the old saying that "you can't teach an old dog new tricks." But there is one farmer up in Fayette County, old in years but not in ways, who will tell you right quick that the old saying isn't necessarily true. The farmer, J. C. Grimsley, is just 79 years young, and he has latched on to all the new methods in producing cotton. And he made a record crop last year despite the attacks of hordes of boll weevils.

Mr. Grimsley has been growing cotton in Fayette County for over thirty years, and it is useless to argue with him about fertilizing and poisoning cotton. Throughout a long trail of hard work he's learned that it pays to "put a heap into a crop if a heap is to be gathered in the fall."

But Mr. J. C. would be quick to tell you that he didn't do the whole job of producing 74 bales of cotton on 65 acres last year. He lays a lot of the credit to his farm manager, Leon Yearby, and he also gives credit to the 600 pounds of 6-8-4 fertilizer he put under every acre of his cotton and the eight applications of poison he dusted on his crop when the weevils began to lay it away.

Shown above at left is County Agent P. R. Pettus with Mr. Grimsley. Grimsley is holding the certificate he received for his more than a bale per acre cotton production.

Pile Of Potatoes

Pictured at left is part of the stack of crated sweetpotatoes in the curing house on Otis Buie's farm in Houston County. After the potatoes are cured by artificial heat, they are stored in the house until moved to market. Assistant County Agent J. N. White, left, and Buie are examining the dozens of stacked crates.

At right, Otis Buie points to one of the floor ventilators in his potato storage house. These vents are arranged along both sides of the house. Ceiling ventilators are located at each end of the structure.

Big Business

Houston Sweetpotato Production Goes Up

SWEETPOTATO production is now big business in Houston County and Southeast Alabama. Ten thousand bushels of certified potatoes were produced in Houston last year.

And one of the fellows who help make potatoes big business there is Otis Buie, of Webb, Rt. 1.

Otis and his dad started growing sweetpotatoes three years ago, and they've raked in some cash each year. They collected $3,100 from their 11-acre crop two years ago. And last fall they harvested 3,500 bushels of field graded potatoes from 25 acres.

The first five acres were planted from draws, or slips, grown in a hotbed last winter. Those were planted early, and after growing a while the plants furnished vine cuttings for the other 20 acres.

Potatoes from the five-acre "mother patch" brought a good price on July and August markets. The stored crop, which was recently inspected and certified by the government, is going to market in small lots every week. As certified seed potatoes, many of these will be sold at premium prices. Some are of the Porto Rican Bunch variety, but most of the crop was planted in Porto Rican Copperskins, the "old standby."

Otis says storage facilities are a mighty important part of the potato business. And last summer he fixed himself a place to store the tubers. At an expense of $750 plus his labor he built as fine a storage house as can be found on a farm anywhere. Thirty by 40 feet with a 12-foot ceiling, the house is designed to hold 6,000 bushels. It has a double concrete floor, is covered with asbestos siding and asbestos roofing, and is heated, insulated, and ventilated according to recommendations of the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station.

The young farmer thinks he'll be sticking with the business for some time. His plans now call for planting at least 20 acres with his own certified seed this spring.

When three ears of corn are tossed to wormy pigs, the pigs get two ears—and the worms get the other ear. That's just one example of the thiefin' way internal parasites go about the job of bankrupting the livestock farmer.

The picture shown above comes from the latest circular on hogs and their parasitic enemies. The name of the publication is "They Eat Your Profits." The circular was prepared by G. B. Phillips, A. P. I. Extension specialist in animal industry, and it is available at your county agent's office.

Research Results

in brief
from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL
EXPERIMENT STATION

COTTON PLANTED AFTER ALFALFA AND SERICEA may not yield as well as expected due to severe potash deficiency. Since alfalfa and sericea feed heavily on potash, little remains in the soil for succeeding crops unless it is added as fertilizer. The most economical way to prevent this deficiency is to apply annually the recommended rates of potash to alfalfa and sericea. Otherwise, very large amounts may be needed to correct the condition.

YIELDS FROM CORN SPACING TESTS conducted in 1950 indicate that a satisfactory number of plants per acre result, when recommended fertilizer practices are followed, from a spacing of one corn plant every 18 to 24 inches in rows 40 to 42 inches apart. With good seed and average conditions a satisfactory plant population will be obtained by planting two kernels every two feet.

ALABAMA COTTON MILLS obtained about two-fifths of the cotton they used in 1947 and 1948 from Alabama. This amounted to nearly 52 per cent of the cotton harvested in Alabama in 1947 and 40 per cent of the cotton harvested in 1948. If Alabama farmers produced more cotton of the quality that Alabama mills demand, a much higher percentage of the state's cotton crop could be consumed by Alabama mills.

WHEN EXPERIMENTAL FOREST TREES get to pulpwood size, they are carefully selected for thinning. The remaining trees rapidly increase the value of the stands. If trees are not thinned, many of them die and go to waste. If, on the other hand, the best trees are cut, the remaining poor trees add little value to the stands.

BEEF CALVES at Auburn have been wintered in good condition, since the freezing of winter grazing crops on Nov. 25, on four pounds per head per day of a mixture of 400 pounds of crushed corn and 100 pounds of cottonseed meal with a light feed of legume hay. Yearling heifers and dry cows have been wintered in the fields on hay without concentrates.

TWO-YEAR-OLD COTTON SEED are as good as one-year-old seed if stored under good conditions for maintaining vitality, according to tests conducted for three years at 12 different locations in the state. The two-year-old seed slightly outyielded the one-year-old seed in one of the three years tested and yielded about the same in the other two years.

COTTON IN A ONE-YEAR ROTATION of cotton-vetch-cotton has averaged a little better than a bale per acre in the last four years at the Upper Coastal Plain substation. In the first three years the cotton was fertilized with 500 pounds of 4-10-7 per acre. In 1950 no extra nitrogen was supplied; only 400 pounds of 0-14-10 per acre were used. There was much more early blight on cotton following vetch than in other fields where cotton followed corn.

NIGHT LIGHTS have not been found at the Main Station to increase the rate or economy of gain for fattening hogs.

BEWARE THE TRAP

Will people ever learn that "politics is politics," no matter who our elective officials may be.

Sure it's "money that makes the mare go." But somebody around here must have hollered "whoa."

People in droves are enjoying the beautiful Spring weather in Chilton County. It is reported that fish in the Coosa are expecting a bumper crop of fishermen along the banks of that stream this season. They're already telling tall tales about the big one they got away from.

If you haven't already got ready for the Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up campaign that opens in Chilton County on April 1st, you better get ready if you want to be in style. Everyone in the County is going all-out in an effort to beautify their homes, farms, and communities. Get in step and be ready at the opening gun Monday morning, April 2nd. It's Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week in Chilton.

Practical Jokes are not practical. Proof is the death of 18 year old Allen Kaplan, of Chelsea, Mass., who was drowned the other night after a "practical joke" turned into tragedy. Beware the practical joker.

SUCH VANDALISM

The report reaches us that more than 50 window panes have been broken at the City Park within the past few months. This can hardly be looked upon as accidental. It smacks of vandalism.

We can't know exactly where our children are at all times or can we know what they are doing, but if the City property is being destroyed it is the obligation of the parents to do some investigating.

Those responsible should be found out and punished. People, both young and old; male and female, are too ready to turn their head at the destruction of public property. They seem to take the attitude that "It isn't mine, so I'm not responsible." It's an old American custom that is all wrong.

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY

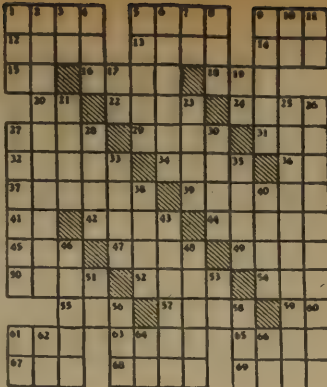

Alabama teachers who attend the AEA convention in Birmingham on March 16 will have the unusual opportunity of hearing the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra without cost.

Symphonies are expensive enterprises. They only exist when musicians of outstanding skill and artistry are assembled under conditions favorable to expert musical expression. Such musicians and such conditions require considerable funds. As a consequence, admission prices to symphony concerts are usually high.

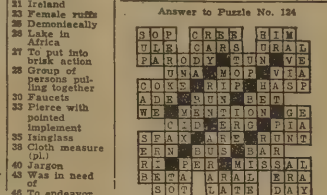

For Alabama teachers to hear, without charge, an orchestra of recognized excellence, such as characterizes the Birmingham Symphony, is an uncommon experience. It is expected that a large number of convention visitors will be on hand Friday evening during the convention period when Director Arthur Bennett Lipkin lifts his baton to open the thirty-minute complimentary program at the Municipal Auditorium.—Alabama School Journal.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Standard Training Is Needed By Civil Defense Volunteers

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the fourth in a series of five articles on the civilian defense program.)

AUTHORITY in the line of command for the tremendous civil defense army needed in case of full scale war stems from the President, through Civil Defense Administrator Millard Caldwell, to the 48 state civil defense directors and down the line to the appointed officers in cities, towns and counties throughout the nation.

National defense against atomic, biological and chemical warfare rests upon thorough training to start in a civil defense staff college to be established for top civil defense planners and administrators. The college will serve as a source of all latest information. Regional technical training centers are also planned where this information will be disseminated in the civil defense training programs in the states and local communities. The technical centers will be staffed by thoroughly trained men and women in all phases of the work and will provide means for standardization of the technical and special training necessary. Standardization is a prime factor for successful mutual aid and mobile support which require a force of uniformly trained civil defense workers.

Graduates of the federal technical training centers will train other civil defense workers and trainers within the states, who, in turn, will train the local volunteers. Under the program, two kinds of training will be provided—general and specialized. General training will consist of instruction in basic subjects to include fundamental principles of organization and operation, basic first aid and improvised rescue operations.

The American Red Cross, officials of the public health service and other organizations concerned with health services will conduct certain phases of specialized training such as first aid and nurses' aid training. Many medical officers of the military services, public health services, the veterans administration and other organizations have taken specialized courses in defenses against atomic warfare and these will be asked to assist in the training program.

Already, in the atomic warfare field, 148 physicians from 38 states have taken courses given by the atomic energy commission in co-operation with the national security resources board. Similar courses for nurses have been started. Other courses either federal, state or local, will be available for dentists, veterinarians and other professional and technical people working in health services. State health officials have taken courses in radiological monitoring which included many aspects of the civil defense program.

Similar training courses will be available for biological warfare against humans and animals, against chemical warfare and against biological warfare against crops. Courses in these subjects will have three prime aspects—detection, treatment of casualties, and methods of decontamination. Training will be available for nurses aids and home nurses, radiological monitors, auxiliary sanitary personnel and auxiliary laboratory workers.

For large segments of the general public, the major type of training will be in the category of first aid—what to do first in any of the fields of civil defense. The goal is 20,000,000 trained first-aiders in a 22-hour course which will also include training in special weapons defense and in procedures for treating minor illnesses in times of emergency when physicians will be overburdened with casualties.

Every state will operate under a uniform system of organization, equipment and procedure. Establishment of control stations in strategic areas, of first aid stations and the implementation of all necessary ambulances, hospitalization, fire fighting equipment and a score of other defense mechanisms will be taught. It is estimated that approximately 35 per cent of surviving casualties in an atomic bomb burst would require transportation by litter to first-aid stations, hence the importance of first aid work. As an example, if there were 40,000 injured survivors, about 13,000 probably would have to be carried by litters. Another 27,000 could walk, or would be taken to first aid stations by other means. So the most important function is in first aid training, since even fire-fighters, rescue teams, police, engineering and other personnel, first to contact the injured, would be called upon for first aid to casualties.

So every individual should watch for announcement of establishment of regional training centers.

Avoid decay and uneven ripening of melons or squash by placing them on mounds of earth while they are still green. This causes greater exposure to sun and air.

IMMUNIZATION

Active immunization has served to produce a long-lasting protection against a number of contagious diseases, yet many parents choose to ignore this by refusing to permit their children to be vaccinated. This is hard to understand.

In a general sense the body is in an immune state when it can resist the invasion and growth of a germ of virus. This occurs when specific substances or weapons against a particular disease are present in the body. If these substances, which are called immune bodies, are injected into the body, the result is passive immunity, which is a temporary state, calling for reinjections at various intervals.

However, active immunity is established when an individual is injected with the germ of the disease in a modified and harmless form. After a series of carefully controlled injections, the person manufactures his own immune resistance to fight the invading germ.

Basic immunity is established early in life. Practically every one is susceptible to whooping cough, unless he has had the disease or has been actively immunized. Babies are susceptible from birth. For this reason, babies should be immunized early, at least by three months of age. Three injections are given at one month intervals. Reactions occur in a few cases, consisting of some fever and a sore spot at the site of injection; but they are mild and are easily controlled. Immunity starts at once and is complete in two to four months. Booster-injections, usually given at intervals of one year and thereafter every two to three years, provide the immunity at a permanently safe level.

Similar immunity can be established for diphtheria, tetanus or lock-jaw, typhoid fever and smallpox. Parents would be wise to insist that their children be given the protective injections. They should not wait until the child is ready to start school. Remember that protection against these diseases consist in a series of immunizations and reimmunizations starting at three months of age and continuing at least through high school.

Good Fortune Smiles on Non-Worriers

HERE'S A STORY about a couple of people who started out in life as Non-worriers. It wasn't that they had conquered worry, says Mrs. Alan Longacre, Richmond, California. Their marriage was happy. Good fortune came to them with her choicest gifts.

It looked for a time as if they would have no children, but they didn't worry about that. Within five years came three lovely children. They had everything, but what was more important they realized it, and didn't fret their lives away over petty matters.

Then their house burned down with all their personal belongings.

But they took advantage of having no home for George Allen to go back to school and get his degree in chemical engineering, thus turning that sour lemon into lemonade.

Suddenly their little three-year-old son developed Leukemia. The doctors gave him one week to three months life expectancy.

But the doctors at a well-known medical center asked to hospitalize him for three weeks for an important experiment which might save him. They consented and for weeks after he left the hospital they took him to the hospital daily for treatments. This meant rising at six in the morning and working until after midnight. But hope was enshrined in their hearts.

Everything went well for six months, then the doctor said Mrs. Allen's heart would not continue to stand the pace she was going!

Their budget was already so overburdened that there was nothing to be applied to even inefficient help.

So she had to handle her relaxation herself. She spent two hours on the bus to and from the hospital. During that time she learned to absolutely relax, let her mind go blank.

Today she can carry out her daily program with no strain on her heart, and the doctors are grateful to them, the while they are grateful to the doctors, because their young son is the "star" in his group at the medical center and is responding wonderfully to treatment.

"We still believe that good fortune favors us," says Mrs. Allen.

I am proud to write in this column of people who just naturally count their blessings. They are the salt of the earth.

Letters To The Editor

Editor's Note: Many articles were received from members of Mrs. Curry Thomas' Sixth Grade telling of their trip to the Chilton County News but because of limited space we will be unable to publish all of the articles. The few chosen and printed below were taken from the many, and were not selected as best articles, or to show any partially.

A Visit To The Chilton County News Office

The Better Speech Club of Mrs. Thomas' room visited the Chilton County News Office March 6, 1951. We went because throughout the year we have programs and they put articles in the paper about them.

We made rules to go by and questions concerning points we wanted to learn about putting out a newspaper.

We walked from school to the office. We enjoyed walking. We looked at the beautiful flowers that were blooming and watched the squirrels play.

We learned how the paper was printed. We learned how the colored pictures were put in papers. The paper sent to places all over the United States, Mexico, Canada, Germany and Alaska. About 2000 people take the Chilton County News in and about Clanton.

On our way back we had to ride in cars because it was raining.

I enjoyed the trip. I learned many things about the News plant.

Maria Wesson.

Our Visit To The Chilton County News

From time to time The Chilton County News has had a writer about The Better Speech Club, so our class, which is The Better Speech Club, decided to make a trip to the Chilton County News to see how they printed the papers.

We went organized in squads, the leaders being Linda Wade, Ralph Vines, Myra Vines, and Arthur Robinson.

On the way to the printing press we saw many beautiful flowers. We also

On the way down to the News office, it rained. Oh, it would have to rain, but we got down there all right and not too wet. In the News office Mrs. Tucker told us about how they work with the paper and then Mr. Tucker took us all through the back where all the machines are. On the way back we saw the Linotype machine, how they make the letters on the paper. When we came out of the machine room, Mrs. Tucker told us some more about the news office.

They send the Chilton County News to Mexico, to Canada, to Korea and to other foreign countries.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

THE 82ND CONGRESS has used up three months of the people's time and money and accomplished little, except to start several more probes and inquiries which likely will amount to little, or about as little as most congressional inquiries.

This far, there have been many committee hearings, but no important legislation of any nature. Most time has been spent in "the great debate" over foreign policy in the senate, and the house has maneuvered itself into a position wherein it cannot move on any legislation without the consent of about eight men on the powerful rules committee.

As Senator Tom Connally of Texas remarked, the Kefauver committee is still "out hunting craphooters"; the Monroney committee has a juicy scandal in the making over the Butler election in Maryland, which brought about the defeat of the veteran Millard Tydings; another committee promises more glamour in a renewal of the Hollywood investigation; the house un-American activities committee ostensibly has brought a truck load of records of the old Pacific Institute, which have been stored for years on a New England farm and which have been gone over more than once by the FBI, has them under lock and key and promises more "revelations" a la Senator McCarthy.

The senate sub-committee, headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, is poking into everything from air force recruitment to training at military bases, tin and synthetic rubber shortages, powdered eggs, the army transportation system and Alaska and its fortifications.

Then Senator John Bricker of Ohio has called for an investigation of the walk-out of the labor members of the wage stabilization board; Senator Fulbright of Arkansas had things pretty much his own way in a probe of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in charging that some employees of executive department had used undue political influence in getting loans for folks back home. That is, until the executive department came up with the fact that RFC files show between 700 and 900 letters from congressmen and senators themselves, including Senators Fulbright and Douglas, members of the investigating committee, doing the same thing—using their influence, whether undue or political or what, in obtaining loans for their constituents back home.

Now, there are some who want the subcommittee to drop the RFC probe like a hot potato. Anyway, the President has asked for a reorganization of the corporation, continuing it as a separate agency and setting up a loan policy board of five members, much like a bank directorate, all with a single administrator.

In the meantime over in the house, in one day's session, the members adopted resolutions providing for $100,000 for a committee to study problems of small business; $210,000 for use of the committee on expenditures in the executive department; $75,000 for the select committee probing the use of chemicals in food; $60,000 for a select committee probing alleged abuses of the GI education and training program and $50,000 for investigations by the committee on interior and insular affairs . . . a total of almost a half million dollars for more probes.

During the week, the President signed the first public law of the 82nd congress. It provided an extension of two years after June 30 of the privilege of servicemen overseas to send gifts valued at not more than $50 to the U.S. without import tax.

The senate finally passed the house bill to establish a five-man board to renegotiate certain classes of defense contracts to squeeze out any excessive profits. It now goes to a conference committee, for the senate eliminated some exemptions from the bill which the house had passed, added some other permissive exemptions and liberalized the mandatory list of agricultural commodities, mineral products, etc., to include contracts with transportation and public utility service contracts.

ISABELLA WINS GOLD-METAL TOURNAMENT AT JEMISON

The Isabella Independents polished off the Jemison High School Panthers last Saturday night in the finals by clipping off the large end of a 74 to 52 count. Paced by the three Cummings brothers, Robert, Quinton and Judson; the sharp-shooting of Carl Foshee; the dashing floor work of Carroll Foshee; and Herschell Baker, the Isabella boys threw a double-barreled offense that the J. H. S. team could not cope with.

The Gold Medal Tourney opened Thursday night with the Jemison Independents meeting a hard-working little team from Vermont. A most unfortunate incident led to a forfeit in Jemison's favor, 2 to 0. Vermont had only 6 plays available, and when two of them were removed along with two Jemison players, they had no replacements to carry on.

In the second game Isabella poured a thick one on Billingsley to the chant of 94 to 43. Isabella rolled up a 11-point lead at the half, 27-16 but cut loose the second half with a blistering attack that almost burned the netting loose from the hoop. Carl Foshee banged out 33 points in this game to capture the Gold-Medal award for high-point man in a single game.

The third game, (played Friday night) between the Verbera Independents and Coach Cobb's Jemison High Panthers was a rousing, rootin'-tootin' affair; it ever there was one on a basketball court. "When" what a rally buster this one was. After the melee was over, and they counted up the score, it was found that J. H. S. team was winner 64 to 63. Before the game was over, I sorta' found myself buried in sheer pity with these two Chilton County teams playing so gallantly to win, what a shame that either had to lose. Hunt (23) was top scorer for Verbera. Jones (19) led JHS.

The fourth game found Mr. Shields F. F. A. team battling the J. H. S. Bees. This game too was one that warranted much local interest. One that was a thriller right through the home stretch. The Bees finally emerged victor (38 to 36) but not until they had one grand scramble. The F. F. quintet really meant to win this one, and almost did. Hamie Cox and Williams stood out for the F. F. A. team; while Glass, Cobb, Porter, and Guin featured the play for the Bees.

In the first game of the semi-final (Sat. p.m.) the Isabella boys were down the Jemison Independents, and then latched a 74 to 51 trimming around their necks. Mack Smith and Floyd Collins, with 12 points each led in scoring for the losers. Hilyer, Mad-dow, Gilmore, and P. Jones all played good ball for the losers, but lack of sufficient reserves caused them to weaken the third quarter, thus allowing Isabella to put up a slab-sided score. Isabella held a 34-33 lead at the half.

Robert Cummings, Carl Foshee, and Mooney were the three stand-out players for the victors in this game.

The second semi-final game was between the Jemison High School A's and Bees, with the formerly easily upsetting the latter 64 to 47.

The final game as reported at the beginning went to Isabella Ind. over Jemison High 74-52. Isabella was represented by a well-balanced club, having height, speed, and ability; a combination that makes winners. Our high school team played a creditable game, but were unable to match veteran players of past years plus the aggressiveness of youthful players of today.

The following Trophies, medals and awards were presented by Jemison's popular Mayor, the Hon. J. Fred Smith.

1st Place Trophy: Isabella; 2nd place Trophy Jemison High; 3rd place Trophy, Jemison Ind. 5-gold awards to: 1st All-Tourney Team. Carl Foshee, Isabella; J. W. Langston, Jemison Ind.

five weeks, requiring her, the said Willie Mae Cleckler to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 26 day of March, 1951 or after thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

POPULATION SURVEY

Information on the extent to which persons not now in the labor force worked during and after World War II will be developed in the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in March, it was announced today by District Supervisor Mary L. Griffin from her office here. Each month in the Current Population Survey the Census Bureau interviews a representative cross-section of 25,000 households throughout the country, including a number in the Chilton County area, to obtain up-to-date information on employment conditions in the nation, Miss Griffin said.

Special questions will be addressed this month to all persons not working at the present time to determine what kinds of war time or post-war jobs they held, if any. Information of this kind is needed by planning in order to determine how many ex-agencies in the defense manpower field experienced workers there are in the nation's manpower reserve.

In addition, the current survey will provide widely used official figures on employment and unemployment. In January, employment continued its normal midwinter decline, dropping to 59 million from 60 1-4 million in December. However, most of the reduction took place among persons who had held Christmas jobs in trade and related activities. Since the majority of these temporary workers left the labor force and did not seek other jobs, unemployment rose only slightly in January to a level of 2 1-2 million.

The survey will be conducted in the Chilton-Perry area during the week of March 12 to 17. Supervisor Griffin emphasized that all individual information reported in the survey is held in absolute confidence and that only statistical summaries are ever published.

VEGETABLE GARDENING

Practically every boy enrolled in Vocational Agriculture at the Chilton County High School has as one of his improvement projects, improving the home garden. These boys see the need and value of producing a sufficient number of vegetables for home consumption from the standpoint of money value, the health value, and as an aid to help our Country during the National Emergency.

There are many jobs to be done in the vegetable garden and each will be taken up in class according to seasonal sequence, that is, they will be taken up when they actually need to be done.

Some of the improvement projects being carried out by the boys other than Vegetable gardening are: home improvement, home ground improvement, soil conservation, improving a field by using legumes, dairy herd improvement, orchard improvement, pasture improvement, poultry flock improvement, agricultural library, and forestry.

Thorsby Institute News

It was erroneously reported in last week's editions that the annual Competitive Plays would be held at Thorsby Institute on Friday, March 9. It was also reported that they would be held on May 7. Both of these are incorrect dates. The plays will be held on Friday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Institute auditorium. Admission will be 25c. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Those on the "A" Department Honor Roll for the fourth term are: Robert Holley, Lawayne Collins, Carol Howard, Lewis Johnson, Jimmy Kincaid, Sarah Ruth Manning, Marylou Markovitz, Peggy Parrish, W. A. Perry, Shirley Peterson, Lois Popwell, Bernice Williams, Martha Jo Woodson and Margaret Lambert.

The Christian Life Conference will be held this year on April 13, 14, and 15. Thorsby Institute students, under the direction of Miss Marguerite Davison and Miss Carolyn Welch, make the plans for the Conference. There will be many interesting speakers invited this year. Many visitors come to the Conference so we shall have to start thinking about a place for each to stay. We hope that many townspeople will attend part or all of this Conference. Among other interesting features, there will be a Sunrise Service at a suitable spot, followed by breakfast out-of-doors.

TELL ME....

IN THE OLD WEST, WHY WAS THE TERM "COYOTE" APPLIED TO A MAN... CONSIDERED THE GREATEST OF INSULTS?

BECAUSE COYOTES ARE NOTORIOUS COWARDS! THEY ALWAYS AVOID LIVE MEN BUT ARE NEVER AFRAID TO POUNCE ON AND FEED ON DEAD MEN!

IF A SHEET OF PAPER WAS FOLDED 54 TIMES AND THE PIECES WERE STACKED...HOW FAR WOULD THE PILE EXTEND?

INCREDIBLE AS IT MAY SEEM, A SHEET OF PAPER FOLDED 54 TIMES WOULD REACH TO THE SUN AND BACK AGAIN.....185,000,000 MILES!

WHICH IS THE ONLY BIRD THAT DRINKS BY SUCTION?

THE PIGEON! ALL OTHERS MUST BEND THEIR HEADS BACKWARDS TO SWALLOW WATER!

Sometimes Good Intentions Aren't Enough

That fire at the Griffin place didn't do much damage last week, but Volunteer Chief Murphy was pretty angry about it. Spoke to some of us over dinner and a bottle of beer.

"Griffin's farm is a good mile from town," he said. "And by the time we'd dodged all the people on the highway who were going to watch, we hadn't a minute to waste."

"Then blamed if those sight-seers hadn't parked cars right in Griffin's driveway and there was a mob of people milling around the house—just gawking. Joe, tell folks a fire's no sideshow. Ask 'em to think of the other fellow!"

From where I sit, some of us need to be reminded occasionally that even though our intentions are good we may be unfairly interfering. Whether it's blocking the right-of-way of fire equipment or criticizing a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer now and then—the American Way is to give way, and give the other fellow his fair "share of the road!"

During the Civil War, Clark County was one of the principal salt producing regions within the Confederacy. One of the three main salt works employed 600 men and 120 teams in running 30 furnaces. From these 30 furnaces came 600 bushels of salt each day. Hundreds of bushels were sent from the south Alabama mines each day into the interior. Mississippi and Georgia. The people of the Confederacy were suffering from such a salt shortage in the late years of the war that a bushel brought from $2.50 to $7 in gold or from $10 to $40 in Confederate money.

deGraffenried Makes Statement On UMT And Service Bill

Washington, D. C.—Representative Edward deGraffenried issued the following statement today with reference to the Universal Military Training and Service Bill now being considered by the House Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member.

"HR 2811 provides for training and service of male persons between the ages of eighteen years and six-months and twenty-six years, with four months basic training and provides that no person inducted into the armed forces under the provisions of the bill, shall during the six months period immediately following his induction be assigned to duty in a combat area.

"The bill further provides that the minimum standards for physical and mental acceptability shall not be higher than those applied to persons inducted between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six in January, 1945. This latter provision lowering the minimum standards for acceptability would mean the induction of approximately 800,000 persons who have been up to this time deferred or rejected.

"The bill further provides that not only ROTC students should be deferred, but gives wide discretion in the deferment of other students in the upper bracket of their classes who meet certain physical and mental aptitude tests as well. The bill does not provide for the induction of any veteran and contains broad deferments for farmers, specialists, technicians and skilled and essential labor. However, all ROTC members and all students who are deferred must eventually serve twenty-six months in the armed forces.

"In addition to the above provisions the bill contains the further provision which authorizes the President, upon recommendation of the Secretary of Defense, to provide for decreasing periods of service, but in no case for a lesser period of time than can be economically utilized, or to eliminate periods of service required. It also states that Congress shall have a right by concurrent resolution to declare that the period of active service required of any age group, or groups of persons, should be decreased to any period less than twenty-six months when Congress deems wise, or that the period of active service required should be eliminated.

"These are some of the provisions of the bill which are now being considered by the Committee and I believe any bill reported out by the Committee will contain these provisions.

"I have joined with other members of the Committee in making an effort to have an amendment placed in the bill which will have the effect of reinstating segregation in the armed forces and if we fail in Committee, we intend to make another effort on the floor of the House to place it in the bill.

Make WATSON'S Your Easter Headquarters And Lower Your Cost of Living

"This Bill meets several of the objections which I had to the measure which was requested by the Department of Defense, in that it will take these young men at eighteen and one-half instead of eighteen; it guarantees that none of these young men will be sent into a combat area until he is nineteen years of age and lowers the standards for mental and physical requirements, which I have advocated since hearings started on this legislation. I have fought for these provisions and am gratified that the Committee has seen fit to write them in his Bill. Figures which I recently obtained from General Hershey of Selective Service on the rate of rejections for mental aptitude reasons which were recently published, showing rejections running as high as 60% in one State, clearly indicate that these standards should be lowered to bring in an additional 800,000 men.

"I am further going to advocate an amendment which will allow students in their senior high school year, even up to nineteen and one-half, who are pursuing their courses satisfactorily, to complete their senior year in high school. There were over 120,000 high school students who graduated last year who had passed their nineteenth birthday. A man nineteen and one-half should not be inducted in March or April when he will graduate in June. "I am not altogether convinced that we should lower the age of draft below nineteen, but our bill is based on military requirements and according to the testimony, it is certainly not necessary to go below eighteen and one-half to raise our armed forces to 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 men."

When Nira grew up to be a grown horse, she tipped the scales at a healthy 47 pounds and stood 19 1/2 inches high. Her favorite pastime was riding on the seat of Mr. Cole's coupe between two adults. Her best friend was not another horse, as is customary with horses, but a German police dog.

PRICE CONTROL INFORMATION OBTAINABLE AT BANKS AND CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

Montgomery, Ala.—South Alabama's banks and chambers of commerce today will begin acting as clearing houses for up-to-date price control information, the district price stabilizer said.

"Businessmen and others are urged to apply immediately at their local organizations for information they need," OPS Director Charles G. Dobbins said.

Most of the information being distributed now is in the form of "digests" of regulations.

"Sufficient copies of the regulations themselves are not yet available for general distribution," the director said, "but they will be delivered as rapidly as we receive them."

Meanwhile, special digests have been prepared for use by auto dealers, department stores, women's apparel shops, general stores, shoe stores, etc. They have been mailed to all banks and chambers of commerce in South Alabama.

A sample price chart for use by most retailers is also being sent out with the other information.

The director commended the bank and chamber of commerce officials for their "whole-hearted cooperation" in distributing vital price information.

Regulations and digests are also being delivered to many trade organizations for use by their members.

MARCH 10th MARKED 75th ANNIVERSARY OF TELEPHONE

Saturday, March 10, was the 75th birthday of one of the greatest inventions of all time — the telephone.

Alexander Graham Bell obtained a patent on his telephone while it was carrying only scattered words and not quite intelligible speech. One evening a week after the patent was issued, he made ready to try a new transmitter. As he completed the connection, he upset a jar of battery acid. "Mr. Watson!" he exclaimed. "Come here, I want you!"

In a moment, Thomas A. Watson burst into the room — on the third floor of a boarding house at 5 Exeter Place, Boston — shouting, "Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said, distinctly!"

35,000,000 Bell Telephones

The incident took place March 10, 1876, over the only telephone line in the world. But when March 10, 1951, rolled around, more than 35 million Bell telephones were carrying an average of 140 million two-way conversations a day, with calls being made not only from homes and offices, but from automobiles, railroad cars, locomotives, yachts, harbor craft, ships at sea and airplanes. Telephones operated by independent companies increase the total in America to 43,000,000 and build the calling rate up to about 170,000,000 conversations a day.

The service that has been developed since the telephone first talked in 1876, has transformed the whole pattern of living in the United States, and to some extent in the world at large. For countless millions of Americans, in cities and on farms, telephone service has become indispensable in hour-to-hour daily living. It helps in business, in the administration of government, in minor emergencies and great ones, and in maintaining family and communi-

Too late for last week.

We can accomplish things for the Master if we continue with faith. "Let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we do not faint." The challenge for our day and our civilization is not in terms of material things but in spiritual things. Evangelism and Missions do belong to the unreal. "God is able to do abundantly more than we can think." "We are Laborers Together With God."

Brother George Smith and wife came our way last Wednesday night with some very inspiring thoughts from our Home Mission Books. Mrs. Smith had a class of 22 of our fine children. There were 42 adult and young people who listened with amazement to Rev. Smith. Our Jerusalem should be for Christ. As Christ went for Jerusalem so should we as Christians.

On Thursday the following ladies met at the church: Mrs. Bill Jones, Miss Mareah Freeman, Mrs. Marvin Oats, Mrs. Coy Rasberry, Mrs. Woodie Rasberry, Mrs. Briggs Gibson, Mrs. Ezra Moore, Mrs. Jimmie Ward, Mrs. Pratt Crompton, Mrs. Dick Langston, Mrs. F. C. Gibson, Mrs. Ermon Rasberry, Mrs. Harvey Davenport, Mrs. Mamie Vazey, Mrs. J. D. Hayes, Mrs. Emer Crane, along with Rev. and Mrs. Hymen Atchison.

We opened the morning program with all singing, "Sweet Hour of Prayer." Mrs. Marvin Oats had the devotional. The president presented the pastor a map showing the multitude in the homeland and we need the Godspeed. The program chairman introduced the program and those with parts. Those giving parts also sent up a special petition to the Heavenly Father for His guidance and blessings on our task ahead.

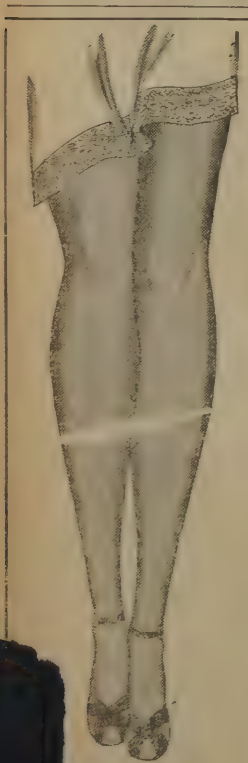

We sang "America." Just before the noon hour our pastor brought some splendid thoughts, all Christians do have a place to fill. If we haven't found our place, we should find it and accept our responsibility. We then sang "Throw Out the Life Line." Mrs. Atchison brought the closing prayer before the noon period.

We all met in the yard under the trees for a nice lunch hour. We were blessed with plenty of good food. Our community mission chairman, Mrs. Hymen Atchison, suggested we use a plate for a new tradition. Mr. Matt Gibson, Tins was done and delivered during the noon hour.

The afternoon tradition was given by Mr. Hymen Atchison. We had a hard business session. Our afternoon program was from Royal Service with an interesting message on our home folks with a "Go Quickly and Tell" challenge.

Our pastor, Mr. Matt Gibson, has been visiting on behalf of the revival to be held on March 28th and cottage prayer.

BAKER GIRLS 4-H CLUB

The Baker Girls 4-H Club met on March 5th in Mrs. Littlejohn's Room. The meeting was called to order by the president, Betty Jean Milford. The 4-H Club Pledge was led by Ann Blackwell. Then we had two songs "Our Club Will Shine" and "Dixie" led by Dorothy Franklin.

The secretary, Winnie Lee Turner, read the minutes of the last meeting. We discussed the Rally, then the meeting was turned over to Miss Barber, who gave us a very interesting talk on yard improvement.

Mrs. Clifton Parrish, Baker Home Demonstration Club Rural Youth Chairman, was a visitor at this meeting.

The lighthouse on Sand Island at the entrance of Mobile Bay is lighted with an incandescent vapor-oil lamp. The 17,000 candlepower lamp spews a beam which can be seen by ships 18 miles out at sea.

er meeting to be the week before the revival.

This was accomplished with success, giving our Heavenly Father all credit for going along with us. We did find home, eager for prayer meetings. We are going into some homes with prayer who haven't been coming to us. We trust He will smile on our small efforts and that some lost sheep will be won to the Great Shepherd.

THE SNOW

The snow's coming down in white flakes Determined to cover the ground and lakes. Wewatch it as it flutters 'round Then follow it down, down to the ground.

The snow is fluffy and very light And everything is turning white. The clouds have changed from blue to white. Our home's and schools must be kept tight.

The shades are up to get a view A perfect view, of some things new. The blustering March wind blows and blows, And makes us shiver to our toes. The trees are bending this way and that.

They might be covered at one bat The snow's as soft as cotton feels While it falls upon our window sills. It makes us thrill from our head to our toes, And we want to watch where each flake goes.

MYRA VINES.

THE SNOW

The snow is bound to come down And not even make a sound. Some people wish it would go away But I would like it if it would stay. I think the snow is on the run Away from its enemy, the sun. I knew the snow would come down some day.

And now it's really on its way It covers the black roofs very white And hits them all so very quiet. You really had better shut your doors. Or the snow will probably cover the floors. The snow might come into your house And scare away a tiny mouse.

Bill Todd

THE SNOW

There is a very pretty scene On the grass, so soft, and green, And on the flowers and the trees, That bow gently in the breeze. Now it has stopped and I'll be sad All that was beautiful will look bad, But it will snow again someday. Then all the earth will again be gay.

June Gwathney.

THE SNOW

Down comes the snow, as you can see, And everyone claps his hands in glee. We turn our deeds to the windows 'round

To see the snow falling to the ground. The snow, I hope, will never melt. For I've always wanted to see how it felt.

It's coming down so very fast And, oh, how we are hoping it will last!

I hope it will stick right to the ground, As it keeps falling 'round and 'round. Jimmy Cox.

The Axis Club Building in Anniston's Zinn Park was once a part of the old Anniston Inn. The inn, built in the 1880's, was demolished by fire in 1901. It was in this old hostelry that Tom Edison's incandescent lamps were used for the first time in Alabama.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A" 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

Again this year... It's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars... the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run... A Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon... a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Mahar, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-miles per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Rural Units Must Supplement Metropolitan Defense Groups

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the last in a series of five articles on the civil defense program)

WHETHER YOU LIVE in a city, or a small town or on a farm in the rural areas of the nation, you have an obligation as a citizen, interested in saving your own life and the lives of your fellow citizens in the civil defense program.

Many folks in small towns or on the farms may be inclined to take the dangers inherent in a full-scale war with a grain of salt. There are no barriers to poison or nerve gases. There are no limits to biological warfare, and the destruction of the means of providing food to our military personnel may be a main objective of our potential enemy. Suppose your neighbors in a nearby city have the most efficient civil defense system possible to work out and an enemy attack knocks out a large number of its personnel. Then it may be the duty of those in surrounding cities and towns and counties to move in as rescue teams—to care for evacuees, to improve hospitals and many other essentials of defense work.

There are hundreds of jobs for civilians which must be filled—airplane spotters, apprehension of saboteurs, guarding against water poisoning or pollution, amateur radio operators, ambulance drivers, messengers, first aid trucks, storage of thousands of items of supply in case of food, fuel, transport, engineers, housekeeping employees for nursing and dietary departments, cooks, laundresses, blood donors, watchmen at plants, utilities, and essential services such as dairies and pasteurization plants, immunization of small animals to prevent rabies, grave diggers, specially trained radiation detection teams, air raid shelter construction—and dozens of other essential workers.

Alert watchfulness on the part of farmers to detect dangerous diseases in their live-stock, and pests and plant disease is highly important. The bureau of animal industry already has given instruction to a large number of veterinarians in the differential diagnosis of these diseases and at the first suspicion the farmer should call the state livestock sanitary officials for prompt investigation. In many instances large amounts of vaccine must be promptly available and in any widespread outbreak, quarantine procedure and destruction of animals and their burial must be all-important to prevent spread. Special equipment for disinfecting crews should be immediately available.

Since the public owns and supports schools, it also has a stake in what these teachers had to say.

According to Mrs. Lawrence Gerald, Jr., the public school is responsible for training leaders and followers to improve the community. Therefore, she said, the principal is key man and must be freed of necessary but burdensome details and routine, which an office secretary can handle. She also emphasized the fact that classroom teachers must not be overloaded with too much routine. Otherwise they cannot do their share in helping create a better community.

Another plea for educating people for community betterment threw several jobs directly to teachers. Their first job, as Miss Mary Clements discussed at a training children from the first grade up to live in a world larger than themselves—to work with each other to create a better world. Thus, she stated, the teacher must be able to see what a community needs and use his leadership to help provide those needs.

There are at least five affairs of the public which schools must take part in, Miss Loyce Baker stated as she emphasized teachers' responsibility to keep themselves well-informed of public needs. Included in the "must take part in" list are public health and any social or political problem that affects the individual—the community—the county—the state—or the nation. Schools must give students an opportunity to practice citizenship, she said, through student government and clubs that require student leadership and co-operation. Publishing a school newspaper helps. So does training people to read magazines that give both sides of a problem. Miss Baker advocates the use of debates and round-table discussions of problems concerning the public. Then as the students talk about them at home, they will arouse parents' interest in both the school and the community—and their problems.

SHOULTS NEWS

Church News
Revival services at Pleasant Grove Baptist Church is being conducted by the Pastor, Rev. Joe Davis and Rev. Fred Lowery this week. This Community is greatly in need of a revival among the church members, as is all communities.
There cannot be a revival and the lost soul cannot be won to Christ until God's people humble themselves, seek God's face, turn from their wicked ways and pray. Then God will hear and answer prayer. Bootleggers, drunkards, wifebeaters, adulterers, liars, thieves and all other sin can be stopped. So it behooves us to repent.
People of this community have been busy for the past couple of weeks in cleaning and fixing up the church grounds and cemetery. A new wire fence has been put up around the Pleasant Grove cemetery, flowers and shrubs put out, and the place is now beginning to look much better.
If any one wishes to help pay for the fence they may send their contribution to the church secretary, Mrs. Bessie Garner, Lawley, Ala. Rt. 1. We are quite sure there are many who have loved ones buried in this cemetery who will be glad to help.
The Woman's Missionary Union of the Church met last week in the home of Mrs. Crola Smith, president, Mrs. Bessie Garner presiding. The topic for discussion was "Go quickly and tell." Taking parts in the discussion were Mrs. Thelma Hatcock, Mrs. Ida Latham, Mrs. Sam Shoult, Mrs. Crola Smith, Mrs. George Shoult and Mrs. Willie Hatcock.
This program was from Royal Service Magazine and very interesting and impressive, closing prayer for guidance was by Mrs. Willie Hatcock and Mrs. Crola Smith.
Home Demonstration Club
The Shoult Club members met last week for their regular meeting. Mrs. Thelma Hatcock presiding. Mrs. Bessie Garner giving the devotional. The Club members were disappointed that our Home Agent Miss Mattie Jo Barber could not be with us. We were very sorry to receive notice that Miss Barber would not be our Home Agent as she has resigned this position, effective March 15th. We are very sorry and we cannot find words to express our feelings. We have learned to love Miss Barber who has been of much help to the women of our community and we all have a tender feeling of affection for her. We shall miss her very much, however we all join in wishing her much success and happiness in whatever she may undertake in life. As she deserves the very best of everything we pray God to richly bless her.
Goings and Comings
Mr. and Mrs. George Shoult spent week end in Birmingham visiting their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shoult and baby.
Mr. John Harold Garner who has been serving with the Navy for several years and spent some time in Korea waters, now has a 30 day leave. He arrived in Montgomery, Ala., last week to visit there with his sister and brother-in-law, M-Sgt. and Mrs. Bill Evans. Sgt. and Mrs. Evans accompanied him to this community to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun Garner.

Recent new comers to this community is the family of Mr. Fonza Hatcock moving here from Marion, Ala., into a house on the farm of Mr. Cleve Latham. We always welcome new comers.
Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith visited last week in Piper, Ala., with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Lee Smith.
One day last week S-Sgt. Charles Shoult of Craig Air Base, Selma, Ala., came up and carried his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shoult and Mrs. Willie Hatcock to Lakeland Farms in Perry County near Marion, Ala., for a day of fishing. They caught several fish and reported as usual that the big one got away. This is indeed an ideal place for camping and fishing, with so many lakes.
Mr. and Mrs. Colbert Latham carried their little son Donald to Selma last week to have his tonsils removed. At this time we have not learned of his condition.
Visiting relatives here last Saturday were Tech. Sgt. Philip Hicks and son Corky, from Craig Air Force Base, Selma, Ala.
Mrs. Ray Young (Edna Earl Snead) and three children of Columbus, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Carson Snead of Centerville, Ala., were visitors here with relatives last Saturday.
Serving on the Jury this week from this community are Mr. M. C. Moore, Mr. Robert McAfee and Mrs. Calhoun Garner.
Mr. Hudson Smith who was called into the army a few weeks ago, has been given a deferment on account of having 4 dependents. He will resume his job at Bessemer, Ala. His wife, formerly Bernice Sewell, daughter of Mrs. Annie Sewell has spent some time here with her mother.
Mr. and Mrs. Messer Smith have been seriously ill with flu. We wish them a speedy recovery.
Miss Fannie Moore is spending a family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAfee, few days here with her nephew and Rev. and Mrs. Joe Davis of Stanton, pastor of Pleasant Grove church, were recently the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hatcock.
Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week isn't here yet, but in Shoult's community it has been underway for the past few days. Many of the homes are being repaired and painted. Church property cleaned up, and several men were busy last week making repairs on the Shoult club house, and are quite sure by the first of April many more will join in making Chilton County more beautiful, even in the small rural communities.
There is plenty of room for more repairing as some places the tenant homes need screens, paint and porch floor repairing.
We are quite sure all the people of Shoult's community are deeply grateful to our 3rd District Commissioner, Mr. Welch Roebuck for the interest shown toward our club house and roads, the first shown in many years, and we hope he can build good roads through this community.

Mr. Roney's fine voice combined with a handsome physique and magnetic personality won instant favor with his listeners who expressed increasing enthusiasm as the evening advanced.
With music as his medium Mr. Roney may be proclaimed an ambassador of joy and good will. Whether singing a dramatic aria or a simple Irish song Roney's listeners were captivated by the melodious beauty of his voice.

THE BEST METHOD TO CLEAN HOOKED RUGS

Auburn, Ala.—Hooked rugs are long wearing if well cared for, but they do require special care.

Stella Mitchell, A. P. I. Extension Service home management specialist, says that hooked rugs should never be shaken violently, never beaten, and never cleaned with a vacuum.

These three cleaning methods loosen the tufts of a hooked rug. Tufts are held in place only by the firm tension of the background material.

Miss Mitchell says that hooked rugs can be lightly swept, both front and back, then aired over the line with fluffy side out when an average breeze is blowing.

FRIED CHICKEN IS TEMPTING AND GOOD

Everybody enjoys chicken, and they all agree that nothing is better than southern fried chicken. There are many ways to prepare a fryer; however, the pan frying method seems to be the most popular in the south.

For pan frying in shallow fat, Mary Hubley, A.P.I. Extension Service nutritionist, says to disjoint and cut up plump young chickens into serving portions. Before cooking, wipe the chicken as dry as possible, season with salt and pepper, and roll in flour. Another way is to dip fryers in a batter made of one egg, and one tablespoon of water mixed with bread crumbs or corn meal.

She suggests that a thick skillet or chicken fryer be ready with a half inch or more of fat heated to frying temperature, but not to the smoking point. Put the thickest pieces of chicken in the skillet first and leave space for the fat to come up around each piece.

BEES

To insure good pollination of clover and fruit blossoms, one colony of bees for each acre of clover or fruit is recommended. If bees are kept for honey production, three colonies will make enough honey for the average farm family.

HILL WINS SENATE APPROVAL ON LOCAL HEALTH UNIT BILL

Senator Lister Hill (D. Ala.) has won Senate approval of his Local Public Health Units bill to help the States, their counties and cities to enlarge their public health programs and hire additional doctors, nurses and technicians. Low income States like Alabama will receive the larger share of Federal assistance.

Hailing passage as "a great victory in the battle against disease," Hill said the bill "will be most helpful to small cities and rural areas that now have fewest facilities for health protection."

Culminating three years effort, Hill as floor leader steered the bill through a two day Senate fight. "Forty million public health service," Hill declared as young men between the ages of 19 and 25—the cream of our defense manpower—found physically unfit to serve."

Declaring that the heavy demands of Civil Defense render the strengthening of our local health services urgent, Hill said the local health officer is the "key figure" in the development through local Civil Defense health services of protective measures against unconventional methods of attack, such as biological, chemical or atomic warfare, that directly affect the civilian population.

Hill said that by building upon the existing health service his bill "avoids the expense and duplication" that would arise from creating an entirely new program.

Sponsored by the National Congress of Parents and teachers and supported by a long list of other national organizations, the bill, Hill explained, provides assistance for carrying forward State plans at the State level, following the "tested pattern" set by the Hospital and Health Center Construction Act.

Interest shall be payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1, and maturing in annual installments on October 1 in the following aggregate principal amounts in the following years (all years inclusive): $1,000 in 1951; $1,500 in 1952 to 1960; $2,000 in 1961 to 1963; $2,500 in 1964 to 1966; and $3,000 in 1971 to 1980 (hereinafter called "the bonds.") The bonds will be subject to redemption at the option of the town as a whole or part in the inverse order of their maturity, on any interest payment thereafter not less than thirty (30) days prior published notice, at the face value thereof plus accrued interest to the redemption date and a premium equal to one fourth of one per centum (1/4 of 1%) of the face value of each bond redeemed for each year or fraction thereof intervening between the redemption date and the maturity date of each such bond; provided, however, that no such premium shall exceed four per centum (4%) of the face value of each bond redeemed.

The bonds are part of a total authorized issue aggregating $68,000 in principal amount, which will be secured pro rata and without preference one over another by reason of their issuance or otherwise, by the mortgage and lien hereinafter referred to. The $5,000 principal amount of said authorized issue which are not presently offered for sale (hereinafter called "the additional bonds") are authorized to be numbered 127 to 131 inclusive, to mature in the aggregate principal amounts of $3,000 and $5,000 on October 1 in the years 1981 and 1982 respectively, and in all other respects to be of the same tenor as the bonds.

The bonds shall be payable solely out of the revenues to be received by the town from the municipal waterworks system to be constructed with the proceeds from the sale of the bonds (and such of the additional bonds as may be issued). The bonds (and such of the additional bonds as may be issued) will be secured, pro rata and without preference of one over another, by a pledge of said revenues and by a statutory mortgage lien on the system.

The bonds will be sold for cash to the highest bidder; provided, that the town reserves the right to reject any or all bids. All bids must include interest to the date of delivery of the bonds. No bid will be considered for less than all of the bonds.

Each bidder must deposit with the town clerk before bidding a certified check or a cashier's check in amount of $1,200, payable to the order of the town, as evidence of good faith and as a guaranty for the performance of the successful bid. The deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them following the sale, and the check of the successful bidder will be retained and applied toward the purchase price. No interest will be allowed on any such deposit.

The bonds will be delivered against payment therefor in bankable funds as soon after their date as they may be printed. The town will furnish to the purchaser, without cost, the opinion of Messrs. White, Bradley, Arant, All & Rose approving the validity of the bonds. No conditional bids will be considered except that bids may be contingent upon such opinion.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

HIGHLIGHTS of the week in the nation's capital included senate passage of the 18-year-old draft act and universal military training and a continuation of the highly controversial senate probe of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Only five votes were registered against the draft and UMT bill. They were: Senators Welker (Republican) Idaho, Dirksen (Republican) Illinois, Jenner (Republican) Indiana, Schoeppel (Republican) Kansas, and Langer (Republican) North Dakota. The measure provides for a universal draft of men at 18 years for 24 months and for a universal military training program to begin after the emergency. The measure also sets a maximum of 4,000,000 men on the armed forces. Present goals of the defense department is for a service force of 1,500,000 men. The limitation amendment was accepted on a 49 to 41 roll call vote.

Because the price of tin has soared from 75 cents a pound to $2.00 a pound, the national security resources board ordered the general services administration to cease buying tin for stockpiling "until prices reach a reasonable level." A report of the senate armed services committee said: "The American taxpayer is weary of being gouged for the privilege of obtaining from some of its allies the raw materials with which he is expected to supply the food and armament needs of the non-Communist nations in the event of another all-out war . . . If we cannot obtain tin at reasonable prices, we must seriously reconsider our policies with respect to this metal. The battle against inflation is also part of the fight against Communism."

Public hearings continued on alleged mismanagement of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with new charges and much conflicting testimony over inquiry into the big lending agency. Some members of congress became involved in the inquiry as the testimony was taken behind closed doors. Included were Senator James Murray of Montana, who was alleged to have interested himself in a loan to a Miami hotel for which his son was an attorney. Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin was brought into the picture in the inquiry into the huge loan to the now defunct Lustron Corporation, which is alleged to have paid Senator McCarthy $10,000 for a pamphlet on "How to Own a Home" and used as a sales promotion by the corporation.

McCarthy also was charged by witnesses with having "borrowed" money from Carl Strandlund, head of Lustron Corporation, to bet on horse races at the Pimlico race track in Baltimore. Strandlund testified, however, the incident occurred at the Laurel track instead of Pimlico, and that he tore up one check and merely cashed a larger one for McCarthy. Rep. Frank W. Boykin, Alabama, came into the picture when Chairman Fulbright of Arkansas said the committee would investigate a publicized report that Boykin sought to influence a $1,700,000 loan to the Mobile Paper Company at Mobile, Ala., with which Boykin's son is affiliated. In the meantime, members of the RFC board have denied any "wrong doing" or that White House secretaries actually influenced any decision on loans. Senator Murray said he treated the case in which his son was implicated as he did any other case. Senator Murray demanded a complete summary of congressional intercession with the RFC by letter, telephone or interview and that all be put in the record. According to information, the RFC has on file about 900 letters from members of congress from both parties seeking loans for various firms throughout the country.

In connection with the draft bill, Chairman Cooley of North Carolina of the house agricultural committee said a policy statement by General Hershey, director of selective service, has clarified a confused situation as to drafting farmers. Mr. Cooley said General Hershey had made it clear local draft boards have "both the authority and the responsibility to defer agricultural workers."

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

MAYBE TO YOU the word scrapbook means limp dance programs, brownish gardenias, and "Central High Beats Westside" in bold type torn from the school newspaper. But a scrapbook needn't be like that. And if you give your children a few hints you can help them make scrapbooks a fascinating hobby. Just use imagination, discretion in selecting, purpose in mounting, and label everything.

Suzie, for example, collects national parks! She has a scrapbook full of them. Some day she plans to "see America first" and visit some of the breathtaking parks of our country. In the meantime she's collecting all the pertinent information that will make her trip more interesting—pictures, maps, route data. In her book there's a chapter for each park; and each chapter is divided into sections—"How to get there," "What to see there," "Where to stay," "What to bring," and "Special attractions."

There are endless scrapbook subjects, covering all interest fields—music, art, sports, drama, home-making, fashion, science. On and on a list could go. And that's not even mentioning specific things like the "Diary of a Dog" in which a friend of ours recorded the antics of his Scottie. And then there's the place we love to be invited for dinner, because the hostess keeps a scrapbook called "Foreign Flavor" in which she collects rare recipes from all corners of the earth. Scotch tape is the scrapbook maker's best friend. It comes in different colors—even printed designs. Colored and metallic papers from greeting cards can be placed together patchwork fashion to make an unusual cover for your child's book. The inside story is up to the scrapbook maker. It can consist largely of pictures or there can be a great deal of writing. Divide it into chapters, or make it continuous, or date pages like a colorful calendar.

Some things the child will want to be able to take out of the book from time to time. Use photo mounting corners; or try this trick. Cut envelopes in half horizontally. Scallop or shape the edges as you wish, and paint or decorate the lower half. Paste this resulting pocket on the scrapbook page. Tuck papers, pictures, letters inside for effective display and easy removal.

Arrange the material so that when the book is open, the pages facing each other have harmony and balance. Avoid making it necessary for a reader to turn the book around; mount all material vertically or horizontally.

And give the book a dramatic ending. Don't let it run down like a tired phonograph. Use a striking picture, a chart, a summary or a tricky verse.

Will you hear the Hugh Thomas Chorus in Clanton April 13th? This will be their last Concert before they appear in New York.

Veterans Administration during December, 1950, approved 88 per cent of veterans' applications to make second major changes of G. I. Bill course. Advice and guidance is required for veterans who desire such changes. In numbers, approvals totaled 4,130; disapprovals, 1,164.

Less than half of all G. I. Bill-approved schools were training veterans on November 1, 1950, a Veterans Administration survey disclosed. Only one-quarter of the approved job training establishments had veterans enrolled on that date, VA added.

A Short Story

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

AND SO the heart-broken young man bought himself a one-way ticket to South Africa, where he drove thoughts of Alice from his mind by indulging all of his almost forgotten playboy instincts. Before many weeks had passed he had shaped a new life for himself, a life in which Alice played no part. . . . Then he met lovely Gloria Barrington. A month later they were married and lived happily ever after. The end.

Emmon hurled the magazine into the farthest corner of his third floor back bedroom and swore in utter disgust. "Isn't that swell! Isn't that just dandy! So the heart-broken young man bought himself a one-way ticket to South Africa. My, My! Now, that little duckie must have set him back about $180. I wonder what the dear boy would have done if he only had a buck and a quarter between himself and next week's $30 pay check?"

Emmon swung himself from the bed, crossed to the window and stood, hands deep-thrust in his trousers' pockets, staring moodily down onto the alley with its ash cans and cobble stones and unpainted board fences. Magazine writers, he thought, didn't know a great deal about real life. Either that or they ducked issues and made things easy for themselves by refusing to offer explanations to implausible situations. The heroes, for example, never had to worry about money. When a chap got jilted by a girl he merely bought himself a ticket to South Africa and chased half way around the world to forget.

But suppose he was just a $30 a week advertising copywriter. How then would these smart fiction writers solve the problem? Emmon's mouth screwed itself into a bitter smile. He'd like to ask them. He'd like to tell them about his own situation.

He'd like to explain about Elena and himself. He'd like to say: "Look here, Mr. Writer. I didn't know that Elena was the daughter of a millionaire when I fell in love with her. I thought she was just an ordinary girl. She said she loved me and I believed her. Then I found out who she was and I knew what a jackass I'd made of myself. A girl with her dash couldn't love a guy making 30 bucks a week. A chap has his pride. The thing for me to do was fade out of the picture. I ought to do like the heart-broken young man did: buy myself a one-way ticket to South Africa. Yes, that's it. All I lack is the dough. How about it, Mr. Writer, where do I get that dough?"

Footsteps sounded on the uncarpeted stairs. One flight. Two. Three. A knock sounded on Emmon's door. It opened. A man, a stranger, stepped inside. "Are you Emmon Neathersole?" "That's right," said Emmon. "Which one of my creditors wants to send me to jail this time?"

"I'm from the National Advertising Agency. Your entry in our copy-writer's contest didn't win first prize, but it attracted the attention of the judges. They seemed to think you have a lot of imagination and are offering you a position as a publicity man for a steamship company. Your first job will be to take a trip around the world and write copy from your observations for travel literature. Fifty dollars a week and all expenses. You'll have to decide now."

Emmon steadied himself against the iron railing of the bed. Dear heaven! It was a miracle! He hadn't heard right. This couldn't be happening to him. Only a fiction writer could think up something like this. Around the world! Lord! That was better, so very much better than a mere trip to South Africa with nothing to do but think.

"Well?" said the stranger. "Does the job appeal to you?" Emmon took an eager step forward. Words of acceptance and gratitude ready to burst from his lips. He stopped. Between him and the stranger a barrier had reared itself. Elena.

Leaving Elena behind. Running away from all this that had happened. Running away from a situation that had licked him, from the kidding he would be bound to get at the office, from his love for the girl. Making a coward of himself. Admitting defeat, admitting that he couldn't stay here and lick the thing that had almost licked him. Suddenly he knew he couldn't do it. "No," he said dully. "No, I can't accept the job—now. I've seen unfinished business to attend to."

Emmon walked into the restaurant. He didn't notice that his customary table was occupied until he had seated himself.

He looked up at the girl and all the dull pain and torture, all that he had suffered in the past week was mirrored in his eyes. He had time to conceal none of it.

"Elena! What are you doing in this miserable little restaurant? Why aren't you—?" "Hush. I came because I wanted to see you." She looked at him steadily. "Emmon, why didn't you take the traveling job?"

"How?" "I arranged it. Oh, don't look so shocked. You were always rambling about how things turned out so conveniently in story books. I wanted you to have a story book opportunity. But you didn't take it. You didn't go away and forget. Why? Why, Emmon?"

"So that's how it was. No miracle at all. Well, you've won all the way through. You might as well know the payoff. I didn't go because I'm in love with you and it seemed like a coward's way of trying to beat the racket."

"Darling!" There were tears in her eyes. "Oh, my darling, that's what I wanted to hear. When you left me a week ago I wasn't sure I had to know that your love was real. And now I do know and—Oh, can't you see that what I am or what you are won't make any difference if we love each other the way we must?"

Emmon's knuckles were white, where he gripped the table. "Unfinished business. That's why I told him I couldn't take the job. Well—I guess I can finish it up right here and now." And he did.

TAKE INFLATION FIGHT TO CONGRESS . . . This is the way Republican congressmen took the fight against inflation to the floor of the House of Representatives.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Nellie R. McCann, Tujunga, Calif.: Yes, I certainly do remember the wooden Indian in front of barber shops, also sawdust on all butcher shop floors, the old lamplighter, bustles, and trailing skirts. I remember the loom my aunt used to weave rag carpets on, the surrey with the fringe on top, torch light parades at election time.
I loved to watch canal boats come through the locks at Akron, Ohio.
I recall the two and three cent pieces, two cents as large as a quarter and three cents as large as a dime.

From Christina Witschger, Cincinnati, Ohio: I remember when my mother would send me to a country store with a half-gallon tin bucket to get 10 cents worth of molasses, and it was very good.
Molasses came in barrels in those days. I also remember the drays as we bought our flour by the barrel, and the drayman delivered it to us. What has become of the good stick candy the grocer would give us if we bought a few groceries?
Good old days are gone forever.

Timers, Box 340, Frankfort, Ky.)

HOG SCHOOL HELD IN THORSBY

Friday, March 23, an afternoon hog school will be held in Thorsby. The meeting, or school, will be held in the old Gentry Hardware building and will start at 1:00 p.m.

Farmers who are interested in commercial hog production should, by all means, attend this meeting. Mr. G.
B. Phillips, of Auburn, one of the states leading hog authorities, will be present to discuss such phases of hog production as feeding methods, brood stock, and parasite and disease control.
Mr. J. C. Lowery, Extension Agronomist, will also be on hand to discuss "hybrid corns and green grazing in a sound hog production program."
Both Mr. Phillips and Mr. Lowery will use slides and other demonstration materials in presenting their information. Not only will this meeting be interesting, but information will be presented that Chilton County hog producers can use to a very good advantage.

Everyone that is interested in starting a sound hog production program should attend this meeting. Experience is a good teacher, but often a hard one. Mr. Phillips and Mr. Low-ery can assist now as well as old hog growers in avoiding some of the difficulties of hog production that growers may find out from experience but also "go broke" while in the process of learning.

VETERAN FARMERS TOUR BLACKBELT EXPERIMENT STATION

On March 21, over 150 veterans enrolled on the On-the-Farm Training Program in Clanton County toured the Blackbelt Experiment Station at Marion Junction.

At one o'clock everyone assembled in the auditorium and Mr. Kelley, Assistant Superintendent of the Station, gave a lecture on experiments that were being conducted by the station. Mr. Kelley had several good charts and gave detailed information on grazing, fertilizers, beef cattle, etc.

After the lecture period we visited several experiments which included dry beef cows grazing on different plots, fertilized plots compared to plots where no fertilizer was applied, fescue and its importance in a grazing experiment, value of oaks and different methods of fertilization.

This is one of the best tours made by the veterans, and I believe that valuable information was received by all.

We were glad to have Mr. Jasper Dennis, Dr. Nix, and a group from Maplesville to make the tour with us. — M. D. Tingle.

MISS LAVINIA LOVEWORN is the column for the loveless in The Dawdle Dell County Chronicle this week had some mighty fine advice for plain-featured gals—who can't get a whistle from even a eeklet.

A debutant with a dirt-road face writes in for some ideas how to work up enough charm to get a little sparking from her old flame whose embers are getting low.

You might know the gal if you get up to the county seat much. She's Miss Frowzy MacFlirt, one of Filthy MacFlirt's 17 daughters—the one he won't let feed the hogs cause she such an eyesore her presence clutters up the pen.

Lavinia cautions Frowzy about dating: "The proper young gal don't paralyze her beau with coy winks like dangling her upper lip or nipping her glass eye out in. These little defects must be eliminated. Keep them in your eye if you can't keep from using them coquettishly."

"Don't dandle up to slovenly dress. Deep red and tidiness distract the eye from blemishes. When a man enters the room, the neat, jaunty gal leaps off the lounge, whips her hips into position forer and all, ties corset laces, holds jewelry, and begins hiding warts and creases with rouge. With her free hand, she seizes the man. Enthusiasm pays. He will come to the point at once, whether he is a book salesman or wants to read the meter."

"One last warning: There's many a faller between the proposal and the altar."

We have a good stock of Used Passenger and Truck Tires in popular sizes. From $1.00 and up. Goodyear Service Stores, Phone 365, Clanton, Ala.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

What About Swine Brucellosis?

Q: What are the symptoms of swine brucellosis?
A: Often first warning is premature loss of unborn litters, or a high percentage of stillborn or weak pigs. Sometimes breeding hogs become paralyzed.

Q: Is the germ the same as causes brucellosis in cattle?
A: It is closely related, but is not the same type.

Q: Is swine brucellosis transmissible to humans?
A: Yes, it can cause human undulant fever. It is easily contracted by exposure to infected swine, such as handling sows at farrowing or careless handling of stillborn pigs.

Q: How can a person tell if his hogs have brucellosis?
A: The best way is to have the veterinarian check the herd and take blood samples for laboratory test.

Q: If the herd is infected what can be done?
A: Several control plans are available for both purebred and commercial herds. Sows already infected may lose their pigs, but heavy herd losses can often be curtailed by early detection of infected sows and isolation of healthy sows. Then a negative or "clean" herd can be built by raising shoots away from infected breeding stock, coupled with blood testing.

Q: What precautions should be taken to avoid getting brucellosis in my home herd?
A: Always isolate newly purchased swine, or have them blood tested by the veterinarian. Be sure not to bring in an infected boar.

Q: Is there any known cure?
A: There is no known drug or group of drugs which will cure this swine disease.

CHOLERA CAN WIPE OUT ENTIRE HERD

Nothing can put a farmer out of the swine business faster than an outbreak of hog cholera.

So deadly is the virus that causes the disease, that an amount only large enough to cover the head of a set

When this is done properly, by someone who fully understands the precautions that must be followed to insure success, there is very little chance of a cholera outbreak, even though the animals are later exposed to the disease.

Done improperly, vaccination may set off a disastrous reaction, nearly as bad as the disease itself.

Veterinarians say farmers themselves can do a lot to help insure successful vaccination, because pigs must be healthy to obtain the best results. High on the list is good nutrition. Pigs fed a well balanced ration naturally resist disease better.

Proper barnyard sanitation also pays off. Kept in reasonably clean surroundings, pigs are protected against worms and other internal parasites. The parasite-weakened pig is a poor vaccination risk.

Housing should also come in for attention. Pigs stand a better chance of building disease resistance if they are well housed without draughts and dampness.

Thus, veterinarians advise that the best fed, well housed, and well cared for pigs, when vaccinated properly against hog cholera, stand little danger of contracting this costly disease.

A wobbly gait is one sign of hog cholera.

pin can spread the disease to thousands of hogs.

In the face of such a fearful antagonist, what can the farmer do to protect his pigs? The only reliable protection is vaccination of pigs at about weaning age.

Leather can be cleaned by washing with mild soap and water. Mud is hard on leather, so remove it from shoes as soon as possible; wash it off with warm water and then rub oil or grease into the leather while it is still damp. This prevents the shoes from drying stiff and hard. For heavy shoes, oils, tallow, and grease are good lubricants.

THE RED CROSS

GOOD WORK

Three colored citizens of Alabama, we believe from Selma and Andalusia, visited us last week in support of small magazine they were publishing to further the colored man in the South. Main theme of the undertaking as we understood it was for a better feeling between the races.

At any rate it seemed the Negroes and their idea went over big in Clanton and the response by local merchants was practically unanimous.

We heartily agree with the local merchants, too. The cause for which the negroes were working is a good cause. If, by their efforts, they are able to create better feeling between the races, to show that living conditions in the South are best for the Negro, to discourage communism among their race and above all, discourage the meddling of Northern sob-sisters and do-gooders, their work will not have been in vain.

The South, let alone, will work out their problem with the negro. Without hate, or fear, or prejudice.

THE ANEMIC PRICE STABILIZATION

The anemic and half-hearted price stabilization "freeze" is now six weeks old. Prices were not rolled back. They were not halted at existing levels. They in fact, have risen 17 per cent during the past six weeks on food. The "freeze" has not amounted even to a mild frost. Meats, eggs, chickens, butter, coffee, cheese, some fruits and vegetables and fish have jumped in price from 2 per cent to 28 per cent—after six weeks of "stabilization."

Inflation has not been stopped. It has not even been slowed up. It will not be until tough controls on prices, wages, credit and higher taxes are imposed. The consumer remains the victim of political juggling, group pressures, and the refusal of the administration to take the necessary radical steps to stop the ruinous inflationary spiral which is placing the public in desperate straits and fast destroying the value of the dollar. —Cullman Democrat.

WORTH KNOWING

Ask 50 Alabamians at random to name all of Alabama's nine representatives in Congress and probably not one out of 50 can name them together with the nine congressional districts they represent. They can tell you the names of Alabama's U. S. senators, Hill and Sparkman, the name of the representative from their respective home district and those from one or two adjoining districts, perhaps, but they will stall on naming all of our state's representatives in Congress.

The Mountain Eagle has Representative Carl Elliott to thank for a copy of the Congressional Directory, 72nd Congress, first session, March, 1951. If any student wants to know anything about the legislators in the 82nd Congress, the desired information is set out in the new Congressional directory, which gives a history of each member of the United States Senate and House of Representatives together with a great deal more information about Congress.

If you can't name all of Alabama's congressmen and the district they represent here they are together with their address in case you should want to write one of them.

PUZZLE No. 127

Answer to Puzzle No. 126

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

An elderly woman had been to hear her nephew preach for the first time, and she thought it a very poor sermon. Later that day she asked: "James, why did you enter the ministry?" "Because I was called," he answered. "James," said the aunt, looking solemnly at him, "are you sure it wasn't some other noise you heard?"

One day a newspaper reporter was sent to interview a man who was supposed to be a super-marksman. All over the place, on trees, fences and walls, were target bull's-eyes with holes in the dead center, as evidence of his uncanny skill. The reporter was astonished when the dead-shot turned out to be the village half-wit. "You certainly are a wonderful shot," the reporter said, admiringly. "How do you do it?" "Easy as pie," answered the dim-witted rascal. "I just shoot first and then draw the circle."

An Easter as beautiful as the name. That's what residents of this county enjoyed last Sunday. Easter services throughout the county were attended by large crowds. The day was perfect. But we hid that basket of eggs a hundred times.

MT. PISGAH

We are proud of our 98 present for Sunday School and the Easter program Sunday. Also to have so many visitors with us. Please come again. Everyone present enjoyed the program and singing.

Will you please keep in mind that after Sunday School next Sunday a young man who has been called into the ministry, Hollis Messer will preach for us. Let's all come and pray for this young man that God will use him to his glory.

We were all glad to see Mrs. John Bryant out for Sunday School Sunday. We have been missing her.

Several of Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Smith's children visited them during last week end.

Sorry to learn of the accident the other night to Mrs. J. W. Jones, wife of Rev. J. W. Jones. Mrs. Jones fell as she left her home for the church and broke her fore arm and her shoulder. She is at Central Alabama Hospital at this writing but according to her husband will be transferred to Selma for the services of a bone specialist before going home.

Saw Jim Roberts picture in the Sunday paper. He along with two other fellows caught a fine string of fish near Linden where Jim and his family have been located for the past several years.

And mentioning Alabama Power Company employees we think of an article we read in the last issue of Powergrams about the Gordon Burgesses who lived here several years ago. Gordon and the Mrs. have had a mighty sick boy, Joe, for the past two years. They were thanking their many friends who have shown their sympathy in so many ways.

Amos Jones, son, Harold is home on furlough now but leaves this weekend to report to a camp in New Jersey for overseas duty. He will be stationed somewhere in the South Atlantic.

FUND ASKED FOR TOURIST PROMOTION

The Alabama legislature will be asked to appropriate $100,000 annually for "development of a program to increase the state's tourist income and promote industrial development."

The move was voted by a group of Alabama business men in a Birmingham meeting last week. In it were representatives of state hotels, motels, tourist courts, sight-seeking attractions and the State Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was called by the Alabama Motorists Association and the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

In the session it was pointed out that the tourist industry in the U. S. is a $6,000,000,000 per year business. It was reported that "Alabama is receiving only $1 of each $150 spent by tourists in the U. S."

Members of the group noted that "Alabama is rich in tourist attractions, natural resources and outstanding local promotional events." The resolution declared that the state would return many times its investment from money spent by tourists through the sales and gasoline taxes.

In asking the legislature to spend the $100,000 annually, members of the group asked "the appropriation be expended by one of the present state divisions, recommended by the governor and approved by the legislature."

A resolutions committee, to appear before the legislature's Interim Committee on Finance and Taxation was named. It included Adolph Reich, Gadsden; Ira Patton, Birmingham; Frank Doby, Montgomery; Leon Waite, Mobile; Clyde Anderson, Florence; John Ward, Montgomery, and W. B. Timmons, Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Strickland of Prattville, Ala., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ray.

Simultaneous Revival

Up and down the highways of this country the people have seen large billboards along the side of the highways, bearing this sign, "Simultaneous Revival." This means that more than 18,000 Baptist churches East of the Mississippi river are conducting their Spring revival at the same time. This revival cru-

A. T. HICKMAN said is on this week. Our Baptist friends are to be commended for their fine spirit of co-operation one with another launching this revival effort together. Let us hope that many thousands of people will be won to the Saviour Whose resurrection the World commemorate this week. We hope that none will make the mistake, and make it a membership drive, but an all-out effort to win souls to Jesus Christ. For there is a lot of difference in being regenerated, or born of the Holy Spirit; and joining the church. I wonder how far reaching would be the results, if every Protestant church in America would launch a revival crusade for Christ simultaneous? that every preacher of the Gospel of Christ would go into battle against sin and the devil at the same time, and with all the power that God would give him; and that every Christian man and woman would lay aside his or her own personal interest, and join in the crusade? The preachers who have no church building, let him put up a Gospel tent, or use an old fashioned brush arbor; or use a school house, or get out under the open sky, anywhere to let it be known that he is "a voice crying in the wilderness," telling men to prepare to meet God.

Christ Is The Answer

Another striking thing about this simultaneous revival crusade is the slogan, "Christ is the answer." Yes, Christ is the answer to this troubled world, and the mess that we are in. In his own words, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." Christ is the answer to every troubled soul; Christ is the answer to every troubled nation; Christ is the answer to every troubled nation; as a matter of fact, Christ is the answer to this old world with all its ills. Not only are the Baptist churches are having revivals, but others, and let us hope that much good will be accomplished this week for Christ and his kingdom.

Help Others By Showing Interest

LUCILE NELSON, Atlanta, Georgia, had in her classroom a boy named Owen who openly and avowedly hated school, hated to come among his contemporaries. Lucile was the new third grade teacher who arrived in the middle of the term. She found that Owen stayed home one or two days out of every week. He was eight years old.

Cargile

Lucile considered him the most important pupil there; he needed her the most. She accepted as a challenge the opportunity to change his point of view. She knew she had to get close to him in order to win, and it's not always easy to get close to an eight year old boy who avoids society. She waited for the opportune moment.

"Owen," she said, "tell me why you dislike school?"

Not looking at her he replied sullenly, "Nobody likes me; nobody plays with me."

"I like you," answered Lucile, "I like you very much and I am very hurt on the days you stay away. I miss you terribly."

Owen unbent a little; not too much. The habit of many minds wasn't too easy to undo. The rest of the day, he seemed less sullen, less obstinate.

That afternoon, Lucile went home with Owen. She liked to him about everything else than school work, learned his interests. Gradually he unbent, like a flower opening to the sun.

He came from a home where there was little of the good things of life. While talking with his mother it became plain that Owen was suffering from an inferiority complex due to their poverty. He was embarrassed when with children who had more of this world's goods. Now Lucile had something to work with. There must be aroused in Owen a feeling of importance. So she made a special effort to see that he took his turn in helping with the small jobs children love to work at in the classroom. She saw to it that he had his turn as captain of the ball team. She herself learned the soft ball rules and became the empire of their games.

By and by, the principal said, "Since you came, Owen's attendance has been better than it was for two years." That would have been reward enough, but it was a bigger reward to see Owen's happy young face. Yet she had done nothing more than to show him that she loved him and was interested in him.

Your Health SUICIDES

There are an estimated 310,000 suicides a year throughout the world. A number reported larger than the total dead and missing of the United States Armed Forces during World War II have died by suicide each year. The compulsion that prompts a person to take his or her own life has never been satisfactorily explained. Misconceptions abound in regard to suicide. That a person must be insane in order to commit suicide is one of the false beliefs about the act. Patients have been examined by competent and experienced physicians shortly before they committed suicide, and no evidence of insanity was found. The belief that those who talk about suicide never commit the act is false, as is the adage that one who has made an unsuccessful attempt will not repeat the attempt.

The depressed patient is potentially suicidal, especially if there is sleeplessness, feeling of guilt, feeling of unworthiness and false, inability to work efficiently, inability to concentrate and memory failures. The individual who shows good deal of dependence on others and drinks, smokes, eats or takes medicine in excess, may be a potential suicide, according to authorities.

The responsibility of treating such patients should be borne by the psychiatrist. The family doctor and the psychiatrist, working together, can rehabilitate many pressed patients and avert the tragic act of suicide.

Our Own Easter Sunrise Service

While the millions of Christians all over the world were assembling for their early sunrise Easter service last Sunday, the Christians of Clanton did likewise. The service was sponsored by the Clanton Kiwanis Club, and was held at the City Ball Park at six o'clock. The service was very well attended by people of every denomination in Clanton. The singing was led by the Rev. J. M. McKinney; the invocation by the Rev. John R. Smith; the Rev. A. T. Hickman read the Scripture lesson; and the sermon was by the Rev. J. Gilbert Hutchinson. This Easter sunrise service has been a feature of the objectives of the Clanton Kiwanis club for the past several years; it is sponsored through the club's committee on Support of Churches in their Spiritual Aims. Clanton is very proud of its Kiwanis club, and the Kiwanis Club is very thankful for the church of the city and county; and stand ready at any and all times to lend its support toward any spiritual aim of any church. This is because the Kiwanis Club is made up of the God-fearing and church loving business and professional men of this community. Kiwanis has for its motto, "We build." And surely we must build the spiritual side of life if we ever hope to retain and maintain our way of life, America.

So congratulations to the Clanton Kiwanis club and the Christians of our city for faithfulness manifested in rising early for their Easter service, and renewing their faith in the Risen Saviour. As for the followers of Jesus Christ, let such determined faith in their religion, communism has a very little piece of uprooting this faith and this religion.

Milk Production Story Of Mr. And Mrs. W. A. Moore

The milk production story of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore of Billingsley, Rt. 1 goes back farther than the day they set the first can of milk on the road. In 1945 their son purchased a purebred Jersey heifer as a 4-H Club project. From this one animal, Mr. and Mrs. Moore have raised three purebred females. These purebred females are the animals that are and will be used to build a small farm herd. By starting with good producing cows, Mr. and Mrs. Moore did not have the unpleasant experience of many farmers who find themselves milking poor quality, low producing cows.

After solving the problem of low production, Mr. Moore started a pasture and feed production system whereby most of the feed could be grown at home. By doing this he has major obstruction that so often stands in the way of feed cost—the second in the way of would-be dairymen. Since Mr. Moore does not grow cotton he has bought a limited amount of cotton seed meal. All other feed has been produced at home. As Mr. Moore so aptly stated, "We sell corn, grass, sorghum, and hay every day and get a very good price for it."

By starting with high producing cows and home grown feed it could have safely been predicted that Mr. and Mrs. Moore would be successful in their dairy venture. By checking the actual milk receipts, it is easy to see just how important a few good cows are in supplementing their farm income.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. Moore had two cows to freshen during the months of April and May. In April, Mrs. Moore decided to start selling processing or "B" grade milk. From April through January, Mrs. Moore sold $434.06 worth of milk after the hauling charges and initial cost of equipment had been deducted. By the time Mrs. Moore's two cows have milked the full 10 months they will have brought in an additional income of $500.00. Mr. and Mrs. Moore have been able to supplement their income by about $500 and have not reduced their cash crop acreage at all. Within the next few months another home raised purebred Jersey heifer will freshen and will do her part toward increasing the bi-monthly milk check.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore plan to increase their herd to five milk cows. They feel that they can properly handle this number of cows without overstocking their pasture or interfering with their other cash producing crops. While Mr. and Mrs. Moore will probably never derive their entire income from dairy cattle they will produce and sell enough milk to make a better living a little easier. As Mrs. Moore stated, "The money that our milk cows bring in is the money that we feel that we can spend for the things we want rather than the things we have to have."

In 1949 reports from Unit Test Demonstration farms in Fayette, Lamar, and Pickens Counties show that demonstration farmers who planted cotton before May 1 made 104 pounds more lint cotton per acre than those who planted after May 1.

MORE CORN PER ACRE

According to J. C. Lowery, A. P. I. Extension Service Agronomist, here are the main things to do to make more corn per acre in 1951: Plant corn on good corn land properly prepared, fertilize well, plant at the right time, use a recommended hybrid, space thickly, and lay by early. These recommendations made by Lowery are based upon research done by A. P. I. Agricultural Experiment Station.

Following these recommendations, here's what 480 Alabama farmers did in 1950. They averaged more than 100 bushels of corn per acre. These corn demonstrators used an average of 546 pounds of mixed fertilizer per acre before planting. When the corn was 30 to 35 days old, they side dressed it with nitrogen equivalent to that contained in 400 pounds of nitrate of soda. Most of the farmers planted their corn after May 1.

Most of the corn was planted in rows 42 inches apart. Plants were spaced 18 inches or closer in the drill. The demonstrators proved that thick spacing is necessary for high corn yields. However, when it is used, high rates of nitrogen are needed.

Another important thing these farmers did was to lay by early. On the average, the corn was plowed not more than twice.

Lowery agrees that all farmers should not try to make 100 bushels per acre. But, the methods that helped 480 farmers make 100 or more bushels per acre might be helpful in getting better yields from all corn crops.

Again, here is what should be done: turn a winter legume, fertilize land well before planting; use plenty of nitrogen, both lexum and commercial; plant a good hybrid; space seed thickly; cultivate shallowly; and lay by early.

AVIATORS ASKED TO REGISTER

Montgomery, Ala.—State Aeronautics Director Asa Rountree, Jr., has requested that all Alabama pilots and aircraft owners register with his department.

Rountree said the purpose of the registration is to serve as an inventory in connection with defense plans. He said it would be in no way a commitment for defense service.

Forms for registration may be obtained from the State Department of Aeronautics, 102 Church Street, Montgomery, Alabama.

GIVE PASTURES A START

Farmers who want to get the most grazing for their livestock from pastures will give them a chance to get started.

Pastures grazed closely in the spring never seem to fully recover during the remainder of the season. Pastures should be permitted to make at least three inches of growth before grazing is started.

ting better yields from all corn crops.

ROSEMOUNT
Rosemount is at Forkland. It is a large home of 20 rooms that was started in 1830 and completed in 1835. Lumber for the construction of this famous home was cut by slaves and pinned in place by wooden pegs and planed by hand. The mantles are of Italian marble and its furniture from France. It is known as the "Grand Mansion of Alabama," and is the State's only antebellum mansion opened the year round to visitors.

Put Hogpower To Harvesting Corn In Chilton County

All of Chilton's market-hog producers are asked: Will your shoates be on a light feed of corn from the crib early next summer or on a full feed from the field?

When our spring litters are finished from November to January, they hit the market when the heavy winter runs are on the Mid-West. Prices are always off.

Lets use our natural three months advantage in weather to get our shoats to a money-making market from July to October. Here's how:

1. Keep the suckling and weanling pig's "heads in the trough." Full feed for profit. You can't starve profit into pigs.

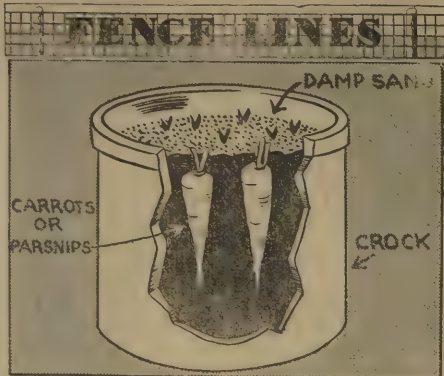

2. As soon as serious danger of frost is over, plant just enough acreage of one of the early hybrid corns to carry your shoates about 30 days.

3. Use either Minnhybrid or McCurdy 95. Space it 10 to 12 inches in the drill; put at least 300 lbs per acre of 4-10-7 under the side dress with at least 200 lbs nitrate of soda, or its equivalent, not more than 21 days after planting, or at time cultivation. Note: You only want to plant enough acreage of this early hybrid to last your hogs about 30 days because yields are usually low, its soft and subject to weevil and weather damage.

4. At regular corn planting time, plant enough acreage of Dixie 18 to make enough corn, based on normal weather, and the amount of fertilizer used, to carry your shoates on to tops. Remember that about 14 or 15 bushels of corn, properly fed, are needed to carry a pig from birth to market.

5. If you don't have a patch of kudzu, or alfalfa, or white clover, or other good legume grazing next to your hogging corn, plant some O-toot-soybeans to furnish green leafy grazing when the corn is ready for hogging.

At the end of pleats, darts and tucks the threads are most satisfactory carried back along the line of stitching for about half an inch.

Keep carrots or parsnips fresh in a crock of clean damp sand. Leave part of the tops uncovered so you may pull them out.

WISE USE OF FARM LAND

Many Alabama farmers have not completed their plans for using all of their farm land in 1951.

Time spent in making complete and definite plans for use of all cleared land will be worth more than any other planning job.

First consider your land divided into three parts. Devote the first part to production of crops for home use and crops to be fed to livestock for home use. Next, give consideration to the land to be planted in cash crops, such as cotton, berries, fruit, or vegetables. The land devoted to these crops will be limited by labor or acreage controls.

Naturally, the remaining land requires the most study and planning. It should be devoted to the production to feed crops for livestock to be sold for cash to supplement the income from cotton, berries, fruits, or vegetables.

$92,000,000 ASKED FOR EDUCATION

Birmingham, Ala.—State Education Superintendent W. J. Terry says that Alabama school leaders will ask that the education fund be hiked to a total of $92,000,000—an increase of 50 per cent.

Terry made the statement in an appearance before the annual Alabama Education Association meeting which drew some 8,000 teachers and school administration officials here last week. "We want to get $100,000,000 worth of new school buildings," Terry said. "Education's needs are great in this state. Even though we have made a lot of progress in the past, we must make more in the future."

The bonds are part of a total authorized issue aggregating $68,000 in principal amount, which will be secured, pro rata and without preference of one over another by reason of prior issuance or otherwise, by the pledge and lien hereinafter referred to. The $5,000 principal amount of said authorized issue which are not to be presently offered for sale (herein together called "the additional bonds") are authorized to be numbered 127 to 136, inclusive, to mature in the aggregate principal amounts of $3,000 and $2,000 on October 1 in the years 1981 and 1982 respectively, and in all other respects to be of the same tenor as the bonds.

The bonds shall be payable solely out of the revenues to be received by the town from the municipal waterworks system to be constructed with the proceeds from the sale of the bonds (and such of the additional bonds as may be issued). The bonds (and such of the additional bonds as may be issued) will be secured, pro rata and without preference of one over another, by a pledge of said revenues and by a statutory mortgage lien on the system.

The bonds will be sold for cash to the highest bidder; provided, that the town reserves the right to reject any or all bids. All bids must include interest to the date of delivery of the bonds. No bid will be considered for less than all of the bonds.

Each bidder must deposit with the town clerk before bidding a certified check or a cashier's check in amount of $1,250, payable to the order of the town, as evidence of good faith and as a guaranty for the performance of the successful bid. The deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them following the sale, and the check of the successful bidder will be retained and applied toward the purchase price. No interest will be allowed on any such deposit.

The bonds will be delivered against payment therefor in bankable funds as soon after their date as they may be printed. The town will furnish to the purchaser, without cost, the opinion of Messrs. White, Bradley, Arant, All & Rose approving the validity of the bonds. No conditional bids will be considered except that bids may be contingent upon such opinion.

In a cemetery near Harrogate Springs, an old summer resort a few miles south of Wetumpka, stands the grave marker of a Negro slave girl. The gravestone bears the inscription: "Henry Ritter, Emma Ritter, Demma Ritta, Sweet Potato, Crematarter, Caroline Bostwick. Daughter of Bob and Smokey Catlan. Born at Social Circle, 1843. Died at Wetumpka, 1952." Local stories hold that the girl ran errands for guests of a hotel at the springs. It is said that the guests gave her the long array of names, and when she died the guests cooperated in placing the marker over her grave.

One of the unique attractions of Gulf State Park is the bird sanctuary where thousands of birds live the year round in protected seclusion. A great many of the 300 species of birds native to Alabama make seasonal visitations to the park. Numerous American bald eagle nests can be seen in the cypress tree-tops as one rides through the park. During the past year an increasing number of the rare egrets have been seen in the park. The 5,000, acre park has three large fresh water lakes which add lure to the semi-tropical atmosphere of palmettos and Spanish moss.

Once there was a newspaper man who died without having made any enemies. But his demise occurred before the first issue of his paper. No fellow can conduct a paper 48 hours without writing something which somebody does not wish published. And that "somebody" usually is a fellow whom the editor has obliged over and over again.
